WHEN it is time to think of the Thanksgiving turkey and the Thanksgiving mince pie the mind naturally turns to thoughts of doughnuts. Good doughnuts fresh from the pan and sprinkled with sugar would tempt an anchorite.

One secret of making good doughnuts is to have fat enough in the frying pan to cover them and to have this boiling hot. The doughnuts must be taken from the pan the instant they are done or they will become grease soaked. After they are cooked they should be drained on paper or a soft cloth.

Easy to Digest.

Batter Doughnuts.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, two eggs, one cupful of sour milk, six level teaspoonfuls of melted lard and one-half teaspoonful of soda. Stir as stiff as possible with flour. Drop from a teaspoon in a frying pan of hot fat and fry brown. Dip the spoon in fat after each time and the batter will not stick to the spoon.

Spiced Doughnuts.—Take a cupful of sugar, one cupful of warm mashed potatoes, a pint and a half of flour, one-half cupful of milk, one egg, one teaspoonful of butter, one-fourth teaspoonful of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of ginger and one teaspoonful of nutmeg. Roll rather thin, cut, fry, then dust with powdered sugar.

These Will Be Relished.

Rich Doughnuts.—Take three eggs and beat them until light. Add one and a half cupfuls of sugar. Beat again. Sift one level teaspoonful of baking soda into a cupful of sour cream, add to the sugar and eggs, then add one small taspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a grated nutmeg. Mix with sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Roll about half an inch thick. Cut out and fry in hot lard.

Raised Doughnuts.—Take one pint of lukewarm milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half yeast cake, one-quarter cupful of lukewarm water and flour. Heat the milk lukewarm and add to it the salt, the sugar, the yeast dissolved in the water and flour enough to make a dough that can be handled. It should be as soft as possible. Knead well and let it rise all night. In the morning place it on a well floured board, handling it lightly. Roll and cut it in strips and then join the ends to form rings. Fry in plenty of hot fat until a golden brown color. Serve at once while hot and crisp.

COUNTY ELECTION BILLS AMOUNT TO $33,000

Elizabeth, Nov. 22 (Special).—The Board of Freeholders held a special meeting yesterday to pay election bills, which amounted approximately to $33,000 for 103 election districts.

There was considerable discussion over the sums to be paid to Cranford's election officers as they claimed $50 each because of the increased vote in the two districts. They were given $30 each, the municipality being under 5,000 population officially.

Because of a difference of opinion among some of the members as to whether or not $350 was too much to pay for the auditing of the collector's books this matter was referred to committee.

The Board endorsed the resolution of Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur asking that a wing wall on a bridge in North avenue, Plainfield, near the premises of Fred Van Epps, be moved from its present position so as to give him room to run his auto into his premises without obstruction.

RECTOR FISKE DECLINES CALL.

Rev. Charles Fiske, rector of St Michael and All Angels' Episcopal church, Baltimore, who was formerly of Somerville, has declined the call recently extended to him by St. Mark's Episcopal church, of Evanston, Ill. It was generally understood that Mr. Fiske intended going to Evanston, but the past week he made an announcement declining the call.

Cost Keeping

Cost keepers are constantly being criticised because the cost department costs too much. They want the information, but it costs too much to get it. Now the Split & Normal Burroughs is one of the machines that is used in a great many cost departments for the reason it does about three times the amount of work the ordinary adding machine can do. For instance, it will give you—pay checks, workmen's number and amount in one operation,—show you hours and amount,—give your labor and material,—or, workmen's number, hours worked and amount—or, job number, labor and material—or, date number of pieces and amount—all with one operation of the handle, and will add only those columns that you want added.

Probably you have been worrking along with the ordinary type of adding machine, possibly because it costs a little bit less than usual.

If you haven't seen this Burroughs, you haven't seen the latest thing in adding machines.

Roger is said to have discussed with Lynch the question of his status as a National League asset. It is believed that Bresnahan made an offer to buy the Phillies from Fogel.

JERSEY MURDER LAID TO HICKEY

RECALLS TURNER MYSTERY

Death of Aged Woman Never Has Been Solved—Remarkable Prisoner In Toms River Jail, Skilled as Inventor, Protests Innocence.

Toms River, N. J., Nov. 22.—It has been learned that J. Frank Hickey, under arrest here charged with murdering seven-year-old Joseph Josephs in Lackawanna, N. Y., was in Lakewood, N. J., at the time of the mysterious murder of Mrs. Carrie Turner in that town on April 2, 1911. The Lakewood authorities are looking into the mystery of the killing of Mrs. Turner, which has never been solved, with a view to connecting Hickey with the crime.

When the Turner case was mentioned to Hickey he said he never was in Lakewood in his life. The police have records showing that Hickey arrived in Lakewood two days before the killing of Mrs. Turner and departed two days after the crime. He walked from Lakewood to the Keswick Home For Inebriates on April 5, and it was at this home that he was arrested two days ago for the Lackawanna murder.

No character of fiction, however uncanny a creation of the imagination, is more peculiar or complex than J. Frank Hickey.

A gentle, quiet mannered man, whose voice is as softly modulated as a skilled orator, Hickey impresses you. By trade he is a concrete foreman, but by his own ambition and effort he has become a skilled mechanical engineer and is the inventor of a safety device to be used on railroad switch frogs. When away from the mill he dresses with good taste, which he at times overreaches through extravagance. He is always well groomed, down to his carefully manicured nails.

The other Hickey, if he is the man District Attorney Wesley C. Dudley of Lackawanna unqualifiedly says he is, is a terrible, ferocious monster, sly, cunning, devoid of any human instincts, all the cruel brutality of his dual personality concentrated on abusing and killing young boys.

Hickey in his cell in the Toms River jail quietly insisted on his innocence. He devoted most of his time to reading engineering magazines. His pleasant manner and unaffected speech completely won the faith and confidence of William Howard Jaffrey, a Toms River lawyer whom Hickey retained after his arrest.

Chief of Police Ray Gilson and District Attorney Dudley of Lackawanna, who questioned the prisoner in his cell, emerged after the unsatisfactory cross examination completely puzzled.

15 YEARS FOR ATTACKING GIRL

Mothers of Youths Swoon In Court When They Hear Sentence.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 22.—Joseph Loftus, twenty-two years old, and Lewis Strauss, twenty-one years old, Philadelphians, who were recently convicted on the charge of attacking Anna Vedetho, seventeen years old, also of Philadelphia, at Washington Park, N. J., were sentenced by Judge Swakhammer to not more than thirty years and not less than fifteen years at hard labor in the New Jersey state prison.

When sentence was imposed the mothers of the defendants, who were in the courtroom, swooned and had to be carried out by guards.

The attack took place on the night of Aug. 8 at a lonely spot near the boat landing at Washington Park. Miss Vedetho, with her escort, Clarence Penell, was on her way home. Penell was beaten and forced to flee for his life. Then the girl was attacked.

REPRIEVES SLAYER.

New Jersey's Acting Governor Hears of New Evidence For Ford.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 22.—Professor John D. Prince of Columbia university had a new experience when he was appealed to in his capacity as acting governor of New Jersey to grant a reprieve to Charles E. Ford, a Camden county murderer, who was to have been executed next Tuesday. A reprieve until Jan. 6 was granted.

Ford killed a woman with whom he had been living with for fourteen years and her paramour, for whom she had deserted Ford. He then shot himself but recovered and was tried for murder. Ford's counsel pleaded newly discovered evidence showing that Ford was drunk when the crime was committed.

450 Men's and Young Men's Overcoats

A SALE THAT WILL APPEAL TO MEN OF GOOD BUSINESS JUDGMENT.

A representative of a big clothing manufacturer came to us several days ago and said: "My house has 450 overcoats in sizes 32 to 40 on hand. If you will take them all, we'll make the price lower than the actual cost of manufacture." Now, it didn't take us many minutes to wind up the deal, once we saw the coats. It should not take a moment for you to decide that you will be here bright and early in the morning to see the coats. That will be all that is necessary. Your good judgment will tell you to buy—and you certainly should.

$18.00, $20.00 TO $25.00 OVERCOATS, $14.75.

$12.50, $15.00 and $16.50 OVERCOATS, $9.75.

Many have satin yokes and sleeves and plaid backs. All high-class materials and patterns included. The majority of the coats marked at $14.75 are $22.50 values. Most of the coats we sell at $9.75 are $15 values. There isn't a "bad number" in the lot. Certainly, it's the overcoat opportunity of the season. You, sir, should not think of missing it.

The Square Pot Does It

THE form of firepot used in Square Pot Boilers is different from the ordinary type. It holds a larger body of fire and radiates more heat. Consequently it steams the boiler and heats the house in the fewest possible minutes, beating the best efforts of ordinary round firepots by a wide margin.

This principle of increased radiation gives normal results on comparatively little fuel. Hence Square Pot Boilers prove effective in this most important particular — maximum heat development from minimum coal supply. Look into this before you install a new boiler.

NEED LEGISLATION TO AID HOSPITAL

Borough Wants to Help Muhlenburg But State's Laws are Inadequate.

REFERENDUM, MAYBE

North Plainfield Councilmanic Committee Also Holds That the State Should Make Appropriations for Support of Such Institutions.

W. G. Debele, representing Nellie L. Winkler, was the only objector to appear before the members of the Common Council last night, to file complaints against the assessment on macadamizing Steiner place. Mrs. Winkler's property fronts 25 feet on Linden avenue, while the depth, or side of the lot, runs a distance of 100 feet on Steiner place. She was assessed for the 100 feet at a uniform amount per running foot. Mr. Debele claimed the assessment was not made according to law which he asserted stated the amounts of assessments on work of this kind should be decided on the "benefits received," and not at a uniform rate to all involved regardless of any advantage they may or may not receive. The matter will come up for further discussion at the first meeting in December.

In reference to the application of Muhlenberg Hospital for a contribution from the borough towards the expense incurred in caring for indigent patients admitted to that institution, Councilman Buttfield offered a resolution in favor of such an appropriation stating the amount of such an appropriation should be based upon the relative taxable values of Plainfield and the borough.

Mr. Buttfield's resolution follows:

"Referring to the application of the Muhlenberg Hospital for a contribution from the borough of North Plainfield towards the expense incurred in caring for indigent patients admitted, your committee reports:

"The Muhlenberg Hospital must be considered a beneficent institution serving Plainfield and North Plainfield as one community. It is largely supported by individual subscriptions from the city and borough alike, and as long as its doors are open to patients from both municipalities without discrimination, there

SENIORS PETITION FOR LONGER DANCES

P. H. S. Students Are Not Afraid to Go Home After 10:30.

A document was presented to the Plainfield High School faculty yesterday afternoon, petitioning the teaching body to abolish the limit established for the length of school dances held evenings in the school auditorium. For some time past it has been the rule to close up the school festivities at 10:30 o'clock but this restriction has met with some dissatisfaction on the part of the upper class who contend that the time limit ought to be stretched to 11:30 o'clock. There appears to be no apparent reason why this could not be accomplished without seriously inconveniencing anyone concerned as the lighting facilities and everything else needed for a dance or any other form of entertainment are unusually adequate at P. H. S.

It is probable that some compromise will be effected before the senior reception takes place which will meet with the approval of both faculty and student body. The matter is one which will have to be acted upon by the faculty, the student council and the dance supervisors of the school.

NO TRIAL TODAY IN HOOD'S CASE

Charge of Disorderly Conduct is not Pressed—Case Put Over One Week.

CURIOUS ONES IN COURT

Opinion is That Matter Will Be Dropped—Wife Guarded by Detectives—Husband Denies Guilt of Statutory Offense.

The arraignment of Richard Haden Hood, charged with disorderly conduct in connection with forcing an entrance into the Stelle avenue mansion last Monday, was postponed one week on account of the absence of former Senator Charles A. Reed, Mrs. Frances Spark Hood's counsel, who was attending the funeral of his sister, who died Thursday.

Mrs. Hood was to appear as complainant against her millionaire husband, whom she is suing for divorce, and in anticipation of lively proceedings a large crowd of curious ones was on hand when court was opened.

Judge De Meza and Chief of Police Kiely said today they do not believe anything will ever develop from the charge of disorderly conduct preferred against Mr. Hood. The defendant did not visit Judge De Meza's court today and was not asked to do so. Mr. Hood also said the charge will not amount to much.

Mrs. Hood is still being guarded by detectives in her handsome home in Stelle avenue. She declines to discuss the divorce case, other than to say that it speaks for itself, and that anyone interested in the issue can ascertain the facts from the libel filed in Trenton.

Mrs. Hood is angry with her husband for his assertions against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Thomas W. Sparks, of 4100 Walnut street, Philadelphia. According to Mrs. Hood, her mother never interfered in her domestic affairs and was not responsible in any way for the separation of the couple.

Mr. Hood refused to discuss the case further than to say he has a good defense as he was never guilty of indiscrete conduct with Miss Dorothy Hoyt or any other woman.

ONE HUNDRED KNIGHTS AT PYTHIAN GATHERING

State Grand Officers of Order Present at District Meeting of Perseverance.

Members of Somerville, Bound Brook, Neshanic, Flemington and Plainfield lodges, Knights of Pythias, comprising what is known as District No. 20, held a district meeting in the rooms of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of J., this city, last night. Each lodge in the district was represented, there being one hundred knights present. Deputy Grand Chancellor Edward Bowman, of this city, presided at the meeting.

Among the grand lodge officers present were Grand Chancellor William D. Quick of Somerville; Vice Grand Chancellor G. V. Dobbins, of Paterson; Grand Master at Arms William Linden, of Hoboken; Grand Inner Guard William Bougelius, of Bloomfield; Past Grand Chancellor William Graham, of Jersey City; William E. Everson, of New Brunswick, candidate for the office of grand master of exchequer; Joseph Fitzga, of Somerville, and Morgan VanHise, of Trenton, each of whom made a short address.

The reports of the officers were encouraging, showing a decided gain in membership. These showed the membership in the district to be about 800, with 14,000 in the State and 700 000 in the supreme domain, including the United States, its possessions and the two lodges in China.

After the meeting, Perseverance Lodge entertained the visitors at a smoker and there was a social session.

POULTRY SHOW OPENS MONDAY

First Annual Exhibition of New Jersey Fanciers' Association.

MANY PRIZES OFFERED

Practically Every Known Breed to Be Seen at Sebring's Auditorium—The Show Will Last All the Week—The Officers of Assn.

The first annual exhibition of the New Jersey Society for Poultry Association which will be held in Sebring's Auditorium, on West Front, for one week beginning on Monday night, promises to be the biggest thing of the kind ever held in this part of the State. The hundreds of dollars worth of handsome prizes in silver cups, gold, silver and bronze medals are proving a strong attraction to owners of fine birds and the entry list far exceeds the most sanguine expectation of the committee in charge. The prizes are now on exhibition at Samuel Rothberg's clothing store on West Front street.

The birds to be placed on exhibition will include practically every known breed and they will come from all parts of the country, including Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, as well as all parts of New Jersey. The auditorium has been especially arranged for the exhibition, with a view to giving every exhibitor equal advantage. Joseph Weaner, chairman of the show committee, has been very busy during the past week completing the details for the show and he promises to have everything in readiness by Monday. There will be special days for school children. The officers of the association are as follows:

President, Sydney R. Clarke; vice president, Marshall E. Tilton; secretary, J. H. Kimball; assistant secretary, Ruskin Watts; treasurer, Robert G. Slorah; executive committee, W. H. Taverner, chairman; F. T. McInerney, Joseph Nesler, R. H. Armstrong, C. G. Shafer; show committee, Joseph R. Weaner, chairman; G. Harold Whitney, D. R. Pearson, Joseph S. Lindsay, with officers and executive committee. G. Harold Whitney will be the superintendent of the show.

VETERANS AND WIVES ENJOY DUTCH SUPPER

The Dutch supper given by the Women's Relief Corps, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., at Reform Hall, last night, proved a success. There was a large attendance and the affair was well patronized. Mrs. Emma K. Frazee was chairman of the general committee, which comprised all the members of the corps, who assisted in various ways. Among those present were members of William Barry Post, and the Women's Relief Corps, of Rahway.

The excellent supper was followed by an informal entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental selections by a mixed quartet from Brooklyn and recitations by Miss Try Mattox. Mrs. Hattie L. Gibbons, president of the local corps, had general supervision of the affair.

A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Oscar Schwitzer, of Watchung avenue, was given an agreeable surprise at his home last night, the affair being in celebration of his thirty-third birthday anniversary. His friends who arranged the event were Georgt Demarest, Chris Trotter, Jas. Boyle, Louis Muller, August Hendricks, George Stewart, Martin Brandt and George Demarest.

COLLEGIANS TO GIVE SHOW HERE

Williams Dramatic Club Will Be Seen in "His Excellency, the Governor."

ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The Cast Announced for Annual Performance of "Cap and Bells" at the Hartridge Auditorium—Plot of the Play.

On Wednesday night "His Excellency the Governor," will arrive from Williamstown and will appear under the auspices of "Cap and Bells," the Williams College Dramatic Club, at the Hartridge Auditorium.

The plot of the play is laid in the Amandaland Islands of the Indian Ocean, where three Englishmen, employed in the service of the British Government, lead a rather lonely life. This becomes brightened by the visit of the colonial secretary, his sister, Mrs. Wentworth-Bolingbroke, and his daughter Ethel Carlton. Ethel is a bewitching young lady of eighteen, with whom the three Englishmen immediately fall in love. At this point the plot of the play becomes complicated by the visit of Stella de Gex, a gay Parisian, who styles herself "The Evening Star." She had known His Excellency some years past and now makes herself at home in his house. On the arrival of the colonial secretary she plots to marry the elderly gentleman and eventually succeeds, much to the horror of his sister, Mrs. Wentworth-Bolingbroke. An uprising of the natives takes place and it is here that the climax of the farce occurs.

The cast is a well balanced one and the action runs quickly and smoothly. The star parts are most ably handled. Charles Brackett, son of Senator Brackett, of New York, give a very realistic representation of an actress in the part of Stella de Gex. Mrs. Wentworth-Bolingbroke and Ethel Carlton are also finely interpreted by Carle Parsons and Robert Jewett. Stanley Babson, who played the Duke of Killicrankie last year, is very humorous in his part of Mr. Baverstock, the private secretary. Harry Hotchkiss as His Excellency does some excellent acting.

"Cap and Bells" will give a performance in Saratoga, New York, on Tuesday afternoon. The club carries its own scenery, property and make-up men, as well as other assistants that make the show a success. Since the last performance given in Williamstown the play, has been rehearsed constantly and the presentation here on next Wednesday should be of the best. There will be a dance after the performance. The cast of the play follows:

The Right Honorable Henry Corlton, M. P. ....C. J. Austrian, '14
Captain Charles Carew ..... H. W. Banks, '13
Mr. John Baverstock (private secretary) ....S. M. Babson, '13
Captain Rivers....T. H. Dauchy, '14

DANCE OF BUZZARDS AT SERBING'S HALL

Members of the Buzzards' Club gave their third annual reception and ball last night at Sebring's Auditorium. The spacious hall was decorated with autumn foliage and American flags. A number of vocal selections between dances made the event unusually entertaining to the large gathering.

The arrangement committee was composed of Frank C. Denton, Geo. H. Cole, Joseph Muir, Adam Jordan, J. Arthur Dow, Edw. Koechlein, Robert Parsons, Adam Jordan and Harry Weiss.

These are the officers of the club: President, Wallace B. Morton; vice president, George H. Cole; secretary, David Rogers; treasurer, Frank C. Denton, and trustees, Harry W. Thomas and J. Arthur Dow.

1ST HALF ENDS HARV. 10, YALE 0

Wheeler's Muffs Taken Advantage of by Cambridge Eleven in Great Battle.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New Haven, Nov. 23.—With thousands of enthusiastic college men vociferously cheering their favorites, members of the Yale and Harvard football teams, and other thousands of equally interested spectators, the final big battle of the college football world for 1912 began here this afternoon.

Prior to the game today there was great activity among the ticket speculators and many students as a result have paced themselves in a position where they will never be able to get tickets again for any of the two big games. Numbers of tickets found in the hands of other than those of students have been replevined and other tickets issued to take their place and sold by the Yale management. Deputy Sheriffs have secured several blocks of seats sold by speculators. Those who purchased tickets from students will be denied admission at the field.

The weather was most perfect. The wind was almost calm. About the only certainty attached to the contest today was that the winner of the contest would be the champions of the gridiron for 112.

The lineup was:

Officials—Referee, Langford, of Trinity; Umpire, Fultz, of Brown; Linesman, Mercer, of Penn.

The Yale team was given a great reception as they trotted on the field and as they went up and down the field in a signal drill.

By that time the stands were about three-fourths filled and all entrances to the seats were congested. The gridiron was in perfect condition, not a soft spot appearing in any place. At 1:45 p. m. the crimson team, accompanied by subs came on the field and were given a rousing reception by their followers. The crimson put two teams on the field both practicing signal drills.

Yale won the toss, choosing to kick off, giving Harvard both goals with the sun in their faces.

FIRST QUARTER.

In the first quarter Flynn kicked off past Harvard's goal post, and the crimson brought the ball out to the twenty yard line, from which point Hardwick punted to Yale's thirty yard line. For the Yale team Flynn punted very poorly out of bounds to his own team's 35 yard line. Brickley made three yards at left tackle and followed with two yards more in the same place, making it fourth down. Harvard made the gain on a fake kick, and had the ball on Yale's 24 yard line. Brickley made 2 yards through right end, and Wendell

COMPLETE LIST OF CONTESTANTS WILL BE PUBLISHED ON MONDAY

Now is the Accepted Hour for Those Seeking One of the Three Grand Prizes Offered by the Plainfield Daily Press to Enter the Competition—Ballot Box in Place.

As "delays are dangerous" it would be well for any one wishing to make an entry in the Daily Press subscription contest to send in the name instantly for it is planned to publish the list of contestants in Monday's issue. Already a great many have taken advantage of the opportunity to enlist for the campaign, the incentive being the three grand prizes and the offer of ten per cent. commission, win or lose, to all bona fide participants. It should be explained in this connection that there is no game of chance, no gambling, no lottery in this enterprise, for all genuinely working for the splendid awards will be surely to be recompensed for their efforts and on an equal basis of ten per cent, of the cash they turn in.

In Monday's issue will be found the list of entrants. It will contain the names of individuals, of lodges, of societies, of clubs, of Sunday-schools and other collective bodies seeking to capture one of the three grand prizes, a player-piano, a piano without the automatic attachment and a cabinet Vitaphone. These awards represent a valuation of $900 and their winners will also receive checks for one-tenth of the cash they collect. Furthermore, the prizes will be delivered free of charge.

The manifold improvements in the Daily Press since the new managers and editors took charge on Jan. 1, makes it an easy matter to obtain subscribers. Today the Daily Press is a "live-wire" newspaper, printing all the news that's fit to print and presenting it in an attractive style. It contains features not to be found in any other daily newspaper published in this section and is the only strictly Independent newspaper in Union, Somerset and Middlesex counties.

Any individual or organization desiring to enter the campaign should send in the name before 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon. If that is done, the name will be published among the list in that day's issue.

The ballot box, in which may be placed the voting slips to be found in each issue of the paper and subscription ballots as well, will be found in the business office of the Daily Press. Although no nominations have been made formally, many votes have been slipped in the box by persons interested in various organizations.

PRIEST'S BAR NOT TO STOP WEDDING

Clergyman, Witness In Suit, Explains Objections.

HE WASN'T GOOD CATHOLIC

Lawyer For Defendant In Breach of Promise Suit, Blaming Relatives For Trouble, Declares Couple Will Marry Within a Few Months.

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 23.—Testifying in a breach of promise suit brought by Miss Alice B. Conniff against J. Edward Trainor of Ramsey, N. J., and tried in this city, the Rev. Father Pinder said that he had advised the postponement of the wedding. He did so, he added, because he considered that Mr. Trainor was not a good Catholic.

Mr. Zisgen, counsel for Mr. Trainor, charged that Mrs. Ellen C. Lorden, a sister of the plaintiff, was to blame for the trouble. Mrs. Lorden told a story on the witness stand of her sister, wearing her wedding dress, waiting all day for Mr. Trainor to arrive, finally becoming hysterical on his failure to appear.

"Jack, my dear dream of love," was the phrase with which a letter written by Miss Conniff to Mr. Trainor and exhibited by Mr. Zisgen began.

"The wedding is only postponed," said the lawyer, "and no matter what the verdict will be I am willing to wager that the couple will be married within a couple of months."

Miss Conniff, referring to the part Father Pinder played in the case, said: "When we called on Father Pinder to make arrangements to have our marriage banns published, he told us to come two days later, but he requested Mr. Trainor to call on him in the rectory in the meantime. I saw Father Pinder go to Mr. Trainor's office the next day. Afterward Father Pinder told me I couldn't marry Trainor because the young man had not been to the sacraments in eight years and wasn't financially able to support me.

"I told Father Pinder such things were none of his business and that I would marry Trainor. I later asked Trainor if anybody could separate us. He said his mother told him he would be disinherited when he married. His mother is wealthy. That ended our romance."

The jury awarded a verdict of $8,500 to Miss Conniff. Assemblyman Elect John W. Zisgen, counsel for Trainor announced that $8,500 was an excessive verdict and would be appealed.

DALRYMPLE TO QUIT.

Chairman of Essex County Republican Committee Says Work Too Much.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 23.—Chairman Alfred N. Dalrymple of the Essex county Republican committee is going to quit the job next month. He so announced to the members of the committee at a meeting in Newark. He explained that the arduous work had kept him from his family night and day for six years and that he felt he had come to a time when he should devote more of his time to other matters. There were shouts of "No, no!" when he referred to his proposed retirement, but he said he would insist upon the committee accepting his resignation.

The return to power of the Republican party is only a matter of a few years, according to former Congressman R. Wayne Parker, who was among those to go down to defeat in the recent fight. He said the Progressives would control the next senate and would probably be responsible for tariff bills which, if enacted, will cause a revulsion in favor of the old line protective policy and thus bring back the rule of the Republican party.

GALLAGHER VERDICT UPHELD.

Jersey Supreme Court Sustains Conviction of Mayor's Assailant.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 23.—Justice Garrison in the supreme court filed an opinion confirming the conviction of James J. Gallagher in the Hudson county court of assault and battery with intent to kill upon William H. Edwards, street cleaning commissioner of New York city.

Mr. Edwards was shot by Gallagher just after Mayor Gaynor of New York had been shot by Gallagher on a steamship dock in Hoboken as the mayor was about to start for Europe. The conviction was appealed as a matter of right and only now was finally decided. Gallagher was sentenced to twelve years in prison, but he spent only a short time there. He is now in the State hospital here hopelessly insane and in a low physical state. He is suffering from paresis. It is thought that he will not live long.

Slick Thief, This.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 23.—While Mrs. Harry Alstitzer was waiting for a supposed customer in her husband's jewelry store, a stranger brushed a handkerchief filled with pepper in the woman's face and made away with two rings valued at $250. The store is adjacent to the postoffice, in the very heart of the city, and the street was crowded at the time. The thief escaped.

Wife Pales as State Calls Witnesses In Rebuttal.

DEFENSE SWEARS EXPERTS

Combat Theory of Prosecution That Mrs. Szabo Was Strangled and Testimony Is Facer For State—Trial Over Until Monday.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 23.—With practically all the evidence in in the murder trial of Burton W. Gibson, accused of the murder of Mrs. Rose Szabo, an adjournment was taken until Monday.

Then the state called witnesses in rebuttal, all of whom dealt hard blows at the case built up for the accused lawyer. The speed with which the state called witnesses who gave the lie to the most important lay witnesses of the defense was exceedingly dramatic. In less than an hour six persons were put on the stand who opened the way for a most powerful summing up by the state. As the case against him grew darker Gibson became very solemn. His wife grew white, and when she spoke after court was adjourned her face was still pale and her lips trembling as she said:

"Say I am satisfied, satisfied; that is all."

On Monday the defense expects to produce rebuttal witnesses.

Hear Experts For Defense.

That the condition in the throat of Mrs. Szabo might have resulted from a collapse of the organs before death while the body was lying on its back at the bottom of Greenwood lake and that post mortem handling could also have caused the conditions was the testimony of medical experts in the defense of Gibson.

Dr. Henry W. Cattel of Philadelphia testified that the condition described by Coroner's Physician Schultze were due to the handling of the body, the removal from the lake, the embalming, the burial, the exhuming and the autopsy itself.

Dr. Cattel further said that Mrs. Szabo could not have been strangled under the conditions existing at the time of her death without leaving surface and subcutaneous marks of violence on the throat.

Dr. Arthur S. Moore, third assistant at the Middletown Hospital For the Insane, preceded Dr. Cattel on the stand. He testified to the same effect, saying that he had produced with comparative ease the condition found in Mrs. Szabo's throat in a body at the hospital last night. It was only necessary to move the body up and down to make the organs assume the relations Dr. Schultze described, and this could be watched by a window in the back of the body after removal of several vertebrae.

RECTOR TURNS MECHANIC.

Can Better Support His Four Children as a Wood Finisher.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The Rev. Karl Heyne, a Protestant Episcopal clergyman, who was a protege of the late Bishop Frederic D. Huntington, has forsaken the ministry and gone to work as a wood finisher. He made the change, he says, because he found preaching was not very remunerative, and in his new role he thinks he can better support his four little children. Mr. Heyne, who is an accomplished musician and knows considerable about chemistry, tells his friends:

"I do not wish to be known in this world as anything that I am not, nor do I choose to use any of the titles, suffixes or degrees to which I may be entitled in view of any past achievements."

WOMAN SUES SNODGRASS.

Giant Center Fielder Defendant In Action For $75,000 Damages.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 23.—Although he has been married for more than three years, Fred Snodgrass, center fielder of the New York Nationals, whose muff at Boston cost the New York Giants the world's championship, is defendant in a breach of promise suit, the filing of which has become public.

Nellie K. Frakes is the plaintiff, and she asks the court to award her $75,000. She alleges that Snodgrass won her consent to marry him on Jan. 15, 1908, and that more than a year later, while she believed herself to be his fiancee, he married Josephine Victor. Snodgrass is spending the winter in southern California.

WOMAN SLEPT SIX DAYS.

Took Overdose of Slumber Producing Medicine—Will Recover.

Akron, O., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Jessie Limric awoke from a six and one-half days' sleep at the City hospital. Although very weak from lack of nourishment, hospital officials say she will again strength rapidly and be able to talk again within a day or two.

Mrs. Limric sank into the long slumber after she had taken an overdose of sleeping potion.

Weather Forecast.

UNCOMPLETED LEGISLATION OF 1912.

The Legislature of 1912 passed a resolution, in conference, to enact no legislation of State-wide importance without being absolutely satisfied that ample information and facts necessary for well considered action were in their possession, and that ample opportunity for presenting such information and facts be given; it was further decided to present rough working drafts of all important measures on the first day of the session. It can readily be seen that even giving all the time possible during one session of the Legislature for public hearings that there are many issues of such broad magnitude that all the facts and figures cannot be accumulated in such shape that intelligent action can be taken. This was the case this year with five important subjects which came up for consideration, namely, the reformation of the taxation system, the question of jury reform, the Morris Canal abandonment question, that of coordinating the departments of State with the idea of economy of operation, and the question of making the prisons of the State constructive rather than destructive institutions.

The taxation question, which as we all know, is a most complicated question and a solution of which many learned men have been working on for years without getting very far, was presented in a bill on the first day of the session; this bill provided that our present taxing machinery be changed so that all assessors be appointed by the State Board and be practically State officials, the idea being to have the whole taxation machinery answerable to the State instead of to the municipality. It was claimed that the local assessor being removed from local influences and from the possibility of electioneering with tax rates that there would be a more uniform valuation between communities as well as between individual properties. As in so many cases the theory was good, but innumerable objections were brought to light with the result that a commission was appointed to report at the next session.

The writer has suggested to the commission that instead of the county tax board there be one county tax assessor appointed by the State Board, the local assessors to be appointed by the local governing body and confirmed by the State Board, the old fashioned local board of appeals to settle local differences, and a mandatory provision for the publication and circulation of the tax duplicate at least once in three years.

The need for some change in the system of selecting and drawing of juries, both grand and petit, was presented and several measures were introduced, but the variety of conditions presented by the different counties made it necessary to engage in an especial investigation. The writer has found, being a member of the jury commission, that our present system seems to be working satisfactorily in all but five counties in the State. Nearly all the progressive States have adopted legislation giving to each county a jury commission, which commission selects proper candidates for jury duty, sees that they are intelligent and otherwise qualified and places their names on individual scrolls in the box from which the sheriff draws them as needed in the presence of the judge. This plan will in all probability be offered to the next Legislature as it is one that the commission finds is very generally approved throughout our own State.

The abandonment of the Morris Canal has been under consideration for the past twenty years and it seems no nearer accomplished now than when it started. Under the terms of the charter the property owned by the company may be condemned by the State in 1924 and in 1974 it reverts to the State absolutely. The eastern end of the property from Paterson to and including Jersey City, is of tremendous value, being the key to the railroad terminal situation in the east; a bill was presented to give up the State's equity in the canal for five hundred thousand dollars; this bill failed as the State's equity in the eastern section alone is worth nearly twenty times that amount. This question is tremendously involved with legal technicalities such as reversionary rights, water rights, etc., and it would seem that it would eventually have to be settled by quo warranto proceedings as the company seem to have already ceased to use the canal as a canal thereby forfeiting their rights under the terms of their charter.

The feeling has of late years been constantly growing in favor of running the departments of State as the departments of a private business are run, making for greater efficiency and true economy. The old fashioned way by the old fashioned politician was never to do away with any department or office which would yield a political job for the gang; things have changed in the past few years so that now one is working for the public not "working the public." In line with this idea the State economy commission was appointed whose duty will be to suggest ways and means of bettering our present State business system on scientific business principals—truly a step in the right direction.

When visiting at Litchfield, Conn., about two years ago the writer was surprised on hearing his host call up the county jail. Thinking that there might be burglars in the house or some other trouble of that nature he hastened to offer his host any assistance that was in his power and was promptly informed for his pains that "there was nothing doing, only that the walks needed weeding, the vegetable and flower gardens cultivation, the lawn cut and rolled, the tennis court attended to and some other odds and ends fixed up." In half an hour appeared a squad of big healthy looking men, prisoners in the county jail, apparently in much better condition than the average laboring man, both mentally and physically, who in a very short space of time had "the host's" place in apple-pie order and for which he paid a very reasonable sum to the county jail, which was self-supporting, with a certain amount to lay by to be given to each man as his term expired.

This little incident inspired the writer to present a bill presenting a plan for the outdoor use of convict labor, with the idea that when the unfortunates have paid their penalty, they will be turned out, not human derelicts and charges on society, but physically fit and and possessors of at least a little something with which to start anew. This plan will be probably followed as the commission has found it practicable. The careful consideration of large subjects is infinitely more important and valuable to the State than an accumulating of hastily unconsidered legislation.

made three through left tackle, but failed to gain on his next try. Brickley dropped back to Yale' 30 yard line and missed a field goal. Yale brought the ball out to her twenty yard line and after failing to go through the Crimson line for any gains, Flynn punted to Felton on Harvard's 3(yard line. Felton was downed in his tracks by Bomeisler. Brickley made three yards on a fake kick; Felton punted out of bounds to Yale's 22 yard line. Philbin made two yards and then Flynn ran around left end for 20 yards, mut Yale was penalized fifteen yards for holding. Flynn punted from Yale's 30 yard line to Harvard's 38 yard line, Hardwick fumbling the ball, and Gardner saving it for Harvard on the 40 yard line.

After considerable play with slight gains and frequent kicks, Felton punted to Wheeler on Yale's 38 yard line. Wheeler fumbled, Hardwick picked up the ball and ran for a touchdown with no one near him. Hitchcock kicked the goal, making the score Harvard 7, Yale 0.

Shortly after the ball was put into play again Cornell was put in Wheeler's place, and the change had hardly been made when Brickley dropped back to Yale's 40 yard line, where he kicked a beautiful goal from the field. Score Harvard 10, Yale 0.

The period ended without further scoring.

SECOND PERIOD.

In the second period, after Brickley had tried in vain to gain first down for the Crimson, Felton punted to Flynn, who fumbled, but picked the ball up and ran it down to Yale's 38 yard line, following this by making four yards at centre to Yale' forty two yard line. The ball was kept for several minutes pretty well in the middle of the field neither side making any appreciable gains, frequent fumbles marking the work of the Yale men, Flynn especially offending. Harvard worked the ball finally to Yale's 29 yard line. Here they lost a yard, and then Brickley made 10 yards around Yale's left end. On the next play he dropped back to Yale's 28 yard line, and made a try for a field goal, but failed. Yale was penalized 15 yards for interference during this period, and five yards for off side play.

Neither side scored during the period, and the score at the half remained

HARVARD, 10; YALE 0.

Information about the final score can be secured by phoning the Daily Press, Plainfield 1300.

DESCRIPTION OF PIANOS.

Made by Braumuller Piano Co., 627-641 West 43d Street, New York City.

Aside from the fact that one piano contains the player and the other does not, there is no difference between the instruments. Both are fully warranted by the makers, who are an old established and reliable firm.

Seven and one-third Octaves; Overstrung Bass; three strings to each note, except in Wound Bass Strings; New Patent Upright Grand Scale; Full Composite Metal Plate, extending over pin-block to top of Piano; Tuning Pins specially fitted with hardwood Bushings; Patent Metal Key-Bottom Support; Ivory Keys; full length Music Desk; Revolving Fall-Board; Nickel-plated Continuous Hinges; handsome mouldings; elaborate carvings; carved Trusses and Pilasters; Empire Top.

Case: Antique Mahogany. All Upright cases are Double Veneered and have hardwood, varnished backs. Every Braumuller Player-Piano is fully warranted.

DESCRIPTION OF PLAYER-PIANO.

The Player is the latest device of the kind, and is the simplest and easiest working apparatus on the market. It is made by the Gulbranson-Dickinson Co., of Chicago, and is fully warranted. A test of the Player can be made at any time at Joseph Sattel's warerooms at 108 North avenue. Briefly it can be described as follows:

Style 21 contains 88 note Player Mechanism, playing every note of the scale.

Special "Clutch-button" attachment, enabling the performer to obtain a diminished volume of tone in the bass, middle treble, or upper treble registers, by touching one of the three buttons. Each acts independently of the other.

The entire construction of the Mechanism is on simple lines. Durability, effectiveness and expression are the principal features.

Cash value of player-piano, stool, rolls and cover, $525.

Cash value of piano, stool and cover, $275.

DESCRIPTION OF VITAPHONE.

The $100 Cabinet Vitaphone is the third prize. This instrument was made by The Vitaphone Company, of Netherwood, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

It reproduces voice and instrument so true to life, that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail as well, and no metallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Winner can have choice of mahogany, golden oak or mission oak case. There is a triple spring motor that can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box, rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. Any make of records can be used and owing to its construction, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine.

NOTED CASE DRAWING TO GRIM CONCLUSION

Negro, Tired of New Trials and Convictions, Begs Hanging.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 23 (Special).—After having been tried for murder seven times, sentenced to death six times and having spent nearly eight years in prison pending his trials, Burrell Oates, a negro, will be hanged next week at the Waxahachie prison to pay the penalty for the murder of Sol Aronoff, in Dallas, on the night of November 29, 1904. This will bring to an end the most remarkable case in the criminal court history of Texas and probably of the whole United States. As an illustration of the possibilities offered by the criminal court practice in vogue in this country, to delay the course of justice by recourse to legal quibbles over mere technicalities, the case has probably no equal in American court history.

Sol Aronoff, the victim of the crime, and his wife kept a small grocery store near the railroad tracks in this city. On the night of the murder Burrell Oates, Holly Van and Frank McCue, the latter two white men, entered Aronoff's store and held up the proprietor. While they were robbing the man, Mrs. Aronoff entered the store and fired at the men. The robbers fired several shots and one of these killed Aronoff. A few days after the murder the three men were arrested and charged with the murder of Aronoff. Van was convicted of murder and hanged for his crime. McCue became State's evidence and escaped punishment.

Oates had no funds to employ an attorney and when his trial came up in the Dallas court, the judge appointed A. S. Baskett, a young lawyer, against the latter's protests, to defend the negro. Ever since that time Baskett has been in sole charge of the defense and the fight he made for his client has attracted wide attention and will go down in the history of criminal jurisprudence as one of the most remarkable examples of forensic skill and perseverance.

The first trial of Oates resulted in his conviction and sentence to death. An appeal was taken to the Court of Criminal Appeals and the case was remanded for a new trial on April 12, 1905, on acount of an irregularity in drawing the names of jurors.

At the second trial Oates was again convicted and sentenced to death. Again an appeal was taken and on May 9, 1906, the Criminal Court of Appeals granted a new trial because the trial judge had failed to instruct the jury in his charge that if the wife shot her husband by mistake the prisoner was not guilty of murder.

Oates was again tried and convicted, but on May 15, 1907, the case was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals on the ground that the trial judge did not properly define murder in his charge to the jury. After another trial the case again came before the Court of Criminal Appeals on June 23, 1909, and a question as to the legality of the appointment of the trial judge was the ground for setting aside the verdict and again remanding the case for a new trial. The fifth trial of the case resulted in no verdict as to penalty, one juror standing out for life imprisonment, while the others demanded the death penalty.

Owing to the strong feeling against Oates in this county the authorities considered it advisable to remove him to some place of safety. For a time he was kept in the Cleburne jail and then he was taken to the Ellis county jail in Waxahachie, where he is now awaiting his execution.

When the Oates case came up for its sixth trial in this county, Judge Robert B. Seay, of the Criminal District Court of Dallas county, acting upon his own motion, transferred the case to Ellis county. The sixth trial again resulted in the conviction of the prisoner and a sentence of death. Once more an appeal was taken and the Court of Appeals granted a new trial upon the ground that the verdict of the jury did not specify the degree of murder of which Oates had been found guilty.

The seventh and last trial, which took place in Waxahachie, resulted, on December 8, 1911, in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree and a sentence of death. A motion for a new trial was refused by the Court of Criminal Appeals on October 16, [illegible] and the date of the execution of the sentence was set [illegible]. Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (Special).—The affairs of the nation and the business throughout the country will come to a pause next Thursday, while the people join in the annual observance of Thanksgiving Day, the most widely observed of any of the national holidays. In every community the day will be observed with family gatherings and special church services, while in many of the larger centres football games and various forms of festivities will be added to the celebration. President Taft will spend the day at the White House, where all of the members of his family and several intimate friends will assemble to share the 35-pound Rhode Island turkey that will grace the dinner table. President-elect Wilson, for the first time in his life, will spend Thanksgiving Day outside his native land. In far-off Bermuda, where he is spending his vacation, he will doubtless be able to enjoy a very good imitation of the American turkey dinner.

Immediately after Thanksgiving the senators and representatives, some of the victors and many of the vanquished in the recent election, will pour into the capital in readiness for the final session of the Sixty-second Congress, which will be called to order on Monday, December 2.

Wednesday will be observed throughout the South as "Knapp Agricultural Day." In every agricultural school and farming community special exercises will be held to survey and review the agricultural resources and achievements of the South, and to express appreciation of the services of the late Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, the founder of the demonstration work and the boys' and girls' clubs in the South.

Delegates and clergy of the Anglican church in Canada will assemble in Winnipeg Saturday for the consecration of the Venerable Archdeacon Robins as bishop of the diocese of Athabasca. The diocese lies in the great country to the far north of Edmonton, where the bishop will be obliged to travel hundreds of miles by canoe or wagon in making his round of the church missions.

Other news of the week will be furnished by the opening of the grand opera seasons in Chicago and Boston, the annual Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia, the inauguration of the international chess championship tournament in New York city, the fifteenth annual session of the American Mining Congress at Spokane, and the opening of the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago.

UNITES RICH FAMILIES.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 23 (Special).—After a courtship that proved the truth of the old adage that "the course of true love never did run smooth," Miss Dorothy Wilbur, of this city, today became the bride of Richard McSherry, well known clubman. The engagement of the couple was first made known two years ago. Last April the father of the bride-to-be announced that it had been broken. No reason was given and friends were disappointed, for Miss Wilbur was one of the most popular and beautiful young women in Philadelphia society. But Mr. McSherry persisted in his courtship, with the result that the engagement was renewed and the wedding date fixed. The bride is the daughter of Rollin G. Wilbur, one of Philadelphia's wealthiest citizens, while Mr. McSherry is the son of an equally wealthy resident of Baltimore.

UTILITY BOARD CANDIDATES.

Trenton, Nov. 23.—Indications already appear that the position on the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, now filled by Robert Williams, of Paterson, will call forth a large field of candidates. The term of Mr. Williams will expire May 1 and his successor will be named by Governor Wilson during the coming legislative session. General Dennis F. Collins, of Elizabeth, has announced himself as an active candidate. He has opposition in his own town in Lucius T. Russell, editor of the Elizabeth Times. Judge Peter F. Daley, of Middlesex county, is also said to be willing to take a place on the utility board.

TO NAME COL. PATTERSON.

Elizabeth, Nov. 23.—It became definitely known yesterday that Mayor Mravlag will appoint Colonel Robert L. Patterson to the vacancy in the Fire Board when he takes offices January 1. The term of Captain William T. Cox will then expire. This appointment will, it is said, be the Mayor's reward to the local Progressives for not running a Progressive candidate for Mayor. Patterson was among those mentioned for a possible nomination.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

A most notable event, counted from the great dramatic successes of the latter part of last season, and one which promises to surpass any of the hits of this one, will be the presentation of Neil Twomey's dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's greatest success, "Freckles," which will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening. Under the direct management of A. G. Delamater, who has in the past given to the stage some of its most worthy successes, is responsible for its staging, and as in "Beverly," and others, has left nothing to be suggested—in company, scenery and effects.

One of the most assiduous and successful touring stars, Adelaide Thurston, is on the eve of embarking upon her annual season under the management of Francis X. Hope. This will be welcome news wherever Miss Thurston is known, and that is from New York to San Francisco, for a little more than a year ago she had a severe break-down and had to retire from the stage altogether. After a year spent restfully in Europe, however, she has entirely recovered, and will be seen in a new comedy by Frederick Paulding, entitled "The Love Affair." "The Love Affair" deals with love and money, two of the greatest motive forces in the world, and concerns a young woman who, thwarted in love herself by money, endeavors as executrix of a large estate to arrange the love affairs of the beneficiaries under the will. In doing so, she finds her own happiness. The action is swift and startling, and all takes place in the space of seven hours of a summer night on a country estate on Long Island.

"A Girl of the Mountains," Lem B. Parker's new version of his four act society drama, will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, afternoon and evening, November 28. It tells a love story that is sweet and true, and a dramatic story that is intense and stirring. Very few plays have the sterling strength, force and humor that is all combined so splendidly in this comedy drama. "A Girl of the Mountains" will be presented here by an exceptionally fine cast, with magnificent stage settings, including all mechanical and electrical effects.

GOVERNOR TO LEAD "TROT."

Cuero, Texas, Nov. 23 (Special).—The Governor of Texas leading a "turkey trot" is the unique spectacle which the people of this vicinity expect to witness the first of the week. The "turkey trot," however, will not be of the Newport variety, but a parade of 10,000 gobblers doomed to grace as many tables throughout the land the coming Thanksgiving and Christmas. Cuero is in the heart of what is declared to be the greatest turkey growing district in the world, and the annual movement of the birds to market about Thanksgiving time is a sight long to be remembered. Farmers drive them in on horseback by hundreds for shipment. In celebration of the unusually large crop this year Governor Colquitt has promised to head the turkey parade with his staff in full uniform.

It has been called "Stevens night" and it is hoped to be made an annual affair. About 1,400 persons are expected to be present. MORMON FAITH NATION'S MENACE

Its Tenents and Practices Says Former Believer, are Worse Than White Slave Evil.

FREECE STIRS CROWD

Two Proselyting Elders Tell Lecturer Who Asserts Church Violates Law of Land After His Discourse "God Despieth a Liar."

His subject being "Mormonism a Menace to American Homes," Hans P. Freece, a New York lawyer, held the close attention of an audience at the First Baptist church for more than an hour yesterday afternoon, as with mingled pathos and humor, interwoven with strong argument, he flayed Mormonism and all those fostering its tenets. The occasion was a meeting of the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies, and in addition to the anti-Mormon speech a program of educational and entertaining value was enjoyed by a gathering representing all evangelical denominations which taxed the edifice to its capacity.

Mr. Freece is a former Mormon and until his removal to New York lived in Utah. At the conclusion of his address, Elders Albert J. Newman and Douglas Hooper, of the Mormon church, who had listened to the remarks, uttered against the belief they represented, made their way through the home-going crowd toward Mr. Freece. Newman acting as spokesman approached the lecturer and simply said, "Freece, you know there is a verse in the Bible which says: 'God despiseth a liar.'" An exchange of angry glances was all. The elder turned on his heel and left the church. Newman was arrested in this city last January on a technical charge arising from the clamor against the attempt to secure converts.

After telling of the work he is doing and asserting that it is the duty of every true American to do something to uproot Mormonism, Mr. Freece said in part;

"The Mormon 'system' as I call it, is an organization carried on by the Mormon elders for the sole purpose of extorting money from people, under the cloak of religion. Polygamy is being practised as it always was under Mormonism, but in late years in a worse form, in as much as the marriages are performed in secret and thus the plural wives are without evidence to prove they have been united with man.

"It is customary when these secret, polygamous marriages occur, for the girls to keep their maiden names and the children to take the mother's name. Thus little children are being brought into this world without knowledge of their true father, and without an inheritance. The pity of it is that these young Mormon girls, many of them enticed away from home by deceiving stories of good positions and wealth, are taught that if they submit themselves to such degradations and shame, God will reward them for it in the next world."

The speaker then told of various instances of the methods resorted to by the Mormons to win converts and furnished affidavits in support of his claims.

He then turned his attention to Joseph Smith, president and prophet of the Mormon church, whom he attacked vigorously. He said. "Smith and other Mormon chiefs admitted under oath at the Senate investigation, that they are living in violation of the laws of the land and the laws of God. Smith is the Mormon church, he controls it and all its subjects; he is the 'system' and I am sorry to say that it seems that the lawmakers of our country, representing ninety millions of people, are afraid to take action against Smith or his church because of his prominence in the business world and the large number of voters he controls. He is a director in the Union Pacific Railroad, and president of fourteen large concerns all of which makes him a big man in Washington and a figure in politics."

Continuing, Mr. Freese said many resolutions had been offered in Congress prohibiting polygamy, only to be referred to a committee and to eventually "die" there. He said he had written a letter on this subject to President-elect Woodrow Wilson, who sent a reply through his secretary stating that the communication had been received and would receive due consideration.

"He is still considering it," the speaker said.

In closing the lecturer scorned Mormonism as a greater evil than White Slave traffic and asked his hearers to aid in bringing about a concerted movement against the Mormon church.

Mr. Freece was born in the Mormon realm and his father was one of the early Mormon settlers who walked from Council Bluffs to Salt Lake City. When a mere lad he came under the influence of Christian Missionaries and at seventeen began to work his way through college. He is a graduate of Columbia University. After leaving school he started upon a world-wide anti-Mormon campaign, speaking in the principal cities of Europe and America.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE RIPE RED CRANBERRY.

MANY cooks fail to appreciate the possibilities of cranberries. The best they ever do with the fruit is to evolve a bitter, faded, watery sauce, instead of the bright, well flavored jelly which more skillful housewives concoct.

Sauce For Pies.

Cranberry Sauce.—To make a really good sauce pick the berries over, throwing out all imperfect ones. Wash them and put in a porcelain or agate kettle with a little water and the sugar on top. For a quart of berries use a pint of sugar and a cupful of water. Cook rapidly for ten minutes, occasionally pressing the berries under the sirup with a wooden spoon or crushing them against the kettle; skim if necessary. When every berry has burst pour the sauce into deep bowls of the right size that have been rinsed in cold water and leave in a cool place to mold or harden.

Cranberry Pie.—The preceding sauce is nice for cranberry pies. The plates are lined with paste, with a fancy rim, as if for custard pie, and filled with the sauce. Then strips of twisted paste are laid across diagonally, dividing the surface of the jelly in diamonds, or an upper crust may be used, provided many round holes are cut to show the bright jelly underneath.

Handsome Dishes.

Cranberry Jelly.—Stew four quarts of cranberries in a porcelain kettle with water enough to float them till they are thoroughly soft and broken. Rub them through a coarse sieve. Allow to each pint of the mixture a pound of sugar. Put the fruit on the fire. Let it boil hard. Leave the fruit on the fire till it jellies, which will be in a few minutes, remove from the fire and pour into molds.

Cranberry Mold.—Take two quarts of cranberries, a quart of sugar and a pint of water. Wash and pick over the cranberries carefully. Put them in a saucepan with the pint of water, cover and stew till tender; then strain them through a sieve. Return the pulp to the saucepan and boil fifteen minutes. Add the sugar and still boil just long enough to melt the sugar. Rinse out the mold with cold water and sprinkle with granulated sugar; pour the cranberries when nearly cold into the molds and set in a cool place to get firm.

MASTER MASONS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL FEAST

Several Good Speakers Heard at Solomen Lodge's Banquet at Somerville.

Somerville, Nov. 23.—The second annual dinner of Solomon's Lodge, No. 46, F. and A. M., was given last night in the chapel of the Second Reformed church, the dinner being served by the women of the church. The spacious room was prettily decorated for the event, and the members of the lodge turned out in great numbers, many coming from a considerable distance for the occasion. The many tables were resplendent in snowy white table linen, candelabra, silverware and other decorations, and the menu served was especially appetizing.

Judge Nelson Y. Dungan presided as toastmaster, being introduced in a few well-chosen words by Isaac N. Wyckoff, the worshipful master. Judge Dungan was in a happy frame of mind, and his introductory remarks in presenting the speakers of the evening were highly entertaining. There were three special addresses, and it has seldom been the lot of a Somerville audience to listen to three as fine addresses as were delivered. These were by the Rev. John F. Morgan, Ph. D., of Jersey City, on "Watchwords of Freemasonry;" "Our Brotherhood," by the Rev. James L. Gardiner, of Trenton, and Rev. William C. O'Donnell, Jr., of Plainfield. The latter had no assigned subject, but chose "The Mason As a Man," to speak from. During the course of the dinner excellent music was rendered under the leadership of Prof. Jungmann. Altogether the affair was one of the most pleasing social events that has been held in Somerville for a long time.

TOMORROW'S SERVICES AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

Services at Holy Cross Episcopal church tomorrow will be of special interest. At the 11 o'clock service the rector, Rev William S. McCoy, will preach on the theme "Religious Authority—On What is it Based?" At the service at 7:30 p. m., there will take place the ninth organ recital by Charles Davis, the organist, his program being as follows: "Moderato," Gade; "Serenade," Schubert; "March of the Israelites," Costa. Two contralto solos, the "Hold Thou My Hand," of Briggs, and "Jesu, Jesu Miserere, of Nevin," by Miss Harbison, will be sung. The public is cordially invited to all of these recitals, which are of superior merit.

The Thanksgiving Day service at Holy Cross will be at 10:30 in the morning.

COUNCIL SUPPORTS CLERK ON ELECTION FEE CLAIM

A resolution was adopted by the Common Council of North Plainfield, last night, holding that the sum of $15 per election district would be a fair compensation for Clerk C. M. Dolliver for his services in connection with the primary and general elections recently.

His self-explanatory letter submitted to the Council last night follows:

Under section 179 of the election law it is provided that clerks of the various municipalities are to be allowed "a fair and reasonable compensation" to be ascertained and determined by the governing bodies of their respective municipalities, which amount is paid out of the county funds.

I have rendered a bill to the Board of Freeholders for $15 per election district, a total of $75, together with all other charges and expenses of conducting the election, amounting to $73, making a total of $148.

The Board has cut this amount to $73 and they expect me, evidently, to pay these bills incurred by me as their representative.

I would thereupon respectfully ask your Honorable Body to ascertain and determine my compensation as Borough Clerk in the conduct of the elections, so that I may be governed accordingly in my further negotiations with the Board in this matter.

SERVICES AT FIRST BAPTIST.

Numerous services of a special character will make tomorrow a busy one at the First Baptist church, and large congregations are anticipated. At the morning service the ordinance of baptism will be administered to several candidates, while a special musical program has been prepared for the evening, which will doubtless attract many. At the latter service the various councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., of the city, will be present. Seats will be reserved for the two hundred or more men expected. A hearty welcome is extended to the public to any and all of the gatherings of this church.

F. C. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue, is detained at home with an attack of neuritis and rheumatism.

'THE GIFT OF GOD' FOR JAS. B. DUKE

Heiress Blesses the Home of the Tobacco King and is Named Dorothea:

HIS ONE GREAT WISH

Passionately Fond of Children, the Multi-Millionaire is Supremely Happy—Little Girl Will Inherit Beautiful Estate.

New York, Nov. 23.—In a marble palace at Fifth avenue and Seventy-eighth street yesterday was born a baby girl who is sole heiress to one of the greatest fortunes in the world. Also she is the daughter of a man of 57 years, who, all his life, has been passionately fond of children and who never, until now, has had one of his own upon which to lavish his love and his wealth.

Her father is James B. Duke, who is to tobacco what John D. Rockefeller is to oil and Andrew Carnegie to steel, and whose fortune, it is believed, would compare favorably with that of either of these two millionaires. No estimate of the Duke wealth is possible, but there is no doubt that it runs into hundreds of millions.

Mr. Duke was married five years ago last July to Mrs. Nanaline Holt Inman, of Atlanta, a famous Southern beauty. She was the widow of a wealthy cotton merchant when Mr. Duke met, courted and married her. Since that time they have traveled much and her beauty has attracted notice, not only in America, but in European court circles.

For the expected event the magnificent Duke home was turned into a private hospital. The one great wish of the millionaire's heart—a child of his own—was to be gratified, and nothing that love or money could procure was overlooked. The cost of the baby's layette, it is understood, would be a comfortable fortune for one in moderate circumstances. If ever a child was born to the purple of wealth, the little Duke heiress surely was, and from all accounts she is a healthy baby who will grow up to enjoy her heritage.

Business enemies have often told of the mercilessness and heartlessness of James B. Duke in business. But those who know the other side of the man know of the love of home life and of children that is a wonderfully large part of his nature. Particularly among his married friends who have children is this known, for never does a Christmas pass without beautiful remembrances for each from the tobacco magnate.

Over in Somerville there is a Duke estate, only about half as large as Central Park. It is a favorite resort of Mr. Duke when he wishes to escape the cares of business, and it is a common thing to see him strolling about the grounds, surrounded by a half dozen or more of the children of his employes on the estate. To them he was not one of the mighty of the world, but just a playmate, enjoying fully as much as they all their sports and games.

And now this man, to whom has come, after fifty-seven years of conquest in the battles of the world, the realization of the one great desire of his heart—a child of his own—might well bestow upon her to carry through life that name which tells what she is to him—Dorothea—"the gift of God."

CHINA OLD AND NEW DR. VOSBURGH'S THEME

Lecturer Pictures the Marvellous Possibilities of Flowery Kingdom.

Rev. Dr. George B. Vosburgh of Denver, Col., gave a stereopticon lecture at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, before an audience that filled the church to overflowing. It was the general opinion that the views shown were the finest seen here in a long time. China old and new China uncivilized and now taking her place amongst the nations was most vividly portrayed by word and on the screen.

Dr. Vosburgh held the attention of his audience for two hours as he told of the marvellous possibilities of this great country numbering as it does one quarter of the human family, of her struggle to gain victory over her awful curse of opium traffic and of her success in this struggle. The speaker proved himself to be well acquainted with the people of the Orient, their country, conditions and customs.

The audience was delighted and enthusiastic over the lecture, and Dr. Vosburgh was more than pleased with his visit here. Mayor G. W. V. Moy introduced Dr. Vosburgh, adding that he always liked to hear a man talk about something he knew and as the lecturer had visited these countries he knew what he was talking about.

Mrs. William Cochran, of Watchung avenue, has returned after spending three weeks in Philadelphia, where she was called because of the illness and death of her mother.

'YOUR PERSONALITY' BY DR. G. G. YARROW

Unique and Interesting Lecture in Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Monday Night.

A unique and valuable lecture which represents years of careful study will be given by Dr. George Gibbons Yarrow in Y. M. C. A. Hall on Monday evening, November 25. Taking for his subject "Your Personality," Dr. Yarrow shows what constitutes personality and how it may be developed. In his lecture he does not depend upon the ear alone to impress his message out by means of a specially constructed model of the human brain and colored harts he imparts a clear understanding of the importance of the part the brain plays in personality and success. The theme is of universal interest and Dr. Yarrow develops it in such a simple manner that even a child can understand him.

Dr. Yarrow has what he seeks to assist his hearers to cultivate, namely, personality. He has dignity, poise, wholesome humor and genial affability. The personal power of the man is shown by the fact that he is one of the leading laymen in the great North Reformed church, of Newark, president of the Mount Hermon Alumni Association and a very successful Bible class leader.

The proceeds of the lecture will go to the Italian Mission.

NEED LEGISLATION

seems to be no equitable reason why we should not share, as a municipality, in the expense of treating those who are themselves unable to pay.

"A municipal contribution of this character should be based upon the relative taxable values of Plainfield and North Plainfield, i. e., on the same basis as that in force in the city, whereby property owners of its various districts are assessed for the self same object.

"The only law under which a borough can contribute to the support of the hospital is contained in the following provision:

"'The voters of any town, township, borough or village in this State be and they hereby are authorized and empowered, at the annual town, township, borough or village election, by a majority of all the votes cast at such election, to raise such sum or sums of money as they may determine for the purpose of maintaining or aiding in the maintenance of public patients in any hospital situated in this State, which moneys so voted shall be assessed and collected as other moneys in said town, township, borough or village are assessed and collected, and shall be paid over to such hospital from time to time as directed by the governing body of such town, township, borough or village.'

"We have little question, however, that an Act of the Legislature can be secured to permit the Borough Council to make an appropriation, within proper limitations, for the purpose in question.

"We recommend, therefore, that the officers of the Muhlenberg Hospital be advised that it is the sense of this Council that, upon securing the necessary legislative authority, a contract, upon the same general conditions as those of the present agreement between the city and the hospital, be entered into, and that there be appropriated an amount (not exceeding $1,200 for the year 1913) which on the basis of the relative net valuation of the city and borough ratables shall be equal to that which may be appropriated by the city for the same purpose during the year 1913.

"We recommend also that steps be now taken to draft and present to the Legislature a suitable amendment to the borough law or a general act concerning all municipalities as may seem more expedient.

"Failing to secure such legislation, the question can be submitted to the voters of the borough at the election which will probably be held this coming spring in connection with our sewerage system.

"We call attention to the suggestion which has been made to apply to the Legislature for an annual State appropriation for hospital purposes, and suggest that the city and borough co-operate with other municipalities in securing the passage of such a measure."

It was announced that the formal meeting of the Somerset County Board of Taxation to consider protests on the 1912 taxes will be held Saturday, November 30, in the Council chambers.

Councilman Milne submitted a report of the result of the Police Tenure Act election and offered a resolution which was adopted that it be placed on the minutes of the Council and filed.

An ordinance drafted by Councilman Buttfield was adopted accepting Manning avenue beyond Belmont avenue as a public thoroughfare. It was decided to take up the joint sewerage system matters at the next meeting.

INDIA IS REPRODUCED IN FINE TRAVELOGUE

Returned Missionary Gives Illustrated Talk on Customs in That Country.

"Work and Play in Pagoda Land" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given at the First Baptist church last night by Rev. Dr. Vinton, who succeeded his grandfather and father as a missionary in India. Dr. Vinton has a wonderful collection of pictures, both stereopticon and moving, which he took himself in India, and these gave an excellent idea of the progress being made in that country by the missionaries in carrying the gospel to those people.

The lecture was a popular Oriental travelogue, and illustrated the games of children, snake charmers, insect life, rice cultivation, a candy pull in the jungle, and many scenes of the working missionary, one of whom was Dr. Vinton.

Dr. Vinton showed a picture of Rev. Dr. Judson, a pioneer missionary in India, and commented on the fact that next year will be celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of Dr. Judson's first visit to India. This event will be made notable by various celebrations among Baptists in this country as well as in India. Dr. Vinton is an exceptionally good talker and his fund of knowledge concerning his subject made the lecture one of the greatest interest.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

SPALDING AND FLYNN YALE STARS IN CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST; BRICKLEY AND WENDELL STRONGEST DEFENDERS OF CRIMSON

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 23 (Special).—With the championship game of the east in progress here this afternoon, the whole football world is a-tiptoe with anxiety and excitement. Hardly ever in the past has the great annual battle between Yale and Harvard meant so much. Both teams have come through the campaign without suffering a defeat. Yale's goal line still remains uncrossed, although the Bulldog's record has been marred by field goal scores, while both Princeton and Brown have scored touchdowns on the Crimson.

Both teams are strong, both offensively and defensively. Both possess powerful kickers, and none would be surprised were today's battle decided by the air route.

Harvard on paper has the edge on Yale as far as kicking is concerned. Felton is one of the best punters in the game; while Brickley is a player who will without doubt rank with the greatest kickers in football history. Just how good Brickley is at putting the leather over the crossbar is shown by the fact that in the last five games in which he has played he has scored eleven goals from the field.

But as previous games have shown, Harvard has not a monopoly of the kickers. The toe of Pumpelly turned Yale defeat at the hands of Princeton into a tie last week. He is on hand and bids fair to outrun the sensational Brickley in the race for honors. "Lefty" Flynn, too, will be a thorn in the side of the Crimson. Before last Saturday's game, when Pumpelly made his sensational play, Flynn's toe was considered second only to that of Brickley's.

Harvard has shown better form than Yale throughout the season, but past performances do not count. Today the teams appear almost even. They are about equal in weight, though Harvard appears to have the advantage of a faster and more versatile eleven. Yale, to a great extent, has stuck to one style of game.

Harvard appears to have a little the best chance of victory, owing to the spirit in which her men enter a contest. There is a snap and dash to Harvard's play this year that has been strangely lacking at Old Eli.

The two captains, Wendell, of Harvard, and Spalding, of Yale, may be expected to put up the best fight of their lives. Throughout the season their work has been outshone by that of more sensational players.

CAPTAIN BLATZ TOPS LEAGUE PERCENTAGE

Plainfield "Hello Bills" Are Well up in the Race for Bowling Honors.

Things are beginning to liven up in the Elks' bowling league now and the local pin knights appear to be right in the fray at all stages of the game, and in all departments. Captain Blatz is leading the entire league in the individual average race with the grand percentage of 199.14 and is upholding the scoring end of his team in every game bowled. Coyne, of New Brunswick, ranks second in the individual average race with 193.17, and Burton, of the same team comes next with 193.8. Kiely, of the Plainfield aggregation, ranks with Blatz among the first eleven high average men and is steadily pulling himself to the fore.

Plainfield is holding down seventh position in the league standing but when their famous spurt is uncorked they are sure to begin the march to the top of the ladder without interference on the part of any of the other contestants. The local team fairs even better in the first six team average and comes in for third honors with a count of 898.1, seven behind Jersey City, which is holding down the runner up position on the second rung.

Individual averages indicate that the Queen City bunch has not come up to its standard form as yet, at least a majority of the pinners have not, but a brace is looked for in the next few games and the averages are expected to swell immediately. The next league contest scheduled for Plainfield comes Monday night on the Olympic alleys, when they play the Rahway pinnisters.

LOCAL ELEVENS TO CLASH FOR TITLE

Plainfield High School Will Wind up the Season With Holy Cross.

It now seems not only possible, but probable, that local football enthusiasts will be given the treat that they have been yearning for throughout the whole season, that of seeing Holy Cross and Plainfield High School clash on the gridiron. Both parties interested in the affair are promoting the project to the limit and the big show will probably be pulled off next Saturday afternoon, that is if Manager Doyle can induce the former stars to stage their game with the present day warriors on Thanksgiving Day instead of November 30, which had been previously arranged as the date. Little difficulty is looked for in accomplishing this end, however, as the old timers have been holding daily practices and are in fine trim to take up the game at any date, no matter how early.

Not only will the proposed game decide the question of which of the two contestants is superior, but it will also point out beyond any doubt the champion eleven of this city and borough, or of an even more wide area as the Holy Cross eleven has vanquished everything else in this vicinity. Both of the aspirants have a loyal body of followers who will make things lively from the sidelines and public enthusiasm has been worked up to a degree that makes the affair surpass any game ever pulled off in this city.

Looking at the situation from an analytical standpoint of the merits of the two teams picked to fight it out for the title, there is a lurid tinge of red and white suffusing the football horizon. Holy Cross appears to be the popular favorite and if football form could be figured as closely as that of race horses the church boys could claim the game without playing it. But when these ancient rivals clash in their annual dual, as they have done for some years past, there is always some subtle influence which makes the apparently weaker High School team play way above any standard shown earlier in the year.

Last year's battle was an interesting one from that point of view, as the schoolboys went into the fray considered a sure loser but sprung a great surprise and held the favorites to a tieless score. Therefore, if tradition holds true, nothing can be said definitely as to the final outcome and the game may end up in a decisionless battle once again, although the revised code of rules will not be likely to make it a scoreless one.

OWEN BUSH OBTAINED MOST FREE TICKETS

Detroit Midget Drew 110 Passes to First Base During Past Season.

Owen Bush, of the Detroit Tigers, must have a couple of regrets as he scans the records showing the number of bases on balls received by the American League players last season. The Midget drew more passes than anyone else—110 all told, three of which were of the casualty kind—but all he gets for his activity in working the pitchers for transportation is honorable mention. One of his regrets is that Hugh Chalmers, when he decided to have a competition among the American League players for a car, did not offer the prize to the player who obtained the greatest number of passes instead of to the player who was the most valuable to his team. Regret No. 2 is that the scoring rules of 1912 as regards bases on balls are not the same as they were in 1887. Then when a player received his bases on balls he was not exempted from a time at bat, but he did get credit for making a base hit. Under the 1887 scoring rules Bush's batting average has been .351.

Bush undoubtedly established an American League record last season by obtaining 110 passes. In 1908 Fielder Jones, of the Chicago White Sox, procured 102 complimentary tickets to first base from the pitchers—a record which held until this past season, when Eddie Collins equalled it and Bush surpassed it. All the passes that Connie Mack's famous second sacker obtained in 1912 were of the regulation kind and not once did he get to first on a Red Cross complimentary.

The third cleverest player in the American League last season in working the twirlers for gifts was Maurice Rath, of Chicago, who garnered 99. Shotten, of St. Louis, ranked fourth with 94 and Tris Speaker, of Boston, who won the Chalmers Trophy, fifth, with 81. The figures below show the five best men on each team and the number of passes each received:

Boston—Speaker, 81; Hooper, 75; Wagner, 65; Cardner, 60; Lewis, 53.

Chicago—Rath, 99; Lard, 64; Zeider, 50; Bodie, 50; Collins, 32

Cleveland—Jackson, 61; Graney, 55; Griggs, 34; Lajoie, 34; Ryan, 32.

Detroit—Bush, 110; Louden, 64; Cobb, 50; Delahanty, 49; Jones, 45.

New York—Daniels, 71; Hartzell, 61; Martin, 48; Zinn, 47; Simmons, 37.

Philadelphia—Collins, 102; Baker, 57; Barry, 57; McInnis, 49; Strunk, 49.

St. Louis—Shotten, 94; Austin, 42; Wallace, 42; Pratt, 39; Hoan, 34.

NORTHCROFT'S KICK WORTH REMEMBERING.

The wonderful goal from placement made from the forty-eight yard line by Brickley, the Harvard star, in the game with Princeton has started much speculation as to whether this was not the greatest place kick ever reeled off. One authority contends that Burnett's kick in the Harvard-Pennsylvania game of 1898 was almost as far as Brickley's, while that of John De Witt against Yale in 1902 was from the fifty yard line.

While taking up this matter it might be well not to overlook the great kick from placement made by Northcroft of the Navy in the Army-Navy game of 1906. It was almost from the middle of the field and was easily fifty yards away from the Army goal line when booted. It was this wonderful kick that enabled Navy to get the jump on the West Pointers and play on to a well earned victory. There can be no doubt that a spectacular kick of this kind tends to put the opposing team up in the air, for nearly every time one is thus recorded we find the team so scored upon playing a trifle off its game. After Brickley registered his remarkable kick Princeton's general play seemed to be greatly lessened.

GOOD GAME CARDED FOR HOPE CHAPEL

Company K. Team Will Be the Attraction on the Church Team's Floor.

Hope chapel will be the scene of another good game of basketball tonight when the chapelites clash with the Company K representatives in their first meeting of the season. Although the military youths have played but one outside game so far this season the team has been considerably bolstered up and will give a good account of itself against the formidable Hope bunch. On the other hand the Chapelites are out to keep their record unblemished until they meet the Y. M. C. A. Ajax on Thanksgiving Day and possibly longer, so they have no idea of dropping the game tonight. The Chapelites have the advantage of playing on their home court and the Company K game should afford some excellent practise for the church players.

Captain Johnny Heron will start the game with his regular lineup but in the event that a sufficient lead is obtained in the first half, the substitutes will be given a tryout. Captain Thompson of the Company K aggregation, will also have his regular lineup on the court and he will also resort to a corps of second string men if the game is sewed up by the end of the first period.

MANAGER CONGER SCOUTING AROUND FOR BALL PLAYERS

Manager Conger, of the Temple Baptist Sunday-school League baseball team, is the first of the league managers to do anything definite in regard to the formation of a nine to represent the Sunday-school on the baseball field next year. He is busy signing up promising recruits and has just effected the release of the catcher and pitcher of the Roselle High School baseball team who have promised to lineup with the Temples next season on the condition that they be allowed to work together in all games.

Conger readily consented to this arrangement and the Roselle High School players will wear Temple suits next season.

SPEEDY GAMES AT Y. M. C. A.

Two Good Games of Basketball Will be Staged on the Assn. Court Tonight.

RIVAL Y. M. C. A. HERE

Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. Consented to Appear at the Last Minute—Presbyterian and Crimson Quintets in Preliminary Contest.

Two cancellations within twenty-four hours was what the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball manager had to contend with before he finally landed an aggregation to take the floor against the Ajax at the association gym tonight. The team representing the Grace church club got a sudden attack of cold feet at the last moment and sent word that they would not be on hand after they had previously arranged the game definitely with the Ajax manager. In order to satisfy the basketball enthusiasts that invade the Y. M. C. A. gym regularly every Saturday night, the manager was forced to hustle around for a substitute and finally landed, or at least thought he had landed the quintet of Leals' Academy, but a little misunderstanding as to the time of the day the game was carded to be played put this contest on the shelf and the bewildered pilot was thrown once again on the cold world.

After much dickering with various local and out of town managers, he finally fixed up an agreement with the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. team and they will appear here in the main attraction this evening. The aggregation from the county seat is heralded as a speedy bunch and the Ajax will have to work for all that is in them to come out on the larger end of the argument. The Y. M. C. A. physical director when seen at Elizabeth last night said that he would have a combination on hand that would be able to cope with anything of its weight in the State and they are certainly coming here all bedecked in their gayest of war paint.

As the preliminary bill the Presbyterian Sunday-school five will take the floor against the Crimson A. C. team and this game will probably be on the same par with the Ajax game as the Crimsons made the association lads extend themselves to the limit in their setto a couple of weeks ago. The Presbyterians are composed of present, past and future stars of the borough High School and are of a calibre that is hard to overcome.

The Ajax will be greatly strengthened by the return of Nash, who has fully recovered from an injury sustained in a recent football game and he claims to be as fit as ever to get back into the game.

BASKETBALL TEAMS APPEAR TO HAVE SCHEDULE MIXED

Some misunderstanding seems to be prevalent in regard to the Y. M. C. A. program of basketball scheduled for this evening and a general mixup is very likely to occur unless the respective managers get together and straighten things out. A notice came to hand this morning, evidently from the Scotch Plains' manager, stating that the Plains' Baptist team would play the Y. M. C. A. Ajax at the association tonight. As far as can be learned from those interested in the Ajax quintet there has been no contest of this nature arranged and the Y. M. C. A. expect to line up against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. team.

Shortly after this notice came to hand the Young Men's Athletic Association manager dropped into the office and claimed that the Scotch Plains' aggregation had signed up a game with his team and the Athletics were contemplating a trip to the Plains this evening.

Gentlemen—Permission is hereby requested of your honorable body to lower grade of Milton avenue at its junction with Main street, in the city of Rahway, to meet the grade established for the new brick pavement now being laid.

Lyons Farms, N. J.,
Sept. 25, 1912.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

The Elizabethtown Water Company.

Gentlemen—At a meeting of the Township Committee of the Township of Union the following communication was received:

To the Honorable Township Committee of the Township of Linden:

Gentlemen—Learning that North Broad street at Lyons Farms is soon to be repaved, I have deemed it advisable to call the attention of your body to the exposed condition of the water mains running tarough that thoroughfare. In many places these mains are not more than twelve inches below the surface of the streets. A large number of service pipes connecting homes on the street were frozen last winter as an effect of this condition entailing inconvenience and expense to property owners and resulting in serious damage to the roadway. I was obliged to open up my own service pipe three different times. In view of this serious condition it seems to me advisable to have these mains lowered to a depth safe from frost before the coming winter or laying of new pavement, and would respectfully urge your body to use such power as you are vested with to have this work performed.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) SYLVESTER M. COOLEY.

Moved and seconded that the communication be received, and that a copy of same be forwarded to the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders and a copy be forwarded to the Elizabethtown Water Company and endorsed by the Township Committee.

Motion carried.

Very respectfully,
GEORGE COMPTON,
Township Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was referred to the County Road Committee.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 2, 1912.

Mr. Henry Krouse, Board of Freeholders, Courthouse, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Dear Sir—I received a communication a few weeks ago from Mr. O'Brien, chief inspector of Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission, stating that there was a large swamp and breeding place on my property in New Providence, and also notifying me to cause the same to be abated. I wrote to him stating that I would bring the matter before the Board of Freeholders at their next meeting, but, being unable to attend your regular meeting (tomorrow), I wish to mention the fact that the condition referred to by Mr. O'Brien is entirely due to the large amount of surface water coming from the north side of Springfield avenue after every heavy rain, which I consider a damage to my property, and is so recognized by those who have inspected the same with the view of purchasing it. I shall deem it a favor if the Board of Freeholders would prevent this surface water from running on my property both from the north and south side of Springfield avenue at their earliest convenience, and that it might be allowed to take its natural course, namely, running into a creek some two or three blocks below. Because of these existing conditions I am unable to improve my property.

Thanking your honorable body in advance, I remain,

Yours very truly,
HENRY BICE.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was referred to the County Road Committee.

Cranford, N. J., Sept. 21, 1912.

To the Board of Freeholders, Union county:

Dear Sirs—About two years ago W. E. Warren built or nearly completed the bridge on North avenue, Cranford, crossing Rahway River. I put in my claim for $136.83 to the county and have spoken from time to time to our representative freeholder urging settlement of my claim. Nothing comes of it to date. As Mr. Warren was under bond, even if he did lose his mind, his bondsmen should be made to make the matter good. Please give this some attention.

Yours,
R. RINDELL.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 2, 1912.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, New Jersey:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Waterways at Elizabethport beg to report that they attended the meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce, 65 Liberty street, New York city, before the Board of Army Engineers, in the interest of deepening the channel in Staten Island Sound to thirty (30) feet and widening it to four hundred (400) feet. At the present time it is only twenty-one (21) feet deep and three hundred (300) feet wide. The dredging project, it is believed, would cost in the neighborhood of twenty million (20,000,000) dollars, and efforts are being made to obtain a government appropriation for the work.

This movement is being conducted by all the large manufacturing concerns from New York city to Perth Amboy on both sides of the Arthur Kull and Kill Von Kull, also by boards of trade, Chamber of Commerce and Staten Island Deeper Waterways Association, and as the deepening and widening of Staten Island Sound to the depth of ocean-going vessels would mean a great boon to the manufacturers now located on the shores of Staten Island Sound in competing in the markets of the world, and also would be the means of the building of our entire shore front for manufacturing purposes one of the proposed projects based on the improvement is the Montgomery terminal at the junction of the Rahway River, and Staten Island Sound, which would mean a permanent investment of millions of dollars, which would increase the taxable valuations of the county very much; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders heartily approve of the deepening to thirty (30) feet and four hundred (400) feet in width of Staten Island Sound, and pray that the Government may see its way clear to make appropriation for same; also that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Board of Army Engineers and to each member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the U. S. House of Representatives and Senate, and to each member of the House of Representatives and Senate of New Jersey.

Respectfully submitted,
AARON D. CRANE,
BURTON P. HALL,
THOMAS J. PIERSON,
Committee.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were adopted unanimously.

Report by Committee on Culvert at Union and Willow Avenues, Cranford, New Jersey.

GEORGE G. TELLER.

On motion by Freeholder Teller this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on Roll Avenue Bridge, Linden, N. J.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on this bride would report as follows:

The work of constructing this bridge was, as heretofore reported by this committee, awarded to Carmen & Smith for the sum of $1,118.64. The contractors have started the work and excavated for the foundations. This bridge is located near the junction of the salt meadows and the upland, and it was found that a few feet underneath the bed of the stream there existed some ten feet in depth of soft black mud. The bridge as originally designed could not be constructed upon such a foundation with safety and it has become necessary to plan a system of piling. It will be necessary to put in some forty-eight piles, which will be some ten or twelve feet in depth below the bed of the stream and upon which the concrete piers of the bridge will rest.

The estimated cost of this work, as given by the contractors, was $758. The appropriation for this bridge was $1,800, and the difference between the original bid of Carmen & Smith of $1,118.64 and the amount of the appropriation was $681.36. After a conference between the contractors and the committee the county engineer the contractors agreed to do this piling work complete for the sum of $681.36, thus making a total cost to the county for this bridge, as per the two contracts given to Carmen & Smith, the sum of $1,800.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY KROUSE,
W. H. RANDOLPH.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on West Holly Street Bridge, Cranford, New Jersey.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on this bridge would report that bids were received for the work and the work was let to E. L. Moore, of Cranford, he being the lowest bidder, at $1,793.

BRADFORD JONES.

On motion by Freeholder Smith this report as received and ordered placed on file.

Report of Committee on Lawrence Avenue Bridge.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on the above-named bridge would report as follows:

Your committee has examined the site, and finds that Lawrence avenue is being altered in line through the property of Lloyd Thompson, near the Mountain avenue county road. There is a small bridge on this stream at present on the old line of Lawrence avenue.

The new line of Lawrence avenue is graded, and it is the opinion of your committee that the county of Union should construct the bridge as requested, providing the roadway is dedicated as a public street. Owing to the fact, however, that the bridge appropriation is practically exhausted, your committee feels that it cannot recommend the construction of this bridge during this year.

It is, therefore, recommended that the construction of this bridge be laid over until the year of 1913, and it is suggested that the Board of Chosen Freeholders of that year construct this bridge.

Signed by the committee,
ELSTON DARRY,
BURTON P. HALL,
D. F. HENNESSY.

On motion by Freeholder Doane this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were adopted unanimously.

Report of Committee on County Roads.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on on County Roads would report that the county now has completed and under construction several roads in the city of Plainfield and Elizabeth which will need cleaning from time to time.

Your committee is of the opinion that the street cleaning departments of the two cities in question could do this work better than it could otherwise be done, as the county of Union owns no apparatus for such work.

Your committee would, thtrefore, recommend that the City Council of the city of Elizabeth and the City Council of the city of Plainfield be requested to state to this committee if arrangements could be made to look into the cleaning of the hard surface county roads within the city limits, together with the cost of the work.

Signed by the committee,
HENRY KROUSE,
S. P. T. WILBUR,
PETER H. MEISEL,
CHARLES A. SMITH.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this report was received and ordered placed on file, and the recommendations contained therein were adopted unanimously.

JR. O. U. A. M. MEN HEAR DR. STRONG

Pastor Tells Members There's No Room for Anarchist or Mormon.

A STIRRING DISCOURSE

No One Should Refuse to Swear Allegience to Flag, Declares Minister of the First Baptist Church—Ordinance of Baptism.

The inclemency of the weather did not prevent large congregations at the First Baptist church yesterday, the services being of unusual interest. In the evening, Rev. Dr. Philip S. Strong delivered a short but forceful sermon to the local councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., more than 200 members of the order being present. The service was chiefly musical in character, the large chorus choir and quartet giving several extra numbers in a pleasing manner, a feature being a baritone solo by William Holmes.

Dr. Strong's text was from Psalm 103, "Bless the Lord, O My Soul, and Forget Not All His Benefits." He said that he was a true American, and believed that no one should refuse to swear allegiance to the flag. He declared that there is not a square inch of room in this country for the Nihilist, Anarchist or the Mormon.

Referring to the presence of two Mormen elders in that church a few days ago, Dr. Strong said that it rebelled against his very nature, declaring, "What right has a seducer of women to come into this church?"

Dr. Strong commended the Juniors for their belief in the public schools, adding that while he was always willing to meet his Catholic friends on a common ground, when they ask for support of their schools from the public funds he became their avowed enemy. Dwelling for a moment on the good things that God permits his people to enjoy, the preacher said that he did not think that anyone but a true Christian can really enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner. He thanked God for having given him the enjoyment of music, art and literature, and declared that he would rather have one true friend than a fortune. The preacher concluded by saying that all would be satisfied when they awake in the likeness of God, then would their souls be satisfied.

At the morning service, Dr. Strong spoke from the text, "I Will Not Fail Thee, Nor Forsake Thee; Be Strong and of Good Courage," which were the words of Jehovah to Joshua. Dr. Strong said that "No less than did Joshua need courage as he faced that stupendous enterprise for which he was called, do we need it in our seemingly more common-place lives today.

"Life demands all there is in a man or woman. It takes real heroism to endure patiently the physical trials of life—no truer heroes and heroines live than those who quietly and uncomplainingly suffer physical pain year after year."

The service concluded with the administration of the ordinance of baptism. Those who entered into the fellowship of the church were Miss Mary Buchanan, Miss Katherine Hardgrave, Miss Helen Ryno, Miss Alleene Chandler and Miss Mildred Weiss. Next Sunday morning Dr Strong will preach concerning the so-called "Baptist Bible."

BAD FIRE AT OIL WORKS IN BROOKLYN

Manhattan Apparatus Called to Help Borough Firemen at Pratt Plant.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Brooklyn, Nov. 25.—A fire which assumed such serious proportions that it was necessary to call apparatus from the Manhattan side of the River broke out today near the Pratt Oil Works of the Standard Oil Company on North Tenth street. Practically every piece of apparatus in the Borough of Brooklyn that can be spared is at the scene and numerous pieces have been rushed across the Manhattan bridge from downtown New York.

The fire started in the plant of the Union Sulphur Company at foot of North Tenth street. It was caused by an explosion. Ten pieces of fire apparatus have arrived from Manhattan. Thus far 16 men have been injured, seven seriously, and two are missing. The Pratt Oil Works and a big tank of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company are menaced.

Thus far the fire has burned through an area measuring about three blocks along the water front, and it is not yet under control. When the engines on the lower East Side of Manhattan began crossing the Williamsburg bridge there was considerable excitement and large numbers of persons crossed the structure.

At 3:30 this afternoon the number of injured was placed at twenty, and the flames had spread to the Brooklyn eastern district terminal and the Pratt Oil Works. The big oil tanks had been emptied at that hour.

CITY MAY ESCAPE COSTS OF RE-COUNT

Expense of Councilmanic Contest May Be Borne by County.

The Union County Board of Elections on Saturday issued a certificate to Justice Bergen setting forth that Cornelius van Herwerden, Republican, had been elected a member of the Common Council from the Second ward over Stanley E. Gunnison, Jr., Progressive, and Justice Bergen at once issued an order revoking the certificate of election of Mr. Gunnison and issued a new one to Mr. van Herwerden, ordering that the latter be sworn in as a Councilman.

Justice Bergen made no order relative to the pay of the county board for the recount, deciding to withhold his decision until after the recount for surrogate is completed. If at the conclusion it is found that there should be a change in the surrogate vote seating the contestant the whole expense will be borne by the county. Justice Bergen instructed V. W. Nash, Jr., of counsel for Mr. van Herwerden, after the recount for surrogate to make a motion of the expenses of the county board, as well as personal expenses of Mr. van Herwerden. Mr. Nash feels elated over the success of his client in winning out in the recount, especially because Justice Bergen complimented him upon his petition setting forth the various points as to why it should be made.

NO ACTION TONIGHT ON SEWER CONTRACT

Proposed Agreement Not Yet Drafted and Council Will Wait a Week.

The Common Council will not hold an adjourned meeting tonight, as previously announced for the reason that Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, the counsel jointly for the city, North Plainfield and Dunellen in the matter of preparing a joint contract for the proposed trunk line sewer, will not have the proposed contract in shape at that time. After the proposed agreement is submitted it will then be considered carefully by each of the municipalities in turn before formal joint action.

The December meeting of the Council will be held a week from tonight and if the contract is ready so that it can be acted upon then no further delay will be occasioned. In any event the delay of a week or two will make practically no great difference just now it is considered, although the municipalities are anxious to get everything in shape so that work may be started as soon as possible.

WON'T DISCUSS HIS CONFESSION

Minister Says He Will Defend Himself When Given a Hearing.

HE'S LIKELY TO RESIGN

If Found Guilty May Get $50 Fine or Six Months in Jail—How His Arrest Came About—No Service Yesterday.

In the possession of Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., is the signed confession of the Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal churches of Mount Horeb and Springdale, who has been held for a hearing on a serious charge.

In conversation with a reporter yesterday the preacher said he would neither deny nor affirm the truth of the charges against him. He said there was "something behind them which he had not got to the bottom of yet."

"What about your confession?" he was asked.

"What confession?" he asked.

"The confession in the hands of Mr. Hetfield."

"Oh, I don't care to discuss that now. I shall say nothing more until this case comes up in court next Saturday, when I shall defend myself."

There is also in possession of Mr. Hetfield a batch of letters addressed to "My Dear Little Sister" from "Your Big Brother."

Before City Judge William G. De Meza in Plainfield next Saturday MacRorie will be arraigned on a charge that under the New Jersey law carries a penalty of $50 fine or six months in jail or both. To a reporter yesterday the preacher said he certainly would appear to defend the case, and that whether or not he preached in the Mount Horeb or Springdale church next Sunday depended on the outcome of the criminal action against him.

The offense, under the New Jersey law, is a misdemeanor. Since his arrest on Friday the minister has been at his home in Mount Horeb, with his wife and three-year-old daughter. He is under $200 bond, furnished by himself.

It was woman's intuition that started the investigation which brought about the arrest of the minister and confessions from him and his victim. In the case of the preacher the confession was written; the girl's confession was verbal to her mother and the Plainfield police.

Miss Nelson told a reporter yesterday that next Saturday she would "have to tell the same thing she had told her mother and the authorities."

Miss Nelson's father died when she was four years old. Her mother was married again to Dennis Mason, who is a farmer in a small way at Martinsville.

The minister is about thirty-eight years old, five feet, eight inches tall and of fair complexion. He is said to have been a veterinary surgeon, but deserted the alleviating of equine suffering for the work of bettering human souls. He studied for the ministry at Drew Seminary, near Madison.

For three years he has had charge of the little churches at Mount Horeb and Springdale. There were no services in either of his churches yesterday.

"We never have services on stormy Sundays," the Rev. Mr. MacRorie explained.

"Would you have preached if the weather had been fair?" he was asked.

"Assuredly," was his reply.

It was said yesterday that MacRorie had promised the authorities that he would resign his pastorate immedi-

ELIZABETH OFFERS GOLD FOR SLOGAN

City Wants Appropriate Phrase to Boom Its Big Industrial Exposition.

Elizabeth, Nov. 25.—This city wants a slogan to be used in promoting the big Industrial Exposition to be held under the auspices of the Board of Trade in the new Second Regiment Armory next February. The board has offered a prize of $25 in gold for the best suggestion for a slogan submitted. Nearly 200 suggestions have been received, some of them unique and many meritorius. The contest will close at midnight, December 1. Some of the suggestions being considered by the committee are:

"Made Right in Elizabeth," "Don't Envy a Well Located Factory—Come to Elizabeth and Have One;" "Boom Elizabeth and Help Yourself;" "Elizabeth Means Peace and Plenty;" "Elizabeth Shows How;" "Elizabeth, Accessible by Land or Sea," and "Elizabeth, the City of Peaceful Homes." Some of the contestants are using poetry to express their ideas. The object of the competition is to get a slogan describing the city as an industrial centre. The committee in charge of the competition is composed of A. O. Murray, chairman; Leo Schwed and John Byrnes. Suggestions may be mailed to this committee in care of the Board of Trade.

More than one-third of the space for the exposition has been leased by Union county manufacturers up to date and the success of the big show practically is assured already. POLICE TO KEEP WATCH FOR BICYCLE THIEVES

Chief Kiely has detailed several men of his department to run down a gang of bicycle thieves, who have succeeded within the past few days in capturing many mounts from negligent owners.

Three people complained to the police Saturday night that their wheels had been stolen in the afternoon, and this fact coupled with the evidence the police have of other thefts, gives rise to the belief that the offenses are committed not by several individuals, but by an organized band who make it a practice to journey from city to city stealing as they go, and selling the stolen wares to unscrupulous dealers.

For the purpose of advertising UNION COUNTY made goods to the world; of showing the variety, scope and importance of this industrial district; of bringing about a better relationship among the manufacturers themselves on one hand, and between the community and the manufacturers on the other, the Elizabeth Board of Trade will hold an INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION at the new Second Regiment Armory in Elizabeth, FEBRUARY 10-15, 1913.

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY, the largest producers of sewing machines in the world has leased an entire section, fourteen spaces, aggregating 1,400 square feet in area, for its exhibit. COUNTY COLLECTORSHIP.

We suggest that the new small Board of Freeholders when they assume office on January 1, think twice before they make any change in the office of County Collector. Naturally there is an eager scramble for the position, due to the fact that the job pays $3,500 a year and most of those seeking it possess not the slightest idea of the great responsibility resting on the incumbent. It requires a thorough knowledge of finances and an amount of thought and labor that is hardily compensated by the salary when the work is well performed.

To turn the office over to some one as a reward for party services would be a most serious mistake on the part of the Democrats who will be in control. The interests of the entire people of the county are paramount to those of a political organization. At the present time and for some years past, Nathan R. Leavitt has occupied the post. How well he has discharged the duties devolving upon him, is amply testified to by the members of the Board past and present regardless of their political affiliations. The experience he has gained during recent years is very valuable to the county's taxpayers. His office is administered without regard to parties and nothing but conscientious devotion to his work has marked his record.

What that record is was demonstrated but last week when the investigators named by Governor Wilson to go over the books of all county collectors delved deep into Mr. Leavitt's office. The measure of praise accorded him by those investigators after they had finished their task was published in the daily papers of the county and there is no need to go into any details concerning the laudatory statements.

Having all this in mind, we suggest that the incoming Board of Freeholders consider very seriously the risks of making a change in the Collector's office. The interests of the people should be above the interests of any party. As Mr. Leavitt is efficient, experienced, and always fair and courteous, would it not be well to have him continue to so ably attend to the duties of the department?

It is not a question whether Andrew Carnegie had the noblest feelings when he offered to pension former Presidents for his immense philanthropies show how generous and public spirited the Scotchman is, but he has learned that the American people do not take well to the thought of seeing their Government or its chief magistrates become objects of charity. At any rate, one good thing has come out of the offer. The American people have been duly impressed with the shame on their heads for not properly providing for those who sacrifice their opportunities to store up for their latter years for their families in order to respond to the call to occupy the highest office in the land. It will not be surprising, therefore, to see definite and final action taken by the next Congress to end the disgrace.

The first of the list of contestants to participate for the handsome prizes offered by the Daily Press is published today. That there is going to be a lively fight for first, second and third places, for which superb musical instruments are offered as rewards, goes without saying, but there is a special feature not to be overlooked. It is the offer of a ten per cent. cash commission to all bona fide contestants. Win or lose one of the grand prizes, each and every earnest entrant will come in on the distribution of cash prizes.

Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, has issued what is probably the shortest Thanksgiving Day proclamations on record, but that is far from saying that it was not one of the best.

Senator Gore is mentioned as a Cabinet possibility, but the Oklahoma statesman can render his country no better service than by staying just where he is at present.

Do your Christmas shopping early, but whenever you do it, patronize local stores.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Manager Goldsmith and Mr. Howe report favorable results from the practise for the minstrel show.

The girls' field hockey squad is still progressing and it certainly looks as if that feature of the school's athletics has come to say.

Football season is almost over for the P. H. S. team, but the two hardest games of the long schedule are still left. On Thanksgiving Day, the eleven will lineup against the Alumni and on Saturday it will meet Holy Cross on the Cricket Field.

With Captain VanZandt on the sick list, Monroe Good will probably be shifted from full to quarterback and Bill Peacock will again get back into the game.

As soon as football is over, Faculty Coach Wriston will call basketball practise as the first game in that sport is on the seventh of December at Passaic.

T. Clement Moore returned to school today after a week's illness of tonsilitis.

Among the P. H. S. students who saw the Stevens-Rutgers game Saturday were William Peacock and James McNamee.

It has been a custom at P. H. S. for the officers of the four classes, the Boys' A. A., and the Girls' A. A., the editors of the Oracle Board, and the president of the Chess Club to wear a distinctive pin as a mark of honor. The wearers of these pins are considered steady, reliable students who hold office by the vote of the school body, and can be called upon for advice and help. Miss Pauline Gates is now making arrangements for this year's supply of honor emblems for these students.

G. Stanley Robins, who graduated from P. H. S. in '09, is leader of cheering at Rutgers and gave a good account of himself at the Stevens game Saturday.

TURKEY BRINGS 28 TO 35 CENTS A POUND

Chicken Sells From 22 to 25 Cents—Prices Are Higher This Season.

From the day that Pilgrim fathers inaugurated the Thanksgiving observance in the New England States about one hundred years ago, roasted turkey has figured conspicuously on the menu as the one necessary article for a true Thanksgiving Day dinner. And as a delightful addition to this ancient tradition the cranberry must not be forgotten. A Thanksgiving dinner without cranberries in some form or other would be like Christmas without a Santa Claus.

Those pious Pilgrims enjoyed baked potatoes, onions, pumpkin pies, pop corn and a few other hardy edibles in addition to the turkey and cranberry sauce, but many of the delicacies placed upon the table today were then unknown. Imagine sitting down to a dinner one hundred years ago and seeing olives, celery and other relishes as appetizers to be followed with blue points, grape fruit cocktail, soup consomme ropale, glazed sweet potatoes, cauliflower au gratin, lettuce salad, peas, beets, asparagus, etc., not to forget the delicious fruits and nuts from Florida, Texas and California and imported sweetmeats from France, Spain and Mexico.

The turkey a century ago, caught only after an exciting chase in the fields and brought to earth by a well-aimed shot, was cooked over an open-fireplace and served in crude style, but the Vermont or Jersey fowl, reared from infancy in large numbers for the holiday season, is today roasted in improved coal-stove ovens, gas ranges and electric bakers, and served in choice style, with "stuffins" flavored with chesnuts and spices. And another improvement is the cook book. The newly-wedded housewife by close study and by following directions closely can surprise her husband on Thanksgiving Day by the rarity of the spread she has prepared.

Chicken will cost from 22 to 24 cents per pound, some butchers asking 25 cents for a fancy stock. Turkey will range in price from 28 to 32 cents a pound, at most markets, but where high prices predominate for the very best, 35 cents being asked. A number of families favor duck as the principal item on their Thanksgiving menu, which can be purchased at about 28 cents a pound. Cranberries are becoming more expensive as the years roll on, the majority of grocers charging 12 cents a quart for the red berries.

ately. These are under the jurisdiction of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, and it was authoritatively but unofficially stated the the conference would take prompt action.

It is not altogether certain that MacRorie would have preached yesterday, even had the weather been fair, as the community in which he lives is wrought up over his arrest, and it is likely there would have been strong opposition to his occupying the pulpit.

Miss Nelson is a diminutive blonde and could easily pass for fourteen or fifteen. She is less than five feet tall and girlish in figure. She would generally be called rather pretty. Yesterday she wore a natural color linen dress with a broad red leather belt. After declining to discuss her affair she was asked:

"Will you appear as a complainant next Saturday or decline to testify against him?"

"I'll have to tell the same story I told my mother and the police," she replied.

NEWLYWEDS VISITING.

Mr. Gibson holds a responsible position in the accounting department of the Potomac Electric Power Company, of Washington. The couple will remain here until Wednesday, when they will go to Brooklyn, to spend Thanksgiving. Upon their return they will begin housekeeping in Washington.

ANDREW CARNEGIE'S 77TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

Andrew Carnegie, one of the most prominent men in the whole world today, was born in Dunfermline, Scotland, Nov. 25, 1835. When he was ten years old his father, a weaver, in humble circumstances, emigrated to the United States and settled in Pittsburg, where Andrew rose from having charge of a small stationary engine to being the most extensive iron and steel manufacturer in the world. In 1901 he threw his personal interests into the syndicate known as the United States Steel Corporation, and he has since devoted much time and money to great humanitarian purposes. A recent estimate places Mr. Carnegie's total benefactions at about $200,000,000. He has donated money for the erection of 2,200 municipal library buildings. A few of his other notable gifts were $10,000,000 to the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburg; $22,000,000 to the Carnegie Institution, Washington; $10,000,000 to Scottish universities; $5,000,000 to the Carnegie Hero Fund; $1,750,000 for the Peace Temple at The Hague, and $15,000,000 for the college professors' pension fund.

WHY THE CHRISTIAN SHOULD GIVE THANKS

Rev. F. J. Hulbach Gave the Reasons in a Discourse Yesterday.

"A Christian's Reason for Thanksgiving," was the theme of Rev. Frederick J. Hubach's sermon at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, yesterday morning, his text being taken from Romans 7:25: "I Thank God Through Jesus Christ." In part he said:

"For a Christian a true Thanksgiving is only possible through Jesus Christ. The causes for thanksgiving that may be set forth in these days are certainly many. There is a general recognition of the principal that material prosperity is due to the blessing of God; and that cannot be over-emphasized. As a nation and as individuals we have enjoyed under the kindly providence of God a life of peace and prosperity. But for a perfect spirit of thanksgiving we must have also an appreciation of spiritual benefits. And this, too, is in dange. sometimes of wanting emphasis.

"The apostle's thanksgiving as expressed in the text follows an exclamation, which helps to emphasize what has just been said. 'Wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me out of the body of this death?' After all this physical body, depending as it does upon material blessings, cannot sustain the spirit in man without divine help. And the text is a recognition of that.

"What the church needs today more than ever, since our problems are harder than they ever were, is a clearer vision of the mission and purpose of its founder. Christianity differs from all other religions in that it is and ever must be what its founder was. And so that church must look to Calvary for its inspiration and from Calvary for its opportunity.

"A clearer vision of the cross is reassuring as to the mission of Christ. 'For it was the good pleasure of the father that in him should all the fulness dwell and through him to reconcile all things unto himself, having made peace through the blood of the cross.' The work there wrought out makes for the peace of conscience. Acceptance of the truth that 'Jesus Christ is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only but for the sins of the whole world,' is the only way that we may quiet conscience when the guilt of sin oppresses and burdens the soul.

"Moreover, clearer vision of the cross assures us that such peace is continuous and reaches into eternity. 'For if while we were enemies, we were reconciled to God through the death of his son, much more, being reconciled, shall we be saved by his life.' 'Had not the death of deaths by death to death the deathbow given, forever closed were the gates, the gates of life and heaven.'

"Such a vision also reveals the cross as 'the death of law and the triumph over evil powers.' We of today do not realize what a fight for life and death waged around a question of the observance of Mosaic ordinances in the history of the primitive church. So bitter was the contest on the part of those opposed to Christianity that Paul was constantly in danger of his life. Yet Paul insists that Jews under law and ordinances and alien gentiles, were 'reconciled both in one body unto God through the cross, having slain the enmity thereby.' And 'he blotted out the bond written in ordinances that was against us, and hath taken it out of the way, nailing it to the cross.' For a Christian, Mosaic laws and ordinances, have no binding force insomuch as they are covered by the work wrought out on the cross. A still broader application of the principle is possible. All law is unnecessary so far as the true Christian is concerned. For the higher one's Christian ideals, the less danger there is of breaking the golden rule. And the more Christlike one becomes, the more will one live for the good of others. One who loves his fellow men needs no law to prevent his working injury to them he loves. 'Looking unto Jesus * * * who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross.'

"And then, too, a clearer vision of the cross sets into the foreground the beauty of obedience. For he who 'existing in the form of God, counted not the being on an equality with God a thing to be grasped but emptied himself, taking the form of a servant, and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, becoming obedient even unto death, yea the death of the cross.'

"Such vision of the cross means inspiration to the believer. And he takes courage. And he is thankful also. But there is still another vision which he must get. That is the vision from the cross. That to the believer spells opportunity. And for that he is also thankful. From the cross comes vision of the world's need. And the world's present need spells urgency. Sin is not a thing to play with. It grieves the Almighty. It warps judgment. It mars character. It punishes every man. It destroys many. And the darkness and gloom of sin have so settled over the world that still a vast majority are enfolded in despair of redemption. A vision from the cross shows how little has yet been done when compared with what might have been done. As truly as the believer is grateful for his own redemption just as truly will he be in the measure grateful for the opportunity of bringing the world to the knowledge of redemption, just as truly will he do his best to help along the work of the kingdom in this world."

HUNTER IS INJURED IN AN ODD MANNER

Somerville, Nov. 25.—George Robertson, a mason, of this place, is in Somerset Hospital badly wounded about the left knee and thigh, the result of a shooting accident on Saturday. Robertson and his father, Walter Robertson, had been hunting near the Duke place, and when a rabbit was seen running near them, both grabbed for their guns. Somehow the gun of the elder Robertson exploded prematurely and the entire contents of one barrel entered the son's leg. The victim was removed to the hospital at once. The knee cap is injured to such an extent that it is feared the leg may have to be amputated.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MR. AND MRS. B. S. HARRIS

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Harris, of 736 Clinton avenue, were given a surprise party, Saturday evening, in honor of the sixty-third birthday anniversary of Mr. Harris. The affair was arranged by Fred J. Harris and Miss Mabel Bowers. There were about seventy-five relatives and friends present from Brooklyn, New York, Newark, Bayonne, New Brunswick, New Market, Dunellen and this city.

The evening was spent in playing games, enjoying a musical program and dancing, after which an elaborate supper was served. Both Mr. and Mrs. Harris received hearty congratulations with many happy returns of the day.

HOLY CROSS MUSIC WAS PLEASING YESTERDAY

The soloist at the recital given at Holy Cross Episcopal church last night was Miss Henrietta Harbison. The congregation enjoyed both of Miss Harbison's selections, which were the "Hold Thou My Hand," of Briggs, and "Jesu, Jesu Miserere," of Nevin. Her voice is a very clear contralto, well modulated and perfectly controlled, being specially suited for church singing.

In his program of selections, Charles Davis, the organist, made a slight change, substituting the "Ase's Death," of Grieg, for Schubert's "Serenade." While the more well known composition was missed, Mr. Davis' playing of the Grieg selection was effective. It is more and more apparent that Mr. Davis' temperamental love for his chosen instrument is responsible for the really exquisite rendering of the difficult compositions that he essays. He played the "Moderato," of Gade, and "March of the Israelites," of Costa, with great feeling.

Evening prayer, with a sermon by the rector, William S. McCoy, on "Retrospection; or Looking Back Over the Church Year," brought the service to a close.

NEW BRUNSWICK MISSES ON A HIKE--5 GET TIRED

The Misses Lillian Weedy, of 147 Burnett street, Ruth Carty, of 127 Remsen avenue; Emma Strang, of 246 George street; Mabel Gyse, of 180 Hamilton street, and Loretta Casey, of 60 Codwise avenue, New Brunswick, left their homes Saturday noon, in company with five other young women, the Misses Helen Kenny, Angela Burns, Augusta Phillips, Helen Keller and Mary Smith, for the purpose of walking to Plainfield. The first five accomplished the "stunt" but the last five after reaching Bound Brook, got tired and returned home by trolley.

The five young women who walked to Plainfield called at The Daily Press office, bearing a certificate from the Mayor and editor of the Home News, New Brunswick, showing that they left the city at noon, and further certification of the fact that they reached this office at 5 o'clock was given.

The young women have formed what is known as the R. A. C. Club, which means the Recreation and Clear Air Club. Last week the same party walked from New Brunswick to Perth Amboy and this week they will walk to Newark and the following week to Jersey City, from which point arrangements have been made for their return home by automobile.

TWENTY TAKE PART IN CHASE AFTER HOUNDS

A field of twenty riders turned out for the chase of the Watchung Hunt Club Saturday afternoon, the hounds being met at Melrose Manor, where they were cast in. Circling back of Metuchen, the first check was made at Iselin. The line now led to the Colonia Country Club, near Rahway, where the hounds circled again. The second check was made at Mt. Pleasant. The hounds were once more cast in and ran in a westerly direction, finishing at Goodman's Crossing on the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

There was much jumping and the horses fenced well. There were no serious falls. The master went down in trying to take a fence on which there was a strand of wire, but was able to finish. Among those in the field, half of whom finished were:

Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; L. B. Smith, H. A. Bourne, H. L. Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Rolston, J. J. O'Donohue, H. Stuart Hollis, C. W. Holland, Mrs. W. S. Brown, Beverely Brown, C. E. S. Bellows, Stanley Bellows, Miss Marjorie Dana, F. D. French, Miss Margaret Montgomery, R. H. Towner, J. Schuyler Casey and Huntsman Harrison.

Miss Olivia Lawrence, of New York, will give an illustrated lecture on Wednesday evening, December 11, at Trinity Reformed church, under the auspices of the Young Women's Mission Band. The members of the Netherwood Reformed church have been invited to attend.

100 Per Cent Heating Efficiency

Square Pot Furnaces consume to fine ash every pound of combustible fuel fed to them. They deliver to the hot-air flues for transmission about the house, every available heat unit in the fuel. They regulate with certainty for either mild or severe weather. They need little care—never clog with burned-out cinders, and give as good results on a minimum amount of fuel as others do fired to capacity.

For economical heating, install a Square Pot Furnace.

Charming Materials and Trimmings For the Small Girl's Coat.

Children's coats show the long straight line. They are made rather simply, many having adjustable collars and cuffs, which can be worn open or closed, as the weather demands. Serges, cheviots, Louicies, double faced cloths, broadcloths, fancy mixtures, wool velours and ratines are the materials most used.

It is said that some of the soft warm cloths used for children's coats are faced with white kid, even the buttons being kid covered.

Velvet and lace trim this frock of gray poplin, which is made additionally attractive by the collar and cuffs of creamy lace and belt and panel trimmings of black velvet.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NOVEL CHICKEN RECIPES.

WHEN chicken is a part of the Thanksgiving dinner the housewife likes to know of some unusual way of preparing it. Here are some methods which are both novel and delicious:

When turkey is high a simple roast chicken may be served as the piece de resistance.

Chicken With Tartare Sauce.—Draw and clean a pair of young chickens. Split each in half and fry a nice brown in butter. Then press between two dishes until nearly cold, dip into beaten egg, then in breadcrumbs and broil over a clear fire. Serve on a hot dish with tartare sauce.

To make this use a quarter of a pint of rich mayonnaise sauce and season it with chopped gherkins, parsley and capers, an extra dessertspoonful of vinegar and a little more mustard. Serve fresh lettuce with this course.

A French Recipe.

Chicken a la Bordelaise.—Cut the breast from a chicken, retaining its shape on the bone. Remove the skin and lard the breast on each side. Place it in a deep saucepan, cover with stock or boiling water and simmer for thirty or forty minutes or until tender. Then remove from the water and place in oven for ten minutes to bake a very light brown. Serve with a sauce made of one-half cupful of stock in which the breast has been boiled and one-half cupful of cream. Let it come to the scalding point; season with salt and pepper and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Remove from fire and stir in slowly the yolks of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of milk beaten together. Stir constantly until thick, but do not boil.

A Novel Way.

Chicken a la Reine.—Take a pair of tender chickens, clean, stuff and truss as for roasting. Dredge with salt, pepper and flour. Cut a quarter of a pound of pork in slices and put part on the bottom of a stewpan with two slices of carrot and one large onion, cut fine. Stir over the fire until they begin to brown. Then put in the chickens and lay the remainder of the pork over them. Place the stewpan in a hot oven for twenty minutes and then add white stock to half cover the chicken and a bouquet of sweet herbs. Dredge well with flour. Cover the pan and return to the oven. Baste about every fifteen minutes and after cooking one hour turn over the chickens. Cook in all two hours. Serve with hollandaise sauce or with the sauce in which the chickens were cooked, it being strained over them.

Chicken Italian Style. — Truss a plump fowl as if for boiling and rub it all over with garlic. Place one-half pound of streaky bacon, cut into neat strips, into a clean saucepan. As soon as the fat fries out add the fowl and fry till well browned all over. Then add four sliced onions, pepper and salt and some stock. Simmer for three-quarters of an hour.

Biggest and Best of Their Holiday Displays

Noted thru the many years agone for its wonderful Christmas shows, this, New Jersey's greatest store, opens up to you tomorrow the most stupendous, the most varied, the most beautiful collection of gift things for the Christmas season it has ever presented to a wondering, waiting public.

The store this year will be as in the years past a veritable treasure house of gift things. In all the State there is nothing quite as magnificent. Few stores anywhere in the country surpass the display; few stores anywhere have the space to do it. The great stretches of counters and shelves, the hundreds of booths and tables, the great wide aisles, the high ceilings, the Grand Court—all lend themselves to the proper presentation of the millions of gifts we have gathered from every part of the globe for distribution in New Jersey at Christmas time.

There is everything here from pianos to tenpins; from fine fur coats to infants' sacques; from $2,000 dining room suites to Noah's Arks; from superb cut glass punchbowls to little salts and peppers; from magnificent marble busts to tiny bits of china; from wonderfully decorated sets of English china costing several hundred dollars to the simplest dinner and tea sets costing only a few dollars; from rich real lace handkerchiefs to the little ones sold three in a box for children; from the biggest curly-headed doll baby to the tiniest little one of china; from luxurious fur-trimmed caps and coats for baby to the tiny little clothes for dollie; from the most beautiful hand-made matched sets of underwear to the simplest aprons; from superb silk and lace waists to pretty bits of neckwear; from oil paintings costing several hundred dollars to little den pictures for a quarter; from charming lace-trimmed negligees to the simplest collar sets; from magnificently bound sets of books to the plainest little Christmas cards; from the most gorgeous silk and down comfortable to the plain chochet spread; from the richest lace curtains to the most inexpensive pillow top; from the finest hand-embroidered centre pieces to the simplest doiley; from the wonderful Victrola to the little hand music box; from the finest evening slippers to little shoes for dollie; from the elegant sets of sterling silver to the tiny frames for miniatures; from the most gorgeous Oriental rugs to the simplest domestic doormat—we might go on forever and a day thus pointing out the extremes to which this wonderful stock carries us; but it would be folly to thus waste your time when the doors of the store are so wide open to you and the welcome so broad and generous.

We want you to come in and see the holiday store; we want you to enjoy the Christmas season with us; we want you to come early and often, and while advising you to shop early, we want you to SHOP WHEN IT PLEASES YOU BEST, for we are here to serve you whenever you choose to come.

Toyland Swings Wide Its Gates

It seems that we should not be called upon to announce an opening of Toyland for everyone knows that Toyland has been wide open for weeks and weeks and that the display of holiday goods here, big as it is all the year, has been up to its best for more than a month. The new arrangement of the Toy Store makes it possible for us to make the most beautiful displays of playthings it has ever been our pleasure to reveal to the children of Newark and vicinity.

From every clime and country there has come to us this season most wonderful toys: Many of these have been told of from day to day as they appeared. Many more will be told of as the season advances. But we want parents to bring the children, and we want the children to come alone if they can, to see the wonders of Toyland, to see particularly the mechanical toys that are now made so very much like the bigger things they are patterned after—the wonderful railroads, and ships, and aeroplanes, and submarines, and the walking and talking animals, engines of various sorts, hoisting cranes, and such marvelous bits of mechanism—we want you to see them all, and invite you to the store.

Would you believe it, there are more than 400 kinds of doll babies here; more than 40 kinds of playhouses and stores; fully 10 kinds of tenpins; 250 kinds of animals; 35 kinds of farmyards, menageries, etc.; 48 kinds of railroad trains; 68 kinds of battleships and other sailing vessels; 10 kinds of Noah's Arks; 24 kinds of companies of soldiers, Indians and other bodies of men in metal; there are 1,000 kinds of games and puzzles; there are 40 kinds of dolls' outfits.

We might go on telling you of these things and yet not give you an adequate idea of the wonders of Toyland.

Come in big folks—come in little ones—and see the great sights, and see also, after Thanksgiving.

THE BIGGEST SANTA CLAUS IN THE WORLD.

The Giant Santa Claus will be in the Grand Court bidding you a welcome, beaming upon the thousands of little ones who will visit us 'twixt Thanksgiving and Christmas. Santa Claus' hands are as long as lots of little boys and girls are tall, and his boots are as high as a big man; he is a wonderful old Santa Claus and you will, no doubt, be glad to see him.

Letters for Santa Claus should be addressed care of Hahne & Co. Write and tell the jolly old fellow what you want him to bring you at Christmas time, and if you are a good little boy or girl he will try to fulfill your wishes.

BELATED RALLY WINS ANOTHER

Holy Cross Eleven Put a Final Finish on Their Game With Bayonne.

A GRUELLING VICTORY

Score Tied Up Until Last Minute of Play—Coyle Gets Only Touchdown of the Game—Game Devoid of Spectacular Playing.

A touchdown in the last minute of play saved the Holy Cross-Bayonne game from breaking up in a scoreless tie on Cricket Field Saturday afternoon. By some strong defensive work the Boroughites rushed the ball to within a yard from the goal where Coyle made the plunge spelling victory. The contest was one of the most gruelling ever witnessed in this victory, both teams fighting like grim death for every inch of ground available. Time was called frequently to settle disputes and the referee and his assistants had their hands full trying to preserve order among the frenzied spectators.

Lack of practice plainly showed itself in Holy Cross' defensive work and this fact may act as an incentive for the players to report more regular to Hamilton's practices than they did last year.

The visitors were a set of husky veterans at the football game, trained and coached by Eddie Stallings, the star baseball player, and could rip up the Holy Cross line in spasmodic intervals like so mush paper. The church boys lent a little variety to the playing by getting in some pretty tackles at critical moments and were als adept in handling the ball.

It was a bitter defeat for the Vikings, as the husky men on the Bayonne lineup could do naught at a critical stage against the onrushes of Holy Cross' aggressive forwards who made a hole for Coyle to slip through for a touchdown. Holy Cross failed to put up its usual heady, brilliant game and the Bayonne eleven was also devoid of that important feature, but the common cause could be readily assigned to the heated argument both contestants took an active part in. The locals were considerably banged up before time was called but all of the regulars are expected back in the lineup by Thanksgiving Day, including Nash, who was on the sidelines in football togs Saturday afternoon.

The lineup:

HOLY CROSS	VIKINGS
Hamilton	T. Early
left guard
Moran	Mackenzie
center
Bremble	Doran
right guard
right end
Coyle	Hunter
quarterback
T. Ricketts	L'Estrange
left half
J. Ricketts	Sauermann
full back

Substitutes—Holy Cross, Manning for Johnson, Carty for Moran, Mair for Bremble, Caulfield for Mair. Vikings, Stallings for Sauermann and Boylan for Doran.

The score by periods:

Holy Cross	0	0	0	7	—7

Touchdown—Coyle. Goal from touchdown—Coyle. Time of periods—10 minutes. Referee—Hamilton. Umpire—G. Early. Timekeeper—Nelson and Howe. Head Linesman—Abrams. Asst. Linesmen—Hunt and Wake.

GIRLS' TEAMS WILL PLAY PRELIMINARY

Two Feminine Quintets Will Make the Thanksgiving Day Bill Replete.

As a preliminary to the Ajax-Hope Chapel game on the Y. M. C. A. court Thanksgiving Day afternoon the Nonpariel girls' basketball team, of this city, will meet the Wesley Methodist church team, of Paterson. The Nonpariel five is practically the same as last year's North Plainfield High School team and is playing under the captainship of Miss Helen Hummel, with Miss Clara Smith at the managerial end. The inevitable record established by these players on the court last season is enough to assure the spectators of an unusually speedy premilinary bill.

Patersonian stock sores just as high as the local team's, however, and they are coming here with a reputation and a loyal band of cohorts to aid them in sustaining it. The Y. M. C. A. court has been marked off for regulation girls' rules and the same professional referee who officiates at the Ajax game has been engaged to take charge of the girls' end of the affair. The local lineup which has been practising in the Y. M. C. A. is as follows: Miss Ida Hummel and Miss Bessie MacAuliff, forwards; Miss Helen Hummel, centre; Miss Clara Smith and Miss Grace Debele, guards.

UNDEFEATED TEAMS TO CLASH ON COURT

Somebody's Record Will Have to Be Tarnished Thanksgiving Day.

If early season successes can be taken into consideration when speculating on the probable outcome of a basketball game, the contest between Hope chapel and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax on the latter team's court next Thursday afternoon should prove to be one of the best games ever staged in this vicinity. The rivals will face each other on this date with clean records, neither having encountered a single defeat during the present season, and each team will fight like grim death to hold its record unblemished.

It is a foregone conclusion that the team in the lead at the final shriek of the referee's whistle will not have a comfortable margin to spare and the game will be a tossup until time is called in the second half. Hope chapel has five victories to its record so far this season and a majority of them have resulted in overwhelmingly decisive scores which established beyond a doubt the superiority of the Chapelites over their opponents.

All of the Ajax's wins, four in number, have been just the reverse of this and everyone of them have been nip and tuck battles. The fact that the Y. M. C. A. team's fame has been won by small margins does not in any way detract from its ability in comparison with Hope's, however, for the Ajax opponents have been far superior to those encountered by Hope chapel. Among the quintets that have suffered defeat on the Y. M. C. A. court are the Crescent A. C., of Elizabeth; the Crimson A. C. (formerly N. P. H. S.); the former Plainfield Y. M. C. A. first team and the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. five. Hope chapel has defeated Monroe Avenue, Scotch Plains Baptist, Company K, Union High School and the Y. M. A., of Bound Brook.

Because of the close rivalry which is ever prevalent when these two basketball team's clash, a professional referee will be secured to render the decisions. The Y. M. C. A. court has been remarked in the regulation style for the occasion and the game will be a championship affair in every sense of the word. The outcome will have much to do with picking a local basketball champion for 1913 and will throw some light on all star material.

Taken from an anyical point of view the two teams are pretty evenly matched. Present indications seem to point to Captain Brynarski, of the Ajax, as an opponent for Captain Heron, of the Chapel team. Brynarski is an excellent guard and deadly shot, while Heron can illude any guard and shoot from any angle. Myrton Glover and Tommy Heron will fight it out in the opposite corner of the floor and Glover's brawn vs. Heron's agility ought to stir things up in that vicinity. As pivot men Nash and Doig will face each other. There seems to be little choice between these two but taken on all around merits of shooting, passing and guarding, Nash seems to have a shade the better of the argument. Bill Peacock will likely have George Leighs as a guardian to keep from caging any of his timely baskets, while McNamee and Allen Snyder will play together in the right hand corner.

With every one of the ten men in first-class condition it is hard to predict any odds and the result remains to be seen.

BEATTY BROTHERS IN COLUMBIA FOOTBALL

Former Leal School Athletes Put Up Sterling Backfield Game.

The football ghost walked at Columbia University Saturday afternoon for the first time in three years when two fraternity teams composed of Columbia undergraduates fought each other to a standstill at Van Cortlandt Park. Delta Upsilon and Phi Signa Kappa were the fraternities that braved the University President's ire and donned the Moleskins.

Among those playing on the Delta Upsilon which lost out by a score of 6 to 0 were Russel Lawrence Beatty, the intercollegiate shot-put champion, and his brother, Clarence. "Rus" played left halfback and his brother the other half. Both put up stirling games and the brawny shot putters plunges were the feature of the game. Young Lawrence starred on the offense, getting in a number of brilliant tackles and intercepted two well directed forward passes.

While residents in this city the Lawrence brothers took an active part in athletics at Leal's Academy and it was while competing under Leals' colors in an interscholastic meet that "Rus" was unearthed as a possible future champion. Since their graduation from Leals, that institution has had no representative football team and athletic competition in general has never been as strong.

ARTHUR TILLOTSON STARS IN DEWITT CLINTON GAME

Two of the greatest rivals in Greater New York interscholastic circles met on the Manhattan Field gridiron Saturday afternoon in their annual football game. Dewitt Clinton managed to score a 10 to 0 victory over the Stuyvesant "Dutchmen" after a hard fought battle, in fact much harder than the victors had anticipated.

Among those on the winning side was Arthur Tillotson, formerly of this city. Young Tillotson played right end and besides making a 30 yard run he received three beautifully executed forward passes for goodly gains. Tillotson will bring a team here representing the all-star material of the New York High Schools a week from next Saturday to play Holy Cross in the final game of the season.

PLAINFIELDER LED CHEERING.

Stanley Robins, of this city, acted as head cheer leader for the Rutgers College contingent at their annual game with Stevens in Hoboken Saturday afternoon. Robins displayed his ability along this line to the large number of Plainfield football enthusiasts who attended the game, and was encouraged in his work by the sterling game put up by the team from the banks of the Raritan. Rutgers won by a 26 to 7 score.

FOUR STRAIGHT FOR THE AJAX

Local Y. M. C. A. Representatives Took Another Game Saturday Night.

HOPE CHAPEL NEXT

Score 32 to 22—Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. Five the Victims—Losers Are Always in the Winning—Some Good Passing and Shooting Exhibitions.

Once more the Ajax romped home on the larger end of a basketball score Saturday night and in this instance the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. aggregation was the victim. As has been the case in all of the games played by the association team this season, the score was tied up at various stages but the Ajax held the situation well in hand and were in the running with a spurt that netted them 32 points to Elizabeth's 22 at the finish.

Saturday night's win was the fourth of the season for the Y. M. C. A. players and they will go against the Hope Chapel team Thanksgiving Day afternoon with a record unmarred by defeat. The county seat combination got in a number of timely spasms savoring of quick and accurate passing and whenever an opportunity was afforded them to cage a basket they usually did in the way which spells two points. Time and again they took the ball the length of the floor on short passes only to have the team work suddenly shattered by the agility of an Ajax guard.

Elizabeth obtained eight points on foul shots and Powers, who did the foul shooting, wasted few of the free shots. He also managed to pull his team to the fore in the second period by executing a quartet of beautiful field goals from difficult angles.

For the home team, Brynarski was once more the individual star, his passing and shooting being of the gilt edged variety. He secured six baskets from the field and three from the foul line, while Peacock came up a close second with four from the field. The guarding of Hetfield and Glover broke up many well directed shots and the former displayed the stuff that is in him by getting up from a sick bed in order to fill in a gap in the lineup.

Lineup and score:

"MAC" SAYS

Be sure and don't get so engrossed in Thanksgiving Day festivities that you will forget that game between Plainfield High School and Holy Cross for next Saturday afternoon.

There is sure to be one horrible mob there but there is absolutely no danger of the stands collapsing because the people would rather stand up than sit down at such affairs.

Several hints can be distributed among the P. H. S. players before they take the field against the church boys and if taken seriously they may have some good effect on the outcome.

Beware of Captain Jack Wilson, the fellow who looks like Jim Jeffries. He has won a decision over the High School contingent once or twice before on the gridiron.

And Coach Hamilton. He's the guy who slipped Bayonne into the bay. Wilson will probably do the boot work unless Nash's toe comes back into form before that eventful date.

The question now arises as to which team will have the services of Carty at center. Well, the loyal son of the Emerald Isle has them all stopped when it comes to pads and the like and he is a help to any aggregation.

Holy Cross possesses a field general who has the qualities of leadership down to a nicety. His baseball experience helps him considerably in getting away with those long forward passes.

Linke says that he has players on his eleven who, instead of tackling an opponent, make a speech and knock 'em cold. Some class to that style of offensive play. Wonder if it will work?

The real result, however, remains to be seen, as the High School aggregation is famed for springing the unlooked for and even so, even so.

Athletics will flourish in this city Thanksgiving Day. There will be two corking good games of basketball at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon and Holy Cross has a football game on tap for the morning. That will make a pretty full day even if there is nothing else to do.

Holy Cross followers want to know where "Cutey" Glover, the massive guard, was last Saturday afternoon We don't know what finally became of him but when last seen he looked as though he would be back in form by Thursday.

Y. M. A. A. PIGSKIN TOSSERS WHITEWASH MT. PLEASANT

Playing a speedy game and using the forward pass to good effect the Y. M. A. A. football team treated the gridiron warriors of the Mt. Pleasant A. C. to a coat of whitewash Saturday the score ending 49 to 0. When the teams appeared upon the field they appeared evenly matched as to weight, but playing with machine-like precision and springing many surprises in the way of trick plays the winners soon left no doubt as to the final outcome.

Mattox, the diminutive quarterback of the Y. M. A. A., repeatedly called for the forward pass and after the ball had been worked toward the Mt. Pleasant goal four times throughout the game, this play enabled Weber to plant the sphere between the uprights on each occasion. Weber also accounted for another touchdown on a line plunge.

The spectacular stunt of the game however was performed by R. Mosher, who broke through the entire Mt. Pleasant line and dodging and twisting his way down the field, ran 60 yards for a touchdown. The other points of the contest were made by Stewart on "straight" football, and three goals were kicked.

HOPE CHAPEL QUINTET DOWNS SOLDIER BOYS

The basketball team of Hope Chapel, which has been exhibiting a sterling brand of play lately, demonstrated their superiority over the Company K aggregation Saturday night to the tune of 33 to 5. The contest was played before a large gathering of fans on the Hope Chapel court.

The team work of the winners was perfect, the shooting of J. Heron and A. Snyder being of high order. Hurderer played well for the soldiers, scoring the only two goals made. Darling scored a following four for the losers.

TWO GAMES SCHEDULED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

On Thanksgiving Day the football team of the Y. M. A. A. will journey to Roselle in the morning and tackle the strong Tiger A. C., of that place. The players will leave with a strong force of rooters on the 8:30 main line trolley. At night the basketball five will engage in a game with the Company K team on the latter's court in West Front street. Both aggregations have been strengthened by new players and a good game should result.

200 Afternoon and Evening Dresses

PROMINENT HOUSE SENDS US $22.98 TO $35.00 COSTUMES TO SELL FOR $15.00

The remarkable facilities of Bamberger's for disposing of women's fine dresses and costumes in large quantities is known to manufacturers the country over. Therefore, when a prominent concern decided to dispose of its surplus stock of beautiful dresses, the first thought that came to the sales manager was "Bamberger's." And Bamberger's it was. It is good to be held in such high regard by "the trade." It is far better to have the opportunity to offer such exquisite dresses for $15.00 when an honest house made them to be retailed at $22.98 to $35.00. The woman in search of gowns and dresses for afternoon, reception and dinner wear, as well as bewitching dancing frocks, will find worthy productions and distinctive styles in this unusual sale.

THESE BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES WERE NOT MADE FOR A SPECIAL SALE

Every one of the garments was made in a daylight factory. The materials were carefully chosen, styles studiously decided upon, and the making painstakingly looked after. The house has a reputation for making dependable garments only. But, more about the dresses: The materials include charmeuse satin, satin Duchesse, embroidered nets, plain chiffons, figured chiffons and pearl beaded net robes over satin. Charming dresses with soft laces and crystal bodices; dancing frocks of soft chiffons over silks in the most attractive styles, and enticing afternoon gowns of charmeuse. No adequate description of the styles could be given here, so none will be attempted. Suffice it is to say, that such beautifully styled costumes are seldom seen. Lovely colors and combinations. Sizes for women up to 42 bust measures; for misses, 16 and 18 years, $22.98 to $35.00 dresses $15.00

Boys' $5 Chinchilla Coats 3.89

(SECOND FLOOR—WASHINGTON STREET.)

The coats are made in Russian style, with belt all around. Worsted or flannel lined. Venetian yokes. Stylish garments, in gray and brown. Sizes 3 to 10 years. The maker figured on these coats retailing at $5.00. Certain business conditions caused him to close out several hundred to us "at a price." Therefore, you can buy one Tuesday for only $3.89

HE SHOT DOWN A RIVAL IN LOVE

Joseph Tate Laid in Wait for Mark Lovell and Fled After Wounding Him.

ALL THREE ARE COLORED

The Two Men Said to Be Suitors of Virginia Booker—Victim Only Slightly Hurt—Police in Other Cities to Watch out for Fugitive.

Hiding in the shadow of the rear porch at the home of R. A. Claybrook, of 403 West Seventh street, last night with a loaded revolver in his hand Joseph Tate, colored, took deliberate aim and fired four shots at Mark Lovell, a colored servant in the Claybrook household as he desended the stairs. The first shot took effect causing a gash several inches long in Lovell's head. The other shots went wild.

Tossing the gun aside, according to the story told by the injured man, his assailant leaped over his prostrate form and fled. The police of all neighboring cities have been notified to keep on the look-out for the alleged would-be murderer. Lovell was attended by Dr. N. W. Currie, city physician, and later taken to his home at 544 East Third street.

In his story to the police, in which he claims Tate was the man who sought his life, Lovell says the assault was the result of a quarrel between himself and his assailant over the affections of Virginia Booker, colored, who is also employed by Mr. Claybrook.

"I was just descending the steps," the victim said, "when this man Tate jumped out at me with leveled revolver and immediately opened fire. I dodged and ran, but the first shot fired struck me on the left side of my head, near the temple, and glanced off. Tate was just jealous of me, that's all."

The police here and in all nearby cities are searching for Tate, who is described as being 5 feet 6 inches tall, of stocky build. His occupation is that of a barber.

If Tate is apprehended he will be charged with assault with intent to kill.

13 LOCAL PATIENTS HERE FOR BONNIE BURN

Plainfield Charity Organization Society Makes Appeal for Wearing Apparel.

Thirteen patients from this city have passed the physical examination showing it is necessary for them to enter Bonnie Burn Sanitorium and it is expected that they will be received at the county institution next week. The Charity Organization Society, through which the local patients will be sent to Bonnie Burn, has provided them with many necessities, but other articles will be needed, such as bath robes, woolen pajamas, men's woolen outside shirts, and various articles of wearing apparel.

The Board of Governors of Bonnie Burn has announced that the sanitorium will be opened for the reception or patients on Monday, December 2, and on that date or soon thereafter it is expected that a large number of patients will be admitted. The Board of Governors has arranged to meet the first Monday of every month. Twenty-two patients from Elizabeth have passed the examination for admission to the sanitorium, and a less number is expected from other points in the county. There are accommodations for about 100 patients.

ADELAIDE THURSTON IN 'THE LOVE AFFAIR'

Talented and Charming Actress in Superb Show Here Tomorrow Night.

Theatregoers of this city will be pleased to know that Manager Sanderson, of the Plainfield theatre, has secured for tomorrow night Adelaide Thurston in a new comic play, "The Love Affair," by Frederick Paulding. Miss Thurston, this season, is under the direction of Francis X. Hope, who has provided a vehicle that fits his star like a glove. Miss Thurston first sprang into prominence in the role of "Lady Babbie" in a company organized by Charles Frohman to present "The Little Minister." She also appeared in the all star cast supporting Mrs. Le Moyne in "The Greatest Thing in the World," then as star in "Sweet Clover," followed by "At Cozy Corners," "Polly Primrose," "The Triumph of Betty," "The Girl Out Yonder," "The Woman's Hour," by Frederick Paulding, "Contrary Mary" and "Miss Ananias." In her lastest play, Miss Thurston is said to have the best part she has ever had. "The Love Affair," was written especially for her by Frederick Paulding, who has been associated with this charming actress as leading man and director of her plays.

MRS. SUSAN MANNING DIES IN 85TH YEAR

Highly Respected Woman Passes Away at Her South Plainfield Home.

Mrs. Susan Manning, aged eighty-four years, widow of William Manning, who had been a resident of South Plainfield for nearly sixty years, died at her home in that place this morning of the infirmities of old age. She was a member of the La-Tourette family, coming originally from the Cayuga Lake section of New York State, where she was born. Her husband was a farmer, his tract at South Plainfield being one of the best in that section. He also maintained a private race track there, which was a favorite gathering place for owners of fast horses.

Mrs. Manning was a Presbyterian, but she attended the Baptist church at South Plainfield during her residence there. She was one of the oldest subscribers to the Daily Press, having read that newspaper almost from the first day of publication. The aged woman was the old-fashioned type of mother and was beloved by all who knew her.

Mrs. Manning is survived by four children, Mrs. Clara Voorhees, of Asbury Park; Albert Manning and Miss Emma Manning, with whom she lived; Mrs. Walter Sisty, of Wayside Park; also two nieces, Mrs. Anna Ward, of South Plainfield, and Mrs. Susan Pierce, of Asbury Park, and a nephew, William Clawson, of this city. Notice if funeral will be made later.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

Thanksgiving Day will be observed at the Church of the Heavenly Rest by the Holy Eucharist service in the morning, beginning at 8 o'clock and Matins Thanksgiving service and address at 10 o'clock. The latter service will be choral.

BOARD IS 'SORE' ON A CONTRACTOR

Heating Apparatus Not Yet Installed in Somerset School.

CLERK DOLLIVER QUITS

School for Backward Children to Be Established at Debele's Hall by North Plainfield Board of Education.

The slow progress of the installation of the new plumbing and steam heating plant in the Somerset School building came in for lengthy discussion at the meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education last night. Following routine matters and slight mention to the dilatory work of the steam heating contractor, the Board went into executive session and the result of this terrible secret could not be learned.

The contract called for the work to be completed the early part of November, and because of procrastination several class rooms have had to close down numerous times during November on account of the lack of heat. Owing to this the school children are losing valuable time and many parents have complained. It is said an engineer will be employed by the Board to superintend the balance of the installation and rush the work to completion. D. J. Galbraith is the contractor.

Due to increased duties as council clerk and his practise of law, C. M. Dolliver tendered his resignation as clerk of the Board last night to take effect January 1, 1913. An effort was made to have Mr. Dolliver reconsider his action, but after he had explained his position, his resignation was accepted with regret.

A class of "deficient and backward" children has been formed and Dr. J. H. Cooley was authorized to engage Debele's Hall to be used as a classroom for these pupils, and also as a gymnasium for the school.

Supervising Principal Vossler reported on regular routine school matters and asked the Board whether it desired him to attend the State Teachers' convention in Atlantic City, December 26-28, and the meeting of School Superintendents of the National Educational Association at Philadelphia next spring. After a discussion it decided that a suitable amount be appropriated to send Mr. Vossler to these conventions as a representative of North Plainfield schools.

Another meeting of the Board has been called for Friday night, when the heating system will come up for further action, and a report will be made on the arrangements made for the special classes.

TERPISCHORE METHODS DISCUSSED AT P. H. S.

Miss Florence, an Expert, Delivers a Short Talk Before the Student Body.

In a brief talk before the students of the local High School this morning, Miss Florence, an expert dancing teacher, outlined the proper methods of executing the popular steps of the day, including the poise and manner of holding partners. Miss Florence appealed to the students to shun all that is undignified and suggestive in the terpischore pastime and layed special emphasis on the qualities that make popular dances objectionable.

The speaker stated that the most graceful and most highly pleasing dance of the present day is the waltz and she predicted that this would be the leading feature of the winter season dancing cards. She also advocated the three polka and in a recent interview with an orchestra leader at a large ball in New York city, he highly recommended the return to this form of dancing and said that it obtained more encores than any other dance on the card.

HASTEN TO FLORIDA TO GET CLARE BICKILL

Hetfield and Kiely to Bring Deserting Hubby Back—Is He a Bigamist?

Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and Police Chief Kiely, of this city, have gone to Jacksonville, Fla., to bring back to this city Clare Bickell to answer to a charge of desertion preferred by his wife. He was indicted by the last Grand Jury, and Chief Kiely, with the aid of private detectives hired by Mrs. Bickell, have been tracing him since then.

Bickell was apprehended, however, according to relatives of Mrs. Bickell, by an anonymous letter sent to his wife from Jacksonville, stating that Bickell was in that city living with another woman, as man and wife. If the investigation of the authorities who journeyed to the southern town prove this to be true, he will face a still more serious charge upon his arrival here.

Mrs. Bickell, formerly Miss McIntyre, has been married to Bickell for about eight years. He deserted her, according to relatives, three years ago and her appeal to the police finally secured the indictment of her husband on a charge of desertion.

C. O. S. CHOOSES NEW TRUSTEES

Fifteen Are Selected at Annual Meeting When Reports Are Read.

ERNEST EASTON TALKS

Secretary of State Organization Discusses Matters Pertaining to N. J. Charities Conference to be Held Here Next February.

Matters pertaining to the annual State conference of Charities and Corrections to be held in this city on February 2, 3 and 4, as related by Ernest D. Easton, secretary of the State association, together with election of trustees and the presentation of reports for the year, comprised the principal business at the annual meeting of the Charity Organization Society held in its rooms in the Babcock building last night. Dr. Henry M. Maxson presided and there were about thirty-five members present.

Mr. Easton's presence here was chiefly for the purpose of giving the members of the association preliminary information regarding the State conference and the importance of appointing committees at an early date so that they may co-operate with the officers of the State association in arranging program and other details. The general topic of the coming conference will be "The Institutional Work of the State." Plans are now underway to present a strong program at each session. The conference will probably be held at the High School and the Y. M. C. A. and will bring together a large number of charity workers from all parts of the State as well as other States.

In the selection of trustees, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen was chosen in place of Mrs. J. K. Myers, who resigned. The fifteen trustees are as follows: Mrs. C. W. McCutchen, Hugh F. Fox, Dr. Henry M. Maxson, John D. Miller, J. Hervey Doane, William S. Tyler, J. Albert Lane, Dr. William H. Murray, Miss Mabel E. Pierson, Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, Mrs. Dexter Tiffany, Mrs. J. M. Charles, H. C. Munger, S. T. Carter, Jr., and Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow.

Various reports were received, showing what was accomplished the past year. Miss Mabelle Phillips gave the executive secretary's report; also the one for the friendly visitors. S. T. Carter, Jr., reported for the legal committee; Miss Florence Huntington for the relief committee; William N. Wherry, Jr., for the welfare exhibit, and J. Albert Lane gave the treasurer's report, which showed total receipts for the year to be $6,327.74 and disbursements, $7,178.06, leaving a deficit of $850.32.

The report concerning the concert given at the High School by the Mursugia Society, of New York, for the benefit of the society, showed that the profits at present are about $300 and the returns have not all been made as yet. It is expected that this profit will be increased considerably.

ANOTHER TEMPORARY BLDG. FOR VITAPHONE

The Vitaphone Company, whose plant is on North avenue, opposite the Netherwood station, is erecting a temporary building, 140 feet by 35 feet, which will increase the capacity of the output to nearly 300 machines per day. The present plant is equipped with machinery to turn out in the neighborhood of 500 completed machines today, but there is not the necessary floor space for assembling.

C. E. Gulick, a builder, now associated with the Vitaphone Company, is in charge of the construction work. The concern is so swamped with orders that it cannot supply the demand. It is worth a trip to this interesting factory to hear the wonderful tone of the machine.

MISS DENTON SERIOUSLY ILL.

Miss Clara R. Denton, of West Sixth street, one of the oldest residents of the city, is critically ill at her home. She was first taken about a week ago with stomach trouble, and owing to her advanced age does not seem to have the strength to rally from the attack. Miss Denton's sister, Mrs. Sarah Bliss, of Washington, arrived here today in answer to a summons.

SCOTTISH SOCIETIES' LUNCH BOX SOCIAL

Clan Mackenzie and Craig-a-Lea Lodge Enjoy a Feast.

Craig-a-Lea Lodge, Daughters of Scotia, auxiliary to Clan Mackenzie, held a joint lunch box social with the clan last night, following a regular meeting of the latter at its rooms, 109 Park avenue. There was nomination of officers of Clan Mackenzie, preparatory to the election on Monday, December 9. During the business session one new member was initiated and several propositions were received.

The Scotchmen and their women friends had a jolly time during the social time that followed. Edmund L. Mackenzie made a short address. James McIntosh, the piper, entertained with selections and Thomas Hendry sang several Scotch songs.

The admission for the women was a box of lunch and these were sold at auction, Robert Murray being the auctioneer. About $200 was realized from the sale, some of the boxes selling for as high as $1. After the boxes were disposed of, all sat down and enjoyed the lunch. Games also added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

MOY AND SUCCESSOR ARE BOTH TO SPEAK

Mayor and Mayor-elect Will Address the West End Civic Assn.

Mayor-elect Percy H. Stewart and Mayor G. W. V. Moy have accepted invitations to speak at the first public meeting of the West End Civic Association to be held in the Washington School auditorium Monday night, December 9, and have notified Barton K. Davis the chairman to that effect. No subjects have been assigned to the speakers, the association preferring that they select their own topics. It is expected, however, that they will discuss civic matters. As this will be the first time that the present executive and the new one will meet in a public way, their presence at the meeting should be of interest. William Jeffrey has also accepted an invitation and he will talk on "Civic Associations," a subject with which he is familiar.

In addition to the addresses the committee in charge is planning to present a program of music. The public in general is invited whether they are members of the association or not. Since the organization of the association the members have taken a lively interest in affairs in the West End and will doubtless become an important factor in the future.

ACCUSED PASTOR OBTAINS SUPPORT

M. E. Church Presiding Elder Issues Statement Following Conference.

TO WAIVE EXAMINATION

No Hearing Likely on Saturday—Alvah A. Clark Counsel for Minister—Some Neighbors Express Confidence in Him.

The trustees and stewards of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale M. E. churches, of which Rev. Willis S. MacRorie is the pastor, held a conference yesterday with Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of this city, District superintendent of the Elizabeth district of the Newark Conference. The situation in respect to the grave charges made against MacRorie by Mrs. Amelia Mason, mother of nineteen years old Miss Alice Gertrude Nelson, was discussed. The minister was present at the meeting.

It was unanimously decided to stand by Mr. MacRorie, and he was counselled to waive the hearing set for Saturday before City Judge William G. DeMeza, and allow the whole matter to take its course before the Grand Jury. This will be done by the accused minister. The fact that Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., has been called to Jacksonville, Fla., suddenly on an important case, will prevent his being in this city on Saturday as he will not return home probably before Monday. However, inasmuch as MacRorie has decided to waive a hearing, would make it unnecessary to have a hearing here on Saturday.

Dr. Randolph in speaking of the affair, said last night:

"Mr. MacRorie's case has been placed in the hands of Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, and Charles A. Reed, of this city. Some very serious accusations have been made against Mr. MacRorie in the newspapers, but the church authorities hold him innocent until he is proved guilty by the courts, not the newspapers."

The newspapers have simply published the facts as alleged by the city and county authorities and the parties concerned.

So far as known Mr. MacRorie will continue to serve as pastor of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale churches until he is proven guilty of the charges preferred against him by Mrs. Mason. It is said that the minister has many friends who still believe in him and are unwilling to think that he is guilty. It is understood that Mr. MacRorie laid the whole case before the church council last night, and on the strength of his statement it decided to stand by the minister.

PROCTOR'S CLEVER SHOW.

"Dinner for Four," a powerful comedy dramatic sketch is the headline act at Proctor's theatre this week. It is presented by Holland, Brady & Co., and it held the large audience spellbound for eighteen minutes, last night. The sketch has a strong moral. Mabel Carew, a bright and knowing singing comedienne, entertains with character songs; Browning & Lewis present a comedy skit, "Nearly a Soldier," that is a scream; Gregorie & Co., furniture jugglers, have an exceptionally good act and Morris & Clark, singing and dancing comedians are far above the average. The pictures are always good. The Pathe Weekly is snown every Wednesday.

BOY MISSES RABBIT, BUT NOT MAN'S LEGS

Jamesburg, Nov. 26.—With his legs riddled with shot, Joseph M. Perrine is still in bed, as the result of a hunting trip Saturday, during which a boy missed the rabbit.

Mr. Perrine was at the head of a party of hunters on the estate of John Kirkpatrick, Assemblyman - elect. When the rabbit darted from cover Edward Smith, fifteen years old, took hurried aim and fired, Mr. Perrine being directly in range.

Hearing his screams, the entire party carried Mr. Perrine to Jamesburg, where Dr. H. D. Zandt extracted all the shot but one, which could not be found.

Mets, treasurer of the Republican County Executive Committee; Lewis A. Bellis, of the Democratic Committee, and James E. Bathgate, treasurer of the Progressives, each filed statements showing the amounts spent during the campaign.

PERSONALITY DEFINED BY DR. G. G. YARROW

Student of Psychology Tells What Goes to Make up Success in One's Life.

Before a thoroughly enthused and highly appreciative audience in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night, Dr. George G. Yarrow delivered his discourse on the subject of "Personality." The speaker has given years of careful study to psychological research and demonstrated by means of a collection of colored charts the nerve centers and interior organs which constitute personality. By means of a specially constructed model of the human brain, he imparted a clear understanding of the part the brain plays in personality and success.. He dwelt at length on the manner of developing personality and his wholesome humor and affability occupied his listeners' undivided attention at all times. In part Dr. Yarrow said:

"Personality has only been understood by scientists for a comparatively short period of time and before that time it was a matter of imagination but during the next few years I look for rapid strides in the development of this heretofore concealed science. Personality is something that is born in us and has to be developed in order to be put to any practical use. The brain has three distinct centers of nerve control, the sight center, the hearing center and the speech center all connected by fibrous. There is always a superabundance of brain cells and these must be developed early in life by the individual in order to be put to any practical use.

"In the growth of the brain cells the imagination plays one of the most important parts and we ourselves have complete control of our mental destiny. The best means of enlarging on the imaginative faculties is to make a careful study of history. A number of failures in life can be laid directly to the lack of concentrative energy as this power produces the greatest results in every walk of life. To make the most of our personality we must have an unlimited supply of courage."

Before and after the lecture, vocal selections were rendered by Miss Lois Samuel, sopranoist of the First M. E. church choir. She was accompanied at the piano by Clifford M. Braider, the organist and choirmaster.

TEPPER BROTHERS ADD STILL ANOTHER STORE

Tepper Brothers, the local dry goods merchants, have added another to their chain of stores throughout the country, having purchased the dry goods business of the F. E. Doolittle Company, at Elmira, N. Y. They will take possession in January. The old firm will retire at that time after thirty-one years of business.

Tepper Brothers began business at Selma, Alamaba, their native place, eighteen years ago. They now have stores at New Brunswick and Plainfield, in addition to their large store at Selma, and the new business just secured at Elmira will add greatly to the possibilities of the enterprising firm.

THEY WANT A SCHOOL.

The East End Taxpayers' Association at its monthly meeting, last night, expressed considerable dissatisfaction over the failure of the Board of Education to take steps to build a school in the Netherwood section of the city, while it is being planned to spend a large sum of money to build an addition to the High School. The association put itself on record as being opposed to the action of the Board of Education, and this will be communicated to the Board. The meeting was largely attended. After the business cigars were passed and refreshments enjoyed.

UNION PROSECUTOR TO PROBE BALLOT JUMBLE

Elizabeth, Nov. 26.—By resolution of the Union County Board of Elections yesterday Prosecutor Swift was directed to look into the work of the district board for the First district of Union, where the returns are badly muddled.

The county board found that the number of ballots was less than the number of recorded names of persons who voted. The district board also neglected to "string" the ballots, and placed them in the ballot boxes in a disarranged manner. The irregularities were discovered while the board was recounting the vote for surrogate.

COUNCIL ASKED NOT TO SMOKE IN SCHOOLROOM

Roselle Park, Nov. 26.—Members of the Roselle Park Borough Council have been requested not to smoke at their sessions in the schoolhouse.

Besides that the councilmen have been barred from the classroom in the High School building, which they have been using for a meeting place, and shifted to the teachers' room.

This is because the school is becoming so crowded with pupils that the Board of Education has decided it must make some reassignment of rooms.

SUSPENDED BOYS MUST STUDY ALL "VACATION"

Summit, Nov. 26.—On the principle apparently of the better the day the better the deed, Superintendent of Schools Marsh Sunday afternoon had a conference with the seven suspended High School boys, who preferred hooking school and playing football Thursday to having a special algebra recitation. A plan has been evolved whereby they may return to school, but not until next Monday.

The conference lasted for about an hour. Mr. Marsh told the youths that their suspension, far from being treated as an enforced vacation, must be employed in studying the regular lessons assigned to their classes. Upon his return to school each boy will be given a test—whether oral or written has not yet been determined—and upon giving satisfactory evidence of having studied will be reinstated. All seven boys, it is understood, agreed to this proposition.

Mr. Marsh explained yesterday morning that the school authorities did not consider the lads as in any sense vicious, although their rebellious action had to be punished.

J. B. Hodgskin, formerly of this city, who has been living at Flemington, has returned to 161 Grove street, the borough.

Preparatory services will be held at Warren chapel, tomorrow night, followed on Sunday morning by communion.

FOWLER'S BANK REFORM PLANS

Former Congressman to Have His Bill Introduced at the Short Session.

OUTLINE OF MEASURE

Banking and Currency Reforms Are of Greater Importance at the Present Moment Than the Tariff, He Says.

As had been anticipated, Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, former chairman of the committee on banking and currency in the House of Representatives, referred to in Wall Street the other day as the father of needed banking and currency reform legislation, has prepared a new bill to that end, and will have it introduced in Congress December 2.

In discussing the matter, Mr. Fowler said that banking and currency reforms are of greater importance at the moment than tariff revision. He does not think anything definite will be done about the matter at the coming short session, but feels that an early beginning is imperative.

The reason is given in a seeming paradox that our present prosperity constitutes our greatest peril; that with our present inefficient banking facilities, our progress toward increasing prosperity is in the direction of commercial and financial crisis.

Not content with taking the press of the country into his confidence as to the plan and scope of the proposed banking reform measure, Mr. Fowler adds that he is writing a book on the subject.

In discussing a statement which he will issue shortly the former Congressman said it will show how American banks have gradually developed and grown during the past fifty years, and how individual banks when organized to accommodate and serve the American people most efficiently must consist of four functions: commercial business, savings business, trust business and note-issuing business.

"In the second place the statement will point out," he said, "how the American clearing house has developed and grown without any authority of law until, in its advanced form, it is a perfect organization in itself for the supervision and control of all the banks clearing through it, in fact it is itself a kind of central institution in which all banks, members of it, are combined into a single unit.

"The clearing house, too, has its four distinct functions, first, its organization represented by the committee which manages it; second, a bank examiner, to investigate its members; third, centralized reserves, contributed by its members, the amount now centralized at the various clearing houses being estimated at upwards of two hundred millions of dollars, and fourth, whenever necessary these clearing houses issue a true credit currency in the form of clearing house certificates. Now, all of these things are done without authority of or recognition by law.

"In the third place, the statement will point out how the whole country should be organized in precisely the same way, but in thirty or forty great commercial zones, and then that these commercial zones should all be combined and bound together as precisely as the individual banks are bound together under the clearing house; but for the larger protection of all the banks of the whole country by a co-operative gold fund amounting to at least one billion two hundred and fifty million dollars, a fund twice as large as any other gold fund in the world, one sufficient to protect every individual bank, so it can maintain its independence, and also every commercial zone, and make each such financial centre independent of every other centre, just as much as England is independent of France, and France of Germany, financially.

"This vast gold reserve could be used not only to protect the commercial interests of the United States," he said "but to control the movements of gold to and from the United States, and we could then protect ourselves against the drafts for gold that might otherwise be made upon us, under adverse conditions, precisely as the Bank of England protects and increases its reserves.

"In the fourth place, the statement points out the great importance of a national land credit bank under government supervision, co-operative in character, with a paid-up capital of twenty-five million dollars, which will enable the farmers of this country to obtain loans on their farms as cheaply as any railroad or any of our great corporations obtain their capital, certainly at a rate not to exceed five per cent."

RED BANK IS AROUSED BY INCENDIARY FIRES

Red Bank, Nov. 26.—Two of the three fires which occurred here Sunday night are believed by the police to be of incendiary nature. The third fire is thought to have been caused by a lighted cigarette.

The first fire occurred in the garage of ex-Judge Charles E. Hendrickson, of Front street, which was destroyed. About half an hour later fire was discovered in a bedroom in Adolph Kind's residence in Mechanic street. It is thought this fire originated from a lighted ciragette igniting the bedclothes in the room.

The third fire was discovered in the Red Bank Lyceum theatre. The ticket office and the men's smoking-room were partly burned. A five-gallon can, partly filled with kerosene oil, was found lying on its side in the smoking-room in the theatre.

Prosecutor John S. Applegate, with Detectives Elwood Minugh, Jacob B. Rue and William Chandler, were informed that a tramp had been seen near the Hendrickson garage just previous to the fire. The men in an automobile paid a visit to a tramps' "hangout" on the outskirts of the town, but they found the place deserted.

Another fire in the Burrowes Lumber Yard, in Front street, was reported yesterday morning. This fire was extinguished without the aid of the firemen. This is the second fire at the Lyecum theatre within the past three months.

It is thought the fire in the Lyceum on the other occasion was incendiary. Thirteen armed firemen, together with the police department and a squad of constables, paroled the streets in the borough through the night.

SHAFT DEDICATION.

Elizabeth, Nov. 26.—James L. Pennypacker and A. J. Demarest, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the Valley Forge Monument Commission, will meet today with General J. Madison Drake, another member of the commission, at his home in Madison avenue, to arrange a program for the dedication of the monument on June 18, 1913. Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, rector of St. John's Episcopal church and a veteran of the Confederate army, will also be General Drake's guest. Dr. Glazebrook will probably be selected as the orator of the day at the dedication ceremonies.

Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, delivered an interesting missionary address at Grace M. E. church Sunday afternoon, and in the evening he occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church at Bernardsville, speaking to a large congregation.

WHY $270,000 IS NEEDED.

Whenever a public work of any magnitude is undertaken, there is always a variety of criticism as to its necessity; but much of this is due to lack of information. So the appropriation by the Board of Estimate of $270,000 for an addition to the High School has raised in the minds of a few some questions of doubt. Some think the addition is too large. Others see no use for a swimming pool, and some would turn away the pupils from other districts and so economize room. The Daily Press feels that these objections are not well grounded.

The size of the building has been determined after months of study by the Board of Education who are fully conversant with the needs of the school system. Two years ago the Board planned for a six room addition with the expectation of another of the same size two years later, and so on, as the school grew; but when it went into the matter, it found that to build six rooms, the whole heating and ventilating system would have to be made over and enlarged; that a few years later it would again have to be revised, and that then they would have only a patch work and all in the heart of the building with all its dust and noise and fire risk. The Board also found the growth of the school a startling problem. The pupil now number about 600, and are increasing 80 to 100 each year. It they increase only 80 annually, they will number over 1000 five years from now.

Manifestly six room additions would be a mere patch work, and it seems to us that the Board showed wisdom in grappling with the problem as it did and deciding to build now the kind of building they will be sure to need five years from now. This is far more economical than to build piece-meal and the final results will be far more satisfactory. For instance, the new plan puts the heating and ventilating plant outside; it is to be compact and planned on the latest ideas; it will permit the use of finer coal and so materially reduce the daily running expenses. The system of ventilating will be far more effective than it could have been under the piece-meal plan and the health of the children for years to come will be better and their work better because of it. So all through the building, the efficiency of the school will be greatly increased by erecting a complete building now instead of putting on patches every few years.

In a word, the school would have to have a building of the size now planned within a few years anyhow. By doing the whole thing now, the Board saves money in construction and gets a far better building. Not only that, but the extra rooms not immediately needed by the High School would be used by the Stillman Grammar School, much to their profit, and this would permit the half-time children in the Franklin School to attend all day. Practically the whole building therefore would be used at once. We call this wise planning.

As to the cost of the building, we understand the Board set out to build a first class building, up-to-date in its appointments; with nothing extravagant, but simply of the grade Plainfield is accustomed to demand in all things for its children. When the bids came in, it was found the building would cost $306,000. The Board then set to work to pare down the cost in whatever way it could be done without materially lessening its hygienic value, and $270,000 was determined as the sum needed. If the Board of Education, after all the time they have put on the problem, say that this amount is needed to build the kind of building that Plainfield children ought to have, then the citizens want them to have that amount.

As to a swimming pool, we are glad Plainfield has a Board of Education intelligent enough to appreciate that need. We have always advocated a swimming pool for the children as a pleasure in the summer; we are more than glad they are to have it in the winter also, as a tool of knowledge. We understand that it is the plan of the Board of Education to use the swimming pool just as the laboratory and the manual training rooms are used, as part of the school instruction. Swimming teachers will be employed, a man for the boys and a woman for the girls, and every child of both sexes in the High School, and probably in the grammar school, will be taught that most valuable accomplishment. It will also be available for summer use and will be one of the most useful parts of the playground equipment.

We have always felt that it is folly to spend hundreds of dollars in raising a boy to manhood and educating him and then letting it all be sacrificed because he did not know how to swim, when if a few dollars had been added to the cost of educating him he might have had that necessary art. Really, when you come to think of it, the art of swimming which this pool will permit may be of more real practical value to the pupil in after-life than any other thing he gets in the school.

As to receiving out of town pupils, four facts should be more generally known:

First. If all out of town pupils were dismissed, the addition would still be badly needed for the school would still have a hundred more pupils than there are seats.

Second. In receiving these pupils, the Board of Education is simply carrying out the policy of the State Department.

Third. Our own children are benefitted by this policy. The larger school can offer many advantages which the smaller school cannot. The more teachers a school has, the wider the range of subjects that can be offered, at no increased cost, and the better each pupil can find the exact kind of work he needs. Our High School is increasing in efficiency and value each year by reason of its growth in numbers.

Fourth. The Board is making money for the city in receiving these pupils.

In answer to our inquiry, Superintendent Maxson inform us that in tuition and in allowances from the State for attendance and teachers, the Board is receiving over $9,000 annually. If these pupils were excluded, the running cost of the school would be diminished about $3,000.

In short, if these pupils were dismissed, the school budget would have to be raised $6,000, and that would come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Plainfield has always reaped much benefit in a material way from its schools. It is known far and wide because of them, and families move here every year to benefit from them. The Board of Education is right in planning for a first class building with the most modern equipment. In no other way can the school be kept inthe front rank. In no other way can our own children have the best.

It is quite unnecessary to say anything here in reference to the manifold advantages of newspaper advertising over any other form of publicity for banking institutions for the local banks and trust companies make liberal use of the local dailies' advertising columns as may be noticed by a perusal of this issue. But in many other cities, in the vast majority of them, the banks are not so progressive in their ideas that tend for rapid gains in deposits and in general prosperity. To such as these, R. L. Gurney, manager of a St. Louis trust company's savings department, addressed himself before the Mississippi Bankers' Association convention, a short time since. He described program advertisement "and other items which yield no returns." In extolling newspaper advertising he declared that it is the only kind that helps business.

One of its readers having suggested that public schoolhouses be used as polling places, the Trenton True American observes that so little attention is paid to the vitally important public school matters that very few voters would know where the buildings are located. This is only too painfully true. About the only thing about the schools one hears is a goodly seized knock registered by some ill-informed chap who has a chronic disposition to say an ill word wherever possible.

The race is on for the player-piano, the piano without the automatic attachments and the Vitaphone offered by the Daily Press in its special subscription campaign. It should not be overlooked that there is no gambling in this unique contest, for each and every bona fide entrant will receive a cash commission of ten per cent.

James B. Duke is "The proud father," but we do not presume that the cigars will be passed around at his stores.

It is reported that when he assumes office, President-elect Wilson will have at his disposal 411,478 offices. Patriotic Democrats please note.

BROTHERS HELD FOR MURDER

Charged With Killing Girl, Threats of Lynching Are Made.

Berryville, Ark., Nov 28.—Otis and George Davidson, charged with the murder of Miss Ella Barham, were brought here, when threats of lynching were made at Harrison, where Otis was removed from Yellville. George Davidson, the seventeen-year-old brother of Otis, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by the father of the girls, whose dismembered body was found Friday.

Search of the Davidson home at Zinc revealed a stained ax, which the two young men said they had used in slaughtering a hog. Since his arrest Saturday afternoon Otis Davidson has been confined in the jails of three counties, Boone, Carroll and Marion.

TAKE OUT HEART, SEW IT UP.

Although Wound Penetrated Organ, Patient Lived Six Hours.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—James Morrissey, a watchman at the Hotel Jefferson, who was stabbed by a negro, lived for six hours after the wound, which penetrated his heart, had been sewed with ten stitches at the City hospital.

In an effort to save Morrissey's life, Dr. Willis Young of the visiting staff of the City hospital performed the rare cardiac operation while the heart, held by forceps, palpitated outside the chest cavity.

The operation lasted for half an hour, the organ being exposed, beating, to the gaze of the attendants.

Gathering the Remains.

A good woman's husband was dismembered and eaten by an African tribe. She, desirous of giving him Christian burial, was left no other alternative but that of exterminating, with the assistance of certain accommodating friends armed with the destructive weapons of our advanced civilization, the tribe in question, which had shown such a receptive attitude toward her husband. The bodies of the savages were brought back to civilization by the avenging expedition and were placed in one grave, surmounted by a modest slab placed there by the widow and bearing the following inscription: "The remains of the Rev. —, beloved husband of —."

A Poisonous Frog.

People in general look upon all species of the frog as being perfectly harmless. Should you be traveling in New Granada (United States of Colombia), however, you would do well to let a certain little tree croaker severely alone. He secretes a poison equally as deadly as that of the rattlesnake. It exudes from his skin in the shape of a milky liquid.

While riding a bicycle on West Third street near Lee place, yesterday Charles Goldstein, of 196 Grove street, figured in a collision with a horse and wagon driven by J. J. Kerwin. Mr. Kerwin, who lives at Rock avenue and West Fourth street, claims the cyclist was riding on the wrong side of the street and that there was no light on his wheel. Goldstein was not seriously hurt.

ROSENTHAL GUNMEN TO DIE WEEK OF JANUARY 26

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 26.—Gyp the Blood Horowitz, Lefty Louis Rosenberg, Whity Lewis and Dago Frank, who were convicted a week ago of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were sentenced by Justice Goff this morning to die at Sing Sing prison during the week of January 6.

When Sheriff Harburger started for Sing Sing with the men, he did not take any chances of running into a rescuing party. He started for the prison at 11 o'clock, taking the four men to the Grand Central station in a prison van. Inside of the van were four deputy sheriffs, each with a gunman linked to his arm. Three guards were on the rear step of the van, and the sheriff and a deputy sat on the front seat with the driver.

The last of the exhibitors, with their birds arrived early last night, and the doors of the show were thrown open to a crowd of anxious enthusiasts at 8 o'clock. It was the general opinion that the entries, including birds of every breed, are the classiest ever seen at any show in this State.

The interest among fanciers from far and near, and the help rendered by local business houses, has exceeded the fondest hopes of the officials in charge. A few of the beautiful and valuable prizes to be awarded the lucky winners have been on show.

The officers who have worked so faithfully for the success of the enterprise are: President, Sydney R. Clarke; vice president, Marshall E. Tilton; secretary, J. H. Kimball; assistant secretary, Ruskin Watts; treasurer, R. G. Slorah; executive committee, W. H. Taverner, chairman; F. T. McInerney, R. H. Armstrong, Joseph Nesler and C. G. Shafer; show committee, Joseph R. Weaner, chairman; G. H. Whitney, D. R. Pearson and Joseph S. Lindsay, and superintendent of show, G. H. Whitney.

The list of exhibitors from this city are: Mrs. Clara Auerbach, E. E. Brown, Hillaire C. Blatz, Mrs. Clara Bechtel, Patrick Connolly, H. M. Cubberley, D. S. Daudt, Martin L. Galbraith, Gerston Poultry Yards, Charles W. Horrell, August Hedrick, William F. Isenmann, Fred H. Krausse, G. R. Laird, John Moy, Howard McQueen, Robert S. McAfee, Frank T. McInerney, P. F. Saunders, Stonybrook Poultry Yards, John Schmeyer, T. H. Taylor, W. H. Williams, Joseph R. Weaner.

It can be seen by the above list that this city is well represented at the show, and that Plainfield is well worthy of the name as one of the "great poultry centres of the East."

SEEING "MOVIES," SHE CONFESSES MURDER

Pictures Compel Woman to Admit Killing Husband.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 26.—Goaded by her conscience after seeing a moving picture in which the killing of a husband by his wife was depicted, Mrs. McAfee, a well to do widow of this city, has confessed that she killed her husband in Ireland ten years ago. She now pleads to be taken back to the scene of the crime so that she may be punished.

Two weeks ago Mrs. McAfee saw the moving picture, the plot of which, she thought, corresponded in a measure with the hidden story of her life. From that day, her relatives say, she began to worry and weep. She summoned her relatives and confessed that she had been responsible for the violent death of her husband in Ireland in 1902 and that it was preying on her mind. She said she would never know another moment's peace unless she returned to Ireland and suffered for her act.

She says that she was jealous of her husband and brought about his death in such a way that it seemed accidental. Then she disposed of his property and came to the United States. She lived in the north until two years ago, when she came to Macon, where she has a sister and other relatives who are prominent. Physicians, while not discrediting Mrs. McAfee's confession, say remorse has affected her mind.

WILL PUT IT UP TO WILSON.

To Deal With Panama Canal Controversy and Russian Treaty Problem.

Washington, Nov. 26.—That the Panama canal controversy with Great Britain will be a legacy to the Wilson administration, along with the Russian treaty problem, is the expectation in administration circles. The British embassy, it is understood, shares this view, and Ambassador Bryce, who has resigned, has made up his mind that he will have to remain at his post until late in the spring of 1913 at the very best. The British foreign office has asked Mr. Bryce to remain until the Panama canal matter is adjusted.

While the president and Secretary Knox are ready to go ahead and dispose with Great Britain her protest in the matter of canal tolls, the British government has decided to let the affair drift along until the Taft administration is no more and then push her protest vigorously when President Wilson takes office.

POWERS, FEARFUL, WORK FOR PEACE

Germany Looks For Speedy Settlement of Trouble.

NO AUSTRIAN ULTIMATUM.

Greeks Report Capture of Turkish Island—Socialists Issue Manifesto Calling Upon All to Resist Any Measures For General War.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—That an amicable settlement of the Austro-Servian controversy will be reached is the confident expressed opinion of the German foreign office.

The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung in an inspired note denies the alarming reports which have been in circulation on the bourse that the position taken four days ago by Russia on the question of Servia's demand for an Adriatic port has been changed. This is stated by the semiofficial journal to be incorrect, because the powers have agreed not to anticipate the general settlement of the Balkan problem by taking an individual standpoint on special questions.

The Nord Deutsche also denies that Austria has mobilized five army corps and says the report is untrue that an Austrian ultimatum to Servia may be expected shortly because the Albanian and Adriatic questions will come up for discussion and settlement at a general conference on the Balkan situation.

Socialists Against War.

Basle, Switzerland, Nov. 26.—The Socialists of America and Europe were called on by a manifesto issued by the International Socialist congress to resist any measures for war taken by their governments. The declaration was drawn up by Jean Juares, the leader of the French Socialists.

The document says that if the Balkan war should spread to other countries it would be a frightful blow to civilization. It would be one of the greatest scandals in history, because of the disproportion between the immensity of the catastrophe and the unimportance of the interests on which it would be based. Therefore the Socialists in the Balkans should hasten the end of the war; those in Austria-Hungary should oppose any contemplated attack upon Servia; those in Italy should prevent the sacrifice of Albania to Italian ambitions, and those in England, France and Germany should force their governments to refuse any help to Austria-Hungary and Russia and should guard absolute neutrality.

Grave Danger to Peace.

The gravest danger to the peace of Europe, the document says, is the artificially supported hostility between England and Germany. Socialists in both these countries should destroy this feeling by practical and energetic propaganda. The manifesto concludes: "The time has passed when the working classes of the world should shoot down one another for the profit of capitalists, the pride of dynasties or the exigencies of secret treaties. If the governments suppress the possibility of evolution and forces the proletariat to desperate measures the responsibility for what happens will rest on the shoulders of the governments."

The congress passed a resolution to hold anti-war meetings in the big cities of Europe on Dec. 16.

Greeks Capture Island.

Smyrna, Nov. 26.—The Greeks are reported to have occupied the large Turkish island of Chios, in the Aegean sea and close to this city. It is one of the richest and most beautiful islands of the Levant, with a population of about 60,000.

CAMERON GIRL RELEASED.

Promises to Be on Hand When Jack Johnson's Case Is Called.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Lucille Cameron, whose association with Jack Johnson led to the negro pugilist's arrest for alleged violation of the Mann "white slave" act, was released from custody in bonds of $1,000.

The young woman has been held as a witness for several weeks. The bond was signed by the young woman and her mother and was accepted by United States District Judge Carpenter, who instructed the young woman to be present when the Johnson case comes to trial.

In the early stages of the case Lucille Cameron was looked on as a highly important witness against Johnson, but with the presentation of other evidence the government decided that it would not be necessary to keep her in custody longer.

ASSEMBLYMAN ELECT HURT.

Charles Gallup Thrown 100 Feet In Auto Smash.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Charles Gallup of Sweden, Democratic assemblyman elect, was seriously hurt when his automobile was crushed by an eastbound car on the Buffalo, Lockport and Rochester railway at Adams Basin. Gallup was carried 100 feet in the wreckage.

GIBSON JURY FAILS ON AGREEMENT

Lawyer's Case Will Have to Be Tried Again at Goshen.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 26.—After being out nearly sixteen hours the jury in the case of Burton W. Gibson, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Rose Szabo, a former client, came in at 11:25 this morning, and informed Justice Tompkins that they had found it impossible to reach a verdict. They were discharged. This means that a new trial will have to be held.

Twice since early this morning, the jury in the Gibson case came into court, and each time informed Justice Tompkins that they could not reach a verdict. The first time was at 2:30 a. m., and the second time was shortly after breakfast. At the second appearance the jurors informed the court that there were prospects of an agreement, but it would take some time to reach the same. The jury began its deliberations at 7:45 o'clock last night.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 26.—The case against Burton W. Gibson, accused of murdering his client, Rosa Szabo, at Greenwood lake on July 16, went to the jury at 7:40 o'clock last night. Justice Tompkins spent two hours and twenty minutes in delivering his charge following the summing up for the defense by Robert H. Elder and for the people by Assistant District Attorney Wasservogel of New York. The charge was accepted by both prosecution and defense as fair.

"I am pleased; it is all right, certainly," said Mrs. Gibson just after the judge had concluded his charge. She added she would be glad to know the result and said she was confident of an acquittal.

From the first words by Mr. Wasservogel in outlining what the people claimed happened on Greenwood lake the defendant and his wife were noticeably pale, and they did not regain their color till the end of the session. The two white faces of the man and woman were the most striking thing in court. Their chairs were close together.

As Wasservogel appealed to the jury to disregard the sentimental defense he said that was submitted by the lawyers for the accused through the presence of Mrs. Gibson at the counsel table Gibson drew even nearer to his wife and laid his arm on the back of her chair. During the rest of the day the man and his wife hardly moved.

Court was late in opening because of the states laying charges before Justice Tompkins as to an alleged attempt to "fix" the jury. The court was informed that juror No. 5, Harry Twedelle, a farmer, had been seen talking with a man in a saloon last Friday after the jury was excused.

The justice was closeted with the juror for ten minutes, as a result of which the court seemed satisfied, as the trial was allowed to go into its final stage.

THANK OFFERING ON SUNDAY.

The mid-week meeting at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church tomorrow night, will be in the nature of a Thanksgiving service, and will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Frederick J. Hubach. The thank offering which was to have been received at the church last Sunday, will be taken at the service next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

—Among the Thanksgiving specials at Neuman Bros. will be found table raisins, layer and pull figs, candied citron, orange and lemon peel, mince meat, plum pudding, seeded raisins, new currants and new nuts of all kinds. **

PLAN STORE AND OFFICE BLDG. FOR PARK AVE.

W. and C. Manning Buy Plot Near Railroad From D. C. Smalley.

Charles H. Lyman, the real estate broker, representing David C. Smalley, has sold the property on Park avenue adjoining the railroad, formerly occupied by Miss A. L. Lincoln, to Walter F. Manning and Clifford D. Manning, and the latter will at once erect an attractive three-story building in the site. The first floor will be used for stores, two being on Park avenue and one facing the railroad park. The second floor will be reserved for offices and the third floor will have bachelor apartments. This property was formerly owned by the New Jersey Central and was sold to Mr. Smalley by the company.

Another realty deal just made by Mr. Lyman resulted in the sale of the business property on Park avenue, the ground floor of which is occupied by Clarence Thorn, the bicycle dealer, to the latter. The property was owned by F. C. Jennings, of North Plainfield. The second and third floors of the building are used as apartments.

FOR 12TH TIME PICK HAURAND AS CAPTAIN

Independent Gun Club Selects its Officers at Annual Meeting.

At the twenty-first annual meeting of the Independent Gun Club, of North Plainfield, held last night in the home of Captain Henry Haurand, officers were elected fro the ensuing year and reports from the officers were submitted.

For the twelfth consecutive time, Mr. Haurand was made captain and the other successful candidates for office are Lieutenant, Edward Sebring; corresponding secretary, Dr. B. F. Leonard; financial secretary, M. D. Dilts; treasurer, Dr. C. W. Leonard, and trustees, C. W. Krausse and L. M. Van Dyke.

The reports of the preceding officers bore out the fact that the club was in a prosperous condition. Although starting with small capital and membership the club now enjoys a large hunting ground, clubhouse and substantial bank account.

After the business meeting Mr. Krausse, the oldest active charter member of the club, was presented with a valuable Remington rifle by Captain Haurand, in behalf of the club in appreciation of his valuable services in the interest of the organization.

The big annual shoot will be held Thanksgiving Day on the Maple avenue grounds.

DESCRIPTION OF PIANOS.

Made by Braumuller Piano Co., 627-641 West 43d Street, New York City.

Aside from the fact that one piano contains the player and the other does not, there is no difference between the instruments. Both are fully warranted by the makers, who are an old established and reliable firm.

Seven and one-third Octaves; Overstrung Bass, three strings to each note, except in Wound Bass Strings; New Patent Upright Grand Scale; Full Composite Metal Plate, extending over pin-block to top of Piano; Tuning Pins specially fitted with hardwood Bushings; Practice Pedal; Ivory Keys; full length Music Desk; Revolving Fall-Board; Brass Pedals and trimmings; handsome mouldings; attractive panels; carved Trusses and Pilasters.

Case: Antique Mahogany. All Upright cases are Double Veneered and have hardwood, varnished backs. Every Parklyn Piano is fully warranted.

DESCRIPTION OF PLAYER.

The Player is the latest device of the kind, and is the simplest and easiest working apparatus on the market. It is made by the Gulbranson-Dickinson Co., of Chicago, and is fully warranted. A test of the Player can be made at any time at Joseph Sattel's warerooms at 108 North avenue. Briefly it can be described as follows:

88 note Player Mechanism, playing every note of the scale.

Special attachment, enabling the performer to obtain a diminished volume of tone in the bass, middle treble, or upper treble registers, by touching one of the two buttons. Each acts independently of the other. There is a silent travel device, a patented cylinder motor and other features which can be seen by inspecting the instrument.

The entire construction of the Mechanism is on simple lines. Durability, effectiveness and expression are the principal features.

Cash value of player-piano, stool, rolls and cover, $525.

Cash value of piano, stool and cover, $275.

DESCRIPTION OF VITAPHONE.

The $100 Cabinet Vitaphone is the third prize. This instrument was made by The Vitaphone Company, of Netherwood, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

It reproduces voice and instrument so true to life, that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail as well, and no metallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Winner can have choice of mahogany, golden oak or mission oak case. There is a triple spring motor that can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box, rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. Any make of records can be used and owing to its construction, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine.

BASEBALL VETERAN WANTS MORE PAY; JUMPS ON CONTRACT CLEVELAND OFFERS

Joe Jackson.

Cleveland, Nov. 26 (Special).—From his home down in South Carolina, Joe Jackson, the star Nap outfielder, has sent an ultimatum to President Somers, of the Cleveland club. It is that he must have a bigger salary than has been offered him or he will quit Cleveland.

Before Joe departed for the southland to kill alligators and pick the fuz off cotton during the lean baseball months a contract was offered him for 1913. He spurned it. Not until a few days ago, however, did he come out flat-footedly and declared that he'd quit if he couldn't have more money.

It is understood that the contract which the star outfielder spurned called for more than he was paid this year. However, it didn't come within about $1,000 of what Joe thinks he's worth.

President Somers says he will open negotiations with Johnson in December. "Only two players have signed up, and contracts will be sent the others next month," he says. "I know Jackson wants more money. I don't believe we will have any trouble signing him."

"MAC" SAYS

Something seems to tell us that the weather man will administer a coat of whiting to those High School warriors before "Doc" Hamilton and his whitewash wielders have an opportunity. Snowballs instead of footballs this trip.

One thing is certain, however, he can never transform a basketball into anything resembling a snowball. Even if there are no football games Thanksgiving Day will have plenty of basketball to act as an appetizer.

A professional referee from one of the big colleges has been engaged to do the officiating at the Y. M. C. A. Thanksgiving Day afternoon. Looks as though there was going to be a real championship game.

This official is also a licensed member of the intercollegiate football refereeing staff and as he will be in town all day Thanksgiving he is anxious to arbitrate a gridiron game in the morning. Further information in regard to the official can be obtained by applying to the sporting department of this paper.

Over at N. P. U. S. it is too cold to be a school most of the week and then the basketball team is forced to train on an outside court. Is not this a little inconsistent on the part of the boroughites?

It may be that Coach Webster is trying out a new system of whipping his team into shape. It sounds plausible as the fresh air cure is taken for nearly everything nowadays.

Wonder if they are going to leave that Manufacturers' Baseball League banquet until the 1913 season opens? It is about time we had that proposed feed. It would be very appropriate about this time of the year, just as the football season draws to a close.

James Nash, who was injured in a recent Holy Cross football game, has entirely recovered and expects to be back in the Ajax lineup Thanksgiving Day.

All of the old "grads" are gathering together their old moleskins for the P. H. S.-Alumni game Thanksgiving Day morning. It ought to be some game, as the former stars are all in training.

PLAINFIELD ELKS TOWERING SCORE

Two Totals Over the 1,000 Mark in League Match With Rahway Five.

Rahway	3	15	941

The Plainfield Elks captured two games from their Rahway opponents on the local alleys, with two team totals over the ten century mark, and as a result they jumped from a team average of 898 to 915. The Plainfield boys have a total of six victories to their credit with twelve defeats, being tied with Newark for seventh place.

In the first game Plainfield rolled up a total score of 1,028 and in the second game they put up an even one thousand. In the last game they had 914 and the Rahway five, coming through with 941, were the victors. It was perhaps, largely due to the bowling of Haberle in the last game that Plainfield failed to make it three straight. He dropped from 225 and 182 in the first and second games to 134, being low man. V. W. Nash, Jr., was on the top of his game, and put up three fine scores, 236, 208 and 226. The other members of the local team put up good games.

The score:

JOHN T. BRUSH, N. Y. NAT'L LEAGUE HEAD, IS DEAD

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Louisiana, Missouri, Nov. 26.—John T. Brush, president of the New York National League Baseball Club, died in his private car "Oceanic" while passing through this town early this morning.

The body of Mr. Brush was taken to St. Louis, where it arrived at 7 o'clock this morning, and later was forwarded to Indianapolis, where it will arrive late today. The funeral will be held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. Newton Hempstead, in Indianapolis on Thursday or Friday. Mrs. Brush and her daughter are on their way to Indianapolis from Bryn Mawr today, where her daughter is attending school.

New York, Nov. 26.—It was announced this morning that the meeting of the National Baseball League, scheduled for this afternoon at the Waldorf-Astoria, would be held, notwithstanding the death of President Brush, of the Giants. News of the death shocked all of the members of the league who were about the hotel this morning, but none were prepared to make any statements regarding the matter as yet. The league officials in meeting, will take formal action on Mr. Brush's death.

JURY WOULD SAVE MAN CONDEMNED TO DEATH

Camden, Nov. 26.—Advancing five reasons for the petition the entire jury which doomed Harry Duffield to die with Fred Coursey for the murder of Karl Kellman, in Camden, filed with the Court of Pardons Saturday an appeal for the commutation of the death penalty to life imprisonment. The reasons are:

That the actual killing was done by Coursey; that they firmly believe Duffield had no intention of harming any one; that his mind was inflamed by liquor; that the court directed them to acquit or find him guilty in the first degree, and that they would have found in a lesser degree had they been so permitted.

The petition was filed by John L. Semple, Duffield's counsel, who has made formal application for the commutation of the sentence.

MONOTONOUS MEALS AS MENACE TO HOUSEHOLD

Burlington, Nov. 26.—Monotonous meals means monotony in the whole life of a household, according to a statement made by Miss Harriet Mitchell, of New York, investigator of rural home conditions, to Burlington county mothers and daughters at the corn show held here last Saturday.

"The farmer who reads is the farmer who succeeds, and so it is with the housewife," said Miss Mitchell, who declared that cooking things over and over again, with no variety to the weekly menu, was disastrous to domestic health and happiness.

"Mothers who haven't the time themselves should let their daughters try new dishes," said Miss Mitchell. "There is too great a temptation to the housewife to prepare the same things in the same way again and again. Such a lack of variety is a source of much monotony.

"Just as educational authorities have found that it pays to send teachers to institutes to exchange ideas," continued Miss Mitchell, "so I believe the time will come when the schoolhouse of every rural district will be opened as a social centre, where women can get together to discuss home problems."

Talks on corn culture were given before a boys' conference by Professor K. C. Davis and Professor Leaming, of the New Jersey State College. Essays on corn growing were read by many of the young contestants in the corn show.

Two hundred exhibits in the corn show were judged by experts and prizes valued at $700 were awarded.

WILSON ON BERMUDIAN.

President Elect and Daughters Arriving In Bermuda.

FORCES HER WAY TO SIDE OF COFFIN

Widow of Deceased Believes Woman Was Demented.

DECLARES SHE'S HIS WIFE

Child Repulses Woman at Door In Jersey City, and She Gets Policeman and Makes Entrance to See Body of Alleged Husband.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 26.—Asserting that a strange woman who caused a scene at the funeral of William E. Hardy either was demented or trying to annoy the dead man's family, Mrs. Hardy of 196 Fourth street, this city, voiced her confidence that her husband had not been leading a double life. The matter came to the attention of the city police when the mysterious woman demanded and got a police escort to force her way to the bier, around which the sorrowing family and neighbors had gathered for services.

William E. Hardy died last week and the funeral services were held in the home. An hour before the time for services Mrs. Hardy's stepdaughter opened the street door in response to a ring of the bell and was confronted by a tall woman dressed in black clothes and a large picture hat. The woman asked to see the body of her "husband." The child in alarm slammed the door in the woman's face.

The woman asked at the Seventh street police station for an escort, announcing she wished to see the body of her husband. Policeman McGovern took her to the apartment, where they were admitted. The woman refused to tell the policeman anything about herself, except that she was Mrs. Hardy. She wept as she stood at the head of the bier.

The real Mrs. Hardy and her children gazed in amazement at the stranger. When the body was placed in the hearse the strange woman stood on the curb and wept. She told several persons she was Mr. Hardy's widow and that she was going to see a lawyer.

"I don't think William would deceive me,' asserted Mrs. Hardy. "I think this woman is either crazy or was trying to annoy my children and me."

GETS HELP TO "FIRE" COOK.

Priest Finds Discharging Queen of Kitchen Is No Rose Path.

Morristown, N. J., Nov. 26.—The Rev. Felix O'Neill, rector of St. Virgilius' church, undertook to fire his cook, but his experience was that of the traditional "head of the house" who finds it easier to hire than to fire the queen of the kitchen.

The woman had been obtained from a local employment agency on a month's trial, and the month was up. Her services had not been entirely satisfactory. Father O'Neill broke the news so gently that the cook did not get the point and refused to go.

She was induced to reconsider her resolve when the priest was reenforced by the police and a crowd of interested onlookers. The cook was told to leave town if she wished to avoid arrest. She left town.

Claims Latin Translation Record.

Montclair, N. J., Nov. 26.—Friends of Dorothy Hutchinson, a member of the senior class of the Montclair high school, assert she is the best Latin translator in a Jersey public school. Her teacher reports that Miss Hutchinson one day last week translated [illegible] lines of Virgil in 25 minutes, an average of a little more than fourteen lines a minute.

M'CREA AND REA.

From Recent Photos of Retiring and New Heads of Pennsy.

Photos by American Press Association

James McCrea, the retiring president of the Pennsylvania railroad (at the top), and Samuel Rea, the newly elected president of the system, were snapped at the state coal investigation recently conducted in Philadelphia. Mr Rea will take office Jan. 1 and, it is said, will soon present plans for many costly improvements, including further electrification of suburban lines.

2 DEAD, 1 DYING, WHEN AUTO IS OVERTURNED

Well Known Railroad Men Victims; Women Escape.

St. Paul, Nov. 26.—Caught under a heavy automobile when it overturned in front of North Oaks, the country home of James J. Hill, two well known railroad officials—Howard James, director of purchases of the Great Northern and a vice president, and Samuel B. Plechner, purchasing agent of the railroad—were crushed to death. Mrs Plechner, Miss Helen James and Miss Margaret Mann, who were slightly injured, are being cared for at the home of Mr. Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Hill went to the assistance of the five.

Mr. James, who was a nephew of the late Marshall Field of Chicago, was driving the motor car. As he was nearing the Hill estate he signaled to a machine ahead that he wanted to pass. The automobile steered out of the way. Mr. James then turned out to the left and put on more power. The machine bounded ahead, but struck a part of the road that had just been filled in with sand.

The machine swung when it struck the sand instead of plunging through it. It turned over quickly, burying the passengers under it. Employees in the Hill home and another automobile party were attracted by the screams of the women. Mr. Hill and his wife directed ten men in lifting the machine. The women were bruised and cut, but able to rise, but the men were motionless. A physician said they had been killed instantly. The weight of the car rested on their bodies.

STUDENT VICTIM OF JOKE.

Cornell Sophomore Takes Sniff of Chlorine Gas and Is Seriously Ill.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Harry K. Freleigh, a sophomore in the state college of agriculture at Cornell university, has been forced to go to his home at Romulus, N. Y., and will be unable to return to college this year all because of a practical joke played on him by a fellow student.

On Nov. 16 Freleigh was working in the chemistry laboratory. He had just come into the room when one of his fellow students turned to him and jocularly remarked, "Take a good sniff of this." At the same time he held out a compound which proved to be chlorine gas.

Freleigh was unaware of the nature of the compound and took a good sniff. He became ill and had to be removed to the university infirmary, where he was semidelirious, according to his friends, last week. Members of his family came from Romulus, N. Y., and took him home, where he is in a state of nervous prostration.

SPECIAL CAR FOR GUNMEN.

Sheriff Will Take Precaution Today to Prevent Rescue.

New York, Nov. 26.—Sheriff Harburger announced that as a result of two anonymous letters that came in the mail warning him that an attempt will be made to release the four gunmen when he takes them to Sing Sing and that he will be assassinated if necessary, he will probably engage a special railroad coach for the trip and will not risk taking the prisoners into an ordinary day coach. Ten of his deputies will accompany him, he said.

The sheriff said he had arranged to have the Ossining police keep the town clear of suspicious persons.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Patrick J. Boyle is seeking a sixteenth term as mayor of Newport, R. I.

Woodrow Wilson will be the first Southern-born Democrat to occupy the President's chair since James K. Polk.

The political classification of the House of Representatives will be: Democrats, 297; Republicans and Progressives, 138.

Washington State has recognized the suffrage movement by choosing Miss Helen J. Scott as one of its fourteen electors. She was a candidate on the Roosevelt ticket.

There will be no special election in Rhode Island to fill the vacancy in the Second Congressional district caused by the death of Representative George H. Utter.

Frank H. Byrne, whom the Republicans have elected governor of South Dakota, is a native of Iowa, but has resided in Dakota since territorial days. He has been in public life since 1890, when he became a member of the first State Senate of South Dakota.

It is said that a large majority of the State Senators and Assemblymen elected in New York on November 5 have already, by pledge or letter, promised to support the woman suffrage bill at the next session of the legislature.

Regular Republicans and Progressives in West Virginia are expected to contest in the election of a United States Senator to succeed Clarence W. Watson, whose term will expire next March. Already each faction has several candidates in the field.

Samuel H. Raston, the new governor of Indiana, was the Democratic nominee for secretary of state of Indiana in 1894 and 1898, but was defeated both times. The only public office he has ever held was the presidency of the school board of his home town.

President Wilson's available patronage disbursements will be much larger than the list which Grover Cleveland had at his disposal when he entered office in 1884. The number of offices since Cleveland's first administration has increased enormously.

John H. Morehead, Democrat, who will soon succeed Chester H. Aldrich, Republican, as governor of Nebraska, is reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in his State. He is a banker and stock raiser and has long been a figure of prominence in Nebraska politics.

Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, has the distinction of being the first man in many years who has been honored with three terms as chief executive of the Bay State. Governor Foss was originally a Republican, but joined the Democratic party several years ago in order to work for political reforms in which he believed.

Eighty-four, a Pennsylvania town of 700 inhabitants, is declared to be the strongest Democratic community in the entire country. No Republican candidate has ever made a respectable showing there. This town, which is situated in Washington county, was named in 1884, after Grover Cleveland's first victory, in honor of that event. Previous to that time it was called Fifty-six, because Buchanan was elected President in that year. A movement is now on foot among the resident to rename the place Nineteen Tweve, in celebration of the Wilson victory.

GAS VICTIM DENIED RELIEF.

Newton, Nov. 26.—Judge Lewis J. Martin has denied the application of Joseph Brooks, a former employe of the Newton Gas and Electric Company, for relief under the employers' liability act. Brooks was engaged with a gang of men in building a new plant for the company last winter. In one of the rooms, he alleges, he was overcome with gas. Recovering in a short time he walked home. He brought action to compel the company to pay him $5 a week, claiming that he suffered pains in the head and was permanently affected. The case was heard several months ago and the court reserved decision.

WASHINGTON MILK DELIVERY.

Washington, N. J., Nov. 26.—Beginning next Monday, the milkmen of this town will make deliveries in the afternoon instead of in the morning. The wagons will start out about 3 o'clock. This rule will be in effect until next April. At present the milkmen start out at 4 in the morning. The afternoon delivery will also eliminate doubling on several of the routes.

MODISH MATTERS.

New Points Seen on Suits—Coiffure Styles.

The new tailored suits show skirts mostly draped and either short or three-quarter cutaway coats. The plaits take the form of plaited panels or of a plaited skirt beneath a draped polonaise.

Paris fashion chroniclers say that elaborate combs will be worn again. Some are fan shaped; others are narrow and curved to fit around the back of the head just over a heavy roll on the neck.

Plaid as trimming for plain material makes a really important feature of the winter season. This costume illustrates the use of plaid in a charming manner. The material is dark blue cheviot, and the plaid is silk.

WITH TRIMMINGS OF PLAID SILK.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure for the coat and for the skirt from 22 to 34 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents each for these patterns to this office, giving numbers—skirt 7452, coat 7548—and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

PUDDINGS FOR THANKSGIVING.

HERE are some recipes for puddings. They range from the simplest fruit combinations to elaborate plum puddings suitable for the most sumptuous board.

The puddings may form part of the ordinary bill of fare or may be a feature of the Thanksgiving feast, as best suits the taste or convenience of the housewife.

Steamed and Baked Puddings.

Nut and Fruit Pudding.—Take one-half pound of suet, one cupful of sugar, one nutmeg, half a cupful of milk, eighteen maraschino cherries, four eggs beaten together, four cupfuls of stale breadcrumbs, half a pound of raisins, one tablespoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of salt, half a pound of English walnuts.

Chop suet and nuts fine and mix all ingredients thoroughly. Fill a covered mold three-quarters full and steam three hours. Serve with sauce.

Quick Plum Pudding.—Take five large apples chopped fine, a cupful of seeded, washed raisins, half a cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, another of sweet milk, five eggs, a cupful of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat well, bake one hour and eat with hard or brandy sauce.

Two Novel Desserts.

Grandmother's Pudding.—Take one pint of milk, one pint of molasses; beat these and stir well together. Beat the whites of four eggs and the yolks of five separately until light and stir into the milk and molasses. Add three-quarters of a pound of finely chopped suet and stir in enough Indian meal to make a thick batter; add a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a little grated nutmeg, half a pound of seeded raisins. Beat the mixture together thoroughly. Steam six hours. Serve hot with melted maple sugar and butter beaten together.

Cracker Plum Pudding.—Take one and a half pounds of soda crackers, buttered and soaked in sweet milk. Mash, add four beaten eggs, one and one-half pounds of seeded raisins, a cupful of good molasses, one half teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, half a nutmeg grated, one-eighth teaspoonful of ground cloves. Put a layer of the batter in the bottom of a baking dish, then a layer of raisins, sprinkled with flour, and continue until all material is used, with a layer of batter on the top. Bake two and a half or three hours in a rather slow oven.

Sauce may be made as follows: One cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, beaten till light, then add four teaspoonfuls of thick, sweet cream. Flavor with vanilla.

Anna Thompson.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Few women who have graced the American stage in recent years have succeeded in winning the secure place in the affectionate regard of the public that is occupied by Miss Adelaide Thurston, one of the daintiest and most deserving members of the younger set of American actresses of today. She will appear at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night in "The Love Affair." Adelaide Thurston's stage deportment is an example of what a woman with a sincere purpose in life may accomplish. To this purpose, which, in the case of Miss Thurston, was to become a leader in her chosen art, this little woman has brought a charm of personality and an endowment of beauty and grace which, coupled with an innate sweetness and gentle courtesy are the magnetic attributes that entrench the position Miss Thurston holds in the hearts of America's amusement seeking world. It was the possession of those attributes that made Adelaide Thurston's performance of "Lady Babbie" in "The Little Minister" stand out with an artistic distinctness that challenged the visualization the same character had at the hands of Maude Adams, and it was these same gifts that brought success to this dear lady in those well remembered plays "Sweet Clover," "At Cosy Corner," "Polly Primrose," "The Triumph of Betty," "The Girl Out Yonder," "Contrary Mary," "The Woman's Hour," and "Miss Ananis."

Few authors of plays have excelled the achievements of Lem B. Parker the author of the society drama "A Girl of the Mountains," which Wee & Lambert's Company will present to the patrons of the Plainfield theatre Thursday afternoon and evening. The present "New" version of this society drama is reported to be replete with new scenery, new costumes, new electrical effects and all the striking and thrilling features of the former have been retained and many new effects added. In "A Girl of the Mountains" we have extremely interesting picture of social life. The author has chosen a daring subject and has handled it masterfully. We are taken into the life of the people and shown the hearts of men and women. The characters are cleverly drawn and incidents skillfully presented by a strong cast with Miss Isabelle Trumbull as the "Mountain Girl," supported by an excellent company of players, making the play one to be appreciated. "A Girl of the Mountains" is said to be of the variety that is not intended for the rare individual alone for the great good natured public, which goes to the theatre for entertainment and relaxation from the cares and worries of this busy world.

"The Fortune Hunter," Winchell Smith's comedy, which comes to the Plainfield theatre Friday night, Nov 29, has been instantaneous and the indications are that it will continue to attract theatregoers who find enjoyment in the most healthful of all exercises—laughter, when excited by a play that is absolutely clean in theme and presentation. Fortune, that fickle jade, has been in divers ways; but seldom more amusingly than in Mr. Smith's comedy. The entertaining scheme is conceived in the comfortable bachelor quarters of a wall street broker and reaches its denoeument under an umbrella sheltering from a summer shower a couple of young lovers in a country garden. The bitterness in life is suggested more than once in the spinning out of Nat Duncan's destiny, but the sweet of existence more than atone for any acrid drop in his experience, such tribulations as he endures, while they promote gaiety for onlookers tend to show that any honest and manly chap may get on in this world after repeated set-backs, if only he will steer his course by a right sense of conduct and believe that much of a man's happiness is to be found in daily foil.

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS SESSION.

Princton, Nov. 26.—The Eastern union of student volunteers, who have been holding their annual missionary conference at Princeton University for the last three days, closed their session here Sunday night. Sunday's program was opened with the regular university chapel services, which were held in Alexander Hall, the largest auditorium on the campus, instead of in the college chapel. The sermon was delivered by Rev. John H. Jowett, pastor of the Fifth Presbyterian church, New York, who outlined the work of the apostles as missionaries.

G. W. ENDICOTT, JR. WINS SPERRY CUP

Handsomest Prize of Poultry Show Captured by Local Physician's Son.

W. COOK & SONS LUCKY

Judging Has Been Finished at Sebring's Auditorium—A List of the Prize Winners—Today and Friday School Children Will Visit Show.

The largest crowd which has attended the poultry show in Sebring's Auditorium since the opening on Monday, viewed the various prize winners last night. The judging and awarding of places were completed late yesterday afternoon.

The winner of the much talked of Sperry Cup was George W. Endicott, Jr., of New Brunswick, whose numerous entries carried him far ahead of his competitors. His efforts were not confined to this handsome trophy, however, as he was awarded the honor of having the best Leghorn and the "whitest bird" in the show, receiving a large silver cup given for each of these qualifications. Mr. Endicott is the son of Dr. George W. Endicott, of this city.

Today and Friday are the appointed "Children's Day," and because of the extra inducements made to the pupils of the North Plainfield and Plainfield schools, a large crowd of youngsters is sure to be on hand.

The winners of the special cups donated by business houses and poultry enthusiasts for the birds, "the best in their class" at the show, were:

For best Rhode Island Red bird, Samuel Rae; Orpington, H. Vallie; Plymouth Rock, F. M. Legge; Wyandotte, W. H. Williams; Leghorn, George W. Endicott, Jr.; "whitest" bird, George W. Endicott, Jr.; "Spratts' Cup," William Cook & Son; "Sperry Cup," George W. Endicott, Jr.; "Hillside Farms Cup," C. G. Shafer.

Philadelphia Inquirer prizes for: Best cock in show, D. L. Hogan; best hen in show, Henry Vallie; best cockerel in show, William Cook & Son; best pullet in show, D. S. Daudt, and best pen in show, William Cook & Son.

In addition to the regular prizes of gold, siver and bronze medals for the first three places, the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement donated silver cups for the "best bird in its class" and the winners proved to be:

For best display of White Rocks, won by W. H. Taverner with 39 points.

KRESGE PURCHASES CONKLIN BUILDING

West Front Street Property Changes Hands, Owner to Get Possession Soon.

The marked activity in local business property is again evidenced in the sale by Charles H. Lyman, real estate broker, of the Conklin building on West Front street, to S. S. Kresge, who has been conducting a business at West Front street and Madison avenue for several years. The sale is made personally to Mr. Kresge, and is said to be one of the largest realty deals in business property in the city for a long time.

The building was originally erected by Mrs. Amy Conklin who in 1866 purchased the land from Zacariah Webster, a prominent citizen of the early days of Plainfield. Later Mrs. Conklin deeded the property to her daughters, Mrs. Sarah A. Coon and Miss Mary A. Conklin, who with their father, Sylvanius Conklin, now occupy one of the apartments of the building.

The ground floor is occupied by H. A. Bonn, the milliner, and the Grand Union Tea Company. There is a right of way which goes with the ground, through the alley next to The Paris. The building has a frontage of forty-one feet and is about 190 feet deep.

Mr. Kresge will take possession in the early part of next year.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER WEDS.

Fred J. Brewer, formerly of this city, and a brother of Mrs. Edward A. Laing, was married to Miss Esther Hunt, of Walla Walla, on Thursday, November 7. Mr. Brewer moved to Walla Walla, Washington, some time ago where he is employed by a telegraph and telephone company in that place. The wedding was a quiet affair and took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Taylor.

MR. CONNETT'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Frazee Connett, a Civil War veteran, who died Saturday afternoon, was held from the late home on Church street yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiated. Interment was made in the Soldiers' plot in Hillside cemetery.

BUTTER IS 38 CENTS A POUND.

Through faulty proof-reading in last night's Daily Press it was stated that fresh-made butter would be on sale at the store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company this week for 35 cents a pound. This was in error, and the price should have been 38 cents a pound.

SKETCH PRESENTED BY CONGREGATIONAL S. S.

Country Store During Thanksgiving Time Presented to Swell Dinner Fund.

A thoroughly enjoyable Thanksgiving entertainment was presented by the young people of the Congregational Sunday-school last night, the proceeds of which will be devoted to supplying dinners for worthy poor of Plainfield. The affair was well attended and it is estimated that the affair will furnish funds for at least thirty dinners.

Under the direction of the Sunday-school members, a short but appropriate sketch was given representing a country store during Thanksgiving week. The scene opened in a country store such as is used in rural districts for a postoffice and general store, and droves of farmers are bringing their produce into the store to sell or exchange. All of the parts were unusually well taken and the manner in which the production was presented made it highly interesting to the spectators.

The main characters included the following: "Skinnen," the storekeeper, Mr. Evans; "Josh," Athol Neuman; "Jerusha," Clair Neuman, and "Mrs. Josh," Kathleen Phillips. A limber of other young people took the parts of farmers, farmers' wives and children.

ATTRACTIONS ON FOR TOMORROW

Special Services in Churches and Various Amusements Scheduled.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED

Union Service of Evangelical Congregations in the Morning—Show at the Theatre—Postoffice to Close at 10 O'clock—No Newspapers.

Thanksgiving Day will be generally observed throughout Plainfield and vicinity, as usual, and according to the custom there will be a suspension of business for the day on the part of the local merchants. This is the one holiday in the year when there is not an extensive program of amusements, probably for the reason that a majority of the people plan to spend the time at home, it affording an opportunity for family reunions and general thanksgiving.

There will be several services in the morning. At Trinity Reformed church, a union Thanksgiving service of the churches will be held at 10:30 o'clock, when Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, will preach, and other ministers will take part. At the same hour a similar service will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, in which the members of the Congregational church will unite. Rev. C. L. Goodrich will preach the sermon.

At Holy Cross Episcopal church the Thanksgiving Day service will be at 10:30 a. m. It will consist of the speccial order of service prepared by the prayer book, followed by a sermon by the rector.

Other Thanksgiving services in the morning include one at Hope chapel at 9 o'clock, with sermon by Rev. Frederic L. Greene, the pastor, and another at the West End Tabernacle.

The amusements for the day will include the matinee and evening performance at the Plainfield theatre of "The Girl of the Mountains," by a strong and capable cast, and the continuous program of high-class vaudeville and motion pictures at Proctor's theatre, throughout the afternoon and evening. There will also be a motion picture entertainment at the Y. M. C. A., afternoon and evening, with the presentation of special films.

The Hebrew Benevolent Association will hold a dance and reception in Debele Hall tomorrow night. Throughout the day the Independent Gun Club will hold a prize shoot on its grounds on Maple avenue, the borough, which is expected to attract a large number of crack marksmen in competition for prizes.

The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library will be closed all day, but the reading room will be open in the afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock.

The usual holidays hours will be observed at the postoffice, there being but one delivery in the morning. The office will close at 10 o'clock for the day.

The Plainfield Country Club will close its active season tomorrow with a cross-country tournament. The Watchung Hunt Club will meet the hounds at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Baltusrol Golf Club and enjoy a chase of several miles.

The prescribed services will be held at Grace, Holy Cross, St. Stephens and the Church of the Heavenly Rest tomorrow morning. The usual order of service will be followed.

At St. Mary's R. C. church, there will be a solemn high mass at 9 o'clock, Father B. M. Bogan being the celebrant, Father Hogan the deacon and Father Sciolla the sub-deacon. Father J. F. Baldwin, of Mt. St. Mary College, will celebrate the mass at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Joseph's R. C. church.

One of the picturesque figures of the Missionary Institute to be held at Holy Cross Episcopal church next Tuesday, will be the Rt. Rev. Nathaniel Seymour Thomas, bishop of Wyoming. The prelate is to speak at the rally to be held in the evening. He comes out of the West with a message not only of accomplishment but of promise.

Bishop Thomas is one of the younger members of the Episcopate. He was consecrated in 1909. The church sent him out to Wyoming because he was clearly a man for a hard work. He found plenty of it right at hand. The word "Wyoming" is a corruption of a Pennsylvania Indian word meaning "great plains." The diocese is truly one of "magnificent distances." Nobody seems to know why the State got a name for "great plains." It is quite largely a mountain State.

Bishop Thomas has a great deal to do with the Indians, the Shoshones and the Arapahoes. But this is only a part of his work. He has of course a considerable white population to which he must minister.

It is said that the Shoshones are given reservation privileges in Wyoming as a reward for their friendliness to the whites. Chief Washakie a picturesque character of the West, gave to the mission work 160 acres for the school.

Bishop Thomas has exerted a powerful influence towards making the towns better places to live in. The Episcopal church has several institutions, the Cathedral Home for Children, Laramie and the Shoshone Indian School, at Wind River. The Bishop finds that his best work in that part of the country can be done in the Sunday-school, on the ranch and in the hamlet. It is quite impossible, many times, to count upon settled congregations. The clergy must cover great fields, only imperfectly.

This missionary rally immediately represents the interests of parishes of the Episcopal church in Union and Somerset counties. A committee of the Plainfield churches, of which the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson is chairman, has charge of the general arrangements and desires it to be known that all sessions, both morning, afternoon and evening, are open to all who are interested in the great cause of missions. It is hoped that all branches of missionary activity will be equally presented, so that a large vision may be obtained of the privilege and opportunity of sharing in the work of extending the bounds of God's kingdom upon the earth.

TRIED AN OLD GAME ON LOCAL JEWELERS

Two Slick Individuals Drop Stolen Gems When C. E. Vail Calls the Police.

Two men, well dressed and bearing the appearance of enjoying the "fat of the land" visited several jewelry shops in the business section of the city yesterday, and in each case asked to see some diamond rings or stick pins. They journeyed from shop to shop in a large touring car and as they alighted from their machine and strode into the various jewelry establishments gave the impression of men respected and holding exalted positions in the community.

They were watched with more or less suspicion however by each jewelry clerk until they reached the shop of Charles E. Vail, 246 Park avenue. With prospects of a big sale, Mr. Vail politely placed a tray full of diamond rings on the counter for selection. Presently one of the "gentlemen" suggested that the "gold clock on the shelf" would be a very suitable Christmas present and Mr. Vail obligingly began to bring the clock from the shelf. He had no sooner turned his back than one of the strangers grabbed a handful of the diamond rings and made for the door. Becoming scared at the loud shouts of "Help, Police, Thieves," made by Mr. Vail the would-be swindlers dropped the valuables to the floor, ran from the store, jumped in the waiting automobile and were off down Park avenue in the direction of the railroad.

Upon taking an inventory of his stock Mr. Vail found that nothing had been stolen. He notified the police of the incident about an hour later.

BIBLE CLASS PREPARES FOR AN ENTERTAINMENT

A meeting of the McWilliams Bible class was held at Hope chapel last night with President Benjamin Evans in the chair when plans were discussed for a "ladies' night" to be held Friday night, December 6, in the chapel rooms. Committees were appointed to take charge of the affair. Allen Snyder was appointed as chairman of the entertainment committee, with Harry Keen, George Broadbent, Hugh Sweeney and William Terry as his assistants.

William Bailey, John Siorah and Harry Keen were selected to comprise the refreshment committee, and George Beiser was chosen to preside over the "mixing" committee with power to select five assists. A resolution was offered and adopted to hold a turkey supper in the latter part of January the proceeds of which will be devoted to the swelling of the Squire memorial fund which is raised annually for the support of the church.

REALTY BROKERS ARE ORGANIZED

Joseph T. Vail is Chosen President and Thad Doane, Jr., Secretary of Association.

FOR BENEFIT OF CITY

"Don't Knock, Boost" Their Slogan—Another Meeting on Tuesday Night, December 2, When More Will Join the Newly-born Society.

"Don't Knock, Boost," is the slogan of the Plainfield Real Estate Brokers' Association, which was organized last night at the home of R. Henry Depew on Hillside avenue, and any member caught "kocking" is likely to hear something drop. The meeting, which was largely attended and an enthusiastic one, was called for the purpose of forming an association to promote the interests of Plainfield, especially regarding real estate. About fourteen real estate men answered the call and all expressed themselves as pleased with the outlook.

During the discussion of the evening, it was suggested that if there is not now a law, one should be enacted providing for a license to be issued real estate brokers upon the payment of a reasonable annual fee. This idea seemed to meet with favor, and it was the opinion that such a plan would result in putting the brokers on a more substantial basis. Various suggestions were offered for promoting the interest and welfare of the new association, Joseph T. Vail was elecected president and Thad. Doane, Jr., secretary of the association.

The following attended the meeting: R. Henry Depew, Joseph T. Vail, Thad. Doane, Jr., Armstrong Mulford, Charles H. Hand, Charles H. Lyman, Ira LaRue, E. Frank Vail, D. Foster Updike, Manning F. Gano, George A. Hallock, Uzal B. Crane, Captain J. E. Curtis, Tappscott Brothers and Edward Hardingham.

There are a number of brokers who could not be present last night, and it was decided to adjourn to Tuesday night, December 2, when other details of the association will be taken up and discussed.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT.

Miss Julia Fleming, colored, of Somerset street, appearing before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of stealing $9 from John Dema, colored, 75 years old, was held in $100 bail for arraignment Saturday. The prisoner claimed she was not guilty of the offense, blaming the theft on a girl known as "Punch" Louis.

The real active voting has begun in the big piano contest being conducted by the Daily Press. As the days roll by the public interest continues to grow and it is surprising how much easier vote-getting becomes as this interest increases. Every entry in the competition is the favorite of some one, and the coupons have begun to come in to be voted for the various organizations and individuals.

HOW TO WIN.

What is the prime requisite of success? It can be told in one word—Faith. It is first necessary to have faith in the undertaking at hand. Second, to have invincible faith in oneself. If energy and ambition is built on the foundation of faith, there is no reason why one cannot win unqualified success in this campaign. Let the purpose be to work and win. Go about the task by starting in a business-like way. Show a determination to succeed. A little persistency will go a long way towards fetching the desired subscription, and such subscriptions are what will bring the most votes. Therefore start the day right by seeing that near neighbor or friend who is not taking the Daily Press. Point out to him the many good reasons why he should join the ranks of Press readers. Give him the pass word on the spot, and in such an enthusiastic way that he will always remember it, and that word is "boost." With the ten per cent. commission there will be no losers, every one will be well repaid for faithful work, so better get a move on and get started while the race is young.

The largest crowd which has attended the poultry show in Sebring's Auditorium since the opening on Monday, viewed the various prize winners last night. The judging and awarding of places were completed late yesterday afternoon.

The winner of the much talked of Sperry Cup was George W. Endicott, Jr., of New Brunswick, whose numerous entries carried him far ahead of his competitors. His efforts were not confined to this handsome trophy, however, as he was awarded the honor of having the best Leghorn and the "whitest bird" in the show, receiving a large silver cup given for each of these qualifications. Mr. Endicott is the son of Dr. George W. Endicott, of this city.

Today and Friday are the appointed "Children's Day," and because of the extra inducements made to the pupils of the North Plainfield and Plainfield schools, a large crowd of youngsters is sure to be on hand.

KRESGE PURCHASES CONKLIN BUILDING

West Front Street Property Changes Hands, Owner to Get Possession Soon.

The marked activity in local business property is again evidenced in the sale by Charles H. Lyman, real estate broker, of the Conklin building on West Front street, to S. S. Kresge, who has been conducting a business at West Front street and Madison avenue for several years. The sale is made personally to Mr. Kresge, and is said to be one of the largest realty deals in business property in the city for a long time.

The building was originally erected by Mrs. Amy Conklin who in 1866 purchased the land from Zacariah Webster, a prominent citizen of the early days of Plainfield. Later Mrs. Conklin deeded the property to her daughters, Mrs. Sarah A. Coon and Miss Mary A. Conklin, who with their father, Sylvanius Conklin, now occupy one of the apartments of the building.

The ground floor is occupied by H. A. Bonn, the milliner, and the Grand Union Tea Company. There is a right of way which goes with the ground, through the alley next to The Paris. The building has a frontage of forty-one feet and is about 190 feet deep.

Mr. Kresge will take possession in the early part of next year.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER WEDS.

Fred J. Brewer, formerly of this city, and a brother of Mrs. Edward A. Laing, was married to Miss Esther Hunt, of Walla Walla, on Thursday, November 7. Mr. Brewer moved to Walla Walla, Washington, some time ago where he is employed by a telegraph and telephone company in that place. The wedding was a quiet affair and took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Taylor.

MR. CONNETT'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Frazee Connett, a Civil War veteran, who died Saturday afternoon, was held from the late home on Church street yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiated. Interment was made in the Soldiers' plot in Hillside cemetery.

BUTTER IS 38 CENTS A POUND.

Through faulty proof-reading in last night's Daily Press it was stated that fresh-made butter would be on sale at the store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company this week for 35 cents a pound. This was in error, and the price should have been 38 cents a pound.

SKETCH PRESENTED BY CONGREGATIONAL S. S.

Country Store During Thanksgiving Time Presented to Swell Dinner Fund.

A thoroughly enjoyable Thanksgiving entertainment was presented by the young people of the Congregational Sunday-school last night, the proceeds of which will be devoted to supplying dinners for worthy poor of Plainfield. The affair was well attended and it is estimated that the affair will furnish funds for at least thirty dinners.

Under the direction of the Sunday-school members, a short but appropriate sketch was given representing a country store during Thanksgiving week. The scene opened in a country store such as is used in rural districts for a postoffice and general store, and droves of farmers are bringing their produce into the store to sell or exchange. All of the parts were unusually well taken and the manner in which the production was presented made it highly interesting to the spectators.

The main characters included the following: "Skinnen," the storekeper, Mr. Evans; "Josh," Athol Neuman; "Jerusha," Clair Neuman, and "Mrs. Josh," Kathleen Phillips. A limber of other young people took the parts of farmers, farmers' wives and children.

ATTRACTIONS ON FOR TOMORROW

Special Services in Churches and Various Amusements Scheduled.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED

Union Service of Evangelical Congregations in the Morning—Show at the Theatre—Postoffice to Close at 10 O'clock—No Newspapers.

Thanksgiving Day will be generally observed throughout Plainfield and vicinity, as usual, and according to the custom there will be a suspension of business for the day on the part of the local merchants. This is the one holiday in the year when there is not an extensive program of amusements, probably for the reason that a majority of the people plan to spend the time at home, it affording an opportunity for family reunions and general thanksgiving.

There will be several services in the morning. At Trinity Reformed church, a union Thanksgiving service of the churches will be held at 10:30 o'clock, when Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, will preach, and other ministers will take part. At the same hour a similar service will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, in which the members of the Congregational church will unite. Rev. C. L. Goodrich will preach the sermon.

At Holy Cross Episcopal church the Thanksgiving Day service will be at 10:30 a. m. It will consist of the speccial order of service prepared by the prayer book, followed by a sermon by the rector.

Other Thanksgiving services in the morning include one at Hope chapel at 9 o'clock, with sermon by Rev. Frederic L. Greene, the pastor, and another at the West End Tabernacle.

The amusements for the day will include the matinee and evening performance at the Plainfield theatre of "The Girl of the Mountains," by a strong and capable cast, and the continuous program of high-class vaudeville and motion pictures at Proctor's theatre, throughout the afternoon and evening. There will also be a motion picture entertainment at the Y. M. C. A., afternoon and evening, with the presentation of special films.

The Hebrew Benevolent Association will hold a dance and reception in Debele Hall tomorrow night. Throughout the day the Independent Gun Club will hold a prize shoot on its grounds on Maple avenue, the borough, which is expected to attract a large number of crack marksmen in competition for prizes.

The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library will be closed all day, but the reading room will be open in the afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock.

The usual holidays hours will be observed at the postoffice, there being but one delivery in the morning. The office will close at 10 o'clock for the day.

The Plainfield Country Club will close its active season tomorrow with a cross-country tournament. The Watchung Hunt Club will meet the hounds at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Baltusrol Golf Club and enjoy a chase of several miles.

The prescribed services will be held at Grace, Holy Cross, St. Stephens and the Church of the Heavenly Rest tomorrow morning. The usual order of service will be followed.

At St. Mary's R. C. church, there will be a solemn high mass at 9 o'clock, Father B. M. Bogan being the celebrant, Father Hogan the deacon and Father Sciolla the sub-deacon. Father J. F. BISHOP OF WYOMING TO SPEAK AT A RALLY

Prelate in Whose Diocese Are Many Indians to Address Mission Meeting.

One of the picturesque figures of the Missionary Institute to be held at Holy Cross Episcopal church next Tuesday, will be the Rt. Rev. Nathaniel Seymour Thomas, bishop of Wyoming. The prelate is to speak at the rally to be held in the evening. He comes out of the West with a message not only of accomplishment but of promise.

Bishop Thomas is one of the younger members of the Episcopate. He was consecrated in 1909. The church sent him out to Wyoming because he was clearly a man for a hard work. He found plenty of it right at hand. The word "Wyoming" is a corruption of a Pennsylvania Indian word meaning "great plains." The diocese is truly one of "magnificent distances." Nobody seems to know why the State got a name for "great plains." It is quite largely a mountain State.

Bishop Thomas has a great deal to do with the Indians, the Shoshones and the Arapahoes. But this is only a part of his work. He has of course a considerable white population to which he must minister.

It is said that the Shoshones are given reservation privileges in Wyoming as a reward for their friendliness to the whites. Chief Washakie a picturesque character of the West, gave to the mission work 160 acres for the school.

Bishop Thomas has exerted a powerful influence towards making the towns better places to live in. The Episcopal church has several institutions, the Cathedral Home for Children, Laramie and the Shoshone Indian School, at Wind River. The Bishop finds that his best work in that part of the country can be done in the Sunday-school, on the ranch and in the hamlet. It is quite impossible, many times, to count upon settled congregations. The clergy must cover great fields, only imperfectly.

This missionary rally immediately represents the interests of parishes of the Episcopal church in Union and Somerset counties. A committee of the Plainfield churches, of which the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson is chairman, has charge of the general arrangements and desires it to be known that all sessions, both morning, afternoon and evening, are open to all who are interested in the great cause of missions. It is hoped that all branches of missionary activity will be equally presented, so that a large vision may be obtained of the privilege and opportunity of sharing in the work of extending the bounds of God's kingdom upon the earth.

TRIED AN OLD GAME ON LOCAL JEWELERS

Two Slick Individuals Drop Stolen Gems When C. E. Vail Calls the Police.

Two men, well dressed and bearing the appearance of enjoying the "fat of the land" visited several jewelry shops in the business section of the city yesterday, and in each case asked to see some diamond rings or stick pins. They journeyed from shop to shop in a large touring car and as they alighted from their machine and strode into the various jewelry establishments gave the impression of men respected and holding exalted positions in the community.

They were watched with more or less suspicion however by each jewelry clerk until they reached the shop of Charles E. Vail, 246 Park avenue. With prospects of a big sale, Mr. Vail politely placed a tray full of diamond rings on the counter for selection. Presently one of the "gentlemen" suggested that the "gold clock on the shelf" would be a very suitable Christmas present and Mr. Vail obligingly began to bring the clock from the shelf. He had no sooner turned his back than one of the strangers grabbed a handful of the diamond rings and made for the door. Becoming scared at the loud shouts of "Help, Police, Thieves," made by Mr. Vail the would-be swindlers dropped the valuables to the floor, ran from the store, jumped in the waiting automobile and were off down Park avenue in the direction of the railroad.

Upon taking an inventory of his stock Mr. Vail found that nothing had been stolen. He notified the police of the incident about an hour later.

BIBLE CLASS PREPARES FOR AN ENTERTAINMENT

A meeting of the McWilliams Bible class was held at Hope chapel last night with President Benjamin Evans in the chair when plans were discussed for a "ladies' night" to be held Friday night, December 6, in the chapel rooms. Committees were appointed to take charge of the affair. Allen Snyder was appointed as chairman of the entertainment committee, with Harry Keen, George Broadbent, Hugh Sweeney and William Terry as his assistants.

William Bailey, John Slorah and Harry Keen were selected to comprise the refreshment committee, and George Beiser was chosen to preside over the "mixing" committee with power to select five assists. A resolution was offered and adopted to hold a turkey supper in the latter part of January the proceeds of which will be devoted to the swelling of the Squire memorial fund which is raised annually for the support of the church.

REALTY BROKERS ARE ORGANIZED

Joseph T. Vail is Chosen President and Thad Doane, Jr., Secretary of Association.

FOR BENEFIT OF CITY

"Don't Knock, Boost" Their Slogan—Another Meeting on Tuesday Night, December 2, When More Will Join the Newly-born Society.

"Don't Knock, Boost," is the slogan of the Plainfield Real Estate Brokers' Association, which was organized last night at the home of R. Henry Depew on Hillside avenue, and any member caught "kocking" is likely to hear something drop. The meeting, which was largely attended and an enthusiastic one, was called for the purpose of forming an association to promote the interests of Plainfield, especially regarding real estate. About fourteen real estate men answered the call and all expressed themselves as pleased with the outlook.

During the discussion of the evening, it was suggested that if there is not now a law, one should be enacted providing for a license to be issued real estate brokers upon the payment of a reasonable annual fee. This idea seemed to meet with favor, and it was the opinion that such a plan would result in putting the brokers on a more substantial basis. Various suggestions were offered for promoting the interest and welfare of the new association. Joseph T. Vail was elected president and Thad. Doane, Jr., secretary of the association.

The following attended the meeting: R. Henry Depew, Joseph T. Vail, Thad. Doane, Jr., Armstrong Mulford, Charles H. Hand, Charles H. Lyman, Ira LaRue, E. Frank Vail, D. Foster Updike, Manning F. Gano, George A. Hallock, Uzal B. Crane, Captain J. E. Curtis, Tappscott Brothers and Edward Hardingham.

There are a number of brokers who could not be present last night, and it was decided to adjourn to Tuesday night, December 2, when other details of the association will be taken up and discussed.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT.

Miss Julia Fleming, colored, of Somerset street, appearing before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of stealing $9 from John Dema, colored, 75 years old, was held in $100 bail for arraignment Saturday. HOW TO WIN.

What is the prime requisite of success? It can be told in one word—Faith. It is first necessary to have faith in the undertaking at hand. Second, to have invincible faith in oneself. If energy and ambition is built on the foundation of faith, there is no reason why one cannot win unqualified success in this campaign. Let the purpose be to work and win. Go about the task by starting in a business-like way. Show a determination to succeed. A little persistency will go a long way towards fetching the desired subscription, and such subscriptions are what will bring the most votes. Therefore start the day right by seeing that near neighbor or friend who is not taking the Daily Press. Point out to him the many good reasons why he should join the ranks of Press readers. Give him the pass word on the spot, and in such an enthusiastic way that he will always remember it, and that word is "boost." With the ten per cent. commission there will be no losers, every one will be well repaid for faithful work, so better get a move on and get started while the race is young.

SECRETARY ADEE'S BIRTHDAY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27. (Special.)—A large bouquet of roses this morning adorned the desk of Second Assistant Secretary Alvey A. Adee, a reminder from the bureau chiefs of the State Department that this was his seventieth birthday anniversary. Mr. Adee was born at Astoria, N. Y., in 1842. In 1870 he was appointed secretary of legation at Madrid, and for forty-two years he has been in continuous service in the diplomatic branch of the government, mostly in high stations. He became a clerk in the State Department in 1877; chief of the diplomatic bureau in 1878, third assistant Secretary of State, in 1882, and second assistant secretary in 1886. No American diplomatist of the present day is so extensively known in his field of activities as is Mr. Adee, and few of the diplomatic notes issued from the State Department during the last quarter of a century have failed to receive his careful editing and emendation.

STYLE AND SR RELIABILITY

Gambling With Clothes-Money is Bad Business

Let me make myself clear.

To take the $12, $15, $18 or $20 you have laid away for a suit or overcoat, and to spend it haphazardly in a store that you do not know is a gamble—and gamble isn't a word a bit too strong.

Don't gamble—play safe!

Get the idea firmly fixed in your thinkery that you're going to get the best that money can buy.

Make a thorough canvass of what every store has to offer and the store that wins deserves to win your trade.

I want to inculcate that "may-the-best-man-win" spirit in clothes-buying—and I invite comparison.

For only by comparison are Rothberg's Garments appreciated.

PUBLIC SERVICE MEN DO HONOR TO FRANK BERGEN

Executive and junior officers of the Public Service companies tendered the general counsel, Frank Bergen, head of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, a testimonial dinner in the Engineers' Club in New York on Tuesday night. The dinner was followed by a theatre party.

Before the dinner Mr. Bergen was served with a writ of "socia-rari," made out with all the legal phraseology of a writ of certiorari, and ordering a review of the lawyer's social relations with his business associates. The writ was signed by those who attended the dinner.

At the guests' table, besides Mr. Bergen, were President Thomas N. McCarter, as toastmaster; First Vice President George J. Roberts, Second Vice President John J. Burleigh and Uzal H. McCarter, a director of the companies.

Mr. McCarter told Mr. Bergen of the esteem in which he was held by his associates, and Mr. Bergen responded.

There will be no meeting of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest tomorrow, on account of it being a holiday.

Preparatory services will be held at the Netherwood Reformed church Friday night, the subject of which will be "Showing Christ's Death." The elders will meet afterward to receive new members. The communion service will be held Sunday morning.

PARCELS POST PLANS.

Announcement was made by Postmaster General Hitchcock today that all rules and regulations for the parcels post system to go into effect on January 1, have been made, and one of the chief features of the service will be the admittance of all farm and factory products subject to limitations as to size and weight. It is probable that one of the principal beneficiaries will be the mail order house and this line of business will undoubtedly expand rapidly for the farmer in an isolated place will be able to obtain goods through this service from large centres of population at a small cost so far as transportation is concerned.

Parcels will be mailable only at postoffices, branch postoffices, lettered and local named stations and such numbered stations as may be designation by the postmaster, or when presented to a rural or other carrier duly authorized to receive such matter. All parcels must bear the return card of the sender, otherwise they will not be accepted for mailing.

Parcels will be delivered at all free delivery offices and to patrons residing on rural and star routes; they may be registered and may be accorded special delivery service on payment of the usual fees, and they may be insured against loss in an amount equivalent to their actual value, but not to exceed $25, on payment of a fee of five cents.

All matter now third class will not be permitted in the parcels post mails. The third class includes books, circulars and all printed matter. Its debarment from the parcels post will make this class of matter pay a much higher rate than ordinary merchandise. Under previous classifications, all matter tending to have an educational value has been favored in the mails.

Seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants will be permitted in the parcels post mails under regulations as to size and weight applicable to other parcels post packages, but at the rate of postage of one cent for two ounces or fraction thereof, regardless of distance.

Distinctive parcels post stamps must be used on all fourth class matter, including that weighing four ounces and less. Such matter bearing ordinary postage stamps will be treated as held for postage.

William Jennings Bryan has used the money he made as a reporter at the National conventions this summer to buy a $7,000 bungalow in Florida. His pay possibly equals the combined earnings of all expert political reporters covering those conventions, but as news stories his could not compare with the copy ground out by the old hands at the business. The incident, however, is a sufficient answer to the saying "what's in a name?"

Responding to many queries, the Daily Press wishes to announce that the "Good Fellow" campaign will be conducted by this paper, with the co-operation of the Charity Organization Society, this season. The "Good Fellows" last year made the Christmas of over 600 poor youngsters a real one. The fourth annual campaign will be begun early next month and this fact should be borne in mind by those generously disposed.

We have yet to find any argument published against the plan to send the entire troops of New Jersey to Washington for the inaugural pageant. Regardless of their political predelictions, the press appears to unanimously endorse the proposition.

Though it met with a decisive defeat at the election, the Union County Republican committee has one thing to give thanks for. Its campaign contributions totalled over $14,600, the largest of any party, and $8,500 is left unspent.

TERMS OF BALKANS ARE AGAIN REJECTED

Adrianople Afire and Enemies Are Drawing Closer to Turk's Stronghold.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—The Turkish Plenipotentiaries today rejected the armistice proposals of the Balkan allies, and counter proposals were submitted immediately, beginning fresh discussions. The indications are that the Bulgarian envoys are clothed with much more power than has been generally thought up to the present time. According to unofficial advices received here Adrianople is reported to be burning.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Nov. 27.—A despatch from Sofia to the effect that Adrianople was burning and giving further details on conditions at that place was received today. In messages from Mustapha Pacha, brought by fugitives who have just arrived there, it was declared that the lines of investment were being drown closer every day around the Turkish stronghold. They said that many buildings in the vicinity of the Selom Mosque were in flames. The civilian population was declared to be short of food and among some classes a state approaching anarchy existed.

PROGRESSIVES TALK OF CHICAGO PROGRAM

Social and Industrial Questions Discussed In Conference.

New York, Nov. 27.—A conference of Progressive leaders, one of the largest since the election, was held at the home of Amos R. Pinchot on Park avenue. It was called for the purpose of considering a social and industrial program to be presented at the great gathering of the party in Chicago on Dec. 10. Because of that fact nearly half of those in attendance were women.

For nearly two hours an animated discussion was participated in by fifty men and women. Colonel Roosevelt was present and took an active part but did not make a formal speech. The conference was called by Miss Frances A. Keller of Brooklyn, a member of the Progressive national committee, and most of the better known Progressive leaders were present. Every state in which the party has made any headway was represented.

Among the subjects considered were child labor, female labor, legislation and various social propositions which will be taken up at Chicago. The Progressive national committee had requested Miss Keller to get together as many of the party leaders as she could, to talk over that side of the propaganda as a sort of preliminary to the Chicago meeting.

In addition to Colonel Roosevelt those at the conference included George W. Perkins, Miss Jane Addams, Senator Dixon, Judge Ben Lindsey, Gifford Pinchot, Miss Alice Carpenter, William H. Hotchkiss, Dean Kirchewey of Columbia university, Dr. Henry Moskowitz, Dean Lewis of the University of Pennsylvania, A. A. Van Valkenburg of Philadelphia and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. J. B. Wood and Mrs. Alsop of Connecticut.

HER LIFE FOR HER DOLL'S.

Child Rescues Toy From Before Train. Is Herself Mangled.

South Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 27.—Mary Fitzgerald probably gave her life for her doll here. The dolly is safe, but Mary is in the Norwalk hospital at death's door with legs severed at the knee, her left arm at the wrist and her right arm fractured. The doctors say there is no hope of her living.

The little girl's parents were moving and to assure its safe removal the little girl took the doll in her arms. In crossing the tracks at the local station she dropped her dolly and turned back to recover it from the path of a train. She saved the doll, but the freight struck her and threw her twenty feet. She was picked up unconscious. The doll was unhurt.

DESCRIPTION OF PIANOS.

Made by Braumuller Piano Co., 627-641 West 43d Street, New York City.

Aside from the fact that one piano contains the player and the other does not, there is no difference between the instruments. Both are fully warranted by the makers, who are an old established and reliable firm.

Seven and one-third Octaves; Overstrung Bass, three strings to each note, except in Wound Bass Strings; New Patent Upright Grand Scale; Full Composite Metal Plate, extending over pin-block to top of Piano; Tuning Pins specially fitted with hardwood Bushings; Practice Pedal; Ivory Keys; full length Music Desk; Revolving Fall-Board; Brass Pedals and trimmings; handsome mouldings; attractive panels; carved Trusses and Pilasters.

Case: Antique Mahogany. All Upright cases are Double Veneered and have hardwood, varnished backs. Every Parklyn Piano is fully warranted.

DESCRIPTION OF PLAYER.

The Player is the latest device of the kind, and is the simplest and easiest working apparatus on the market. It is made by the Gulbranson-Dickinson Co., of Chicago, and is fully warranted. A test of the Player can be made at any time at Joseph Sattel's warerooms at 108 North avenue. Briefly it can be described as follows:

88 note Player Mechanism, playing every note of the scale.

Special attachment, enabling the performer to obtain a diminished volume of tone in the bass, middle treble, or upper treble registers, by touching one of the two buttons. Each acts independently of the other. There is a silent travel device, a patented cylinder motor and other features which can be seen by inspecting the instrument.

The entire construction of the Mechanism is on simple lines. Durability, effectiveness and expression are the principal features.

Cash value of player-piano, stool, rolls and cover, $525.

Cash value of piano, stool and cover, $275.

DESCRIPTION OF VITAPHONE.

The $100 Cabinet Vitaphone is the third prize. This instrument was made by The Vitaphone Company, of Netherwood, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

It reproduces voice and instrument so true to life, that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail as well, and no metallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Winner can have choice of mahogany, golden oak or mission oak case. There is a triple spring motor that can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box, rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. Any make of records can be used and owing to its construction, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine.

HOW TO SECURE VOTES.

Coupons, each good for one vote, will be found in every issue of the Plainfield Daily Press from November 11, 1912, until December 14, 1912. These will expire on dates which will be clearly marked on their face. Votes for payment of cash subscriptions will be allowed in the following proportion:

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Football practice has been taken up in real earnestness in preparation for the Holy Cross game. It has been announced that the P. H. S. eleven will not play under the red and blue colors but will adopt a fictitious name for the occasion.

Among the players who have heretofore been barred from athletics because of scholarship deficiencies are Mills and Sminck and both of these players will be able to get into the Holy Cross game in the event that the team plays under another name.

A meeting of the interscholastic basketball managers has been called for next Saturday morning at the Y. M. C. A. E. C. Ostlin will preside at the meeting and scholastic officers will be elected for the league season. Grisley, of P. H. S.; Taylor, of N. P. H. S., and a representative from Leals are requested to be on hand.

Basketball practice will probably be sounded on Monday afternoon. It is now time to get togs down from the attic.

Students of the Stillman School have been using the High School Auditorium regularly for the past two weeks rehearsing their annual play which will be given at P. H. S. some time this week.

A number of the P. H. S. black face artists will act the dusky role in the Grace church minstrels Friday night.

James F. Buckle is detained at his home on Westervelt avenue because of illness.

Mr. Best called a meeting of the boys at 12 o'clock yesterday to instruct them in "systematic cheering." Gerald Linke, a younger brother of the P. H. S. coach, will probably be cheer leader at tomorrow's and Saturday's games.

Paper bound copies of Mr. Howe's Modern History have arrived. These are for the use of his classes temporarily.

Miss Ball has organized a dancing class for the Freshmen who have not yet mastered that art.

The Stillman School pupils presented a Thanksgiving sketch in the P. H. S. Auditorium this morning.

In an interview with Basketball Coach Mr. Wristor, he stated that as yet he has been unable to get a line on the prospects of the school basketball team for this season, but he intends to begin practice as soon as football is over.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

In "The Fortune Hunter" Winchell Smith presents a clean, breezy American comedy, convulsively funny in its conception, with a unique and carefully developed plot that catches the fancy and holds the tense attention of an audience from first to final curtain and in the end points a moral that may be studied and practiced with profit by young and old. It is the sort of a production that sends an audience home feeling as though they would like to help their neighbors. The story tells of a young man who, reared in wealth and luxury with an unpractical education, finds himself obliged to work for a living at the death of his father. After many unsuccessful attempts he finally accepts the proposition of a mutual friend to go to a small town where eligible men are scarce and win the hand of some girl whose father is wealthy. A set of rules is laid down, and a small Pennsylvania town chosen as the place of action. How he eventually succeeds, how his experiences develop hitherto hidden business ability, and how he eventually works out his own reformation and makes a huge success of his life is left for the story to unfold. This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre Friday night.

ADELAIDE THURSTON IN "LOVE AFFAIR" TONIGHT

The day is past when cotton flannel passed without comment for royal robes, and when the regular "drawing-room set" with an armchair on a raised platform was a perfectly satisfactory thorne-room. The costuming and mounting of a play at the present day frequently costs the producer more than does the play itself, even when it is the work of a noted dramatist. One of the best examples of the expenditure of money combined with good taste is found in "The Love Affair," Frederick Paulding's clever comedy in which Adelaide Thurston will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, tonight.

Mary Bishop and her family and associates are persons of wealth and refinement living in the most extravagant year of the world's history, 1912. To represent these persons and their surroundings in an appropriate and convincing manner, the gowns of the women must be made by the most expert and expensive New York or Paris dressmakers, and their home provided with the thousand and one indispensable and costly trifles that mean so much to persons of taste and culture. We are told that Francis X. Hope has provided all of these present-day necessities with prodigal disregard for the expenditure of money and, in consequence, we are promised a typical Broadway production several months before it reaches Broadway.

FIGHTERS FINED.

William Sanderson, colored, and his nephew, Charles Cassatt, also colored, arrested last night for engaging in a fistic encounter in Liberty street, were fined $3 each by Judge DeMeza in the City Court this morning.

WOMEN HEAR TALKS ON CURRENT TOPICS

Five Deliver Timely Talks at a Meeting of a First M. E. Church Society.

The second of a series of educational lectures given by the Current Events Circle of the First M. E. church took place yesterday afternoon in Vincent chapel, when Percy Brown spoke on the "Guardians of Liberty." Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., told of the work these institutions are doing for the boys of this country in elevating their morals; making them more Christian-like and building up the body.

The other lecturers included Miss Faith Parmlee, of the Y. W. C. A.; Robert H. McCready, who spoke on the Boy Scout movement, telling of its purpose, organization and results already attained, and Miss Mabelle Phillips, who made an appealing address in behalf of the Charity Organization Society.

As an interesting feature the Camp Fire Girls, under the direction of Miss Bradshaw, of the Y. W. C. A., entertained with their weird ceremonial service in full uniform.

The committee in charge of yesterday's affair was composed of Mrs. L. M. French, chairman; Mrs. Harry Gee, Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. A. M. Most, Mrs. Charles M. Anderson, Mrs. Judd Stuart, Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Love, Mrs. O'Neil and Mrs. James C. Peck.

The next meeting will be held December 31, when the general lecture will refer to the work of the medical profession. The speakers and their subjects will be Dr. A. F. Van Horn, "Atypical Children;" Dr. J. F. Runnels, superintendent of Bonnie Burn, "Tuberculosis in Union County;" Dr. Peter B. Cregar, "X-Rays and Radium and Their Uses;" Dr. H. D. Corbusier, "Orthopedic Surgery," and Miss Helen Carol Howes, head nurse at Muhlenberg Hospital, who will speak on "What It Means For Our Girls to Become Trained Nurses."

A sale of fancy and useful articles will be held Wednesday, December 4, at the home of Mrs. Henry A. McGee, in Orchard avenue, the proceeds of which will go to the society's treasury.

The regular church supper will be held in the banquet room on Tuesday night, December 10. Arrangements are now under way to make this affair the largest ever held in the church and the reputable speakers who will be secured to address the diners are sure to prove entertaining.

OUR DEBT TO PURITANS
H. E. PARKER'S TOPIC

Herbert E Parker delivered the principal address at the Thanksgiving exercises held this morning in the North Plainfield High School. His subject was "What We Owe to the Puritan," and proved of a very interesting nature. The rest of the program included recitations, piano and vocal solos, and the singing of songs appropriate to Thanksgiving, by the school in chorus.

The pupils of Somerset School also rendered a pleasing Thanksgiving program, which was witnessed by many parents of the youngsters.

Recitations ,interspersed by songs, were delivered by the Misses Helen Willett, Gladys Bye, Helen Michael, Marion Garrett, Elsie Westerland, Edith Debele, Maryalys Parker and Ruth Nichols and Roy Gun and Harold Allen. The Watchung School observed Thanksgiving with similar exercises.

As is the usual custom, the school children donated food of all kind to be given to the poor for their Thanksgiving dinners. The donations this year are unusually large in all of the schools and include turkeys, chickens, pumpkins, and canned goods of all varieties. All schools are closed until Monday, December 2.

WINFIELD SCOTT POST ANNUAL INSPECTION

Past Department Commander Alfred Atkins, of Roselle, made the annual inspection of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., at the headquarters in Reform Hall, last night. There was a large attendance of veterans, including Past Commander Stone, patriotic instructor of Dahlgren Post, No. 25, of Elizabeth; Past Commander Edward Marsh, of Kilpatrick Post, of Elizabeth; representatives of Barry Post, of Rahway, and Senior Vice Department Commander Mendill, of Roselle, all of whom made short addresses.

Past Department Commander William C. Smith was the host of the evening and personally gave his attention to seeing that the veterans had a good time. The inspection showed the local post to be in excellent condition, financially and otherwise, and the members were complimented by the inspection officer. Congratulatory remarks were also made by the other speakers. After the inspection refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. The local post nominated officers last night, prepartory to the election on Tuesday, December 10.

"How I Bless that Square Pot Boiler in the Cellar—

It makes the house so warm an' the work so easy. Some places I've worked people were always shaking the heater and shoveling coal; but here fixing fires comes only twice a day—unless it's awful cold outside—and then there isn't any fuss or bother; just the turning of a grate and a shovel or so of fresh coal. Yes, this is the easiest and most comfortable place I ever worked and I'm going to stay."

Everybody appreciates a Square Pot Boiler. It sends good heat pulsing to the farthest radiator in the house. It supplies it gently on mild days, or powerfully when winter winds bite bitterly. It saves fuel—it saves trouble—it saves labor. It gives complete combustion and quick steaming. It pays you many times over for your modest outlay, in comfort and satisfaction.

Square Pot Boilers clean from on top. The coal—the firebox—the ashes—all are easy to reach. The ash pit is capacious.

Why not install a Square Pot Boiler?

Delightful Effects Found In Ribbons This Season.

Ribbons were never so striking as this season. Velvet ribbons with raised figures on satin grounds are among the most beautiful. The new moire ribbons are bordered with gold cords.

The newest veils are escurial effects with magpie colorings. These are very becoming.

The evening coats of the season are lovely. Here is one of black velvet,

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME THANKSGIVING ICES.

BETTER than the creams sold in the shops is a nice ice prepared at home and served firm and fresh at the feast.

Many fruits are out of season, and, while a fruit ice is delicious, it is not always available.

Therefore a variety of ice desserts are suggested here.

Fruit Ices.

Pineapple Frappe.—Pare and grate up a ripe firm pineapple. Place two cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water on the fire in an enameled saucepan.

Boil three minutes, then cool and mix with the grated pineapple. Add one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Put into a freezer, which has been packed with ice and salt, and churn ten to fifteen minutes.

The freezer should be packed with two parts ice and one part salt. After it has been frozen pack with ice and salt until ready to serve.

Lemon Sherbet.—Take a quart of water and boil with two and a half cupfuls of sugar until reduced to a sirup. Remove and set aside to cool. Then add the juice of four large lemons and one large orange. Strain and put this mixture into a freezer. Freeze till it begins to thicken and then add the beaten whites of two eggs. Continue to freeze for a few minutes longer and then serve in glasses.

Delectable Creams.

Maple Mousse.—Take the yolks of six eggs, a pint of whipped cream and a cupful and a half of maple sirup.

Beat the yolks of the eggs until light, add the maple sirup, beat one minute and then put into the top part of a double boiler and stir until it thickens. Do not let it boil or it will curdle. Set aside to cool. Whip the cream until stiff and light, then add the cooled egg and sirup, mix well, fill into a melon mold that has been rinsed in cold water, cover the mold and pack in ice and salt two hours. Turn out on a dish, garnish with macaroons and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Bisque Ice Cream.—Take two cupfuls of scalded milk, two quarts of thin cream, a cupful of sugar, an egg, a tablespoonful of flour, an eighth of a teaspoonful of salt and three tablespoonfuls of vanilla.

Mix flour, sugar and salt, add the egg slightly beaten and the milk and cook over hot water twenty minutes, stirring constantly at first. Should the custard have a curdled appearance it will disappear in freezing. When cool add cream and flavoring and then finely chopped hickory or English walnuts and freeze.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

A GREAT CONVENTION.

The National American Woman Suffrage Association has just concluded its forty-fourth convention. This has been held in Witherspoon Hall, Philadelphia, and has brought the Quaker City to a new understanding of the great suffrage movement. The roll call of the five hundred delegates, representing over fifty thousand members, is worth listening to Jane Addams, foremost woman of the United States; Anna Howard Shaw, Julia Lathrop, M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr College; Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage Association; Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, Mrs Robert M. La Follette, Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, Alice Stone Blackwell, Maude Nathan, Catherine Waugh McCulloch, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Inez Mulholland, Virginia Brooks, Mary Johnston, Kate Langley Bosher and Sarah Barnwell Elliott authors of note; Mrs. Henry Villard and hundreds of others. Among the men who were delegates were Bishop Rhinelander and Bishop Darlington James Lees Laidlaw, Jesse Lynch Williams and Witter Bynner.

There were two great mass meetings at the Metropolitan Opera House on Sunday afternoon and Monday evening. At the former, Doctor Shaw gave a spirited summing up of the suffrage situation, Miss Julia Lathrop told of the purpose and aim of the Child Bureau of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Dr. W. E. B DuBois spoke for equal justice for black women as well as white, and Jane Addams spoke for equal community rights for all irrespective of sex, color or social standing. It was a great meeting; the opera house was packed from orchestra to topmost galleries and the Philadelphia papers said over ten thousand people tried to get in and failed. The streets for blocks around were crowded with people and a dozen different outdoor meetings were in progress all the afternoon. From time to time Doctor Shaw would go to the front of the platform and singling out prominent speakers who were in the audience would say: "Mrs. McCullouch, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Laidlaw, Mrs. Fitzgerald, I call upon you to leave your comfortable seats and go and talk to the crowds outside." Those called upon always rose instantly to obey and Doctor Shaw said laughingly to the reporters, "Women may not be soldiers, but you see there are plenty of minute-women in our ranks."

Monday evening's meeting was a welcome home to Mrs. Catt, who has just returned from a trip around the world. The opera house was crowded again. Bishop Darlington spoke briefly on the changing times and said that in his opinion woman suffrage was among the greatest reform movements of this age. Baroness Bertha von Suttner spoke on the blessings an international peace treaty would bring and Mrs. Catt told of her investigation of the present day traffic in women. "I cannot call it the white slave traffic," she said, "for we found in the great treaty ports of the East that there was also a terrible traffic in brown and black women."

Over ten thousand dollars in cash and pledges was given at the different meetings.

The official board elected for the coming year is as follows: President, Doctor Anna Howard Shaw, of Pennsylvania; first vice president, Jane Addams, of Chicago; second vice president, Anita Whitney, of California; recording secretary, Mrs. Susan Fitzgerald, of Massachusetts; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, of New York; treasurer Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Massachusetts; first auditor, Mrs. Harriet Burton Laidlaw, New York; second auditor, Mrs. Joseph Bowen, Illinois. Over twenty New Jersey women attended the convention as delegates and visitors.

HOLY CROSS SOCIAL

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Van Mater, as chairman of the decorating committee had the rooms delightfully draped in autumn foliage and paper roses of various colors. Miss Margaret Hawkins rendered selections on the piano, and during the course of the evening refreshments were served.

The committee having the event in charge were Mrs. Frank Allen, chairman; Mrs. Frank B. Ball, Mrs. Fred O. Ball, and the Misses Annette Van Mater, Dorothy Langford, Claire Kenworthy, Katherine Overton and Margaret Hawkins.

WOLGAST-RITCHIE GO STIRS COAST; CADILLAC FARMER MAY LOSE CROWN

Willie Ritchie and Ad Wolgast.

The Wolgast-Ritchie go scheduled for Thanksigiving day is stirring the Pacific coast. The lightweight championship is at stake, and there is a possibility that the Cadillac farmer will have to give up his crown. Ritchie looms up as a formidable opponent. Ever since last Thanksgiving day, when on 24 hours' notice he travelled from Los Angeles to San Francisco and gave Freddie Welch the battle of his career, Ritchie has been regarded as a dangerous boy.

WITH THE BOXERS

George Carpenter, who recently lost a battle to Bill Papke, will meet Marcel Mareau in Paris Jan. 15.

Sammy Trott, the Cleveland lightweight, has announced his intention of invading Australia in the near future.

New Orleans fans are willing to lay 2 to 1 that Joe Mandot defeats Joe Rivers in their muss on Thanksgiving Day.

Promoter John J. Day, of Kenosha, Wis., is trying to stage a bout between Packey McFarland and Eddie Murphy, of Boston.

The followers of the boxing game in New York are anticipating a great clash when Eddie McGoorty and Mike Gibbons meet on December 3.

It looks like a little more easy money for Johnny Kilbane when the champion meets Monte Attell in Cleveland on December 4.

George Memsic, who is boxing under the name of Fred Corbett, has been making quite a clean-up of late among the boxers in the Northwest.

The New Orleans promoters have cancelled the proposed Matty Baldwin-Joe Sherman bout, as Baldwin intends to leave shortly for the Pacific coast.

Bombardier Wells is willing to return to America but asserts that he must receive $5,000 before he boxes anyone. Nothing stirring for the Bombardier.

FIGHTERS IN THE "PINK."

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 27 (Special).—Ad Wolgast and Willie Ritchie, who will box for the lightweight championship at Coffroth's arena tomorrow afternoon, have ceased training and are ready for the timekeeper's signal to start them on their 20-round contest. Each fighter expressed himself today as certain of victory, and the concensus of opinion of fight followers pressages a contest that will make fight history and may result in a transfer of the championship title. James Griffin will referee the battle.

PENN AND CORNELL READY.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27 (Special).—All preparations for the Cornell-Pennsylvania contest at Franklin Field tomorrow have been concluded, and the Quaker City is looking forward to an interesting battle on the gridiron. No matter how much the two teams may differ in their season's records the strong rivalry between Pennsylvania and Cornell can always be counted upon to attract an immense crowd of followers. The two have met in annual contests on the gridiron continuously since 1893. Of the nineteen games played Pennsylvania has won 17 and Cornell one. In 1906 a tie game was played.

FROM BASEBALL TO CHECKERS.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 27 (Special).—Christy Mathewson, the star pitcher of the New York Giants, will eat his Thanksgiving turkey in Boston tomorrow. As an aid to digestion he has promised to referee an interstate checker match between New York and Massachusetts teams. In accepting the invitation Christy declared that the result of the recent world's series would not bias his decisions in the checker match.

HOLIDAY CARD OF BASKETBALL

Two Speedy Games Are Scheduled to Take Place at Y. M. C. A.

TEAMS UNCONQUERED

Nonpariel Girls' Team vs. Paterson Five at 3:30—Y. M. C. A. Ajax vs. Hope Chapel 4:00—Much at Stake Both Teams Are Ancient Rivals.

One of the best programs compiled by local sport promoters for Thanksgiving Day diversion will be presented on the basketball court of the local Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Nothing has been left undone to make the two scheduled basketball games the finest and most exciting that have ever been staged in this vicinity. The respective contestants could not be more evenly matched and the result of the game holds much in store for the winner. Both games will be championship affairs in one sense of the word and everything possible has been done to stage them as such. A professional licensed Amateur Athletic Union official will referee both contests and as his interests are uneffected by the outcome, it goes without saying that his decisions will be rendered without bias.

In the preliminary game, which will be called sharply at 3:30 o'clock, the Nonpariel Girls' team, of this city, will take the floor against the Wesley Methodist church girls, of Paterson. The feminine quintet from Paterson is heralded as a combination of the fastest advocaters of girls' rules in the State and in the city from whence they come there are girls' teams of every rank and calibre. The local aggregation is approximately the same as represented North Plainfield High School on the court last year and the one that defeated the P. H. S. girls in the deciding game for the city and borough title. Under the leadership of Miss Helen Hummel this team played and defeated every feminine scholastic aggregation of any consequence in the State and are out to duplicate the record under another name this season. Miss Hummel will captain the team again this year and will also play the center position. Miss Clara Smith, captain of the 1912-13 N. P. H. S. five, will play guard; Miss Ida Hummel, who played with the Y. W. C. A. last year, will play forward, and the Misses MacCauliff and Debele will hold down forward and guard respectively. The Y. M. C. A. court has been remarked for girls rules and it is possible that the girls' teams will demonstrate their ability at boys' rules in one half and play their own game the other period.

As the main attraction, the Y. M. C. A. Ajax and Hope chapel will clash in the intermission between the halves of the girls' game and after the girls' game. Precedent has proved that whenever these two ancient rivals have met a battle for blood has been the issue and when they come together tomorrow afternoon things are bound to fly. Although the Ajax took two out of the three games played with Hope chapel last season they were extended to the limit in every game and the margin when the final whistle sounded was most slight.

In past games the existant rivalry has been so keen between the two teams that the refereeing question has always been a subject of much concern and in order to offset this an unbiased A. A. U. official has been enaged. Not only will the game decide the better team but it will throw a flash of light upon the city basketball championship question to be decided during the present season and the winner will be looked upon as a most likely contestant. Individualism is also bound to sprout out and the coaching staff of the Plainfield High School is planning by this means to get a line on his available material as eight of the players in tomorrow's game are candidates for the scholastic team. It is a foregone conclusion that neither team will encounter a walk-over and both are bound to be in the winning at the finish.

Both the Chapelites and the Ajax will have their strongest lineup on the court and only the strongest men will engage in the conflict. According to the way the teams have been lining up during the preesnt season it appears as though Captain Brynarski, of the Ajax, would have Captain Heron to contend with. Brynarski is an excellent guard and is adept at long shots, while Heron can cage a basket from any angle on the floor and elude any guard. There seems to be little to contrast between these two players and it is expected that the respective team leaders will have a little battle all their own in their corner of the floor. Tommy Heron will play the other forward for Hope chapel and will be guarded by Myrton Glover, the Ajax's strong man. As opponents in center James Nash and James Doig will clash. The Ajax forwards will be William Peacock and James McNamee and they will be guarded by Guy and Allen Snyder, respectively.

Just a little side issue the two rivals are striving to keep their record unmarred by defeat and as neither has encountered a single defeat, naturally both are wont to drop their initial game.

HE'S A CANDIDATE FOR ALL-AMERICAN

Harold Hardwick.

Though but a youngster, Harold Hardwick, who plays in the Harvard back field, is a candidate for the All-American football team. He has made a splendid record this season. On carrying the ball and on the defense he is a demon.

OUTLAW LEAGUE FOR THE MIDDLE WEST?

"Tip" O'Neill.

President "Tip" O'Neill of the Western league denies that he has had anything to do with the formation of a new "outlaw" league in the middle west. He admits that discussion of the proposed league has been going on for several weks and that the subject took form at a meeting of the Western league recently in Milwaukee.

Plans of the proposed league, it is said, included possible clubs in Chicago, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Joseph and an eighth city yet to be named.

CHAPELITES ARE STILL INVINCIBLE

Much Padded Y. M. A. A. Team Forced to Swallow Bitter Defeat.

In a fast, although one-sided game, Hope Chapel continued its winning streak last night, when they took the measure of the Young Men's Athletic Association quintet by the score of 68-15. The Y. M. A. A. manager brought a well paded team to try conclusions with the West End aggregation, only one of the regular players appering in the lineup. But it evidently had little effect, as shown by the score.

As usual, the Heron brothers did the bulk of the shooting for Hope, with Doig and Snyder as close runners-up, but this by no means detracts from the excellent showing made by the other players who participated for the chapelites, for the team played as a unit with every man deserving a share in the victory.

For Y. M. A. A., T. Ricketts, alias Smith, and Moore were the two most conspicuous figures, each caging three baskets.

FINAL GOLF TOURNEY.

Lakewood, Nov. 27 (Special).—The last notable golf tournament to be held in the North this year opens tomorrow on the links of the Country Club, of Lakewood, and will continue until the end of the week. Tomorrow will be devoted to a qualifying round of eighteen holes. The first match round will be put under way Friday morning with the second round in the afternoon. The semi-finals and finals are scheduled for Saturday.

END OF WESTERN SEASON.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 27 (Special).—Thanksgiving Day games tomorrow will bring to an end the college football season of 1912, with few contests of great importance scheduled for the middle West. An intersectional game at St. Louis between Holy Cross and St. Louis University and a match at Milwaukee between Norte Dame and Marquette universities will furnish the principal attractions.

AJAX VS. BATTIN HIGH SCHOOL.

Battin High School, of Elizabeth, will open its basketball schedule December 6, with the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, of this city, as their initial opponents on their own court. This will probably be the Ajax first out of town game and as the Battin five is considered a strong scholastic aggregation the outcome is looked forward to with much interest.

GRIDIRON SPORT IN DOUBLE BILL

Two Good Football Games Scheduled to Take Place Tomorrow.

P. H. S. AND ALUMNI

Holy Cross vs. Sherman A. C. on Cricket Field in Afternoon—Morning Game at Parker Field Will Be a Battle of Weight vs. Brawn.

Football will be played in this city both morning and afternoon tomorrow and the games are both heralded as good ones, especially the forenoon battle between the Plainfield High School eleven and the alumni. In the afternoon Holy Cross will take on the Edgewater A. C., of Staten Island, and little needs to be said in regard to the brand of the gridiron stuff always exhibited by the church boys.

P. H. S. coaches have been putting on the finishing touches for the annual game with the heavy alumni and their main hope in overcoming this great advantage seems to be the revised code of football rules. As has been brought out at various big games during the present season, the agile and lighter team really has some competitive chance with a heavier aggregation whereas last year weight won gridiron games. The present day P. H. S. combination is light but exceedingly speedy and this fact inspires them with confidence in stacking up against the players of bygone days.

The Alumni will be by no means made up of "has beens," however, as most of the men who will get into tomorrow's fray are now in active training playing with one team or another. It seems plausible that the regular Holy Cross backfield will be brought into play including the Ricketts brothers, Nash and Coyle, while "Shake" Clarke will play one end. P. H. S. will have its regular lineup on the field with the exception of Captain Van Zandt, who is nursing a broken collarbone.

In the afternoon Cricket Field will be the scene of the Holy Cross-Edgewater A. C. game and if the morning game is not too much of a strain on the players who are eligible to play on the P. H. S. Alumni, the boroughites ought to repeat their last week's performance. Hamilton has been holding regular practices during the past week and all of the regulars are in first class condition.

The lineup of the teams will be as follows:

HOLY CROSS	EDGEWATER A. C.
Hamilton	Comafort
left end
Ruttledge	Rosendale
left tackle
Johnson-Manning	Joseph Eller
left guard
Moran	Lample
centre
Bremble, Mair	Hemmes

Caulfield, Glover	T. Lanahan

Clarke, Webster	Schmidt

SENIOR RED TEAM NOW IN THE LEAD

Standing Broad Jump Brought Out Thirty-one Contestants Last Night.

Never before in the history of the local Y. M. C. A. has the interest in athletics been so keen as it is at the present time and every scheduled event brings out a goodly number of entrants. The Senior department has been divided up into teams each of which has a certain color to fight under and every athlete goes into an event with his main object to swell the percentage of his team. Last night the two running broad jumps were on the card and brought out thirty-one contestants all of which set good marks in the difficult event.

Bert Hansen chalked up the best mark which turned out to be eighteen feet two inches, while Cedric Ostrom was second with seventeen feet two inches. The rest of the records follow:

RAHWAY MAN MAY BE UNION COUNTY ATTORNEY

Elizabeth, Nov. 27.—Fred Hyer, of Rahway, is now considered the likely choice of the new Board of Freeholders to succeed William R. Codington as county attorney. About the same time that this report was heard, Mr. Hyer was seen in this city in company with one of the leading members of the new board. Le Roy A. Gibby, of Summit, and William A. Coddington, of Plainfield, have been proposed for county attorney on several occasions.

At first it was believed that School Commissioner Martin P. O'Connor was the likely appointee, but such no longer appears to be the case.

Announcement was made yesterday of the candidacy of Jeremiah A. Kiernan, a well known attorney of this city, for the office of prosecutor of the pleas. Mr. Kiernan has been an earnest worker for the Democratic party, but has never been rewarded for his work by any public office. The other candidates most prominently mentioned for the office are Mayor Alfred A. Stein and Robert H. McAdams.

A GREAT RECORD

Hard to Duplicate It in Plainfield.

Scores of representative citizens of Plainfield are testifying for Doan's Kidney Pills. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it:

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning Ave., Plainfield, N. J., says: "You may continue to publish my endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills which I gave in August, 1905. I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I arose in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold, it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made my aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store, that I had any hope of getting rid of my trouble. This preparation made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in a while however, and they keep my kidneys in good working order."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GIRL KILLED BY JEALOUS LOVER

Murders Her Because She Refused to Marry Him.

TRAGEDY IN A FACTORY.

Follows Guttenberg Girl to Washroom and Fires Two Shots at Her and Then Turns Weapon on Self—Found by Fellow Workers.

Guttenberg, N. J., Nov. 27.—Margaret Schraeder, nineteen years old and glowing with the radiant blond beauty of the Teutonic type, paid the price of her flirtatious ways. She was shot dead by a jealous lover in the washroom of the Stern, Saalberg & Co. candy factory, where she worked, at 416 West Forty-fifth street, New York.

Michael Graffeo, the man who had pursued her with his importunities and threatened her in the black rages that alternated with his softer moods of wooing, was her murderer. After putting two bullets through the pretty head of the candy wrapper Graffeo shot himself through the temple. He is dying in the Polyclinic hospital, New York.

Margaret lived with her parents at 17 Madison street, this city, and had worked several years in the candy factory where she met her death. Graffeo lived at 504 West Forty-ninth street, New York. For more than a year he had wooed the fair haired German girl, half frightening, half pleasing her with his impetuous attentions.

The girl seemed to enjoy keeping her admirer ever on the anxious seat. She occasionally went to dances with him but she would always turn a deaf ear to his demands that she marry him. The last of her refusals was given Saturday night, when she went to a ball with Graffeo and then laughed in his face when he urged that on Monday they go to a priest.

Margaret left the wrapping counter where she worked and went to the third floor to the washroom. But one man, Montevidio Serofing, worked on that floor, which is used as a storehouse. Afterward he swore he had heard nothing.

Some of the other girls on the second floor grew curious at Margaret's long absence, and two of them, Tessie McDonald and Elizabeth Tolan, went up to the washroom on the third floor. There they found the girl stretched across the floor and her lover near by.

SAFEGUARDS FOR DEATH LOOP

New Jersey Public Utilities Commission Warns Railroad.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 27.—Under recommendations filed by the public utilities commission in the complaints that grade crossings at Franklinville, Newfield, Malaga Station and Iona, the notorious "death loop," are inadequately protected the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad company must comply with suggestions for the safeguarding of these places.

The recommendations of the inspector, which become the recommendations of the commission, are:

Malaga Station—That an automatic bell be installed and illuminated signs placed on both sides of the crossing.

Franklinville—That this crossing be protected by an automatic bell and illuminated signs.

Iona—That no cars be allowed to stand on the siding south of the freight house; that a double alarm bell be placed at the southeast corner of the crossing to be worked automatically; that a new standard crossing sign be erected and illuminated signs placed each side of the crossing.

Newfield—That double bell be placed on southwesterly corner between the two roads south of the station; also that all trains reduce speed to ten miles per hour while passing over these crossings.

TRIES SUICIDE IN STATION.

Young Man Takes Poison In Trenton Waiting Room—Will Recover.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 27.—A young man who gave his name as William Morgan, recently of Philadelphia, but originally of Chicago, attempted suicide in the Pennsylvania station waiting room in this city by taking poison. He is recovering at the Trenton hospital.

An unsigned note was found in Morgan's pocket asking the person who discovered him not to investigate further, but to bury his body in the potter's field. It further stated that he had long been unsuccessful in getting work and finally in desperation had spent his last money for the poison.

When he recovered consciousness in the hospital the young man insisted that Morgan was his name, but would say little further.

GIBSON NOT YET FREE.

Unlikely to Be Tried Again For Murder—Other Charges Pending.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 27.—It now seems very unlikely that Burton W. Gibson will face another jury on the charges having murdered Mrs. Rosa Szabo at Greenwood Lake last summer. There are two cases pending against Gibson in New York, one in the Szabo estate management and one based on allegations made by Hugh Trainer, an awning maker, who accused Gibson of defrauding him of $17,000 a few years ago.

The facts as to these charges have been laid by Assistant District Attorney Wasservogel of Mr. Whitman's office before Robert H. Elder, Gibson's chief counsel, with a view of coming to an agreement as to which charge should be pressed first.

WHAT IS LONDON?

On Westminster bridge, London, many great English writers have at some time or other stood coining phrases that they hoped would have some of the bigness of the city itself. But there is one who summed up the whole thing the first day he landed in London. He was so poor that he just had the price of a penny bun, and as he ate it on a street corner he realized what London is—"the only city in the world in whose streets you can stop and eat a penny bun without everybody else turning around to look at you." The man eating the bun was J. M. Barrie, author of "Peter Pan."

MEETING FOR MEN AT THE MONROE AVENUE CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Addison W. Hayes, pastor of the Westfield M. E. church, accompanied by ten men representing the various departments of the Brotherhood work in that congregation, visited the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, holding a meeting for men. There were about sixty present. Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, the pastor, had charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker, in addition to making a short address.

Dr. Hayes was the principal speaker of the evening, his remarks being especially applied to the Brotherhood as an organization for men's work in the church. He elaborated on this phase of the work, presenting many helpful suggestions of practical value. The remarks of the other speakers referred to the religious, social and other departments of work. During the evening, Thomas W. Murray, of Westfield, gave several selections. He was so well received that arrangements were made to have him give an entertainment at the church about December 19. After the meeting there was a social hour and refreshments were served.

ELIZABETH TRADE BOARD PLANS NOVEL ADVERTISING

Elizabeth, Nov. 27.—The Elizabeth Board of Trade is planning for the distribution of half a million inserts for business letters sent from this city. The inserts are neatly printed in two colors and are just the size for the ordinary business envelope. They will be furnished to all Union county business men who apply for them by Frank L. Devine, secretary of the Board of Trade. Those who receive them will be asked to include them with all their letters, no matter to what part of the world they are.

Besides carrying the message that Elizabeth is a busy city, filled with busy people, to 500,000 persons, the inserts will say to them:

"Of the industries of Union county under the auspices of the Elizabeth Board of Trade, Second Regiment Armory, Elizabeth, N. J., week of February 10, 1913."

PRESENT FLAG TO PARISH HOUSE

Gift of Dr. J. A. Coles and Miss Emilie Coles Raised at 'Plains Ceremony.

APPROPRIATE SERVICES

O. B. Leonard Reads a Letter From Donors in Which the Early History of the Place and Part the Cole Family has Played is Related.

The handsome flag given by Dr. J. Ackerman Coles and his sister, Miss Emilie Coles, to the Scotch Plains Memorial Parish House, was formally presented with approprite exercises yesterday morning, at the Parish House gymnasium. The exercises opened with the singing of "Columbia, the Land of the Free," written by Dr. Abraham Coles, grandfather of the conor of the flag, the hymn having been written July 4, 1853. The President's Thanksgiving proclamation was read, after which O. B. Leonard, of Plainfield, read the letter from Dr. and Miss Coles, presenting the flag to the association. The flag was received by the president, Spencer Talmadge, with appropriate remarks, after which the assemblage adjourned to the yard, led by Miss Ruth Dunn and Walter Anson. The flag was raised by Mamie and Norman Mathews, after which the exercises closed with the benediction.

The letter from Dr. and Miss Coles was as follows:

"The Star Spangled Banner, O long may it wave
O'r the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

This star spangled banner, with its forty-eight stars is, we think, a most appropriate gift on this Thanksgiving Day. From loving hearts and with all good wishes we present it, through the council of the Scotch Plains Memorial Parish House, to you, the dwellers on the plains under the blue hills. Very thankful are we all for the goodly heritage we, through it claim!

The first Thanksgiving Day was long ago. Three hundred years have nearly passed since this sweet Festival of Harvest Home was first observed at Plymouth in 1621—in the year following the one in which our

WILLIAMS STUDENTS PLEASE IN COMEDY

'His Excellency the Governor' Proves Splendid Vehicle to Display Talent.

"His Excellency the Governor," as presented by the members of "Cap and Bells," the Williams College Dramatic Club at the Hartridge Auditorium on Wednesday night, delighted a good-sized audience for nearly three hours. The work of the young student-actors was of a character well above the average for similar amateur organizations and showed careful and thorough training under the tutelage of Frank Lea Short.

Robert Marshall's play is one which affords plenty of situations of a highly humorous character and the young men, whether taking male or female parts demonstrated that they were fully capable of handling the difficult parts assigned to them. The men were costumed in an extreme fashion which added much to the success of the characterizations, and the three "women" handled their difficult parts with a happy facility, demonstrating that they had made a careful study of the little "isms" of the "other sex."

Stanley M. Babson, as Mr. John Baverstock, the private secretary to His Excellency, Sir Montagu Martin, G. C. S. I., Governor of the Amandaland Islands, carried off the lion's share of the applause accorded the men, and he played the part in a manner which lacked nothing for a successful delineation. Henry G. Hotchkiss was the Governor, and added much to the humor of the play by his performance. As Stella de Gex, Charles W. Brackett looked and acted the woman's part in a decidedly pleasing and laughter-creating way. Robert Jewett as the heroine, Ethel Carlton, and Carl E. Parsons as Mrs. Wentworth Bolingbroke did their share in working out the plot in a capable and amusing manner. Others in the cast, each of whom added to the general excellence of the performance, were:

The Right Honorable Henry Carlton, M. P., Carl J. Austrian; Captain Charles Carew, A. D. C. (On his Excellency's Staff), Henry W. Banks; Captain Rivers, Theodore H. Dauchy; Major Kildare, Carl E. Glock; A Sentry, J. Dunham Townsend; Two Native Servants, Columbus D. Ames and Theodore H. Dauchy, and a Native, Kent H. Powers.

The scene for all three acts was laid in the vestibule of Government House, Amandaland Islands, Indian Ocean.

The officers of the club are:: Henry G. Hotchkiss, president; F. Arnold Merrill, manager; Edwin Graham, assistant manager; Calvin P. Vary, stage manager; Waldemar P. Adams, assistant stage manager; W. L. Wessels, press manager.

The patronesses were:

Mrs. Albert H. Atterbury, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. Richard Boardman, Mrs. Josiah Browne, Mrs. Geo. S. Clay, Mrs. Thomas M. Day, Mrs. R. Henry Depew, Mrs. Harvey Fisk, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. George H. Goddard, Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch.

THREE ARE HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Skidding Car Hits Tree at Westfield and Driver's Head Hurt.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED

Abe Wersinger, of Newark, and Samuel and Lena Berlowitz, of This City, the Victims—Removed to This City.

Samuel Berlowitz, his sister, Miss Lena Berlowitz, of 252 East Third street; Albert Green, of 156 Charlton street, Newark, and Abe Weisinger, of 118 Morton avenue, Newark, were all more or less seriously injured in an automobile accident at Westfield, yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The party had engaged an automobile from a local garage, it being a 1910 five-passenger Buick, and was on its way to Newark at the time of the accident. Mr. Weisinger an employe of the New Jersey Motor Car Company, of Newark, was driving.

At a point on South avenue, just north of the Dudley avenue bridge, Westfield, the machine skidded, and plunged into a large tree alongside the road. The car was a wreck.

Mr. Weisinger's head went through the windshield and his skull was fractured. He also received internal injuries. Miss Berlowitz was badly cut and bruised, while Mr. Berlowitz sustained a fracture of the thigh and a broken nose in addition to internal injuries. Mr. Green escaped any hurts.

David Finny, of Chestnut street, Westfield, who happened along in his car, took the victims to the office of Dr. Robert R. Sinclair in that place, where "first aid" treatment was given.

Later the victims were removed to the Berlowitz home on East Third street, in a car obtained at the auto garage of Walter Darby in Westfield, and Dr. Marcus L. Clawson was summoned to take care of them. It is expected that Mr. Weisinger will be able to return home in a few days, but Miss Berlowitz and her brother will be laid up for some time.

The wrecked car was brought to Plainfield last night.

COUNTY NOT LIABLE FOR CRONEY'S DEATH

Its Attorney Holds That Responsibility, if Any, Rests With Skeeter Comms.

County Attorney William R. Codington, of this city, to whom the question of the county's liability in the death of George Croney, an employe of the Union County Mosquito Commission, was referred, has decided that the county is not liable under the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act. He holds that Mr. Croney was employed by the commission, created by an act of the Legislature and if anyone is liable it is the commission.

At the same time, Mr. Codington says that it is possible that inasmuch as the State created the commission there may be a joint liability, which he is not prepared to give an opinion on at present. Mr. Croney died in Muhlenberg Hospital following injuries received in this city, while working for the mosquito commission. His widow has retained William Newcorn as counsel.

MOVING PICTURES AT THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Aiming to answer all the demands of the local public for amusements, Manager Sanderson, of Proctor's and the Plainfield theatre, announces that he will inaugurate a high class entertainment at the latter house on Monday night. Moving pictures will be the attraction and Mr. Sanderson has made arrangements with one of the leading concerns in the country to supply him with the very latest and finest moving pictures to be had.

Mr. Sanderson wishes it understood that the new variety will in nowise interfere with his regular program for the legitimate show house for the pictures will only be shown on nights when there is no regular attraction at the theatre. The price of admission for the "movies" will be five and ten cents. There will be no vaudeville on the program.

SOMERVILLE WON AGAIN.

In a speedy game of basketball at Somerville, last night, the county seat basket cagers defeated the Somersets, of Rutgers College, by the score of 23 to 18. Jack Ricketts and Herbert Stine, of this city, played on the victorious team.

CHURCHES UNITE TO GIVE THANKS

Following Their Annual Custom Evangelical Congregations Join in Service.

AT TRINITY REFORMED

Rev. C. C. Cain Preaches a Sermon on "Gratitude"—Five Other Ministers Take a Part—Edifice Filled With Worshippers.

The evangelical churches of this city held a union service at Trinity Reformed church yesterday as in accordance with their yearly custom of observing Thanksgiving day. The church edifice was crowded.

Rev. John Y. Broek, postor of Trinity, delivered the invocation; Rev. E. C. Conover, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, read the President's Proclamation; Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, lead the reading of the Psalter, while Rev. F. J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, read the scripture lesson. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of Grace M. E. church, preached the sermon.

Rev. Mr. Cain took for his topic "Gratitude," and for his texts Chronicles 5:13-14: "It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lord; and when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, and praised the Lord, saying, for He is good; for his mercy enduretr forever; that then the house was filled with a cloud, even the house of the Lord;" 14: "So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God." Romans 1:21: "Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened;" and from 1 Thessalonians, using the first clause of the eighteenth verse, "In everything give thanks."

Mr. Cain said:

"I will say a few words as the introductory to my theme on the passages of scripture that I referred to. In the first passage, the dedication of Solomon's Temple, when the singers and players of instrument all united as one to praise and give thanks to the Lord, that then and not till then, in response to their gratitude did the cloud of Divine glory fill the house. From this with the added light gained with the new Testament passages my purpose to show that gratitude is necessary to that recognition of God which will bring the cloud of the Divine glory or in other words the consciousness of the Divine presence into the temple of a man's soul.

"In the terrible arraignment of the heathen world, the last part of the first chapter of Romans, St. Paul gave us to understand in our second text that the want of thankfulness was a leading cause of that failure to recognize God. In the life which resulted in the moral blindness, degradation and despair of heathenism.

"Now from our last text I shall endeavor to show that the virtue of Christian gratitude there commanded is the very opposite of heathen ingratitude and brings with it the restoration of the long lost consciousness of God in the Soul."

Then taking "Gratitude" for his subject he went on to say: "We want to think of gratitude simply as a debt and such indeed it is." Then he

TEN YEARS AS RECTOR.

In commemoration of his tenth anniversary as rector of Grace church, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson has invited his friends and parishioners to join with him at the early celebration of Holy Communion at the church on Sunday morning. He extended the invitation for their solemn observance at the services last Sunday but as the day was stormy the congregation at worship was not as large as usual and all his friends who wish to join in the prayer for continued advancement and success of his work and the general welfare of the parish will undoubtedly partake of the communion at the early celebration.

REMAND SUSPECT HELD AS BURGLAR

After Arresting "Miller" Police Find Places Entered in Vicinity.

HIS STORIES CONFLICT

Taken Into Custody at Early Hour in Business Section and Headquarters Are Investigating—He Claims to be From New York City.

A man giving his name as Henry B. Miller, of 41 St. Mark's place, New York city, was arrested early yesterday morning by Patrolmen Kelly and McDonald, as he walked from the driveway beside the Boice-Runyon building into Park avenue. He could not explain his presence in that vicinity at such an hour when questioned by the policemen and was locked up on suspicion. Word came to the police later that Denton's florist establishment had been broken into and money and goods to the amount of $3 had been taken and that attempts had been made to burglarize other shops.

The prisoner was arraigned before City Judge De Meza and remanded for further examination this morning.

When brought into court today, "Miller" told conflicting stories and although an attempt was made to find out something about him at the New York address he gave, nothing could be learned to corroborate his tale. He was again held for further examination.

One of his stories was to the effect that his wife had run away with another man and that he had followed the pair to this county. He would give no real information regarding his acquaintances.

Charles Vail's jewelry establishment was again made the object of attempted robbery, some amateur would-be thief having tried to batter down the back door. The miscreant then evidently moved on to Denton's store several yards north, where a back window was forced opened and $2.50 in change and some store fixtures stolen. The Men's Shop was another establishment visited, and there the thief succeeded in getting into the cellar. Nothing was taken.

The police are trying to connect "Miller" with these offenses.

BURGLARS ENTERED BOUND BROOK HOMES

Hauls Made at Residence While Occupants Were on Thanksgiving Visits.

Bound Brook, Nov. 29.—Burglars took advantage of the absence of several families from the borough yesterday, and worked unmolested in two or three houses. The first place visited was the home of W. A. Applegate on East street, where goods valued at between $800 and $1,000 were taken. The loot consisted chiefly of jewelry which belonged to Mr. Applegate's late wife and was prized highly.

Mr. Applegate and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Grace, were visiting relatives in Plainfield at the time. When they returned last night they found the house illuminated from top to bottom. Summoning Marshal Gregory they saw that a good haul had been made. The burglars also visited the homes of E. P. Folger, on Somerset street, and Earl Englesbee, on East Union avenue, but as both these families are away their loss will not be known until they return home.

SAENGERBUND DANCE WAS QUITE AN AFFAIR

Members of the Gesang and Turn Verin held their annual reception and dance Thanksgiving Eve in Saengerbund Hall. The large attendance and the unusual number of entertaining features arranged by the committee, together with the beautiful decorations made the event a successful one.

The merrymakers divided their time between the dance floor and the bowling alleys. To increase the interest in the latter diversion, several turkeys, chickens and other prizes were given holders of the highest scores.

Those who arranged the affair were Eugene Renz, chairman; Burt Vail, Adam Muff, John Retzer, Frederick Kohler, John Alsten and Jacob Schlick.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 30 degrees; 11 a. m., 40 degrees; 1 p. m., 41 degrees.

Business Depression Hit Local Dealers After Big Fire at its Garage—William G. De Meza Named as Receiver.

Trenton, Nov. 29 (Special).—The C. B. Brokaw Company, of Plainfield, dealers in automobiles and supplies, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States Court here, today. It has liabilities of $26,098 and claims assets of $9,749, but these are made up of insurance policies, real estate and stock in trade.

The C. B. Brokaw Company has been in the automobile business on West Fourth street, near Watchung avenue, since 1909, when it succeeded Morris Brothers. The following year the concern suffered considerably from a disastrous fire at the garage.

Poor business is the reason assigned for today's action by the firm. City Judge William G. DeMeza has been appointed receiver and it is expected that the business will be continued for the present.

Clarence B. Brokaw is the principal stockholder of the concern. Most of the creditors are dealers in auto supplies.

MISS GERTRUDE MALI INTRODUCED IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Pierre Mali, of New York and this city, gave a reception at her New York residence, 8 Fifth avenue, Wednesday afternoon, to introduce to society her daughter, Miss Gertrude Mali. Coe, aunts of Miss Mali, also the Misses Rosalie Coe, Pauline Clarkson, Pulis Edey, Louise Kissel, Eleanor Hartshorne, Mary Baker, Margaret Schieffelin, Caroline Wyeth, Amy Bradish Johnson and Noel Johnston.

The affair was largely attended and was a charming one in every detail. After the reception there was general dancing. Mrs. Mali will give a dinner-dance for debutantes at her New York home on December 13.

Do not wait until the contest is over and then say: "I wish I had been in it." The time is short, but wonders can be done before Saturday, December 21, when the final count will be made and it behoves all the interested ones to make as good a showing as possible in the first count of voters. So bring in the subscriptions and clipped coupons by 9 o'clock Saturday night, so that friends of the organizations and individuals entered will see that they are really in earnest about winning one of the high class musical instruments offered by this paper.

Try and be a leader. Everyone loves a fighter, and it is better to lead for a single day than never to have led at all. Think of the distinction of winning one of these handsome prizes. Think of the satisfaction to be had in securing such splendid rewards for a few short weeks of ambitious effort. Some organization or individual are bound to win these valuable prizes and it is anybody's race now.

The opportunity to win the player-piano, the piano without the player attachment and the cabinet vitaphone, without any expense or trouble except the effort of seeing one's friends and soliciting their support, may be called the "chance of a life time" and every individual and organization eligible to compete should consider well before they let the opportunity go by.

"I can't," never won anything any time, anywhere, while to the credit of "I will" stands all the notable achievements of history. Someone is going to win these prizes, so make it a point to see that the individual or club you are interested in is among the winners on December 21. Do not falter or be easily discouraged and remember that the victory is well worth the trouble. Above all don't lose sight of the fact that "It's easy to get subscribers for the Daily Press" for everybody wants a good, live local newspaper.

PROCTOR'S FINE BILL.

The crowds that thronged Proctor's theatre yesterday afternoon and last night were well repaid with a fine program of vaudeville and motion pictures. The Hiedelberg Four, one of the best in vaudeville, made a hit with popular selections. One of the big acts is Carlisle's Dog Pantomine in "It Happened in Dogville," a sketch with real dog actors and a read educated pony that acts. "Who is Irene?" is the title of a bright, comedy sketch with Lydia Powell & Co. The plot is good, the situations funny and the actors are clever. Mary Keogh, the child impressionist, is also clever. Maude De Lora, the physical culture girl in feats of contortion and balancing is pleasing.

Says He Spent All on His Trial For Szabo Murder.

"My money has all been spent. My wife's money has all been spent," said Gibson, "but I will not confess a crime I did not commit. I will fight."

Assistant District Attorney J. D. Wilson will become district attorney on Jan. 1, and much depends on his action whether there will be another trial in the Gibson case.

CHURCHES GIVE THANKS

numerated many of our national blessings, our blessings in the church and the blessings of personal salvational as the proof of the greatness of our debt of gratitude. He then continued: "But while gratitude is such a debt it is also far more. It is a virtue of greater importance than we are apt to think. We think of this debt as something pleasant to contemplate and of the slight obligation as to payment. We think of ingratitude as merely a sin of omission and largely due to heedlessness, but it was this sort of heedless ingratitude which plunged the heathen world into its moral abyss.

"Christian gratitude is a virtue impossible of attainment apart from the aid of our Lord Jesus Christ. The joyous gratitude is one of the most distinguishing features of Christianity as contrasted with the other religions of the world. Nothing but the vision to Paul on the road to Damascus of the risen Lord as his suffering Redeemer and the mighty conversion which resulted, could ever have inspired in that cruel prosecutor of the church such a flame of grateful love as made him transform the world. This virtue of Christian gratitude brings with it that recognition of God in the life which alone can restore the consciousness of the Divine presence to the human heart. When St. Paul by the saving grace of Christ learned to obey the command of our text—'In every thing give thanks'—he entered easily in to the experience of unceasing prayer mentioned in the preceding verse. The enjoyment of which makes the keeping of the command to 'rejoice evermore'—of the sixteenth verse as easy as breathing.

"This Christian gratitude alone furnishes the motive for a Holy life such as will be the antipodes of the moral degradation of heathenism. But it has even greater power than this, for it furnishes the dynamic for the progress of the whole kingdom of God. Grateful love inspired Paul to spread the Church of God throughout the Roman Empire, simply because he felt that he couldn't give enough thanks to God by himself and so in the burning passion of his gratitude he was determined to win a multitude of souls to Christ that as he says—'The grace, being multiplied through the many, may cause the thanksgiving to abound unto the glory of God.'

"So full is this virtue of the Saviour's hopefulness and so restless is its eagerness for the Divine glory that it will not cease to toil gratefully and patiently for the spread of the gospel and the salvation of souls until it has brought to pass the fulfillment of St. John's vision."

Mr. Cain closed his sermon with the reading of the seventh chapter of Revelations, 9 to 12 verses, inclusive.

ARITHMETIC OF MUSIC.

Piano Note Vibrations Range From 32 to 4,096 Per Second.

The pitch of a musical tone can be calculated arithmetically. While the human voice in song is something of an unknown problem, the notes of a musical instrument are adjusted according to the number of vibrations per second made by each note. The shorter, finer and tenser the piano string the greater the vibratory speed and higher the pitch; the longer, coarser and less tense the string the slower the vibrations and lower the pitch.

The human ear becomes sensible to sound when vibrations have a speed of sixteen per second. As the vibrations increase the pitch ascends until 38,000 are attained, when the result is inaudible. The practical range on the piano is from 32 vibrations to 4,096.

Thirty-two vibrations is the number designated for the note of C, three octaves below middle C on the piano. The next C has twice the number of vibrations—64; the next twice that—128; the next 256, being middle C. Doubling again for the ascending octaves, the successive C's vibrate, respectively, 512, 1,024, 2,048 and 4,096 times per second. The pitch of the intervening notes is regulated proportionally according to the chromatic scale.

These figures have not always been the same. The early instrument makers of Europe had many disputes concerning the measurement of the musical strings and pipes that determined the pitch.

The A string of the violin gives the tuning note for orchestras. On the piano it is the first A above middle C. From early times to the middle of the nineteenth century this pitch note varied from 377 to 445 vibrations per second, but 435 proved to be the most acceptable pitch.

In close calculations temperature has some influence, so that some experts do not advocate striving for greater accuracy than within five vibrations for the pitch note.

The celebrated high C of the soprano voice has a vibration of 1,024. There is record of a woman, Lucrezia Ajugari, who is vouched for by Mozart to have reached an octave above, thereby causing her vocal cords to vibrate at a speed of 2,048 times per second.—Harper's Weekly.

HID THE HANDKERCHIEF.

There Was a Time When It Was an Unmentionable Article.

The evolution of the pocket handkerchief is odd and interesting. There was a time when it was an unmentionable thing—an article to be kept out of sight and referred to only in a whisper. In polite conversation it was carefully avoided, and, as to one's being caught using a handkerchief, it meant social ostracism.

This state of things obtained up to the time of the first Napoleon, when the Empress Josephine brought it forward for a personal reason. The only defect in her beauty was an irregularity of the teeth, and to hide this she used a delicate little handkerchief, which from time to time she raised to her lips. Thus she was enabled to laugh occasionally. Seeing that it was a case of either laughter going out or handkerchiefs coming into fashion, the court ladies adopted the pretty pieces of cambric and lace.

In England the evolution of the article which is now so openly displayed by women was equally slow. There was a time when it was forbidden to mention it on the stage or to make use of it even in the most tearful situation, while the people in the gallery and the pit shed their tears into their laps. Even when it was mentioned for the first time in one of Shakespeare's plays it was received with hisses and general indignation by the audience. Little by little, however, the prejudice gave way, and a time came when the handkerchief could be flourished in broad daylight.

Stood the Test.

"So you want to marry my daughter?"

"Yes, sir."

"Got any money saved up?"

"Yes, sir."

"Could you let me have $5,000 on my unsecured note?"

"I could, but I wouldn't."

"I guess you can take care of her all right. She's yours, my boy, and here's a five cent cigar."—Washington Herald.

Pat's Answer.

Although the new parcels post law goes into effect the first of January comparatively few persons understand its provisions. Perhaps this accounts for Uncle Sam's recent activity in preparing a parcels post map and scattering copies of it broadcast over the country.

Uncle Sam's map is very much like the one shown above. Its most noticeable feature is the division of the country into zones.

Now, you have doubtless heard of the zone system in connection with the parcels post and wondered what it meant. A glance at Uncle Sam's map will show you, though to completely understand it you may have to imagine yourself as living at the national capital.

The map shows clearly the relation of each zone to the city of Washinton. Uncle Sam might have drawn a map showing the relation of each zone to the city of Kokomo and it would have been just as good for illustrative purposes.

The zone marked one on the map has a radius of fifty miles; zone two includes the area outside of zone one for a radius of 150 miles; zone three the area outside of zone two for a radius of 300 miles; zone four the area outside of the third zone for a radius of 600 miles; zone five the area outside the fourth zone for a radius of 100 miles; zone six the area outside the fifth zone for a radius of 1,400 miles; zone seven the area outside the sixth zone for a radius of 1,800 miles; zone eight all the area outside the seventh zone, including the Philippines.

If you were living at Washington and wanted to send a pound of candy to a friend in Fort Wayne, a glance at the map would show you that Fort Wayne is in the fourth zone. Referring to the table, you would not that the cost of sending the parcel to the fourth zone would be 8 cents.

If instead of sending the candy to Fort Wayne you wanted to send it to Erie, Pa., the cost of sending it would be only seven cents, as Erie is in the third zone. The shorter the distance the parcel is to travel the smaller will be the expense of sending it. And of course the weight of the package will have something to do with the expense of sending it also.

Rates of Postage.

The new law establishes the following rates:

That the rate of postage on fourth class matter weighing not more than four ounces shall be 1 cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce, and on such matter in excess of four ounces in weight the rate shall be by the pound, as hereinafter provided, the postage in all cases to be prepaid by distinctive postage stamps affixed.

That except as provided in the next preceding paragraph postage on matter of the fourth class shall be prepaid at the following rates:

On all matter mailed at the postoffice from which a rural route starts, for delivery on such route, or mailed at any point on such route for delivery at any other point thereon, or at the office from which the route starts, or on any rural route starting therefrom, and on all matter mailed at a city carrier office, or at any point within its delivery limits, for delivery by carriers from that office or at any office for local delivery, 5 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 1 cent for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery within the first zone, except as provided in the next preceding paragraph, 5 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 3 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery in the second zone, 6 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 4 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery in the fourth zone, 8 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 6 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery within the fifth zone, 9 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 7 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery within the sixth zone, 10 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 9 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery within the seventh zone, 11 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 10 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

For delivery within the eighth zone and between the Pallippine Islands and any portion of the United States, including the District of Columbia and the several territories and possessions, 12 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 12 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound.

BURY SUICIDE WHO AS NEWSBOY MADE $30,000

Hackensack, Nov. 29.—George W. Brooks, sixty-eight years old, who while a newsboy running between Baltimore and Washington during the Civil War made $30,000, was buried at the Pearl River cemetery Tuesday, having committed suicide by blowing his head off with a shotgun.

Brooks put his wealth in a rubber plantation and lost it all. He leaves a wife.

Andrew W. Johnson, of this city, spent Thanksgiving Day with his brother, Russell Johnson, in New York, where there was a family gathering.

NEW COINS FOR XMAS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 29.—For the time being the United States mint in this city has been converted into a veritable Santa Claus workshop, for the manufacture of hundreds and thousands of shining gold pieces that will nestle in the toes of many stockings at Christmas time. Immense numbers of bright eagles and double eagles are being turned out to meet the Christmas rush. The demand for the minor coins, quarters, dimes, nickels and cents, so necessary to the holiday shopper, is greater than ever before. The coinage of pennies alone will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars before the demand of the holiday season is supplied.

WHY?

A trifling incident at the Bonnie Burn sanatorium illustrates how vain man can be. It seems that some members of the Union County Board of Freeholders and certain governors of the institution are peeved because their names have been omitted from a tablet adorning a wall of the administration building. So much has been made out of the matter that a meeting is actually being held this afternoon to "right the wrong." The building committee, the board of governors, the architect and the builders are all there really seriously discussing the terrible slight.

The tablet which has caused objection in its present form contains in raised letters the names of the freeholders' committee, the architect, the county collector, the engineer and the contractors. But the other freeholders and the governors feel that they are equally entitled to as much recognition. For the life of us, however, we fail to see why there should be any tablet of the sort at all.

Why is it that every time a handsome building is erected at the cost of the taxpayers, their servants in charge of the work must insist in disfiguring the structure with an advertisement such as this? These free notoriety marks are invariably placed in the most conspicuous places. The ornate court house in Elizabeth furnishes a good example of this silly practsie. Almost all public bridges afford other glaring examples. The people are the real builders. Hence why spoil the beauty of their works by such advertisements? Why?

Luckily for the youngsters, there's a joker in the law of 1911 forbidding the attendance of children under fourteen years of age at theatres "unless accompanied by a parent, guardian or adult friend." The former law of 1908 had provided against an invasion for it prohibited children of tender years from going to the show houses with an "adult friend" unless it was "with the knowledge and consent of the parent or guardian." In the 1911 act this important qualifying clause as quoted was stricken out before the final passage of the measure. So the joker is that all a child under fourteen years has to do to attend a moving picture show is to give some adult the price of admission and let the latter buy the ticket for him as the two enter the amusement place.

Complete and official figures show that Wilson polled 6,156,748 votes at the Presidential election, which falls far short of the defeated Bryan in 1908, the Commoner's total vote having been 6,409,204. Yet Wilson received some 28,226 votes in Arizona and New Mexico which were not States four years ago. Furthermore, Wilson goes into office as a minority winner, Roosevelt having polled 3,928,140 and Taft 3,376,422.

Tomorrow's contributed editorial will be supplied by Frank H. Smith, chairman of the Union county Republican committee. Mr. Smith has a reputation as a banker and a real estate speculator, but he is chiefly known to local fame as a politician. And he will discuss politics; yes, practical politics.

RAIDS COOP; GETS TURKEY, BUT EFFORT KILLS HIM

Bound Brook, Nov. 29.—Matthew Washington, colored, propelled himself up in bed in his shack at East Bound Brook and told his wife he was going to get a Thanksgiving turkey.

Although weakened by a two weeks' illness, in which he was not attended by a physician, the gray haired negro hobbled to the river and slowly rowed four miles to Millstone. He went to the farm of John Herr, sneaked into the coop, picked a fine big gobbler and thrust it into a bag. Triumphantly he displayed his catch to his wife. Then Washington went back to bed.

His illness became worse Wednesday and Dr. Robinson was summoned. The Rev. Ulysses Williamson, pastor of Washington's church, was called. Washington confessed to him and an hour later died.

FLONZALEY QUARTET, M'INTYRE ATTRACTION

The second in the series of McIntyre Chamber Music Concerts will be given Friday evening, December 6 at the Plainfield High School Auditorium. This concert will be the occasion of a first visit from the famous Flonzaley Quartet. This organization has just returned from Europe, winning fresh laurels from the critical audiences of Berlin, Paris and London.

In the opinion of critics no quartet in the world excel the Flonzaleys in the delicacy and beauty of their concerted tone. The foremost writer in America unite in praising this quartet as without rivals anywhere. Music lovers will consider this a rare event in the musical life of Plainfield. An announcement of the program will be made later.

PANAMA CANAL STAMPS SOON TO BE ON SALE HERE

Postmaster Elias H. Bird will soon receive notification regarding a new issue of postage stamps which will be circulated from January 1 until the supply is exhausted, in commemoration of the Panama Canal. They will be known as Panama-Pacific stamps and will be sold in denominations of 1, 2, 5 and 10 cents.

Mr. Bird stated last night that although he had not yet been instructed by Postmaster-General Hitchcock to prepare for the new issue he probably would be so notified within a few days, since other postmasters have been told of the plan.

The 1-cent stamps are green and bear a picture of Balboa discovering the Pacific. The 2-cent stamp is red and portrays the Gatun dam and locks and shows a man-o'-war and merchant steamship in the background. A view of the Golden Gate of San Francisco Harbor and a steamship anchored in the bay appears on the 5-cent blue stamps. On the 10-cent stamp, which is yellow, is the reproduction of a famous painting of the discovery of San Francisco by a group of explorers.

TWAIN'S TYPEWRITER.

It Made Him Want to Cuss, So He Traded It For a Saddle.

It was in 1874, during a famous trip to Boston with Dr. Twitchell, that Mark Twain saw for the first time what was then a brand new invention; or it may have been during a subsequent visit a week or two later. At all events, writes Albert Bigelow Paine, he had the machine and was practicing on it on Dec. 9, 1874, for he wrote two letters on it that day, one to Howells and the other to Orion Clemens. In the latter he says:

"I am trying to get the hang of this new fangled writing machine, but am not making a shining success of it. However, this is the first attempt I ever have made, and yet I perceive that I shall soon easily acquire a fine facility in its use. I saw the thing in Boston the other day and was greatly taken with it."

He goes on to explain the new wonder, and on the whole his first attempt is a very creditable performance. With his usual enthusiasm over an innovation he believes it is going to be a great help to him and proclaims its advantages.

This is the letter to Howells:

"You needn't answer this. I am only practicing to get three—another slipup there—only practicing to get the hang of the thing. I notice I miss fire and get in a good many unnecessary letters and punctuation marks. I am simply using you for a target to bang at. Blame my cat, but this thing requires genius in order to work it just right!"

In an article written long after he tells how he was with Nasby when he first saw the machine in Boston through a window and how they went in to see it perform. In the same article he states that he was the first person in the world to apply the type machine to literature and that the story of "Tom Sawyer" was probably the first type copied manuscript.

The new enthusiasm ran its course and died. The typewriter was not perfect in those days, as it is now, and the keys did not always respond readily. He declared it was ruining his morals that it made him "want to swear." He offered it to Howells because, he said, Howells had no morals anyway. Howells hesitated, so Clemens traded the machine to Bliss for a sidesaddle. But perhaps Bliss also became afraid of the influence, for in due time he brought it back. Howells, again tempted, hesitated and this time was lost. What eventually became of the machine is not history.

Sturdy Swedish Girls.

Bathing in Sweden is a business. Even the hotel bathrooms are extraordinary—regular suits of rooms, one for the bath proper, one for shower baths of various sorts and one for a drying room, wherein you find enormous towels as large as American sheets. The public baths are luxurious. They are built around courts where, after the bath you may have your coffee under great trees surrounded by beds of beautiful flowers. It is apt to bother Americans a bit to find that the bath rubbers for both men and women are strapping Swedish girls, businesslike and unabashed. But this is only one manifestation of the advanced activities of woman in Sweden. You find her occupying all sorts of positions. You see her boldly swinging off street cars without waiting for them to stop.—Harper's Weekly.

Seven In Human Life.

A writer divides the human life as follows: At three times seven a man reaches a competent age in the eyes of the law; at four times seven he is in full possession of his strength; at five times seven he is fit for the business of the world; at six times seven he becomes grave and wise if he is ever destined to; at seven times seven he is in his apogee, and from that time he begins to decay; at eight times seven he is in his first climacteric, at nine times seven he is in his grand climacteric, and at ten times seven he has reached the allotted span of life.

Bells and the Koran.

It is said in the Koran that beautiful bells are hung upon the trees of paradise in such a way as to be stirred by wind from the golden throne of God whenever the blessed ones in his presence wish for music. It is to this that the author of "Lalla Rookh" refers in the lines:

Bells as musical

RUELL HALL GUESTS SUPERBLY ENTERTAINED

Under the new management of Howard MacDonald Allen, formerly of the Shelton House, Pine Orchard, conn., Ruell Hall presents an unusually attractive appearance for light, when Thanksgiving festivities are enjoyed by the guests and friends to the number of about one hundred. The dining rooms were especially decorated, as was also the ball room and reception hall. Throughout the serving of dinner and during the evening Charles Suhr's orchestra rendered a popular program.

After dinner, some of the guests played bridge, while others found amusement in dancing. Mr. Allen is planning many social events for the winter at the hall, including concerts and other entertainment of a high class.

FINED FOR CONDUCT.

John Conshee, of Howard street, North Plainfield, arrested Wednesday night by Special Officer George Giddis and charged with being disorderly at the dance of the Gesang and Turn Verein in Saengerbund Hall, was fined $5 by Recorder Gano this morning. In consideration of his having spent his Thanksgiving in the lock-up, however, the court suspended sentence.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach Sunday night on the topic of "Angels."

PATRIOTIC SOUTHERNERS PLEDGE BIG FUND TO PRESERVE LAST WHITE HOUSE OF CONFEDERACY; TO BECOME HISTORICAL MUSEUM

Last White House of the Confederacy, at Danville, Va.

The identity of the old Sutherlin residence at Danville, Va., the last white house of the Confederacy, is to be preserved. The administrators of the estate of the late Mrs. W. T. Sutherlin had determined upon the division of the beautiful estate into building lots, but patriotic people throughout the south united in the effort to preserve this relic of the Civil War.

This house is the last that sheltered Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, after his flight from Richmond. It was there that Davis received word from General R. E. Lee of the latter's surrender at Appomattox. The table and chairs are still preserved on which he wrote his last messages and signed his last official documents and in which he leaned back with a weary soul.

It is proposed to convert the property into a public park and museum of history.

FINE ARTS PALACE, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

THE Fine Arts Palace will be one of the most beautiful structures in its architecture as well as in its location at the Panama Pacific Exposition. The building, 900 feet in length from north to south, will be semicircular in form and will have as its central motive a low dome arising from a unique base. Forming the foreground will be a great lagoon surrounded on three sides by a sunken garden, which will be designed in romantic Italian architecture. Here will be assembled the notable paintings of history.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

British trades unions in 1911 increased their membership by 304,976.

An international labor congress will be held in Austria in the year 1913.

A new labor temple in San Jose, Calif., was decided upon at a recent meeting.

The New Jersey Building Trades Council has decided to affiliate with the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor.

The annual convention of the National Billers and Bill Posters' Union will meet in New York city, December 2.

Norway has forty schools for elementary instruction in agriculture, horticulture, forestry and dairying, with many students.

Thomas H. Canning, of Boston, has been re-elected General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor.

Among the possibilities of legislation at the coming short session of Congress is a thorough overhauling of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The street sweepers of New York have petitioned to have their wages increased from $780 a year to $920. Extra pay for Sunday work is also asked for.

The Texas State Council of Carpenters is working on a plan to build a home for the indigent and disabled carpenters of the State in the near future.

The Plumbers' and Steamfitters' International Union has increased its membership by about six thousand within a year. The total membership is now about 30,000.

For practical charity organized labor has a record second to that of no other human institution. Every year it disburses millions of dollars in death, sick, out-of-work and old age benefits.

By the formation of a new butchers' union at a Chicago mass meeting the work of organizing the eighty thousand stock yard toilers in the Windy City has been greatly advanced and strengthened.

As a result of the general forty-eight-hour protests strike of the Italian seamen and dock workers, the government has promised to institute a system of compensation for sick and disabled or aged marine workers.

In the last fiscal year the railways of the United States paid to labor, in round figures, $42,000,000 more than would have been required had the wage schedule of 1910 been in effect, and $69,000,000 more than the wages of 1909 demanded.

The latest reports regarding the desperate struggle of the iron molders throughout Ontario, Canada, for the nine-hour day are encouraging. Many settlements have been already obtained and present indications are that success is in sight.

At a conference of the Labor party, which is to be held in London next January, a proposal will be made that all the Labor parties of the British Empire shall hold a convention "to consider the labor policy of Imperial affairs, with a view to united action on questions affecting the relations of constituent parts of the Empire to each other and to foreign countries, and the Labor Socialist movement as a whole."

PARROT IS 58 VOTES AHEAD OF OPPONENT

Elizabeth, Nov. 29.—The recount of the votes for surrogate was resumed at the Court House today and will probably consume several days yet before the task is completed. Following the count of the morning it was stated that James P. Kelley, the Democratic candidate, had lost five votes in the Eighth ward, of Elizabeth, giving George T. Parrot a plurality of 58 over his opponent as the figures stand at present.

The Board of Elections is still counting the Elizabeth votes.

REMEMBERED THE POOR.

This year's donation of Thanksgiving provisions to the Children's Home by the pupils of the North Plainfield schools was the largest on record. A wagon load of "goodies" sent to the home included turkeys, chickens, pumpkins, pies, cranberries, canned fruits and a variety of other edibles which go to make an ideal Thanksgiving dinner.

NO SHOOT YESTERDAY.

Owing to the inclement weather yesterday the members of the Independent Gun Club failed to appear at the Maple avenue grounds for the usual Thanksgiving Day shoot.

Pilgrim Fathers landed—from their barge the Mayflower. The stepping stone on which they landed, "Plymouth Rock,' is a granite boulder, and is still unchanged in its position, now beneath a canopy of granite. It lies at the foot of a bluff called Coles' Hill, since James Coles came to Plymouth sixteen years after the Pilgrims. He here settled, became owner of the land which included the bluff, and seven acres of land granted him by the court. He had four daughters and one son, James, a favorite name ever since in the Coles family.

Fifty years later James Coles came to Scotch Plains. Six years before his coming, a syndicate of English Quakers, headed by William Penn, purchased East Jersey, which led to the coming to Scotch Plains of a number of Scottish planters; hence its name. James Coles took out a patent from the proprietors who had recently bought the territory and took title from them for a tract of 125 acres, including the land on which now stands the Baptist church and parsonage, the Methodist Episcopal church and the Parish House, with its flag and pole.

Boys and girls you will be interested in hearing about his grandson, James Coles, and of how he helped in the War of the Revolution in a peaceful way.

"Peace has her victories no less renowned than war!"

The British were stationed on Staten Island and would send foraging parties over the river to Elizabeth, from which place they would seek to plunder. Our great grandfather had many sheep; and it seemed wonderful to us children that they were not stolen. We were told, however, that he was a great marksman, a "sharp shooter," so we concluded that the British, hearing of his skill, would have been kept at a safe distance from his gun, not kowing in what direction he might fire it off. So the sheep were safe, and after shearing time would furnish wool for our great-grandmother to spin yarn. The American soldiers found shelter, rest and food in The Homestead, and were there taught to knit their socks, and make and bake the bread they ate. History tells us that "in 1777 British troops from Amboy and Staten Island tried to take New Jersey. At Westfield the British forces wheeled and marching back to Amboy passed over to Staten Island, leaving the Americans in private possession of New Jersey;" and also that after the battle of Springfield in 1780 the British troops never again attempted any serious operations in New Jersey.

Dennis Coles, our grandfather, was an officer of the New Jersey militia, drilling the men in the fields of his estate. This was in the War of 1812. His sword and one epaulette are heirlooms; but the rest of his military outfit is missing. The Indians from the Blue Hills would often come to his house for a night's sleep, with supper and breakfast. Outstretched on the kitchen floor in their blankets they would sleep unharmed, and those who entertained them safe likewise.

General Lafayette passed over the Scotch plains during his visit to the United States. Our grandmother saw him pass while standing at her garden gate.

Many of us remember the Civil War, and the barrels we filled for the soldiers in our camps and hospitals. Our father worked night and day in his profession, and out of it, for the Union cause, appointed by the Governor of our State as examining surgeon, he thus became the friend of many of our boys in blue. After the Battel of Gettysburg he went there to render aid to the sick and wounded; to the boys in grey as well as those in blue.

In these three wars we have mentioned, you also have included in your ancestral lineage many patriots, and in the years that intervened most loyal helpers. We could not place their names upon our tablet; but we remember them all, as "those who served their country well in times of peace and war."

MISS DORA WILSON NOW MRS. FRANK LAWRENCE

Miss Dora Russell Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Wilson, of 513 East Sixth street, and Frank Lawrence, of New York, were married last night at Debele's Hall. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, beneath a wedding bell and surrounded by English and Scottish flags.

The bride, wearing a gown of ivory meteor, trimmed with lace and carrying a bouquet of white roses, was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Wilson, who as bridesmaid, wore pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses. Walter Wilson, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by John Mitchell, violinist, and Mrs. Fred Craig, pianist.

Nearly two hundred relatives and friends of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony and were present at the wedding feast following. The color scheme was purple, the others decorations including bouquets of roses and ferns.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholson and family, from Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Hunter, Archibald Hunter, Jr., and Miss Anna Hunter, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Wilson, of Newark, friends of the groom from New York, and many Plainfielders, including a number of Miss Wilson's school-mates.

Immediately after the wedding feast the couple left for New York, where they will reside. Mr. Lawrence formerly lived in Essex, England.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

A party for those in the English classes for foreign speaking girls was given by the officers of the association on Wednesday night. About thirty attended the affair and had an enjoyable evening playing games.

The birthday supper for all members who have birthdays in this month will be held tomorrow. All those who were born during the month of November and are members of the association are urged to attend the supper.

At the Vesper service Sunday afternoon Miss Ruth Tapping, of the Newark Association, will speak. Her topic will be "What Shall I Give for Christmas." The Glee Club will sing a number of Christmas Carols. All those that attend the service are requested to remain and have a cup of tea which will be served at the close of the meeting.

The prayer and testimonial meeting held at Hope chapel by the pastor, Rev. F. L. Greene, was largely attended by the members of the church yesterday morning.

RARE OPERATION HERE ON VICTIM OF GRAND MAL

Stephen Bohas, aged 27 years, of High Bridge, underwent a delicate operation at Muhlenberg Hospital for what is known as Grand Mal, a form of epilepsy. Today his condition was reported as slightly improved, the attacks being less frequent.

Mr. Bohas was accidentally hit on the head about five years ago, leaving an indentation about the size of a half-dollar. At intervals afterward he suffered attacks of Grand Mal, which would distort the side of his face, affect his left arm and left leg. Recently the attacks became so frequent that physicians advised an operation, and he was taken to the hospital. The local doctors became interested in the case and a majority of the staff was present at the operation yesterday. The result is being closely watched.

Special attachment, enabling the performer to obtain a diminished volume of tone in the bass, middle treble, or upper treble registers, by touching one of the two buttons. Each acts independently of the other. There is a silent travel device, a patented cylinder motor and other features which can be seen by inspecting the instrument.

The entire construction of the Mechanism is on simple lines. Durability, effectiveness and expression are the principal features.

Cash value of player-piano, stool, rolls and cover, $525.

Cash value of piano, stool and cover, $275.

DESCRIPTION OF VITAPHONE.

The $100 Cabinet Vitaphone is the third prize This instrument was made by The Vitaphone Company of Netherwood, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

It reproduces voice and instrument so true to life that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail as well and no metallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Winner can have choice of mahogany, golden oak or mission oak case. There is a triple spring motor that can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box, rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. Any make of records can be used and owing to its construction, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine.

MANY FALLS ON WET CHASE COURSE

Snow Brought Croppers for Men and Women Riders Yesterday.

The bad weather proved no barrier to the Thanksgiving Day run of the Watchung Hunt Club. A field of thirty riders met the hounds at the Baltusrol Golf Club at 10 o'clock in the morning, in a blinding snow storm, and the chase proved the best of the season. The line led from Baltusrol along the edge of the Watchung Mountains, a distance of five miles, then across the Springfield road and the Miller estate to Mountainside, Westfield, Fanwood, Scotch Plains and Netherwood, ending at the Plainfield Country Club, where refreshments were served. The hounds were checked three times on the run.

There were several falls at fences, owing to the slippery going, occasioned by the fall of snow. Edward R. Finch, Fred Alpers, F. D. French, Miss Marjorie Dana and W. H. Wildey were among the croppers, but all except Miss Dana and Mr. Wildey were able to finish. While the field was large when the hounds were first cast in, only a small number were able to follow the line throughout the entire run. These included the following:

Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; L. B. Smith, Miss Gertrude Noe, Harry L. Finch, Mrs. W. S. Brown, J. Schuyler Casey, Edward R. Finch, J. J. O'Donohue, C. W. Holland, C. E. S. Bellows, Stanley Bellows, Beverley Brown and Huntsman Harrison.

TWO CONGREGATIONS OBSERVE THANKSGIVING

Service at Crescent Avenue Church Conducted by Dr. Zelie.

The Thanksgiving service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning was quite largely attended considering the weather, the congregation of the Congregational church uniting. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie conducted the service, reading the Scripture lesson and offering prayer. The quartet choir, under the direction of Dr. E. Metler Davis, organist, sang two appropriate anthems.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, delivered an excellent sermon, appropriate to the day, his text being "Sing Ye Back Unto It," taken from Numbers 21: 17-18. Mr. Goodrich described the Scripture reference as folk lore of the olden times. When God gave water the poet made song, which the water-carriers used for years. The well.

The preacher said that people today should be thankful that there are many men of power and unusual ability ready to do common good. It is time when employers are more and more recognizing their employes and there is a stronger relationship for the betterment of both. As the song of old helped the men to work, so Thanksgiving makes the heart light for work, and the nobles, workmen, carriers are all brought together in a strong bond of fellowship.

The offering at the service was received for the Charity Organization Society, and a substantial amount was contributed to that object.

HEBREWS ENJOY DANCE.

The Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society held a dance in Debele's Hall last night which was a decided success. The music for the dancing was furnished by Paroubek's orchestra. The committee in charge of the affair were: Mrs. Morris Abrams, Mrs. K. Rothberg, Mrs. Rabinvith and Mrs. Victorson.

POULTRY SHOW DRAWS BIG CROWDS DAILY

The first annual exhibition of the New Jersey Association for Paultry Improvement being held in Sebring's Auditorium is nearing its end. Children's Day is observed again today, and tomorrow, the last day, will undoubtedly bring out the largest attendance of the week.

The show has been a big success, both financially and in point of interest. The birds placed on exhibition are classy as they come, and compare with the entries of the large shows at Allentown, Trenton and New York. Many of the prize winners will be taken to the show to be be held next month in Madison Square Garden, and should succeed in winning many places.

The prizes were numerous and valuable. They were donated by large poultry farms, feed houses, mercantile establishments and business concerns in every line of trade. The Sperry Cup was a handsome trophy and the other cups compare favorably with any ever offered for competition at a show of this kind.

ITALIANS' OWL NEST HAD A MERRY TIME

Saengerbund Hall yesterday afternoon and last night was thronged by members of the Italian Nest of Owls, No. 1733, and their friends, the occasion being their first annual fair and ball. The sale of many fancy and useful articles took place in the afternoon amid beautiful floral decorations. Between 6 and 8 o'clock supper was served, at the conclusion of which the dance number were begun. The afternoon was made unusually entertaining by a piano recital given by Mrs. Ercole Brancati wife of the past president of the lodge. A special musical program was also rendered by Prof. Felice De Mattaioan's orchestra selected from the members of the Philharmonic Society, of New York. The selections included Maria Olga, by De Mattoe; Sinfonia Mabricco, by Verdi; Traviata, by Verdi; Rigoletto, by Verdi, and Maszurcka De Concerto, by Becucci.

The ball committee was composed of Ercole Brancati, chairman; Frank Caruso, secretary; Tony Di Giacomo, floor manager, and Wm. Marangello, assistant floor manaer.

Rafael Tozzo, Joseph Tumolo, Joseph Clement and P. Caruso formed the reception committee, and Ottorino Scquarcia had the details of the fair in charge. Mrs. Marangello, Mrs. Braneati, Mrs. Tumolo and Mrs. Ottorino Scquarcia also rendered valuable assistance to the committees.

WILLIE RITCHIE.

By Defeating Wolgast Becomes Lightweight Champion of World.

RITCHIE CHAMPION AS WOLGAST FOULS HIM

Abrupt End to Contest in Sixteenth Round.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—Through a dense cloud of fog at Daly City wildly excited throngs of fight fans carried from the roped arena their first pugilistic lightweight champion. Willie Ritchie was hoisted on the shoulders of his supporters, and his victory was so unexpected that 7,000 spectators made the hills echo with their exulting shouts.

With the sixteenth round having only two seconds to go Champion Wolgast fouled Ritchie, and the referee was quick to raise the local lad's glove in token of victory. The disqualification came after Ritchie had floored Wolgast twice. Whether the foul was intentional or not was the theme of discussion among thousands as they left the arena. There was no question, however, about the foul. The fact is Wolgast delivered two low left hand punches to Ritchie's groin, and the action of the referee was the only course to pursue. Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, was angered at the decision and declared it was the rankest robbery.

Ritchie came up strong in the fifteenth and astonished the crowd by outboxing the champion. He landed some punishing stomach punches. In the sixteenth Ritchie rushed Wolgast and landed a fierce right cross to the jaw, which sent Wolgast to the ropes. Again Ritchie whipped his right across, and Wolgast went to the floor. He got up groggy, and after another right to the jaw he delivered the two fouls that cost him the fight.

Y. M. A. A. FAILED TO TAME TIGER ELEVEN

Local Pigskin Chasers Came Back Smarting Under a 21 to 0 Defeat.

Outweighed and outplayed on slippery field told the story of the victory of the Tiger A. C., on their Roselle gridiron, over the Y. M. A. A. football eleven of this city yesterday morning. The final score was 21 to 0 in favor of the Bengals and the only period in which they did not cross the whitewash was the third. In this quarter the local backs and ends showed to good advantage in their repertoire of trick plays and a steady march started down the field only to have it interrupted by an impromptu fumble on the five yard line.

The Roselle lineup was greatly padded in the expectancy of a hard struggle and four college players were introduced to do the line plunging. All of the Plainfield players performed well on the offence but their inability to gain any noticeable amount of ground spelled defeat.

The lineup:

Y. M. A. A.	TIGER A. C.

PENN, AIDED BY FUMBLE, BEATS CORNELL 7 TO 2

Battle Fought on Field Made Slippery by Snowfall.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—The annual football tussle between Penn and Cornell was fought on a field which had been made slippery by the snowfall, and Penn won by a narrow margin. The score was 7 to 2 in favor of the Quaker team, and the points scored represented a touchdown and goal therefrom for Penn and a safety by Penn, which was the source of the Ithacans' only tally. The field was in as good shape as it could be after the snow, but was wet on the surface, and that interfered considerably with backfield men in running with the ball. The runners held their feet pretty well under the circumstances, but in making starts and quick turns were bothered. There was no advantage from this condition, both sides being affected the same.

About 18,000 persons, clad in furs, shawls and such other garments as were necessary to keep out the damp chill of the air were on hand for the game. The sky cleared in the afternoon, and it was a good day for football except the playing surface. The assemblage gazed upon a battle which was closely fought all the time between the teams, which were evenly matched.

Except so far as the score goes, the beaten team was not outfought. In fact, Cornell had the ball in Penn territory more than Penn had it in Cornell territory, and Cornell made three first downs to Penn's single one by rushing.

It was because of a fumble by a substitute player that the Quakers made their touchdown. Captain Mercer gathered in the ball on a fumble by Bennett of Cornell and ran half the length of the field for a touchdown, helped along by good interference, so that not a Cornell man could get to him. Cornell's handling of the ball was about as good as Penn's, but none of the Penn fumbles happened to prove costly, as did this one of Cornell's.

TOMMY MULLIN SIGNED UP BY VIRGINIAN LEAGUERS

Upon the recommendation of Jack Martin, who was formerly a member of the Petersburg baseball team, of the Virginian League, Tommy Mullin received a contract to fill out this morning, which entitles him to an infield job on the league team during the coming season. Mullin has affixed his signature to the agreement and will report for duty as soon as the league season opens, sometime in March.

The contract calls for an infield berth and the compensation quoted was most liberal. The Petersburg nine won the pennant in that league last year and according to Martin, Mullin will have to display all that he has in him in order to stick. The organization is listed in class C but the local player will have ample opportunity of shining in fast company before the coming season is half over.

1911—Navy 3, Army 0.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 29.—The 1912 football season will close tomorrow afternoon with the annual battle between the West Point and Annapolis teams on Franklin iFeld. From a social standpoint the game eclipses all others. Washington society never fails to attend the game in force, while everybody who can get away from the War and Navy and other departments in the national capital are to be found in the stands. The battalion of cadets from each academy will attend the game, together with a host of army and navy officers from all of the stations within a radius of 500 miles of Philadelphia.

The betting today about the hotels and other places where the visitors congregated shows the Army to be a favorite. The West Point team has played stronger elevens this season and therefore has had more experience than Annapolis. But the latter team possesses much good material and the naval contingent stood ready to cover the Army money about as rapidly as it was offered. The coaches this afternoon reported their respective teams in fine physical condition and confident.

Tomorrow's game will be played as usual under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania, which was instrumental in bringing the two academies together in 1899 for annual football games after a break of six years. Since 1899 all games have been held on Franklin Field except the contest of 1905, which was played at Princeton.

The first time that the blue and gold of the Navy met the black, gold and gray of the Army on the gridiron was in 1890, when the Annapolis team defeated the West Point eleven by a score of 24 to 0. Since then fifteen games have been played between the two academies. Of this number each institution has seven victories to its credit, the contest in 1905 having resulted in a tie.

A record-breaking crowd of more than 30,000 spectators is expected to witness the game tomorrow. A total of 30,680 tickets for the game have been equally distributed between the University of Pennsylvania and the two academies. The West Point and Annapolis share of tickets are not sold but distributed gratis to officers and others identified with the two arms of the service and to prominent men in Government circles. Pennsylvania's share was sold this year at $3 a ticket, an increase of 50 cents over the highest price heretofore. The proceeds of the sale are given to the organizations for the relief of the dependent widows and orphans of officers and enlisted men of the army and navy.

AJAX DEFEAT HOPE CHAPEL

Foul Shooting Proves a Prominent Factor in a Close and Interesting Game.

VICTORY IS DECISIVE

Final Score 40 to 28—Witnessed by 200 Spectators—Hope Chapel Always in the Running—No Letup From Beginning to End.

Playing before a crowd of basketball "fanatics" who packed the Y. M. C. A. gallery three deep, the Ajax five put a stop to the winning streak of the formidable Hope chapel quintet yesterday, with a count of 40 to 28, but in no way does the final score indicate how closely the battle was waged. Hope chapel was never out of the running and had the Ajax guards let up for an instant the score would probably have been completely reversed. So intense was the existant rivalry, that fouls on the part of both teams was frequent, no less than eighteen being called on Hope chapel and sixteen on the association team. Accurate work in transforming these misdeeds in one point scores by Captain Brynarski spelled defeat for the Chapelites as they were woefully weak in caging baskets from the foul line and only four out of the sixteen were turned into tallies.

At the end of the first half the count stood 18 to 13 in favor of the home team and the Chapelites were pulling together strongly when the final whistle sounded. The final period started off with a rush and it looked like a Hope chapel rally until the Ajax guards secured their bearings and buckled down to pull off another of their winning eleventh hour spurts. In this half Captain Brynarski took shot after shot from the fifteen yard mark after a Hope guard had committed some misdeed and invariably his throw proved good for a score. On the other hand the Chapelites were doing their share of the foul shooting but could not make their throws count for anything.

Brynarski was the keynote of victory in every sense of the word, getting fifteen goals from the foul line and a duet of field goals. Peacock came next with four field goals and also put up a splendid passing game. For the losers, Tommy Heron was the big noise, six field goals and a trio of fouls.

The score:

P. H. S. ELEVEN TOO MUCH FOR OLD GRADS

On a Wet and Treacherous Field the Alumni Forced to take a 20 to 0 Beating.

On Parker Field yesterday morning the Plainfield High School eleven triumphed over the Alumni by the score of 20 to 0. Both teams were severely handicapped by the soggy condition of the turf and the slippery ball furnished an ample excuse for frequent fumbles, but under the circumstances the players on both aggregations made fewer mistakes than could have been expected. The Alumni's two ten second men, Rosenson and Van Zandt, were handicapped by the wet condition of the field so that they could not get any kind of a start before being pulled to earth by an opposing end. Some of the school players suffered from the same cause but in this instance Good's weight came to the fore and he was again the star of the P. H. S. attack, with Peacock trailing close in his wake.

Whenever a runner was tackled with any degree of force from the rear he did the "Gaby" slide for fully five feet in the mud and the game was not made to order for the small handful of onlookers, as the biting wind and light fall of snow made it almost too cold for comfort. Although the gridiron was treacherous, the P. H. S. backs got in their usual amount of twisting and squirming which gained yard after yard for them.

Because of the injury to Captain Van Zandt, Good was forced to act in the capacity of field general, and besides ripping up the opposing defense as if there was nothing in the way he got in a number of pretty and timely tackles which stopped repeated rallies on the part of the old grads. Sminck, Mills and Peacock played an important part in the notable victory both on the defense and offense and they will be a tower of strength to the High School combination against Holy Cross tomorrow afternoon. The first touchdown came in the first ten minutes of play when Mills was pushed through the line for a touchdown and Good kicked the goal. The second touchdown came when Peacock circle the end and placed the ball squarely between the goal posts and Good again kicked the goal.

After Mills had carried the oval for twenty-five yards, lead through a broken field by Herrman, Good took the ball across the whitewash for the final score. Peacock failed at the attempt for a goal and the game ended with the score 20 to 0.

The teams lined up as follows:

P. H. S.	ALUMNI.
Sminck	E. Van Zandt
left end
Schenck	Thompson
Butler	Moy
left guard
Carty	Bellows

right tackle

Mills	Bristol
left halfback
Snyder	Loizeaux
right halfback
Peacock	Smalley
fullback

Substitutions: P. H. S.—Mann for McDowell, DuBois for Carty, Herman for White, Berrien for Butler, Moore for Schenck.

The score by periods:

P. H. S.	7	7	0	6	—20

Touchdowns—Mills, Good, Peacock. Goals from touchdowns—Good, 2. Referee, Phillips; umpire, Ricketts; head timekeeper, Janke; linesmen, Rosenson and Linke; time of halves, 10 minutes each.

PLAINFIELD GIRLS OUTPLAY VISITORS

Fouling Proves Disastrous to the Patersonians Who Are Clearly Outplayed.

The undefeated Wesley Methodist church basketball team, of Paterson, proved easy picking for the Nonpariel Five, of this city, on the Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon, and the visiting players were forced to swallow a 22 to 12 defeat. Previous to the starting of the contest Patersonian stock soared high as the visiting players towered far above the heads of the local girls and this together with the heralded "rep" made them popular favorites. This was the initial contest of the season for the winners and although they took the floor having had but one previous practise the feminine basket cagers got in some brilliant spasms of team work and the forwards did some good shooting at the proper time.

The locals took the lead soon after the contest began and never relinquished their advantage until the final whistle sounded, accurate foul shooting proving to be a prominent factor in the victory. Repeated infractions of the girls' rules, under which the contest was played, gave Miss Helen Hummel, captain of the victorious five, an opportunity to cage ten baskets from the foul line, and she won the game single handed by taking a trio more from the field, bringing her afternoon's mark up to sixteen. The other three goals made by the Nonpariel five were made from difficult angles by Miss Ida Hummel and merited no little applause from the 200 spectators present.

For the losing team Miss Hornberen was the only point getter, shooting four field goals and four from the foul line. Miss Smith and Miss Carter played strong games at guard for their respective teams and many sure goals were prevented by their timely intervention.

The score:

PRESBYTERIAN QUINTET LOST AT SCOTCH PLAINS

In a rough and fiercely contested basketball game on the Scotch Plains court last night, the Presbyterian five, of this city, was defeated by a margin of three points, the score being 25 to 22. The game was a continual exhibition of rough house from start to finish and numerous fouls were called on both sides.

Up to the last few minutes of play the score stood a 22 to 22 tie, but the home team drew to the fore with a trio of goals from the foul line and the game rested on the accuracy of the home captain in caging these free shots.

The lineup: Presbyterian—P. Dunning and Murphy, forwards; Dunham, centre; W. Dunning, F. Dickerson and Townley, guards. Scotch Plains—Lidgate and Thompson, forwards; Marston, centre; Bettman and Hatfield, guards.

Referee—Frank Dunning. Scorer—F. O. Dunning. Timer—Krewson.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME AT CRICKET FIELD

Holy Cross and P. H. S. Will Clash in Annual Struggle Tomorrow Afternoon.

One of the greatest football games of the season is due to take place at Cricket Field tomorrow afternoon when the Holy Cross and Plainfield High School elevens meet in their annual clash to decide the gridiron supremacy of this city and borough. Holy Cross stock rallied well during the first part of the week and popular sentiment seemed to sound a walkover for the church players who have been putting up a terrific article of the pigskin sport during the past season while taking win after win over stronger and heavier aggregations. In the last two days, however, the coaching department of the Holy Cross team has been practically non-committal as to the result of the game, while the Plainfield High School officials stated that the team has improved greatly of late and their work against the Alumni yesterday morning seems to prove that assertion.

Both elevens will have their regular lineups on the field and the P. H. S. eleven will be further strengthened by the addition of Mills and Sminck, who have worked off certain scholarship deficiencies that have geen keeping them out of the game for some time past. The feeling among the rival coherts is at least an even chance and the game is apt to sway either one way or the other. The condition of the gridiron will also have much to do with the probable outcome as the Holy Cross team outweighs the High School line and they will probably stand up well on a wet and slippery field. The experience gained by the schoolboys in their game against the Alumni on a wet field yesterday morning will stand them in good stead against the Holy Cross team in the event that the field is slippery tomorrow.

FIVE BACK BOWLING TOURNAMENT SCORES

Dr. H. V. Hubbard won three points, and W. E. Benjamin and E. M. Benjamin a point and a half each in the five-back bowling tournament at the Park Club, last night. The scores were as follows:

C. A. Rice, 49, 48, 54—165, H. F. Fox, 32, 41, 40—155; R. A. Suffern, 41, 48, 45—167; R. C. Campbell, 53, 54, 50—165; Dr. H. V. Hubbard, 46, 59, 64—179; J. B. Betts, 45, 43, 42—154; J. V. Beekman, 41, 51, 42—174; W. E. Benjamin, 80, 44, 49—174; E. M. Benjamin, 41, 49, 44—157; A. M. Abbott, 47, 60-55—173.

COMPANY K TEAM WINS FIRST GAME

Although the Y. M. A. A. basketball team came to the Company K armory last night with a much padded lineup, the musket weilders were able to size up the affair and come out ahead on the bigger end of an 18 to 6 score. The lineup:

COMPANY K.	G.	F.	P.
Nolan, f	7	1	15
Darling, f.	6	5	17
Thompson, c.	3	0	6
Harrison, g.	0	1	1

CROSS COUNTRY MATCH ENDS GOLF SEASON

The active season of the Plainfield Country Club was concluded yesterday, when the members engaged in a cross-country tournament. Some of the players started as early as 8 o'clock in the morning, and while there was a field of about forty in all, the snowstorm interferred and only a small number were able to complete the round. Will T. Glenney and Morris J. Dumont were the winners with a score of 58, 3-55. These cards were returned:

Will T. Glenney and Morris J. Dumont, 58, 3-55; Dudley H. Barrows and A. M. Collens, 61, 3-58; W. Lester Glenney and D. O. Rogers, 63, 4-59; A. J. Watson and H. Reeve Stockton, 62, 3-59; Frank O. Reinhart and J. E. Erickson, 73, 4-69; S. H. Patterson and E. T. Willson, 76, 6-70; R. H. Cox and E. A. Lyon, 89, 12-77.

AJAX GAME OFF.

Owing to the fact that the Senior dance is scheduled to take place at the Plainfield High School tomorrow night, the Ajax basketball game with the Barringer High School, of Newark, has been called off.

SCOOP GETS HIS WISH—WHERE BABY GOT THE HAIR BRUSH

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"The Fortune Hunter," it is a clean, breezy American play full of refined humor and pathetic appeal, and should success in packing the Plainfield theatre tonight. "The Fortune Hunter" is a young man, Nat Duncan, who goes through college without learning anything useful, and upon his graduation finds himself a slave to idleness and penniless, due to the sudden failure of his once wealthy father. A friend advises him, and lays out a plan of campaign. He is to go to a small country town, give up drink, smoking and profanity and attend church regularly. The town is Radville, Pa., where he goes ostensibly as a student. He finds his heiress, but his life is changed when he drops into a little drug store about to be sold out by the father of the girl. He rescues the little shop, and meets old owner's daughter, whom he sends to school. He develops into a successful business man, and finally the daughter of the banker and the daughter of the druggist become enamored with him. The former makes a proposal to which he assents. Then he discovers his love for the poor girl. He is charged with being an absconding bank cashier and the engagement is broken off, much to his relief. Of course it all ends by his marrying the druggist's daughter.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Captain Arthur Van Zandt, of the football team, is still on the sick list, although he is back at school. He had his collarbone broken in the New Brunswick game.

Basketball Coach Mr. Wriston will call the first practice for that sport on Monday.

He was at the Ajax-Hope chapel game yesterday afternoon, probably getting a line on the P. H. S. pupils who play on those teams.

Miss Ball held the first meeting of her dancing class Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance.

The Seniors will hold a dance in the school auditorium Saturday night.

Anyone wishing to see a closely contested game of football should attend the P. H. S. vs. Holy Cross scrimmage at the Cricket Field, tomorrow at 3:30.

Manager Grisley has announced the first basketball game for December 7 at Passaic. P. H. S. vs. Passaic H. S.

The girls' field hockey squad is holding practice faithfully and Faculty Coach Miss Edgerton is hopeful of winning the next contest.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Mr. Mertz, who is coaching the Senior play for their Christmas entertainment, has picked the following as a cast: Thomas Featherstone, as Paul Jennings; Florence Coons, Edith Jennings (his wife); Helen Hughes, Fanny, (his sister); Mildred McAuliffe, Mr. Craven; George Townley, Victor Crewen, and Clara Smith as Bridget. The entertainment will be given on December 19 and will include informal dancing.

The boys' basketball game with Summit High School was cancelled because no hall has as yet been secured.

The girls' basketball manager was forced to cancel a game with Nutley High School because there was no hall in which to play.

The Freshmen are making use of their afternoons by practicing basketball in the rear of the school.

Donald Ketchum, the High School bass soloist, will sing at a concert to be held at Bound Brook under the direction of Herbert Lloyd. Miss Julia Rowly will be pianist for a cantata entitled, "The Building of the Ship."

POSTMAN HELD UP PATRICK'S PARDON

Kept In Sing Sing Several Additional Hours.

HURRIES HOME TO WIFE.

Declares He Doesn't "Feel Venomous Toward Any One"—To Make Statement Later—Looks Almost as Well as When He Entered Prison.

New York, Nov. 29.—Albert T. Patrick for the first time in twelve years last night slept outside a prison cell. Hundreds today passed and gazed at the house, 180 Clermont avenue, which yesterday was the scene of a remarkable family reunion. Patrick stepped through the stone arched doorway of Sing Sing prison at 4:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon a free man. For the first time in the twelve eventful years he was the shuttlecock of the law, a moment before, he had shown that he was capable of human emotions, and that was when he had said that he was going first of all to the wife who was ill and failing.

Then his ordinary emotionless voice had broken and his eyes had been suffused with tears. He was going to her, and the great plans for the vindication of his name would have to wait until after he had greeted her, comforted her as one who had returned from the grave. He was with his wife just one hour and eighteen minutes after he stepped through the prison door.

An automobile which pressed the speed limit very close brought him to 180 Clermont avenue without a stop and the elevator of the apartment house was waiting to take him to the floor where the woman who never lost hope was waiting. A daughter, a child when Patrick came into the hands of the law twelve years ago but now a woman grown, was also waiting, but to her it was like meeting a new relative; to the other woman it was like the answer to a prayer.

Pardon Went Astray.

Fate decreed that the last day of Patrick in prison should be as eventful as the other great days of his life. As if determined that the man should never gain his freedom, it contrived that the official pardon granted by Governor Dix at 6 o'clock the night before should go astray in the mail. The result of that was that instead of going free at 7 o'clock in the morning he remained a prisoner until after 4, and then the fact that he got his freedom in time to eat his Thanksgiving turkey with his family was due to the good heart of Postmaster John McNally of Ossining, who not only searched the mail during the day, in spite of it being a holiday, but located the missent document at Peekskill in time to have it reach its destination before the prison closed for the day.

That meant long hours of waiting and watching for many outside the prison gate, and it also meant long hours of nerve racking delay for Patrick, chief orderly in the hospital, clad in the gray of a "lifer," knowing that the flat which gave him liberty might arrive at any moment. But it may be said that during all this time, while publicly the prison officials were congratulating him and privately, by grapevine, the thousand men in the prison were sending to him their congratulations, the man never showed that it was anything more to him than a day's experience. Except for the brief moment he gave way at the mention of his invalid wife, it was the same old Patrick who had not hesitated to tell judges and governors that it was not mercy but justice he was demanding; that he was either innocent and therefore entitled to liberty or a murderer who should be executed.

Hasn't Decided on Plans.

As to plans, he could only say that after his twelve years in cells he did not feel himself competent to make an extended statement. One would come in time, which would tell his plans to vindicate himself, but not at present. At the same time he was most happy, most healthy and most grateful.

The story of the release of Patrick would not be complete without the mention of Thomas Maher and the narrative of what he has done. Maher, a member of a very good family at Peekskill, was convicted of forgery about six years ago and was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment at Sing Sing. His sentence was commuted and he was released just one year ago yesterday for services he performed in aiding the state to uncover mismanagement in the prison. Three of the five years he served were spent as a cellmate of Patrick, and in that time he learned the life history of the man who had been nearly five years in the death house and had before him a sentence of life imprisonment.

When Maher was released he devoted his time to obtaining what he declared was justice for Patrick. He got into communication with John T. Milliken of St. Louis, the wealthy banker brother-in-law of Patrick's, and Mr. Milliken retained the ex-convict to work for the man in prison. Maher was outside the door of the prison at 4 o'clock yesterday morning with his brother-in-law, James Barker, a wealthy merchant of Peekskill. He waited there all the day, and clad in Mr. Barker's fur overcoat Patrick took his first ride as a free man in Mr. Barker's automobile to the city.

Told of Pardon Wednesday.

Patrick knew on Wednesday afternoon that Governor Dix was to pardon him. His wife called at the prison in the regular monthly schedule for visitors, and she knew. How she knew they did not talk about yesterday. Of course the governor never said a word nor any of his official household, but somehow it leaked out, and the woman's one message was that her fight for years had been rewarded.

Patrick was then simply convict No. 55,448, a lifer with an A-1 record, and he received this word from his wife with the calmness that characterized him in hearing three times the sentence of death imposed upon him. He was then an orderly in the hospital, an assistant to Dr. Farr, the physician of the prison, and caretaker of surgical instruments. He said goodby to his wife after telling her not to greet him at the prison gates in the morning and returned to his work. The first mail from Albany to Ossining was 7 o'clock, but it did not contain the pardon.

John McNally, the postmaster of Ossining, had read about the case, and after the 7 o'clock mail had failed to bring the pardon he told the reporters that he didn't know a better way of spending a day like that than going through the mails as they came in and acting as postman in delivering the message. When the 1:23 arrived and there was no sign of the pardon McNally got busy on the phone, and finally it was found that the pardon had by an error of a mail clerk been dropped off at Peekskill. It was rushed to Ossining on the next train, where McNally got it and took it to the prison. The word went "inside" to Patrick, and thereafter it took about an hour for the formalities to be gone through with. In the meantime Patrick had been receiving the congratulations of the prison officials.

Still Looks Well.

Time has dealt very mercifully with Albert T. Patrick despite the nerve racking ordeals he has undergone.

"I can't say anything now," he said "I'm not competent to say anything except that I'm glad—very glad. You know I've been twelve years in jail—eighteen months in the Tombs in New York city and more than ten years here—and I've lost my perspective. I won't be able to get it back until I've been out some time, and then I will be willing to talk to you all.

"I am not venomous against anybody. My philosophy teaches me different from that. It has all been a horrible experience, and now that part of it is over."

EVERY JAR BREAKS BONES.

Girl's Legs Fractured Seventy Times. Count Lost of Other Breaks.

Hutchinson, Kan., Nov. 29.—The victim of a rare disease of the bones, Margaret Williams, twelve-year-old daughter of a wealthy farmer living near Medora, has suffered seventy fractures of the legs and more than a dozen of the arms.

Ever since she has been old enough to walk the bones of her legs and arms have snapped at the slightest jar or quick movement.

Physicians say her bones lack some element. They are soft and spongy.

Koreans Deny Conspiracy.

Seoul, Korea, Nov. 29.—Seven of the 106 Koreans accused of conspiring against the life of Count Terauchi, Japanese governor of Korea, were called to the witness stand the third day of the new trial. In their testimony they all denied complicity in the conspiracy.

DR. JOHN D. M'GILL SUCCUMBS AT 66

Prominent Physician Passes Away at Jersey City.

WAS NATIONAL GUARDSMAN

Also Graduated From Princeton in 1867 and Was Son of Late Alexander Taggart McGill, D. D., LL. D., of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 29.—Dr. John D. McGill, one of the foremost physicians of New Jersey and for twenty-six years surgeon general of the New Jersey national guard, died at his home, 16 Gifford avenue, this city.

Dr. McGill, who was in his sixty-sixth year, was born in Allegheny City, Pa., and was the son of the late Alexander Taggart McGill, D. D., LL. D., of Princeton Theological seminary and of Eleanor Acheson McCullough. Dr. McGill was a brother of the late Chancellor Alexander T. McGill of New Jersey. He was graduated from Princeton in 1867 and later studied medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, finishing in 1870. Later he took a post graduate course in Berlin and in 1871 began the practice of his profession in Jersey City.

Dr. McGill had a wide reputation as a surgeon and medico-legal expert and was often called in court as an expert witness. He was for forty-one years a member of the staff and medical director of St. Francis' hospital, Jersey City, and a member of the consulting staff of the Jersey City hospital.

Dr. McGill was a former president of the Hudson County Medical society and a fellow of that body. In 1873 Dr. McGill joined the medical department of the New Jersey national guard, rising through the various grades until he was commissioned surgeon general, with the rank of brigadier general, in 1886.

FOURTEEN YEARS FOR HENRY.

Burglar Might Have Had Shorter Sentence by Confessing.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 29.—Rather than betray a friend, Frank Henry, gentleman burglar, of 22 McDougall street, Brooklyn, accepted a fourteen year penitentiary sentence instead of seven years.

Henry was convicted of robbing the home of Mrs. Ralph B. Corbin of Metuchen on the night of July 17 last. On the same night he broke into the home of Thomas Walling of Metuchen, and he pleaded non vult to the charge. For each of these offenses he was given a seven year sentence, the sentences to run consecutively and not concurrently.

Had Henry told the prosecutor who freed him from a pair of handcuffs he had worn while he was fleeing his pursuers on the night of the robbery he would have been allowed to serve the sentences concurrently.

SEEK MISSING MAN AND GIRL

Jersey City Couple Disappeared After Getting Marriage License.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 29.—The police have been asked to look for Edward Hause, twenty-five years old, of 39 Orient avenue, and Mary Holmes of 37 Senate place, this city, who have disappeared from their homes. The young couple got a marriage license at the marriage bureau in the city hall. The girl gave her age as eighteen, but her parents say she is not quite sixteen years old. The arrest of Hause is asked for on a charge of abduction.

Hause is described as tall, with a dark complexion and sunken eyes. He wore a black overcoat. The girl is said to be five feet six inches in height and slender, with dark brown hair. She wore a dark coat with a red collar and a white hat with a white plume. Hause is a clerk.

$10,000 FIRE IN CAMDEN.

Planing Mill Is Destroyed and Flames Threaten Other Establishments.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 29.—A fire in the one story planing mill of John Griffee, Arch street, near Front, this city, destroyed the building and contents, entailing a loss of $10,000.

The fire being in the business section of the town caused excitement. For a time the blaze threatened the adjoining buildings of the Van Sciver Furniture company, the Camden Turning company and the Merritt Window Screen company.

The roof of the mill collapsed, but the firemen had been warned of its weakness and got off before it fell.

LEGS CUT OFF BY CAR.

Hoboken Man Run Over on Jersey City Elevated Trolley Line.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 29.—John Reich, thirty-seven years old, of Hoboken, N. J., was run down at Jefferson and Central avenues, this city, by a Jackson avenue trolley car. Both of his legs were cut off at the knee. He was taken to Christ hospital and is in a critical condition.

George Schultz, motorman, and Frederick Gruenwald, conductor, were arrested and paroled. The accident occurred on the elevated section of the road.

750 MEN'S REG. $1 SHIRTS 69c

There are few things commoner in the world than sales of men's shirts; in fact, they are as prolific as rain in April. So men must not be chided for their spirit of apathy when some shirt bargains which are deserving of your bleak back and cold shoulder. But here is a shirt proposition that while the selling price is as old as the hills the value it represents, however, is good enough to make every man who sees them smile all over himself To touch upon the twang of street talk we would call them crackerjacks. Imagine paying only 69c for a negligee shirt that you'd be proud to have represent you as a merchandiser of values.

They are colored negligee shirts, plain bosoms, coat style, cuffs attached, of good quality percale and madras in neat attractive patterns; these shirts are cut full and large; sizes 13½ to 18; all are hand laundered; not many over 600 in all; will hardly last all day at.....69c

SERBIA CONTINUES WAR PREPARATION

Deny Report of Occupation of Port of Durazzo.

BULGARS AND TURKS MEET

Reported That Allies In New Peace Plan Have Abandoned Claim to Turkish Fortress of Adrianople—Plenipotentiaries Confer.

Sofia, Nov. 29.—The terms of the further armistice were discussed by the Bulgarian and Turkish plenipotentiaries who reassembled at the village of Baghtche, outside the Tchataija lines.

A letter received from the front declares that there has not yet been any real assault by the Bulgarian besiegers on the fortress of Adrianople. The forts, it says, have been shelled and some of them captured by the allied Servians and Bulgarians, who suffered heavy loss.

On one occasion a Turkish fort was captured, but shortly afterward the allies were compelled to evacuate it owing to the heavy fire concentrated on it by the Turkish guns.

On another occasion an entire Bulgarian battalion was destroyed by the explosion of a land mine, which was fired by the Ottoman defenders.

Servia Still Preparing.

Belgrade, Nov. 29.—The Servian war office is continuing its military preparations on the Austrian frontier in readiness for possible eventualities The government has received a denial of the report that the Servian troops had occupied the port of Durazzo, on the Adriatic sea, according to the newspapers here.

Premier Pachitch has decided to leave for Uskup, Macedonia.

Allies Make Concession.

Constantinople, Nov. 29.—A persistent report is current here that the Bulgarians have abandoned their claim to the Turkish fortress of Adrianople Should this prove true it is thought that the prospects of an understanding being reached by the Turkish and Bulgarian plenipotentiaries during their conferences at Baghtche will be greatly improved and that an agreement is virtually assured.

The foreign consuls at Adrianople report that in spite of the bombardment of the town by the Bulgarians no casualties have occurred thus far among the foreign residents. The dispatch came by wireless telegraphy, and it is thought to have been sent at the request of the local authorities

The foreign naval contingent recently landed for the protection of foreign residents and embassies in the Pera district of Constantinople are being gradually re-embarked on the war ships. The commanders of the foreign war vessels are of the opinion that the danger to their nationals is diminishing.

RICH WOMAN KILLED; BARBER HAS FORTUNE

Because of Seventy Suffocated Cooking Thanksgiving Dinner.

New York, Nov. 29.—In a hovel she called home, scarcely fit for the cats which were her only companions, Mrs Octavia Frederich, seventy years old and reputed to be worth nearly a million dollars, was found dead. She had been burned and suffocated while cooking her Thanksgiving dinner. By her side were twelve of her pets, dead Eight others, stupefied, were found in another room of the second floor of 24-26 Hoyt steet, Brooklyn, where she had lived for half a century.

All her money will go to Antonio Oreckinto, a barber, who has a shop in the ramshackle old building and who for twelve years collected her rents and acted as her agent in all matters. Oreckinto gave out a copy of a will which he said she had made on Sept. 26, leaving to him all her possessions.

These, if the will holds good, include a row of six houses, in one of which she died; property at Schermerhorn and Hoyt streets, a large plot of ground at 323 Madison street and almost $300,000 in the People's Trust company and the Brooklyn Savings bank.

A brother and sister, Alphonse and Emilie Frederich, with whom she quarreled, it is said, twenty-five years ago, are living in San Diego, Cal. They, so far as the barber knows, are her only relatives and heirs to the estate which he claims under the recent will now in a vault of the People's Trust company.

Miss Frederich was a cripple from paralysis and had not been outside the rooms where she lived for more than a score of years. Barricaded in the bare apartments with her cats, she saw few persons save the barber, who brought food to her.

Weather Forecast.

Fair today, tomorrow fair, warmer, moderate northwest and west winds becoming variable.

Some Things to Be Thankful For

Could the imaginative mind create a picture of more beauteous contentment than this little reminder of absolute happiness experienced by both the old farmer and his young grandson?

He is sincerely thankful to his Creator for the power given him in making this boy happy. He is not buying him toys or useless playthings, but simply taking him out for a "joy ride"—knowing that the spirit of the day means more implicit happiness than anything else he could do.

This is the spirit in which we find ourselves—thankful we have been able for years past to make hundreds and hundreds of families happy and contented in their homes, feeling and enjoying the home comforts and luxurious furnishings they thought only the rich could enjoy, but found they could easily have these comforts and pay as convenient to their income—a little every week. The thought of having accomplished so much real, undying good, and having made so many people happy, is what makes us so thankful.

This Firepot Doesn't Clog

SQUARE POT BOILERS owe much of their great heating power to the peculiar form of their firepots. These are round at top but square at bottom. Each time the grate is turned accumulated ash slips from them free and easy into the capacious ashpit below, leaving a live fire fully opened to fresh oxygen. This causes perfect combustion, minus clogging, choking and "dead fire."

Round firepots do not possess these advantages, nor can they give "results" as quickly.

Because of this complete combustion, SQUARE POT BOILERS use a minimum amount of coal and require little attention. Let the dealer nearest give you a demonstration.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

HOMEMADE MINCEMEAT.

WHILE mincemeat may be bought of excellent quality and delicious in quality, many families prefer the kind that is made under their own supervision. Those who demand that it shall be free from brandy may then assure themselves that liquor is excluded, while families who taboo pork can in this way see that they have porkless mincemeat.

Cheap Mincemeats.

Vegetarian Mincemeat. — Take one peck green tomatoes, chopped fine. Drain juice and throw it away. Pour on three pints of hot water and cook five minutes. Drain off all juice. Do this three times. Add two and one-half pounds medium brown sugar, two pounds seeded raisins, one-half pound chopped citron, one teacupful of cider vinegar, two level tablespoonfuls of ground cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful each of ground cloves, allspice and nutmeg, one tablespoonful of salt.

Mincemeat With Cider.—Boil two pounds of beef. That from the neck may be used. When cold enough to handle mince finely. To every pint of meat add two pints of chopped apples, a cupful of raisins, one cupful of currants and a quarter pound of citron. Put all fruit through a meat grinder. Add salt, sugar and spice to taste; also a glass of currant or grape jelly. Mix and moisten well with good, sweet cider. Boil thoroughly and it will keep all winter.

Elaborate Pie Fillings.

Rich Mincemeat.—Take three pints of cooked meat, beef and pork, six pints of apples, one pint of molasses, one pint of vinegar, one pint of boiled cider, one pint of suet, two pints of raisins (chopped), five pints of brown sugar, one and one-half pounds of citron, cinnamon, nutmeg, ground cloves, two tablespoonfuls each of salt and black pepper. Grate the rind and squeeze the juice of one lemon. Boil until the raisins are tender.

Mincemeat de Luxe.—Take half a pounds of raw beef, one pound of suet and one pound tart apples. Chop each finely and separately. Take half a pound of currants well mashed and dried, half a pound of raisins, seeded, half a pound citron cut into small bits, half a pound of brown sugar, half a pint of New Orleans molasses, one ounce of salt, half ounce of mixed cinnamon, cloves and allspice, one-fourth ounce white pepper, one-half grated nutmeg, juice of some lemon, half a pint of cider. Mix meat, suet, salt and spices. Add apples, then fruit, then cider and last of all the sugar.

LATEST PARIS CRY.

The Cutaway Is Having Modish Right of Way.

SUIT OF TAN BROADCLOTH.

A decided novelty in tailored wear is this coat with cutaway fronts and a watteau plait at the back. Under the plait the coat fits the figure trimly, and the waist line is clearly defined.

The costume is by a famous French dressmaker, and the combination of tan broadcloth coat and pannier skirt of brown velvet is thought very chic in Paris.

A hat of light tan colored moire silk faced with black velvet and trimmed with a "shower" feather ornament matches the costume, which is completed with long tan gloves.

BATHROOM LUXURY.

Portable Shower Spray That Is Practical and Convenient.

Almost every person can afford the luxury of a shower bath, since it is possible to buy a portable one at such modest prices. A shower bath of the most practical kind is marked at a few pennies less than $5, and after demonstrating its merits no one would go without such a comfort who had the price to pay for it. The fittings were substantial, arranged with fixtures for attaching to the wall, an extremely strong rubber pipe and curtains of heavy sail duck such as tents are made of.

These would be a perfect protection to walls or paper.

At such a low price one expects only the most flimsy outfit, and to pay $5 for something that would soon get out of order or prove impracticable is just like throwing money away. Then for those who feel even $5 is beyond their purse there is a bath spray that is not at all a bad substitute for the shower bath. The prices for rubber and rose nozzle begin at 50 cents for the small size. For rinsing the hair these sprays are excellent, as the force sends water right into the scalp, cleansing in from soap most thoroughly. By the way, there is a little shampoo bag lately introduced which costs only 10 cents and can be dried and used over and over again. The outer covering is cheesecloth, with a spongy substance inside charged with soap and perfumed powders, said to be very cool, cleansing and refreshing.

Violet Toilet Sets.

One of the most attractive toilet novelties seen in some time is the new violet toned toilet sets. They are made of a special brand of celluloid in Germany, tinted a rich violet and some of them are decorated with gold. Although of celluloid, they are by no means to be classed among the cheap articles, as they are rich in appearance and decidedly costly, some of the pieces costing more than the average silver articles. In the gold decked ware a set of thirteen pieces is sold at $49. Thirteen does not cover the number of articles obtainable, however, as there are all sorts of brushes and manicure implements, powder boxes, jewel cases, etc., which make a complete set of the plain violet number about thirty and cost between $70 and $80. A ring mirror, for instance, is $9.50. The simplest little piece of the manicure set is 50 cents. The articles are very pretty and novel and sure of a pronounced vogue.

GIMBELS—The Brilliant, Gift-Full Christmas Store Welcomes You Tomorrow to a Ten-floor Holiday Exposition

Great News! Tomorrow Is the Opening OF SANTA CLAUS CARNIVAL

In the Gimbel Auditorium---Everybody's Invited

And it will be the greatest fun that New York boys and girls ever had in their lives.

Santa Claus, really, truly alive, will welcome you from his home as you enter the Auditorium. Then you will see the Lion that roars, the Elephant School and the Camel Caravan laden with presents.

Then—marvel of marvels! Here is a German Village all on fire; with the firemen pumping real water, and running up the ladders; people jumping for their lives, and great excitement everywhere. Wonderful!

In another scene a Queen is driving out of her castle to visit Santa Claus' real Carnival, where there are trained donkeys and monkeys that do the giant swing, and trained ponies, and many other wonderful things.

Then there are performing seals and the wonderful store of the six polar bears, and finally Santa Claus' house again, and you want to see all over again.

Come as early as you can in the day, because you will have more room to see all the wonderful things that Santa Claus has prepared for you.

For safety's sake we shall have to ask the little boys and girls to invite their parents or grown-up friends to bring them to the Carnival.

Eighth Floor.

Bring the Boys and Girls to Buy
A PRIZE PACKAGE
In the Polar Bears' Store

Six big Polar Bears are partners in this unique Toy Store, that is luckily located right next door to Santa Claus' home.

The girl or boy who wants to buy a Prize Package simply drops a silver quarter (25c) into the Bears' money-box, and away back where the Aurora Borealis is shining the mysterious Prize Package drops out of the chute, from the unknown Toy Store into the tray held by the first Polar Bear, who passes it to the next, and he in turn passes it to another Bear—and so it comes down the line to the last big Bear, who gives it to the boy or girl who paid for it.

No, indeed, you don't know what you are going to get until you open it—that's the best part of the fun. But you are SURE to get a fine 25c Toy—for a girl if a girl buys it—for a boy if a boy buys it. See what good judgment the Polar Bear Brothers use in the selection of the Prize Toys for the Girls and Boys.

A Display of New and Specialized Ten-Dollar Fur Millinery

New styles—Fashion's latest modes for Mid-winter wear interpreted in the furs which are now her favorites.

The Hats are newly made—for until late this afternoon our milliners will be busy making for them Hats tomorrow.

These styles are the creations of our most skilled designers, who are artists in the sculpturing of lines and the combining of colors.

The Hat (illustrated) is entirely of Arctic seal, except for its quill, which is made of many layers of black maline.

Civet cat, natural raccoon or Australian opossum forms the deep close-fitting band of turban with draped crown and an ear-like bow of velvet.

Draped elongated Turbans of Arctic seal have upstanding feather that in color and design closely resembles a hyacinth.

Other draped Turbans of Arctic seal have crowns of rich brocaded silks, and are trimmed with coq feathers.

Among the Fur-trimmed Hats, there are some of black velvet, trimmed with gold-and-silver lace, silk flowers and skunk. Picturesque creations, these!

Besides, there will be may other new demi-tailored and Dress Hats in tomorrow's Display.

Children, Come Tomorrow to the Dollies' Great Big Party in the GIMBEL TOY STORE?

Thousands of Dolls Are Here, Big and Little, in The Finest Gathering New York Has Ever Seen

If there wasn't another solitary thing in the Gimbel Toy Store but Dolls and Dolls' Accessories the collection would be worth coming miles to see.

There is every sort of Doll, from the tiny China Doll an inch long to the fine big Doll, 35 inches tall, from the famous firm of Heinrich & Handwerck, Germany. We counted more than five hundred different kinds of Dolls a couple of days ago, to say nothing of the costumes of various ages and nationalities in which many of the same style are dressed.

There are many of the fascinating Character Dolls—infants, boys and girls—the first departure from the stereotyped doll faces that we have known for years, and which are amazingly popular with children. Some of these are illustrated—notice their very natural postures.

There are dolls dressed and undressed, of bisque, stockinette, wood or rubber; friendly Rag Dolls, and proud beauties dressed in the tip of Paris fashion.

We shall try in the following list to give some idea of the various groups and their prices:

The Wonderful Gimbel Dollar Doll

This beautiful Doll has been made for us for the last ten years—and for no one else in America—by Heinrich & Handwerck, and, though not the largest in size (it is 22 inches tall), it is the finest doll sold at its price. Charming face, with blue and brown eyes that go to sleep, and blonde or brunette curly wig of best mohair. Strongly made body of pressed cardboard instead of the papier mache that cracks so easily, and heavy ball joints. Shoes and stockings.

Several Hundred Young Women's Chinchilla Coats at $18.50

That Should Be $27.50 to $30

Not in many seasons has there been such a tendency to favor one particular material for young girls' coats as there is this winter—and the fabric is chinchilla.

That is why we were glad to accept the offers of several tailors to make up their surplus chinchilla cloths, at large concessions, because their season was at an end. Each had sufficient fabrics for about a hundred coats.

Four styles dominate—the two illustrated at the left, which have plush collars; another is an overcoat style with belted back, collar and cuffs of velvet; and the fourth, has a high turn-over collar of velvet. Two styles are lined with peau de cygne. Navy, Oxford gray and brown.

Young Women's Fur-trimmed Coats, $19.50 and $28.50

The $19.50 model is of heather mixture with Australian opossum collar; the $28.50 style is of boucle, with collar and cuffs of skunk opossum or Arctic seal.

100 Young Women's Suits at $20, Were $25 to $32.50

A miscellany of broken sizes from our own stock, including suits of velveteen, cheviots, serge and two-tone diagonal. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years, included, but not in each model, for in some styles there may be only one or two suits.

100 Junior Girls' $20 Coats at $14.50

Navy, Oxford and brown chinchilla cloth, with collars of beaver, mole or black plush. Sizes 15, 17 and 19 years.

Young Girls' Chinchilla Coats at $5, $9.75 and $15

Especially good qualities at each price—in navy, Oxford and brown. Sizes 6 to 14 years.

Also four styles in boucle and double-faced woolen coats, at $13.50—one style is illustrated. Navy and brown.

LONG TERMS FOR PAIR OF THIEVES

Sentenced by Judge Atwater When They Plead Guilty to Stealing.

THEIR EXCUSES 'LAME'

Edward Kutchner Given Seven Years to Two Years and Alexander Kutchner One to Seven Years—Both Dapper Dressers.

New Brunswick, Nov. 30.—Edward and Alexander Kutchner, brothers, of Lincoln, who pleaded guilty on an allegation of stealing auto tires in Plainfield and vicinity and who are said to be responsible for wholesale tire and auto thefts in Essex, Middlesex and Somerset counties, were sentenced to State Prison by Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Session yesterday afternoon. Edmund, who is the elder, was sentenced to not more than seven or less than two years at hard labor, and to pay the costs of prosecution. Alexander got from one to seven years.

The men, looking extremely stylish and well-groomed, showed not the least emotion when sentence was pronounced on them. Edward got the severer sentence because he is considered the "brains" of the team. He has served five years for theft in the Elmira, N. Y., Reformatory. In moving for sentence Prosecutor Swift dwelt on the charges which have been made against the two men in other counties besides Union. Samuel S. Swackhamer, their counsel, pleaded for clemency saying that it was lack of money and their desire to aid their mother that had driven them to crime. He insisted that the stolen automobile shoe on which the charge of grand larceny was based was not worth more than $8. Prosecutor Swift took exception to this statement.

The men wore valuable diamond rings when arrested in Newark at the behest of the Union county authorities three weeks ago and even when arraigned yesterday they had an air of prosperity. Edward has been running a taxicab in Plainfield for some time. His appearance is that of a keen, clean-cut young business man. Neither made any statement in his own behalf.

TURKISH DECORATIONS

Orchestra Members Garbed as Ottomen—300 Japanese Lanterns Adorn the Ballroom—The Entertainment Committee.

The Oriental dance at the Park Club last night under the direction of the entertainment committee of the club was one of the most pretentious affairs given there in a long time and the committee fairly out-did itself in perfecting the elaborate arrangements. The main hall was lavishly decorated, more than 300 Japanese lanterns being suspended from the ceiling to the four corners, while there were cozy corners arranged to represent Turkish lounging rooms.

The stage was a work of art, being decorated to represent a Turkish coffee and smoking room, with its oriental rugs, Turkish brass fixtures, etc., while a couple of Turks, assisted by members of the club served coffee during the evening. Muller's orchestra furnished the music, the members of which were in Turkish costume. During an intermission about midnight, refreshments were served.

Among some of the most striking costumes noticed were the following: Mrs. A. M. Abbott, Japanese; A. M. Abbott, Arab; Miss Jean Wharton, Mrs. Harry L. McGee, Egyptian princesses; Mrs. C. H. Detwiller, Persian Princess; Mrs. S. H. Patterson, Hungarian; R. G. Rolston, Chinese Mandarian; Mrs. William B. Nash, Harry L. McGee, Chinese; the Misses Sharretts, Japanese maidens; Mrs. Lewis A. Williams, Jr., Bulgarian; Lewis A. Williams, Jr. Pirate.

The entertainment committee, to whom the credit for the success of the affair is due, comprises Mrs. Harry L. McGee, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Abbott, Miss Elizabeth McGee, John P. Myers, William D. Flanders, R. G. Rolston and Harry L. McGee.

The patronesses for the affair included Mrs. Austin M. Andrews, Mrs. Charles H. Detwiller, Mrs. Leslie M. Halloek, Mrs. Allen B. Laing, Mrs. William B. Nash, Mrs. Edward P. Sharretts, Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth and Mrs. L. A. Williams, Jr.

UNION MEETING HELD BY A. O. U. W. LODGE

State Officers of Order Speak, J. W. A. Bauersachs Presiding at Session.

The members of Upchurch Lodge, of Westfield; Central, No. 48, and Columbia, No. 58, Ancient Order United Workmen, held one of the series of union meetings of these lodges throughout the State, in this city, last night. Grand Guide J. W. A. Bauersachs, of this city, presided.

During the evening there were talks by Past Grand Master Workman John Klopper, of Camden; Past Grand Master Workman Frank Tuffey, of Camden; Grand Outside Watchman Charles Leigh, of East Orange; Past Grand Master Workman V. W. Nash, Sr., of this city; Past Master Workmen Francis J. Blatz and Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of this city. In addition there was a delegation of members from Basking Ridge, who made the trip here by stage.

In the speeches that were made last night it was learned that the order was founded sixty-eight years ago at Meadville, Pa., by John Upchurch, a blacksmith. Since that time the order has paid out in benefits $175,000,000, and the lodges in New Jersey have paid out $400,000, while Central and Columbia lodges, of this city, have paid out $101,000 since they were organized. These union meetings are proving so successful that plans are now being made for another meeting to be held next month. The place will be announced later.

XMAS STAMPS ON SALE.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League hopes that everyone will be sure to buy plenty of Christmas stamps. Miss Phillips has just received 50,000 of them for sale in Plainfield. They will be sold at stores and banks as at the league headquarters.

Rev. Andrew Jones, known as "Prophet" Jones, will preach at the Union Baptist church, Reform Hall, tomorrow afternoon and in the evening there will be the celebration of the Lord's Supper and baptism. Special meetings will continue next week.

STARTS FOR RUSSIA TO BECOME A BRIDE

Friends Bid Good-bye to Miss Carman Who Will Be an U. S. Consul's Wife.

A number of friends of Miss Catherine Carman, formerly a teacher in the Jefferson School, went to Brooklyn this afternoon to bid her farewell as she leaves New York harbor for Russia on board the "Kursk." Miss Carman will go direct to Batoum, where she will be married about December 15 to Leslie A. Davis, United States consul at Batoum.

The bride-to-be resigned her position with the Plainfield Board of Education last Friday and since then has been stopping at her home at Brookhaven, Long Island. Miss Carman has many friends in this city where she has resided for the past four years and a large number made the trip to Brooklyn this afternoon. The voyage will take at least two weeks and during the long ocean trip Miss Carman will be reminded of her friends in this city by a large collection of steamer letters which have been written for her enjoyment.

BOROUGH WILL NEED STILL ANOTHER SCHOOL

And Plans Are Underway for Separate Class Rooms for the "Defectives."

The probable need of a new school in North Plainfield in the near future was discussed at a meeting of the Borough Board of Education last night in the Somerset School building. At present the Board is endeavoring to secure a suitable place for two classrooms for "deficient and backward pupils," and a gymnasium is also wanted. Debele's Hall has been considered but no action has as yet been taken toward either renting or purchasing.

Another matter discussed related to the probability of the State Board of Education compelling the North Plainfield authorities to build fireproof stairways in the Somerset School building, which according to law would have to be enclosed by fireproof walls. If this alteration is made eight class rooms would be eliminated, and therefore a new school building would be necessary.

Frank Rowley, former Borough Clerk was officially appointed clerk of the Board in place of C. M. Dolliver, whose voluntary resignation will go into effect January 1, 1913. Other applications were submitted by A. L. LaPorte, Elmer P. Wheelr and Frank Bach.

All correspondence and contracts in connection with the heating plant in the course of construction have been placed in the hands of Charles A. Reed, who will adviset he Board of any action deemed necessary.

DR. KRIEHN TO LECTURE ON REMBRANDT THE POET

The Monday Afternoon Club expected to have Arthur W. Dow, of Columbia University, as the lecture Monday afternoon, on "Japanese Color Prints," but he will be unable to keep his engagement. The executive committee has succeeded in securing in his place, Dr. George Kriehn, who will lecture on "Rembrandt the Poet Painter."

Dr. Kriehn has made a study of the civilization of which Rembrandt is a flower; also of his life so that in order to furnish the necessary guidanbe to an intelligent appreciation of his work. Dr. Kriehn received his degree as Ph. D., at the University of Strassburg and has been a lecturer and instructor in Johns Hopkins University, Columbia University and Brooklyn Institute of Arts. He has edited and translated various histories and encyclopedias of art. The lecture will be illustrated by fine lantern slides.

A CONTINUOUS DANCE.

Two orchestras have been engaged to provide music for the subscription dance to be given at the Park Club, Friday night, December 6, which means that there will be continuous dancing. The tickets for the affair have been selling rapidly, the demand being so great and the subscribers so enthusiastic, that the dance promises to be one of the social events of the winter season. The committee in charge has about completed all the details and success is assured.

JOHN P. OWENS COUNTY LAWYER

Plainfield Attorney Named to Succeed Wm. R. Codington on January 1.

FREEHOLDERS CHOICES

David to Be County Collector—McNamara to Take Schwartz's Place as Superintendent of Weights and Measures—Bourdon Clerk.

County officers were selected at a caucus of the Democratic members-elect of the Small Board of Freeholders of Union County held at Elizabeth. Thomas J. Pierson, of Elizabeth, a member of the present board, was made director, while William A. Bourdon, of Elizabeth, another member, was appointed clerk of the board. A. J. David, a lawyer of Elizabeth, who will succeed Nathan R. Leavitt, was appointed county collector at a salary of $3,000 per year.

The other officers selected follow: Country attorney, John P. Owens, of Plainfield; county engineer, Henry Kreh, of Elizabeth; county physician, Dr. Thomas J. Dolan, of Elizabeth; county jail physician, Dr. S. Burnett, of Elizabeth; auditor of the Board of Freeholders, Robert D. Gibby, of Rahway; custodian of the County Court House, Michael Connell, of Elizabeth; law librarian, John D. McNamara, of Summit; superintendent of weights and measures, Henry Coughlin, of Elizabeth.

Of the seven members of the small Board of Freeholders-elect six are Democrats. The caucus resulted in the above offices being filled, but leaves the office of supervisor of roads and a few minor positions still open.

DELAY NO FAULT OF CONTRACTOR

Galbraith's Friends Say He's Rushed Work as Fast as Possible.

LIGHT ON CONTROVERSY

E. S. Boyer, Member of the Board, Contractor's Friends Declare, Has Been Substituted as the Supervising Engineer.

That there is no procrastination nor dilatory action on the part of Den J. Galbraith, the contractor, who has the work of installing a new heating system in the North Plainfield High School building, is the opinion of some who are acquainted with the facts. The agreement confines the contractor to the use of certain materials, all of which had to be made specially and the time was so short, it is claimed by the manufacturers that it was impossible to complete their part of the work in time to finish the contract as anticipated; there being shortage in supply of steel and labor, which has restricted their out-put to a great extent, their material consisting principally of sheet steel, from which boilers, blowers, etc., are manufactured.

It is asserted by Galbraith's friends that John A. Serrell, as engineer, drew up the plans and specifications for the work and that he later retired in favor of E. S. Boyer, chairman of the building and grounds committee of the Board of Education, who is supposed to be the supervising engineer, and it is said that all the details regarding materials as supplied by the various manufacturers as called for in the specifications have to be first approved by the engineer for the Board. This the contractor was not able to secure in time to go on with the work.

The heat will be turned on in the new plant the coming week, it is said. The building has been temporarily heated from the old heating apparatus. Materials could not be obtained from the regular stock for this job, and it is the opinion that the Board of Education started this work too late in the season to prevent just such a condition as has arisen.

CASE AGAINST HOOD IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Report That Disorderly Conduct Charge Made by His Wife Will be Dropped.

Richard Haden Hood, whose attractive young wife has instituted suit for divorce from him, did not appear in the city court this morning to answer to a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by her, following his breaking into the Stelle avenue mansion. It had been previously hinted that the case would not come up today. His counsel, Isaac P. Runyon, did not appear in court, having been detained at home by illness.

Charles A. Reed, of counsel for Mrs. Hood, requested Judge W. G. DeMeza to adjourn the case to Thursday, December 5. There have been rumors that the matter may be settled out of court to avoid any further publicity. Mrs. Hood is still occupying the Stelle avenue residence, and has provided protection for herself and servants. Mr. Hood continues to reside at Truell Inn.

COUPLE WED AGAIN ON 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Friends Witness Ceremony When Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wallace Celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wallace celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding at their home, 916 West Third street, last night. Rev. F. L. Greene, pastor of the Hope Chapel, performed the ceremony as it took place in Scotland twenty-five years ago. The couple were married at Burnt Island and five years after they came to this country and to this city, where they have resided since in the West End.

During the evening a number of the guests sang and several rendered musical selections. Those that took part were Miss Mirian Emery at the piano, Thomas Hendry with the flute, and singing by the following: Thomas Hendry, Rev. F. L. Greene, Miss Lavinia Burke and Thomas Douglas. Mr. and Mrs. David McGregor and Mrs. Robert Bailey and Mrs. Wallace sang several duets.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were the recipients of numerous presents, including sets of table silver, chafing dishes, servers and various shaped vases inlaid with silver.

The rooms were very tastily decorated with pink and white crepe paper entwined with silver tinsel. In the doorway leading from the parlor to the dining room a large bell made of sweet peas and ivy was hung. The clapper of the bell was made of twisted silver tinsel made in the shape of a "2" and a "5."

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mr. and Mrs. William Doig, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bailey, Mr. and Mrs Joseph Brown, Mr. and Mrs. F. L Dencklau, Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Soloman Mann, Mrs. Marcus Clarke, Rev. F. L. Greene Alexander Doig, David Wardrope Jack Page and the Misses Anna Burke, Levinia Burke, Edith Wickett Jessie Ross and Grace Brown, Mr. and Mrs. David McGregor and daughter, Ida, and Alexander Burke, of Perth Amboy, and Miss Agnes Douglas and brother, Thomas Douglas, of Hoboken.

At 10 o'clock the doors of the dining room were thrown open and the guests were ushered into the room where they were served with a bountiful supper.

MAID SAID SHE SAW MAN IN THE CELLAR

A maid in the employ of Mrs. C. A. Marsh, of West Eighth street, called the police headquarters on the telephone shortly after 8 o'clock last night, fearing that burglars were in the house.

Patrolmen O'Keefe and McCarthy learned from the maid that she was walking in the cellar when a man ran past her, his face hidden by a handkerchief, and made for the street. She described him as being tall and thin; wearing a brown suit and brown slouch hat and a long black overcoat.

ROEVER-FISH.

Surrounded by only a few relatives and friends, Miss Ethel Fish, of North Plainfield township, became the bride of Charles B. Roever, a poultry dealer, of that place at her home on Thanksgiving Day. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Edward G. Read, of this city. Immediately following the union on the happy couple left on their honeymoon. On returning they will reside in North Plainfield.

BICKEL IS SAFE IN FLORIDA NOW

His Sister's Plea Prompts the Governor to Decline to Grant Extradition.

DESERTION CHARGED

Assistant Prosecutor Hetfield and Police Chief Kiely Had Gone to Bring Him Back to Plainfield—Governor Wires Miss Bickel.

Through the earnest pleading of his sister, Miss Olive B. Bickel, of East Fifth street, Clare Bickel, will not be brought back to Plainfield from Jacksonville, Fla., by Police Chief P. S. Kiely and Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., to answer to a charge of desertion, preferred by his wife, Mrs. Madeline McIntyre-Bickel.

Miss Bickel, as soon as she learned that Chief Kiely and Mr. Hetfield had gone to Jacksonville for her brother, she wrote a letter to Governor Albert W. Gilchrist, of Florida. In that letter she told the Governor that her brother was an upright and honest young man and didn't deserve the treatment given, and begged him to be guided by God in what he did in the case, adding that her brother was a good boy and could be depended upon to do what was right.

The pleadings of a sister touched the heart of Governor Gilchrist and today, Miss Bickel received this glad news in a telegram from the Governor:

"New Jersey requisition for Clare Bickel has been denied."

Miss Bickel in speaking of the matter said that her brother holds a good position with the Armour Beef Company in Jacksonville, and every letter she has received from him indicates that he is getting along well. When told that she deserved credit for the way in which she stood by her brother, Miss Bickel said:

"I am only a woman and cannot do much, but when I heard that they were going to try and bring my brother back to Plainfield, I just made up by mind that perhaps a woman could do something and I am overjoyed to know that my efforts have not been in vain.

"If I had known that Chief Kiely and Mr. Hetfield were going south I would liked to have gone with them. I would love to see Clare and beside I would have had company all the way."

Mr. Bickel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Bickel, of East Fifth street. He formerly was employed by the New York Telephone Company. He was married eight years ago, but it is said has only lived with his wife about three years of that time.

M'RORIE HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Released in $500 Bail, Aged Member of His Church Giving His Bond.

WAIVES EXAMINATION

Dominie Denies He Accused Liquor Dealers of Conspiracy—Says He Will Not Preach Tomorrow—Won't Discuss His Case.

The Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal churches of Mt. Horeb and Springdale, Somerset county, charged with a serious offense by Mrs. Dennis Mason, mother of 19-year-old Edith Gertrude Nelson, waived examination before City Judge De Meza this morning and was held in $500 bail to await the action of the Union County Grand Jury. His bondsman was Manning F. Coddington, a seventy-four year old farmer of Mt. Horeb and a member of the Mt. Horeb church.

Regardless of the fact that the Rev. Mr. MacRorie had admitted his guilt and his signed confession is in the hands of Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfied, Jr., Mr. Coddington's faith in the minister is unshaken. When placing his signature on the bail bond he said, "And I'd put up $2,000 for this man if I had to, just as willingly as I put up $500," and shaking his head in a determined fashion, and leaning heavily on his cane, walked slowly from the court room.

The Rev. MacRorie when called to the bar, nervously rubbed his chin and glanced around the court room as the charge was read to him. He was standing with bowed head and clinched fists as the court finished the reading, before a crowd of curious people who were on hand expecting to hear something sensational.

The accused pastor would not discuss his case with the newspaper men any more than to deny that the statement attributed to him accusing liquor dealers of conspiracy in connection with his arrest.

"How about the confession you signed?" he was asked.

"I refuse to make any statement," was his reply. "I am represented by counsel and anything you want regarding this affair you will have to get from him."

"Will you preach tomorrow?" a reporter urged.

"At my request I will not," he replied.

The minister was represented in court by former State Senator Charles A. Reed, who was acting for former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, MacRorie's counsel.

Plainfield testimony proves it always reliable.

On August 28, 1905, Mrs. Dorflinger gave the following account of her experience with Doan's Kidney Pills: "The first symptom of kidney trouble in my case was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's drug store, I began their use. Before long my condition improved and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills until I was cured."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG MEN'S CLUB SOCIAL

The First Presbyterian church Young Men's Club held its first "Ladies' Night" last evening in the church parlors. About fifty young people of the church and Sunday-school turned out and a general social time was enjoyed. The five Bible rooms were filled with games which were played on a progressive basis.

The young men who had charge of the rooms and their respective games were: Alva Dunham, anagrams; Herbert Hand, button sewing; Arthur Dunning, cranberry spearing; William Peacock, jackstraws; Jesse Lounsbury, hat trimming, and Craig Blair, bean eating. After these were over other games were played after which hot chocolate and crullers were served. Everybody voted the affair a hugh success. The committee in charge consisted of the following members of the club: Fred Lounsbury, Jesse Lounsbury, Arthur Dunning and Frank Dunning. As the club has just been organized the prospects for the future are very bright.

PRACTICAL POLITICS.

I want to say at the very outset that in my opinion practical politics does not mean dishonesty; the terms machine and machine politics are nowadays undoubtedly used in a reprehensible sense, but it does not follow that this sense is always the correct one. On the contrary, the machine is often a very powerful instrument for good, and a machine politician really desirous of doing honest work on behalf of the community is fifty times as useful an ally as the average outsider. Any political organization is a machine and any man who uses such an organization is a machine politician.

The question is frequently asked in business and social circles: Can a man become a politician and be honest? Nothing in the world is more easy.

The successful politician, the politician who climbs to the top and remains there, couldn't lie or cheat or steal any more than he could chop off his own head. The characteristics of a successful politician, the politician who lasts in the affections and admiration of his constituents, are the same as those of any other successful man in the professions or in business life, truthfulness and integrity.

There are thousands of such politicians in the country today. It is only the alleged politicians, the men who have the most meagre conceptions of the duties of public life, who, in their shortsightedness, adopt the methods which result in enduring oblivion after a few years of prominence.

It is these alleged politicians who act upon the theory that the people are as devoid of real merit and as destitute of probity as themselves. The downfall of some of the world's most historic figures was the direct result of thoughts so stupid and untruthful.

If a man goes into politics at all, he must go into practical politics in order to make his influence felt. Practical politics must not be construed to mean dirty politics—on the contrary in the long run the politics of fraud and treachery are impractical politics and the most practical of all politicians is the one who is clean and honest.

The man who accomplishes something in politics is the doer and not the critic, and the man who strives, stands far above the man who holds himself aloof.

The man who is content to let politics go from bad to worse, jesting at the corruption of politicians, without resolute effort to attempt reform, is shirking his duty; we must soberly set to work to find out all we can about existing evils, acknowledge them to be such, and then vigorously attack with an unyielding purpose to correct the evils.

We must stand for what we believe, yet realize that political action, to be effective, must be joint action of many men. We must sacrifice somewhat of our own opinion to those of our associates, if we hope to see our desires take practical shape. Few great reforms can be carried through without mutual concessions.

The principal thing that every man who takes an interest in politics should remember, is that he must act and not merely criticize the action of others.

A heavy moral obligation rests upon the men of means and upon the men of education to do their full duty by their country. No man worth his salt has any right to abandon the efforts to better your politics merely because he does not find it pleasant or because it entails associations which to him happen to be disagreeable. He may not and probably will not accomplish as much as he would like to, but he can feel that he has helped to elevate the personnel of the candidates for office. A reformer is apt to begin by trying to reform too much. He must bear in mind that he must serve in the ranks before he becomes a leader. Let him work in his district, and if he shows any ability, the practical politician is prompt to recognize and encourage that ability.

It should be the business of a county or city committeeman, to ascertain the sentiment of the people in the district he represents, and report to the men in charge of the campaign. He should play no favorites, but work for the selection of the best men for public office. All the world loves a lover, and most of us respect a fighter, and when you know you are right, fight it out along those lines. Weak, inefficient and unworthy individuals may be overthrown. No movement can eliminate true, determined leadership. Leadership without courage is a failure. Reform cannot be secured by shouting about the misdeeds of others, and praising one's goodness. "By their works ye shall know them." Parties do not exist for the advancement of individuals but for the principles of good government. Reform is the evidence of moral growth, and every age has its method of accomplishing such results. Reform which is sought by the attempt to ruin good reputations is scarcely true reform. Hysteria may cause us to magnify real and fancied evils and those who howl the loudest are usually the chief sinners.

One of the most encouraging signs of the day is the fact that young men are taking a greater interest in politics. It is a foolish man who feels that he degrades himself by entering politics. Every voter should become a politician, at least to the extent of attending the primaries. The boss system cannot live, if the voters attend the primaries. Conditions are continually improving; someone has said, "Today is better than yesterday, and tomorrow will be better than today." I am one of those who believe that tomorrow will be made better than today by the work of loyal party men.

It is only by mingling on equal terms with all the people that the leader is able to accomplish reforms and results. We should demand that all alike have equal rights. It is an outrage that in voting for a man, we should consider his parentage, his religion or his social position.

A political organization attempting to draw a social line will prove both a failure and a burlesque. It is just as wrong to vote for a man because he is rich as it is to vote against a man because he is poor. One has just as much right as the other to demand fair treatment purely on his merits as a man. In short, to do good work, we must organize the people without regard to birth, religion or occupation. All that can be rightly asked is, "Is he an honest man and a good citizen?"

The actual battle must be fought on other fields—the field of practical politics among the men who represent the mass of voters—the men who are sometimes rough, whose ideas are sometimes not our ideas, but who generally are honest, capable, masterful and efficient.

It is a pleasure to associate with cultured, refined men of high ideas, and unselfish motives. It is indeed a good thing to meet such men. It is necessary, for we thereby brighten our thoughts and keep in touch with people who are patriotic in their purpose—but if we associate with such men exclusively, we can accomplish nothing, if they do not actively help in practical politics.

It is not the man who sits by the fireside, reading his paper and saying how bad our politics and politicians are, who will ever do anything to save us—it is the man who goes into the primary and political meetings and there meets his fellow men on equal terms.

The citizen should be appealed to on the ground that it is his plain duty to try and better our politics, not for the sake of any improvement that it may bring to his own affairs, but because of his interest in good government. The man who wants to work for clean politics must do something, and not confine himself to criticizing the acts of others.

Evil principles and evil men should be condemned. The politician who cheats or swindles should be punished. We need fearless criticism, but it should be just. Great harm is done by indiscriminately assailing public men. The bulk of our population is made up of men of small means. They work hard all day and when they get home in the evening, they are tired and dislike to go out. If they are small business men, they neglect to attend to their public duties because it will interfere with their business, but the wealthy still more generally neglect these same duties because it will interfere with their pleasure. The average successful merchant finds it unpleasant because of previous neglect of duty to attend a primary on equal footing with his clerk or coachman, who is often rated of higher political prominence than himself. Every man wishing his country well is in honor bound to take an active interest in political life. He will make mistakes and will be severely criticized by those who do nothing; but that should not be feared—results are accomplished by the one who does things, therefore he who wishes to do good in his community must go into active political life. The party man is bound to do his full share in party management. He is bound to attend the primaries and see that only good men are put up, also to exert his influence against the foes of good government within his party. If we can have clean, honest politics, we shall be better off in material matters. Under our form of government, no man can accomplish anything by himself, he must work in combination with others. You must either form an organization of your own, or join one already existing.

The man who deserves the credit is the man who actually does things, even though they are imperfectly done—but the man who does something and becomes a local leader is, of course, called a "boss," and it is astonishing how one honest man may honestly misjudge another. The leader must be brave—we are richer for each grim campaign—for each hard fought battle. An unmanly desire to avoid a quarrel is often the surest way to precipitate one.

If you know a candidate is unworthy or will weaken your ticket, fight him, even if it means defeat for yourself at some future time.

On the whole I feel like saying to the critics, "if you knew us better, and understood us, your judgment would be better."

OPEN AIR SCHOOL BEING PLANNED

Tuberculosis Pavilion to Be Removed and Converted to That Use.

FOR ANAEMIC YOUTHS

Local T.-B. Society's Structure no Longer Needed Since Bonnie Burn Has Opened—Committee to Arrange for New School.

The opening of Bonnie Burn Sanatarium has done away with the necessity for a camp for tuberculosis cases in Plainfield, and the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield has decided to have its tuberculosis pavilion moved from the grounds of Muhlenberg Hospital to some congested part of the city and converted into an open-air school for anaemic children.

The following committe has been appointed to secure a site and arrange for having the pavilion moved: Dr. W. H. Murray, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, Miss Mabelle Phillips, C. B. Tyler and E. F. Feickert.

Such schools have been most successful in Orange and Montclair, where they were opened two years ago, and physicians say that the need for them is even greater in Plainfield than in the places which have them. The proposed school will not be for children actually infected with tuberculosis, but for those which are sickly and anemic and who would be susceptible to infection if exposed to the disease.

It is said by Plainfield physicians that there are several dozen children now attending the regular schools who really ought not to be there. If they could work in open-air classrooms and have a hearty lunch of proper food, their health would be greatly benefitted, and their chances of avoiding infection from tuberculosis much improved.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30 (Special). The victors and vanquished in the recent congressional election will foregather at the Capitol Monday for the opening of the final session of the Sixty-second Congress. The session, which will expire by limitation on March 4 next, will be confined almost wholly to the passage of the appropriation bills and other business of a routine character. No important constructive legislation is expected.

Following custom, both houses will adjourn soon after their convening at noon on Monday out of respect to the memory of those members who have died during the recess of Congress. The President's annual message will be received Tuesday.

Decisions in some important cases, probably the Union Pacific merger suit and the hard coal cases, are expected to be handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States, when that body reconvenes Monday after the Thanksgiving recess.

A public consistory, always an event of world-wide importance in Roman Catholic church circles, is to be held in Rome Monday. Announcement is made that no new Cardinals are to be created at this time, but the red hat will be conferred upon five Cardinals who were unable to reach Rome in time for the last consistory.

Vice President-elect Thomas R. Marshall and former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks are to be the guests of the Chicago Indiana Society at its annual dinner Saturday night. Mr. Fairbanks is publicly to advise Governor Marshall on "How to Be a Vice President."

The annual meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress will assemble in Washington Wednesday and will be opened with an address by President Taft. The main purpose of the organization is to influence Congress in its legislation for river and harbor improvement.

A number of other gatherings of a national character are scheduled for the week, among them the annual convention of the American Road-builders' Association, in Cincinnati; the annual meeting of the American Automobile Association, in Chicago; the annual conference of the National Guard Association of the United States, at Norfolk, Va.; the annual meeting of the National Civil Service Reform Association, in Milwaukee, and the quadrennial council of the Federation of Churches of Christ in America, which will meet in Chicago Tuesday for an eight days' session.

DESCRIPTION OF PIANOS.

Made by Braumuller Piano Co., 627-641 West 43d Street, New York City.

Aside from the fact that one piano contains the player and the other does not, there is no difference between the instruments. Both are fully warranted by the makers, who are an old established and reliable firm.

Seven and one-third Octaves; Overstrung Bass, three strings to each note, except in Wound Bass Strings; New Patent Upright Grand Scale; Full Composite Metal Plate, extending over pin-block to top of Piano; Tuning Pins specially fitted with hardwood Bushings; Practice Pedal; Ivory Keys; full length Music Desk; Revolving Fall-Board; Brass Pedals and trimmings; handsome mouldings, attractive panels; carved Trusses and Pilasters.

Case: Antique Mahogany. All Upright cases are Double Veneered and have hardwood, varnished backs. Every Parklyn Piano is fully warranted.

DESCRIPTION OF PLAYER.

The Player is the latest device of the kind, and is the simplest and easiest working apparatus on the market. It is made by the Gulbranson-Dickinson Co., of Chicago, and is fully warranted. A test of the Player can be made at any time at Joseph Sattel's warerooms at 108 North avenue. Briefly it can be described as follows:

88 note Player Mechanism, playing every note of the scale.

Special attachment, enabling the performer to obtain a diminished volume of tone in the bass, middle treble, or upper treble registers, by touching one of the two buttons. Each acts independently of the other. There is a silent travel device, a patented cylinder motor and other features which can be seen by inspecting the instrument.

The entire construction of the Mechanism is on simple lines. Durability, effectiveness and expression are the principal features.

Cash value of player-piano, stool, rolls and cover, $525.

Cash value of piano, stool and cover, $275.

DESCRIPTION OF VITAPHONE.

The $100 Cabinet Vitaphone is the third prize. This instrument was made by The Vitaphone Company, of Netherwood, and contains points of merit not to be found in other makes of talking machines.

It reproduces voice and instrument so true to life, that one may close their eyes and imagine the performer actually present. No other instrument reproduces the original tone in purity, strength and detail as well, and no metallic parts hamper, diminish or partly destroy the skill of the artist.

Winner can have choice of mahogany, golden oak or mission oak case. There is a triple spring motor that can be wound while playing, interchangeable diaphragm connection from amplifier to horn. Plays either needle or sapphire records. It is beautifully finished and polished. The machine stands four feet high and has a twelve inch turntable, and a filing compartment holding 150 records.

A novel feature of the Vitaphone is the stationary sound box, rigidly fixed to its supporting frame and made of few and simple parts. Any make of records can be used and owing to its construction, a record used on the Vitaphone has a much longer life than is possible on any other Talking Machine.

HOW TO SECURE VOTES.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

From Maine to California, from the great North woods of Canada to the Everglades of Florida the name Eddie Foy has always been the symbol of joy and laughter. His temporary step into vaudeville with his seven celebrated children created more of a furore among theatre-goers of New York than probably any other theatrical event in the past decade. How many of the theatre-goers of twenty years ago recall the old David Henderson days of "Ali Baba?" If so do they recall the famous Madeline Morando, the premier danseuse of that production. Today, this once famous dancer, proudly watches over her family of bright, clever children—for she is Mrs. Edwin Foy. Mrs. Foy, twenty odd years ago was the solo dancer at the Paris Opera House in France. David Henderson heard of her wonderful terpsichorean achievements and cabled her a most flattering offer to appear in his forth-coming production of "Ali Baba," and which she accepted. Eddie Foy was the star of the production. They met, of course. The professional admiration they had for each other gradually ripened into deep devotion and affection, that culminated in their marriage before the season closed. They continued before the public for three years and at the close of the tour of that famous extravaganza—"Off the Earth," Mrs. Foy forsook the stage to partake of the happiness that all true women care for most—the up-bringing of her children. Mrs. Foy is an Italian by birth and a most accomplished linguist, speaking with great fluency, Italian, French, German, Spanish and Russian. Mr. Foy will be seen at the Plainfield theatre, Tuesday night, December 3.

Last summer at the close of the tour of the fascinating little Ida St. Leon in "Polly of the Circus," her manager, A. S. Stern, offered a prize of five thousand dollars for the most suitable play for this youngest of stars. The prize was won by Lee Wilson Dodd, author of "Speed" and other well-known plays. It is called "Finishing Fanny," and is a delightful satire on New York society with one of the most absorbing love stories ever written. It was the wish of Miss St. Leon to present her new play first among her friends and then to go to New York for her metropolitan run. She will come to the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, December 5, one of the few places in her brief preliminary tour. The piece has been beautifully staged by Robert Milton, one of the most brilliant stage directors in this country and England. Until recently he was producer of Mrs. Fiske's plays. The new piece particularly adapts itself to exquisite stage setting because its scenes are laid in the most fashionable set of New York. For "Finishing Fanny" is a satire on New York society life, and particularly on the corrupting influences which fall upon young girlhood. The author has portrayed in his young heroine an exquisite young woman who has been suddenly brought into fashionable life of the metropolis. The play resolves around her battle for her ideals and love.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The holiday spirit arrived at the N. Y. Hippodrome with the Thanksgiving crowds which came to make merry at the great new spectacle of "Under Many Flags." No production at our great amusement institution has ever held forth so many varied, instructive and enjoyable scenes than those presented in "Under Many Flags." The trip through Europe and Asiatic countries which one views, carries with it impressions that cannot be obtained unless one visits the countries themselves. Few of us are granted the rare privileges of tours of the world but we can all take a trip through historic and interesting countries of the earth, at the Hippodrome. The trip starts at our own Capitol and right on the White House grounds. Thence do we journey to Annapolis and view a spirited drill of Academy boys. An airship is the means of travel to Europe and the first landing is a quaint fishing village on the coast of Brittany. Then our airship resumes sailing to Berlin where one views all the delights of a German Summer Garden. In this scene many funny stunts are done by the score of Hippodrome clowns, who are ever a source of great sport to the throngs of children who love to come to the Hippodrome. Holland with its windmills, dykes and great flower markets, the great square in Moscow, a rugged picturesque Scottish Highland scene, a street in far off Peking, China, and luxurious dancing scene at a Persian mosque; are presented with exacting detail.

For lavishness of raiment no dramatic production has ever even approached the magnificence of "The Daughter of Heaven," the spectacular Chinese play by Pierre Loti which the Liebler Co. has put on at the Century theatre, New York, for a successor to "The Garden of Allah." It is one long pagaent of regal splendors showing with accuracy the life at the Chinese court where jewels and cloth of gold and other priceless treasures have been accumulating for centuries upon centuries. As the central figure of all these glories Viola Allen stands forth in the role of "The Daughter of Heaven," which is the name the Chinese have for their Empress. The play has a historical basis though in its development it is a piece of sheer romance. It discloses that there were two factions in China—the Manchus, who have held all political power since their Tartar ancestors swept across the Chinese states two hundred and fifty years ago; and the Chinese who have remained ever faithful to their former sovereigns and their descendants who hold their secret court in the ancient city of Nankin.

The second act of "What Ails You," the new Rupert Hughes farce now playing at the Criterion theatre, New York, is laid in the gymnasium of a sanatorium for the building up of bodily and mental strength by physical exercise. In writing the play Mr. Hughes used a sort of a composite photograph of Muldoon's famous place at White Plains, N. Y., and Billy Brown's Pine Hill Farm, which is also near New York, to which he added many touches of his own fancy. All of the gymnasium apparatus, such as flying rings, trapezes, parallel boxes, chest weights, rowing machines, etc., are "practical," which means that the apparatus is real and not just "make-believe" stuff. Now, in the second act every person on the stage has to do with some of the apparatus and, as when the curtain rises, many of them are supposed to have been at the institution for some time, it is necessary that they be able to go through their exercise with every evidence of experience and grace. Especially is this true of two members of the company, Marguerite Skirvin and Bobby Barry.

NEW PASTOR TO PREACH.

Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, late of Northfield, Mass., and recently called to Plainfield, will occupy the pulpit of the First Unitarian Society, All Souls' church, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, for the first time as pastor.

DR. KELLY TALKS ON 'SOCIAL EVIL'

Johns Hopkins Professor of Gynecology Names the Causes.

HOW TO MEET PROBLEM

The Churches He Asserts Have Never Acted Toward it as They Should—Some Well Known People in His Audience.

Dr. Howard A. Kelly, professor of Gynecology in Johns Hopkins University, addressed a group of social workers and others interested in the public welfare on the "Vice Problem and Converting Sentiment into Action Against the Social Evil," at the Crescent Avenue church parlors last night.

"To an extent never known before," Dr. Kelly said, "vice had struck into the social life of this country. Worst of all it had struck down into ages generally supposed to be exempt until the merest children were to be counted among its victims. The touch of it is upon our whole social life. As causes contributing to it is the vast development of industrial life which in so large a degree failed to provide a living wage. As the A. B. C. of all decent relations with each other we must demand that the first fixed charge upon all industry should be a living wage for those employed in it.

"Next came the organized exploitation of vice for business purposes which had now become a power in which millions were invested and which overspread the country constituting one of the darkest slaveries with which society has had to fight."

"Responsibility rests where?" said Dr. Kelly. "The churches have never felt it, never acted toward it as they should. And the church must use its place as an ideal centre in thousands of places not only to attack the evil but to provide willingly and patiently and at whatever cost for the women driven out of or rescued from this slavery. The church must demand one code of morals for the man and the woman and not flinch from the position that she can be reclaimed and reinstated. Before undertaking their great move in Baltimore they had undertaken, if need be, to care for a thousand women by positions offered, or work secured, or friendship and care provided. Without that changed attitude in the hearts of Christian men and women we could not hope to deal successfully with the problem."

"There are," he said, "three ways of meeting the problem. First, indifference, or the theory that it has always been and always will be, which was unworthy of us. Then there is the policy of segragation spoken of so lightly and jauntily when there is not a city in the world that has been able to segragate this evil or keep it from spreading. This is paper talk, dishonest talk, and those who propose it are not lifting a finger to accomplish even segregation. Last, is extermination, an end worthy of our best effort and alone capable of enlisting it. No matter how long it takes or what it costs Christian men and women were to dare strive for this and hope for it."

Following Dr. Kelly, to whom a resolution of thanks was proposed by Mayor-elect Percy H. Stewart, Samuel E. Pentz, Dr. Kelly's legal associate in Baltimore, spoke of the means employed to contend with the evil in that city. Among those in the audience were Dr. Weeks, superintendent of the Epileptic Colony at Skillman, N. J.; Mrs. Alexander, of Hoboken; Mrs. Everett Colby, of Orange, and Dr. Williams, president of the University of Nanking.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Another very full day is announced for tomorrow at the First Baptist church. In the morning, Rev. Dr. A. J. Vining, of Toronto, Canada, representing the Baptist's World Alliance, will speak on the religious and political unrest in Europe, with special reference to world-wide missions. In the evening the pastor, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, will speak as usual and after the sermon the ordinance of baptism will be administered. The public is invited to these services.

The Lord's Supper will be celebrated at Warren chapel tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach on the following subjects tomorrow: Morning, "Christian Warfare," after which the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. Evening he will preach on "Angels."

A large number of new members will be received into the fellowship of Trinity Reformed church tomorrow morning and there will be adult baptism. During the week, the pastor, Rev. J. Y. Broek, sent out special invitations to every member of the church to be present at the service tomorrow morning and from assurances already received, indications point to a very largely attended communion. The evening subject will be "Jesus As a Preacher."

Special thanks offering services will be held at Monroe Avenue M. E. church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock sharp. This service was postponed from last Sunday on account of inclement weather. In the evening a special gospel service will be conducted by the pastor. This service will be the opening service of a week of special gospel meetings.

Monday and Friday nights will be the only nights that the services will not be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. On Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the pastor will hold a special mothers' meeting and on Thursday afternoon he will conduct the Ladies' Aid Society meeting.

A special meeting of the Men's Bible Class of the Monroe Avenue church will be held at the home of Rev. F. J. Hubach tonight at 7:30 o'clock sharp. All members of the class are urged to be present as matters of importance pertaining to the welfare of the class will be transacted.

HEARD DR. HAYES.

At the regular meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the First M. E. church, Rev. Dr. A. W. Hayes, of Westfield, spoke on "The Work of the Brotherhood and How to Do it." After the business meeting and address the members adjourned to the banquet room where a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Are You Parting Your Hair Or Is Your Hair Departing?

Newbro's Herpicide
SAVES THE PARTING
BY CHECKING THE DEPARTING

Watch the part. It is there that approaching baldness is often first detected. The parting looks uneven, unhealthy. The white streak is gradually growing wider. You may not notice this from day to day but watch the parting from month to month. As further evidence of what is happening look at your brush or comb. It is clogged with dead hair and dandruff after every combing. The hair is gradually dying and coming out and the streak is becoming daily a little wider.

The dandruff germ is doing this and the work of destruction cannot be checked until the dandruff is eradicated and the germ destroyed. It is a condition requiring the prompt and intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide, if total baldness is to be escaped. The invisible microbic growth never halts in the hair killing process. In a short time a bare spot is seen at the crown of the head. The hair bulbs are robbed of life and finally there is no help but a wig. Don't wait. Herpicide kills the germ, gives life and vigor to the hair and prevents it from departing.

An absolute guarantee with the one dollar size bottle.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Two Color Effects Supersede Magpie Combinations.

Two color effects are superseding the familiar black and white combination.

Fancy bordered chiffons and crepe de chine are in scarf widths and lengths.

Lace may be enriched by touching up the pattern with ribbon work in colors.

A certain variety of wool velvet is one of the smartest of cloths for fine tailored suits.

For day dresses of an informal character taffeta is a strong rival of charmeuse.

The long cutaway coats and coats with the high waist line retain their supremacy.

One of the season's most attractive offerings is the set that includes scarf and muff made of material fur trimmed. The set in the cut is a charming model of this kind and made of velvet edged with fur. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CHRISTMAS COOKIES.

WHEN making your holiday plans, if there are little folks in the family, it is well to include in the said plans a generous supply of attractive and appetizing cookies. Children are always fond of these little cakes, and a pan of the plain ones may, as a treat of the season, be left where the youngsters can help themselves.

Some Favorite Cookies.

Fruit Cookies.—Take two eggs, one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one-half cupful of raisins, measured after they have been stoned and chopped, and two tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate.

Dissolve the chocolate in a bowl over a kettle of hot water and let it stand until needed. Rub the butter and sugar to a cream, add the eggs, which have been well beaten, then the flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder, and lastly the melted chocolate. Beat hard and mix very thoroughly, then work in the raisins and roll the dough out to a thin sheet.

Cut into shapes with fancy cutters, press one, two or three whole raisins into the top of each cooky, according to size, and bake in a moderately quick oven.

Keep fresh by packing them in a stone crock or earthenware dish with a cover.

Plain and Wholesome.

Seed Cookies.—A good old recipe for these cookies calls for two and a half pounds of flour (pastry flour is the best), half a pound of sugar and half a pound of butter. Rub the butter through the flour and mix in the sugar. Make a cavity in the mixture and pour in half a pint of lukewarm milk in which is stirred a quarter of a cup of yeast or a third of a yeast cake.

Let the batter stand overnight. In the morning add an ounce of caraway seeds and beat all the ingredients thoroughly together.

Then set the batter in a warm place to rise, and when it has doubled in bulk roll it out until it is not over a quarter of an inch thick. Cut into cakes about two and a half inches wide by five long.

By the time they are all cut out the first will have risen enough to bake. Bake them in a moderately hot oven for about half an hour, or until well done, but a delicate brown.

Brush them over with milk when they come out of the oven, to give them a glossy surface. If you like, shredded cocoanut may be used instead of caraway seed.

HERE ARE HINTS FOR THE WOMEN

What's the Proper Thing and What all the Fair Would Like to Know.

New York, November 30.—The coming winter promises to be a great season for furs, which means, in view of the pervailing tendency to utter extravagance, that tremendous sums will be spent during the coming winter months for furs of every description. This winter's modes admit great variety in the lines and general character of the fur coats, and even the severely practical coat is no longer uniform, as it was a season or two ago. The full length coat has been obliged to share its popularity with the coat of five-eighths length, and many chic models are shorter still, while there are countless elegant fur wraps of the cape and mantelet type.

Drapery has crept into the province of furs, and while of course having more limitations here than in frockdom it finds very charming expression in some of the lightest and supplest of the furs. Mole, for example, drapes very well. Fine baby lamb and caracul are easily handled, and even ermine can be made to take on graceful drapery lines.

The long, loose, straight fur coat, usually with collar of contrasting fur, is commonly chosen for motoring and hard service, but the dress coat, when not draped, is likely to show its vintage by some note in collar or sleeves. It is fairly sure to have fronts crossing and fastening well to the side. Sometimes it has a Russian air, but more often the fronts cross diagonally and are finished by a big collar or by some sort of rolling collar echoing the lines so popular in the frock collars and separate collars of lingerie, lace or net.

Certain short draped coats of supple fur rounding away in the front are launched by extremists who are pushing the pegtop silhouette, but they are by no means graceful even for the slender woman and are not likely to be taken very seriously by the women in this country.

Some Russian coats of half length or longer, button up the left front, close on the left shoulder and have high close collars finished at the top by a narrow band of contrasting fur. A model of this type usually is loosely belted or girdled across the back, if not all around, and the model, while good looking if well worn, is becoming only to the exceptional woman.

Many of the fur coats are made without collars for greater convenience in the wearing of separate neck furs. Linings are ofter of the handsome brocades, and in some of the most luxurious garments these linings are so rich in themselves that they add greatly to the cost of the coat.

Fur wraps and draped mantels are much in vogue, and are lovely if worn over velvet or plush frocks without other wrap or drawn about the shoulders when an evening coat or afternoon coat is discarded. They are made up in various furs but are particularly effective in ermine and, with some costumes, are admirable in mole.

The enormous straight scarfs are still liked and are very cleverly worn by some women who have the knack of adjusting them. If skillfully adjusted such a scarf may be substituted for a coat.

Street frocks, visiting frocks, house frocks, evening frocks, all call for fur trimmings and if discreetly used these fur trimmings greatly enhance the beauty of any costume. So many of the three-piece and two-piece costumes have fur about the throat that there is an unusual call for hat and muff sets without neck pieces to match, but often the fur trimming is kept away from the throat, so that separate furs or sets with neck pieces on suite may be worn, and sometimes the fur appears only in some one place on the costume, perhaps a band on the skirt bottom or on a tunic.

The grays, particularly in the dark shades, are greatly liked. Taupes have been taken up too enthusiastically by the crowd to retain their prestige and are seen in every grade of costume, but common as the color now is, it has, in handsome materials, much cachet. The dark iron gray and gunmetal too are modish, though more trying than the taupe shades, and there are some lovely squirrel and pigeon grays which made attractive trimming.

The browns are more popular than in many seasons past, and beautiful new shades have appeared which are hard to describe and to which no two manufacturers or salesmen give the same names. There are lovely tones in maroon and dead leaf and tete de negre and even seal, while among the light shades such as sable and burnt bread, etc., there is great and charming variety.

The feature in all the materials used for evening wear lies in the coloring. During the last five or six years most of the tints favored were vague in certain lights, as they were very subdued. Those recommended this season are frankly decided and most becoming. Excepting for girls, the majority of dancing and dinner frocks will have pointed trains made more or less long, according to the occasion. As many of the evening gowns are cut on Greek lines, the skirts, in this instance, finish in a narrow point barely exceeding half a yard, and some are even shorter. The train conceived in this manner gives a pretty finish to the skirt, and a becoming line at the back, but does not impart dignity.

Coats and skirts of the simplest and most severe types, intended only for morning wear, are being carried out in very vivid shades of purple and crimson, colors which, by the way, are doubly effective in velours de laine, that fascinating fabric which is just now carrying all before it. Soft in texture as a suede glove, velours de laine is one of the most becoming materials imaginable, and it is equally effective when it is seen in plain colors, and when it is woven with wide or narrow raised stripes in some contrasting shades, when the effect given at a little distance is almost that of the richest and softest corduroy velvet.

Lovely two-toned chameleon silk brocaded in black is very smart for dressy street suits. One famous designer is using velvet closely dotted with small squares in yellow and emerald on what appears to be a dull gray background. On close inspection it proves to be a very fine, hairline plaid in green and yellow on a white ground.

Very attractive dresses are made of black velvet. With them are worn long scarfs of fur or chiffon bordered with fur.

Sleeves in different material from any part of the dress are a novelty, and most charming are the long velvet or damask sleeves which match the dress in color and have soft frills over the hand.

Many jaunty hats are decorated with striped ribbon. For instance, a seal brown plush sailor is trimmed with a novelty striped ribbon in shades of brown, orange and red.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

SOME LIVE TOPICS FROM NEW YORK

Random Dissertations on Happenings in Gotham of Interest to All.

New York, November 30.—The malodorous atmosphere stirred up in this city by the sensational disclosures of the Becker trial and the trial of the "gunmen" held responsible for the death of Rosenthal, is still clinging to things in general and the poice department in particular, but the purifying draft of publicity and public opinion bids fair to purify the air by slow degrees. The citizens fully realize, however, that the elimination of the "odor" is merely a sham palliative and that a thorough purification is impossible unless the source of the "odor" is eradicated. The Becker trial is, at least for the present, disposed of, but the Curran Committee investigation is still going on and the evidence given is scarcely less damaging to the reputation of the police department than the evidence in the Becker case. It would take a husky and vigorous Hercules to clean out that Augias stable.

In view of all the shocking disclosures of the last six months or so, the attitude of Mayor Gaynor is considered rather strange by a majority of the citizens. He takes an extremely optimistic view of the situation and severely criticizes the ministers and newspapers for harping upon the existing corruption in the police department of New York. His idea seems to be that the less said about it the better for the interests of the city. Some of the ministers rebuked by Mayor Gaynor have called his attention to the fact that evil undoubtedly exists in the police department and that one cannot eradicate evil by merely ignoring its existence.

Oranges and other California fruit were cheap in New York the other day and the best grades of oranges could not find a buyer at 5 cents a box. The reason of this was not in the quality of the fruit or in an excessive supply or lack of demand, but in the fact that the fruit buyers were determined to force the shippers to reduce the cartage rate which they had recently increased more than 25 per cent. The increase was considered a sort of graft and the buyers organized and agreed on boycotting the shippers. Their opportunity came when 150 carloads of California fruit arrived in New York and were put up at auction at Pier 20, North River. The buyers, about three hundred in number, were all there but the auctioneer could obtain no bids at the starting price of $3.50 a box. After a little while he asked for bids at $2.50, then at $1.50, then at 75 cents, 50 cents and finally at 5 cents, but not one of the three hundred buyers was willing to offer even one cent a box for the choicest California oranges, grapes, pears or plums. The determined attitude of the buyers quickly brought the shippers and receivers to terms and the very next day they entered into an agreement with the buyers upon the latters' terms.

A woman was arrested the other Sunday for disturbing high mass in one of the Roman Catholic churches in the Bronx by her snoring. It was so loud and emphatic that it drowned the voice of the priest and made it impossible for the congregation to understand the Latin words of the service. A policeman was called and requested to remove the great noise. The woman was so full of the juice that cheers and inebriates that the officer found it rather difficult to awaken the woman.

The women teachers of Greater New York are grateful to Miss Grace C. Strachan for the work she did in obtaining for the women teachers the same pay as the men teachers receive. It is true, Miss Strachan was paid for her work, but her salary as lobbyist was not considered an adequate compensation for her success. About a year ago it was suggested to raise a fund by voluntary contributions and donate it to Miss Strachan as a token of gratitude. At first the plan met with some opposition and was practically abandoned, but recently the plan has been revived and its execution has progressed so far that Miss Strachan will probably receive a sum of about $65,000 as a Christmas present from her grateful sisters.

The New York Peace Society met the other night at the Hotel Astor to listen to an address by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University on the tour he completed last summer in the interest of universal peace. Andrew Carnegie was in the chair, but Dr. Eliot did not come. Illness prevented him from coming to New York to deliver his address. The members of the Peace Society would have been greatly disappointed had not Mr. Carnegie succeeded in finding a substitute lecturer for the evening. Prince Lazarovich Hrebelianovich, of Servia, who is visiting the United States in the interest of the Balkan Allies, happened to be in New York and expressed his willingness to give a lecture in place of Dr. Eliot. The strange part of the lecture was, however, that far from being in the interest of universal peace it was more like an open declaration of war against Turkey and any of the European powers that should dare to interfere with the plans of the Balkan Allies. It was the most warlike peace talk the members of the society had ever heard.

An intoxicated Irishman, carrying a canvas bag, caused considerable excitement on a Third Avenue Elevated train the other day. At a raffle in Hoboken he had won a pig and imbibed a goodly number of drinks to celebrate his good fortune. With the squealing pig in his canvas bag Pat was on his way home. In some unexplained manner the pig escaped from the bag and for several miles it led Pat and other passengers in the car a merry chase, keeping everyone in the car in an uproar of excitement. When Pat at last succeeded in recapturing his pig he offered to sell it to anyone for ten cents, but he could not find a taker and had to carry the mischievous squealer home.

The women opposed to woman's suffrage are evidently becoming tired of the uncertainty of the future and wish to have it decided once for all time whether women are to have the right to vote in New York or not. At their recent meeting at Sherry's the matter was discussed at length and the anties were unanimous in their opinion that something must be done to force the men to a decision. Several speakers advocated different methods of bringing pressure to bear upon the men. The plan which seemed to meet with the greatest favor was to bore men and continue to bore them with the suffrage problem until they are goaded into decisive action.

A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Letter-carrier Frank W. Bailey, of Duer street, observed the anniversary of his birthday yesterday and last night a large company of relatives, friends and neighbors gave him a surprise party. The guests presented him with a handsome wicker arm chair. Games of all kinds, vocal and instrumental music, with refreshments combined to make a pleasant evening.

ST. JOSEPH'S RECEPTION.

On Friday evening, Dec. 6, the Ladies' League of St. Joseph's church will hold a reception for the parishioners in Debele's Hall. Rev. Father Deitrich, of Bound Brook, will act as master of ceremonies and will address those that attend. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

"Home Run" Baker, the Athletics' fence buster, maintained his reputation by leading the American League in four-baggers the past season.

Secretary Robert McRoy, of the Boston Red Sox, has been in Hot Springs, Ark., several weeks making preparations for the champions' training next spring.

Manager Johnny Evers, of the Cubs, does not believe in the 57 varieties of baseball recruits and will instruct his scouts to look for quality and not quantity.

The Western League magnates have voted to move their headquarters away from Chicago. President "Tip" O'Neill will have until the first of January to decide on a new location.

Big Ed Konetchy is one of the St. Louis players whose contract expires this year. It is said that the clever first sacker will demand a large chunk of Mrs. Britton's coin if he plays with the Cardinals next season.

At a recent banquet in Chicago, Charley Murphy expressed the hope that the Cubs and the White Sox would meet for the "City Championship" next Fall. Evidently "Chubby" Charles hasn't hopes of his Cubs landing the 1913 pennant.

WITH THE BOXERS

Harry Lewis and the Dixie Kid have signed for a clash to take place in Liverpool, Eng., Dec. 15.

Harlem Tommy Murphy and Young Brown have been matched to box ten rounds in Brooklyn on December 11.

Gilbert Gallant, the Chelsea lightweight, has fully recovered from the recent injury to his arm and is looking for bouts.

Windsor, Ont., will be the scene of a muss between Freddie Duffy, of Boston, and Jack White, the Chicago lightweight, on Dec. 20.

A story from San Francisco has it that Ad Wolgast contemplates mingling with the welters, with the welterweight title in view.

Now that Ledoux, the French bantamweight, has defeated Battling Reidy, he will perhaps be matched to box either Johnny Conlon or Kid Williams.

Freddie Welsh has agreed to give Matt Wells another chace for the light weight championship of England. The pair will probably meet early next year.

Tom Sawyer, the Maine bear, will be tried out against an unknown in Cleveland next month. Down in Maine they claim that Tom is the coming middleweight champion.

Paul R. Collier, of East Front street, was one of the official photographers at the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia this afternoon. Collier expects to snap all of the important plays from an advantageous point on the side lines.

AUTO POLO IS LATEST.

Game Is Thriller, With Machines Taking the Places of Horses.

Auto polo is the latest. It is played just like the regular game of polo, only autos take the place of the mounts. Thus the automobile has butted its way into a new game, putting another one over on the erstwhile King Horse. The new game will be played in Madison Square Garden, New York, on next Monday and Tuesday. For the purpose of permitting the spectators to follow easily the progress of the game one of the cars used in the game will be painted red and the other blue.

"MAC" SAYS

Owing to the fact that the scheduled game with Barringer High School has been called off because of the senior dance at the local High School, the Y. M. C. A. will be deserted as far as basketball is concerned this evening. Looks as though some of the Ajax players were looking forward to some laurels along the terpischore line.

Basketball will not be entirely absent however as the Hope chapel quintet have a good game on with the Y. M. A., of Bound Brook, Thursday's game had no bad effects on the Hope players and all will be back in the game again tonight.

Another Ajax-Hope Chapel game is being arranged and will be pulled off on the Chapel court some time in the near future.

High School football draws to a close with the Holy Cross game this afternoon. On the whole P. H. S. has had a pretty successful season. Make basketball just as good and there will be no kick coming.

Ezra Wenz, the little Roselle High School flier, who appeared here in the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. dual race last March, took on another championship at Philadelphia Thanksgiving Day. He led a big field of runners home in the American interscholastic cross country race.

Basketball starts at P. H. S. Monday afternoon when the first call for candidates will be sounded. A wealth of material is available and barring scholarship deficiencies the team ought to be a corker.

No court has been obtained by the N. P. H. S. five yet and their opening game has been delayed because of that fact.

Somebody comes to the front with the information now that it was Harrington and not Mercer who picked up the fumble and scored the touchdown that gave Pennsylvania victory over Cornell Thanksgiving Day. Pretty hard on the fellow who really turned the trick.

LOCAL MEN AT BIG GAME.

Among those at the Columbia-Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute basketball game played at Columbia University last night were Charles H. Line and father, of East Front street. The Morningside collegians won the game by the score of 37 to 16.

OFFICIAL AVERAGES OF Y. M. C. A. TEAM

Captain Brynarski is High Man With an Average of 13.20 for Five Games.

Official averages covering the first five games played by the Y. M. C. A. Ajax have just been compiled and from all around appearances seem to indicate that the association boys are putting up a stellar article of the indoor game. Five games have been played at the Y. M. C. A. gym and all have resulted in closely fought victories for the Ajax, the winners scoring a total of 163 points over their opponents' 135. Individual records show that every player is upholding his end of the work in his particular department and Captain Brynarski leads the scoring division with a grand total of 66 points. This is in itself a remarkable record for a guard but the official averages do not show the grade of passing Brynarski is pulling off, which is nearly equal to his basket mark. Although Peacock has played in but three games, he has scored ten field goals for a total of twenty points and since his return to the fold the aggregation has picked up greatly in team work. Brynarski has a basket caging average of 13.20 against 6.66 for Peacock.

Hetfield has played three full games and a part of another one at guard and during his regime but 12 baskets have been made by his opponents. Glover has played the other corner of the flood as guard and in five games a total of 21 field goals have been garnered by his opponents and this is by no means a bad record. To date eight men have been used by the Ajax and everyone of them have scored at least one goal from the field.

The five teams encountered have all represented different clubs and it is the intention of the Ajax management to play as many different teams as possible before starting a second round of the schedule. All of the visiting fives have been speedy and in every case the association team has been extended to the limit in order to pull through ahead. In defeating Hope Chapel Thanksgiving Day afternoon, the Ajax established a clear right to be considered as a contender for the local championship honors as the Hope quintet is without doubt one of the speediest combinations in this vicinity.

Next Friday afternoon the Ajax will play the Battin High School at Elizabeth. This will be the first game of the season for the Elizabeth High School and much depends on the outcome. Following are the scoring records of both the Ajax and their opponents, the first compilation being the goals scored by the association quintet and the second is the goals and fouls scored against the individual Ajax players by their respective opponents:

HARVARD MEN WANT HAUGHTON TO STAY

Percy D. Haughton.

Every Harvard man, be he alumnus or undergraduate, is anxious that Percy D. Haughton, Harvard's head coach for the past five years, will consent to renew his contract, which has just expired. As yet, however, nothing has been done of an official nature in the way of negotiations.

Haughton has had more to do than any other man with bringing Harvard up to the highest rank in football.

BAUMGARTNER REAL FIND FOR BROWNS

George Baumgartner.

Working for a club that finished in seventh place last season, George Baumgartner, hurler for St. Louis Browns, won eleven and lost thirteen games last season, which is a fair record when it is taken into consideration that his club won only 53 and lost 101 contests.

With one year of experience in the majors Baum should be one of the Brownie mainstays on the firing line in 1913. His experience is sure to help and if he is not a wonder in the majors next season many able baseball authorities will lose their guess.

JOHN T. BRUSH IS BURIED.

Many Baseball Notables at Funeral of New York Club Owner.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 30.—Notables in the baseball world, including John McGraw, Garry Herrmann, President Lynch, Charles Murphy, Charles Ebbets and Edward Barrow, attended the funeral of John T. Brush, president of the New York National League club, here.

The floral offerings, mainly from the dead man's baseball associates, were among the most beautiful ever seen here. Services were held at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The burial at Crown Hill cemetery was private.

RULES DISCOURAGE ROUGH BASKETBALL

Intercollegiate Assn. Adds Additional Penalties at Interpretation Meeting.

"Eliminate unnecessary roughness" was the keynote of discussion at the meeting of the Intercollegiate Basketball Association at the Astor Hotel yesterday when the Rules Committee, coaches, officials and players met to interpret the rules as they have been ratified for the coming season. The underlying point in nearly every statement was to impress officials with the fact that a number of supposedly slight offenses that have hitherto been disregarded by referees or umpires, shall incur a penalty in every case.

To aid officials, matters that have previously been left to their discretion, have been specifically embodied in the code. There is no longer any doubt, for instance, as to what the term "blocking" means where a man interferes with an opponent not holding the ball. Many officials were under the impression that only the use of hands or arms constituted an illegal action in such a case. It was made clear by Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft, of the University of Chicago, who presided as head of the Rules Committee that any "bodily contact" constitued an offense and was liable to penalty.

It was furthermore agreed that a foul is committed when a man charges into a player who is between him and the goal and is in the act of throwing to the basket. If a man has shown sufficient speed and strategy to get a clear field for a throw he has won the privilege for an unrestricted shot, and an opponent attempting to block him from behind is guilty of a foul. No guard, it was argued, can spoil such a throw from behind without undue roughness or without bodily interfering with the man throwing. The penalty for blocking in such a case is now more severe than any other, for not only is the offender charged with a personal foul, but the opposing side gets two free throws for a basket.

GOOD GAME ON AT HOPE CHAPEL

Y. M. A., of Bound Brook, Will Be the Opponents.

A good game of basketball is carded to take place at the Hope chapel gym tonight when the Chapelites take the floor against the Y. M. A. team, of South Bound Brook. The previous meeting of these two rivals on the Chapel court was fast and exciting from start to finish and although the home players came out ahead they only did so by an unusually slight margin.

The visiting lineup will be considerably stronger than it was at the time of the last appearance and they are due to put up an even better article of basketball than they did three weeks ago. The hard game of Thursday afternoon has left no bad after effects with the Chapel players and the regular lineup will be on hand to do battle this evening.

ATTEMPTED TO BLOW UP JACK JOHNSON

Dynamite Bomb Set Off in Rear of Home of the Accused White Slaver.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 30.—A mysterious explosion last night in the rear of the home of Jack Johnson, under indictment for alleged violations of the Mann White Slave Act, caused excitement among neighbors who believed an attempt had been made to dynamite the house the pugilist recently gave to his mother. The explosion tore a large hole in a barn next door to the Johnson house.

ENGLAND WINS TENNIS TITLE CHAMPIONSHIP

Australia Meets With Defeat in World's Tournament at Melbourne.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 30.—The title to the Davis Cup for the world's lawn tennis championship was won by England today. The scores in today's events were J. C. Parge, England, defeated R. W. Heath, Australia, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. Brookes, Australia, beat Chas. P. Dixon, England, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE CANNOT AGREE ON COURT

Managers Grisley, Taylor and Heeley, of the P. H. S., N. P. H. S., and Leal's School basketball team, respectively held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this morning to arrange for dates and a court for the Plainfield Interscholastic Basketball League games. There was some discussion over the conditions put forth by the Y. M. C. A. for the use of its court. Manager Carrol Taylor, of the N. P. H. S., mentioned that most of the players of the local High Schools and Leal's School teams are members of the association and therefore are accustomed to that court, but Physical Director Ostlin stated that only members of the Y. M. C. A. had the use of its gym, and if the North Plainfield boys wanted to practice on that floor they would have to join. Taylor replied that under the circumstances no N. P. H. S. player would join, and that he thought that the only fair thing to do was to give them the use of the 'gym' free of charge. No other court can be substituted and High School and Leal's refuse to play unless the Y. M. C. A. is used.

The meeting broke up with no definite decision for the Leal's manager did not have a list of his dates and could not arrange the days for the interscholastic games.

The dates for the Plainfield and North Plainfield contests are: December 28, February 1 and February 22. All games will be played in the afternoon.

want to begin to organize their campaign. Now the really wise contestants will have a campaign manager. It matters not who this campaign manager may be. It can be an officer or prominent members of the organization or a competing friend of the individual. But organize and work.

It is said that no good thing comes without work, but the work by which the prizes offered by the Press are to be won is agreeable work and the ten per cent. commissioner offered to all who obtain five or more yearly subscriptions makes this offer all the more attractive.

YOUNG MEN'S MINSTRELSY A RATTLING GOOD SHOW

Before a crowded house, the Young Men's club, of Grace church, presented its first annual minstrel show last night, and the "blackface" entertainment was a corker. One of the best features was the weird harmony rendered by the Elks' quarter consisting of E. D. Cutting, Edward Bennet, Smith and T. M. Muir.

Among the hits were the popular airs sung by the end men, Valentine, Goldsmith, Fred Krom, Edward Burr, Ernest VanZant, Eron White and Waldorf Ulrich. They got encore after encore and the singers obligingly responded. A great share of the credit for the success of the show is due to the managing committee composed of Messrs. Krom, Williams and VanZant.

T.-B. HAS DISCONTINUED THE WHITE CRUSADER

The National Association for the Preventation and Cure of Tuberculosis estimates that during the last four years the newspapers of the country have published over 5,000,000 inches, or ninety miles, of press notices about the work of stamping out tuberculosis. Publicity is the very heart of the campaign against the White Plague.

The Plainfield league has decided to discontinue the publisation of its paper "The White Crusader," and the local papers will publish its news items. Hereafter there will be a column in the Daily Press every Saturday, giving the latest views of the league's activities and items of interest in the country-wide campaign against consumption.

The column was an original scheme of the Daily Press but was discontinued temporarily.

$100,000 FIRE AT NEWARK.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Nov. 30.—Fire which did $100,000 damage early today completely gutted the building of the Kearny Hat Works on Vesey street. The flimsy material and chemicals stored in the building burned so rapidly that it was impossible to get the fire under subjection until the entire building had been destroyed.

ARMY AND NAVY ARE TIED IN 1ST HALF

Annual Battle at Philadelphia in Progress Before Great Throng.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Franklin Field, Phila., Nov. 30.—Men and women of prominence from all parts of the country and many diplomatic representatives from foreign shores gathered here today, forming the season's most brilliant football throng, to witness the annual battle between West Point and Annapolis. Fair weather, the brisk November atmosphere, and a west wind of moderate strength which made the flags about the field snap vigorously, made the scene one which will long be remembered. There are over 30,000 spectators present.

The early periods were marked by much open play and punting, such as has characterized all of the big games thus far this season.

At the end of the first half the score stood Army, 0; Navy, 0.

The final result can be learned by telephoning the Daily Press office, 1300.

POULTRY SHOW'S FINAL

The poultry show of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, which has been enjoyed by thousands of chicken enthusiasts who have visited Sebring's Auditorium throughout the week, will come to a close tonight.

The jury hearing the case of William and Delia Humphreys, who were accused of illegal selling of liquor on Sunday, October 13, at their cafe in Middlesex county, near the Plainfield line, returned a verdict of guilty for the former and acquittal for Mrs. Humphreys, after one-half hour deliberation. The jury recommended mercy to the court and as a result sentence was deferred.

Mrs. Humphreys testified that on the date mentioned was her birthday and she was treating some guests. She claimed no money was paid for the liquor. John Ward and John Crowley were witnesses for the county.

The Christmas Sunrise

The Christmas Piano Store

That Has Delivered as Many as 200 Pianos on Christmas Eve and Christmas Morning—as Many as 700 Pianos in a Single Week—

Sends This Message to Every Home

The Message is this:

Every home that really wants a Piano for Christmas, shall have one if it is in our power to place it there.

With our special Christmas terms now in force, you can arrange for this greatest of all gifts at a first cost scarcely more than is paid in many families for a toy or a bauble; and the piano will bring joy to the home for a generation.

But that is not all of the message.

If it were, you might properly give it little heed.

Of greater importance than price in the purchase of a piano or player-piano is the name of the maker. The instruments in the Wanamaker Piano Salons are the oldest and best in the world.

The first glimmer of December above the horizon meant the dawn of the Christmas month.
Hundreds of sleepy people rubbed their eyes and started awake to the realization that Christmas was already with them.
Suppose the King of Christmas had waited until now to think about it?
Wake up, Mr. Selfishness, and see how you look all tied up in wrinkles, by the light of the Christmas sun!
Wake up, Miss Thoughtless, and little Lady Lazy, and Madame Care-not, and Uncle Too Busy, and Mr. Cynical, and look at yourself in the mirror of the year, with the Christmas Sun shining upon you and the faces of the home ones all around you.
We never see ourselves as others see us more clearly than under this twelfth-month searchlight.
For happy children, and young people, loving fathers and mothers, and the grandfolks who live their lives over again in the growing family around them, the Christmas Sunrise brings a monthfull and a yearfull of smiles.
The things which are to go to them as Christmas gifts seem to know it. They catch the spirit of brightness and shine it out in all directions.
You will see how radiant they make the store look today.!

An Extraordinary Christmas Distribution of New Fur Coats, Muffs, Scarfs and Sets

That Carries with it the Wanamaker Guarantee of Quality.

To quote low prices on furs is the easiest thing in the world. The market is full of poor quality skins and furs that can be sold at almost any price. And to offer a large black fox scarf at $17.50, or a mole muff at $25 means little unless you see and feel the fur and test its quality. Fur is not just fur, as many people suppose, and a fox is not just a fox.

All of which is to emphasize first the quality of the furs offered in this sale—for without quality low price is only a lure.

Many of the muffs and scarfs are priced but two-thirds of their usual cost Some of the pieces are close to half. Many it would be impossible for us to hope even by the greatest good fortune to duplicate again

Fur Coats

It is even more difficult to quote comparisons on the coats than on the sets, because they are so much better in quality and making than coats sold even at their full value. Some are $10, others $20 and $15 below usual prices:

Sable squirrel coats, 52 inches long, cut with rounded or straight fronts; large shawl collar, brocaded linings, unusually good coloring and fur, $125.

Black caracal coats in same model, of extra fine quality, $60.

Brown marmot coats, 52 inches long, large shawl collar; rounded or straight fronts. Exceptional quality throughout, $75.

Near seal (seal-dyed coney coats in the fashionable rounded front model, 52 inches long, of thick, beautiful glossy fur. Extremely well made, $70.

Black pony coats, in lustrous moire effect, more than usually soft and velvety. Fashioned in the latest models, beautifully lined, $50.

Monday, in the Fur Store, Second floor, New Stewart Bldg.

The First Time in Eighty Years

A Christmas Sale of Reynier French Gloves for Women

Limited to two days—Monday and Tuesday, December 2 and 3—and the limited supply may not last even these two days. Of course, afterward, as usual, Reynier gloves will be here at regular prices in full supply.

Reynier gloves are acknowledged to be the best that are made. Their reputation has largely made the reputation at Grenoble.

We hold this sale and lower the price on gloves of this high character merely to educate the glove buying public to wear better gloves—to show that glove economy consists in paying whatever the best gloves cost.

Reynier Gloves cost a little more than any others, but they more than pay for themselves in the longer wear, the better fit and the ever constant satisfaction.

If this special sale places Reynier gloves on the hands of women who have never known their excellence before it will have accomplished its purpose as an educational and advertising medium.

The Jewelry Store Fairly Laughs With Gifts

"What a genial jewelry store this is," said a gentleman who stepped into it at dusk the other afternoon. "I cannot exactly explain it, but it seems so genial, and big, and sufficient."

We can explain it. This jewelry Store is simply laughing with gifts—laughing with all its shining silver and flashing jewels and treasures of beautiful things which are ready to give so much happiness on Christmas day.

Here are diamonds, pearls and other jewels, watches, rings, bracelets, earrings, pins, necklaces; silver tablewares, photograph frames, candlesticks, clocks; dresser sets, gold and silver bags, gold knives, cigarette cases, and a thousand beautiful things—for men as well as for women.

Never in any past year has the Jewelry Store taken such careful thought for all who give and all who receive Christmas gifts.

Old English Silver

The remarkable Cowan collection of Genuine Old English Silverware as used in the royal households of the time of George II, George III, William IV and Queen Victoria will be placed on sale in the house palatial of the Wanamaker Store 5th gallery, new building beginning Monday, December 2nd.

This silverware, the work of the master craftsmen of the periods hall marked on each piece, has been assembled by Mr. W. K. Cowan during the past 15 years and forms, without doubt, one of the finest single collections in America:

A few specimens suffice to show its character.

On genuine old silverware of this character it is extremely difficult to fix a standard of value, but the prices in this collection will be found to compare very favorably—strikingly so, we believe—with those being asked in New York for silver of the same periods.

It is our rare privilege to place this silverware on sale in time for the selection of Christmas Gifts.
